Introduction

Central Europe 10,000 BCE

WELCOME TO THE HOSTILE TERRITORIES OF CENTRAL EUROPE IN 10,000 BCE

The Wenja tribe has always raised excellent hunter-gatherers. When resources started to dry up, they split into smaller groups in search of new hunting grounds around central Europe. One such group found a thriving ecosystem in Oros. The diverse selection of flora, fauna, and rock made the land ideal for settling and so they made it their home.

Unfortunately, two more tribes, the superior Izila and the brutish Udam, also consider the territory their own. As the Udam die out, they move out of the north in search of a better home—taking up arms against anyone who gets in their way. The Izila set up camp in the southern marshlands, enslaving members of the opposing tribes and putting them to work. This has scattered members of the Wenja tribe away from their village, and they now seek shelter wherever they can.

You are Takkar—a member of a Wenja hunting party—in search of food, fellow Wenja, and the legendary land of Oros. As you progress toward this bountiful land, your group is wiped out, leaving you isolated. It is now up to you to find Oros and rebuild the Wenja legacy. To do so, you must find several specialists and bring them back to the village so they can share their expertise and help bring peace to the land.

This official guide presents everything you need to reunite the Wenja and defeat the opposing tribes. Reference our world maps to find every important locale in the game. Walkthroughs for each mission and secondary quest lead you through Takkar's entire journey across Oros.

The expansive land of Oros has much more to offer than quests. Every Bonfire and Outpost is broken down with explanations of how to capture each one. Full explorations of all twenty-two Lost Caves indicate where to find the collectibles as well as how to find your way through the maze.

Complete everything the game has to offer with stats and specifics on every skill, weapon, tool, food recipe, and much more. Plus, for completionists, maps and screenshots detail the locations of all 184 collectibles in the game.

Surviving the Wild

The HUD

Your HUD, or Heads Up Display, gives you all the information you need to help you stay alive on Oros.

MINI-MAP

The mini-map is located in the lower left corner of the screen, just above your health bar. Initially the mini-map shows the location of your beast and any marked enemies. As the game progresses and you unlock more skills, the mini-map gains the ability to show you the locations of resources and herbs.

If you have a Wolf as your companion, the mini-map shows a larger radius, allowing you to spot resources and topographical features from farther away.

HEALTH

Your health bar is below your mini-map in the lower left of the screen. Each bar starts as green and goes black when you've taken enough damage to lose that bar. The amount of bars you have depends on the Skills you have learned. Some skills add health bars, allowing up to a total of six.

CURRENT WEAPON/AMMO

Your current amount of weapons or ammo for the selected weapon appears on the bottom right of the screen. This only shows briefly after you've chosen the weapon, or recently thrown or used the weapon.

WATCH YOUR AMMO

Keep an eye on the ammo count! Try not to throw your last spear or club!

ENEMY AWARENESS

Small white arrows appear on screen and begin to fill when an enemy becomes aware of your presence. When the arrows are filled all the way, the icon flashes and the enemy begins attacking.

When the arrow isn't full, you can conceal yourself to make it rapidly fade away, allowing you to continue sneaking around the area undetected.

CRAFTING ICONS

Crafting Icons appear above the area that displays your ammo count. A hammer with a tent means you have the ability to upgrade a hut back in your village. The hammer with a bag means you have the ability to upgrade one of your weapons or pieces of gear.

As you play, the time of day cycles. You can rest at campfires around the map, allowing you the choice to wake up at dawn or dusk.

Movement

Oros isn't just a flat barren landscape, you need to master climbing, grappling, running, swimming, and sneaking through all the land. You can also use Fast Travel or the help of a nearby Mammoth to help you traverse the lands more quickly.

WALKING/SPRINTING

Move Takkar with the Left Stick. To move faster, press L3 to sprint. Sprinting draws the attention of nearby predators and enemies. Some animals, such as the Woolly Rhino or Mammoth, may perceive a sprinting Takkar as an enemy and attack. Sprinting also scares nearby animals, making hunting much harder.

CLIMBING

Takkar can climb small ledges by simply pulling himself up. Most smaller ledges can be climbed by pressing X/A, causing Takkar to jump into the air and pull himself onto the object.

Other ledges that may seem a bit out of reach are marked with vines and are highlighted yellow when using Hunter Vision. Move as close as you can to the ledge, look up and follow the prompt, and Takkar pulls himself to the top of the ledge.

GRAPPLING

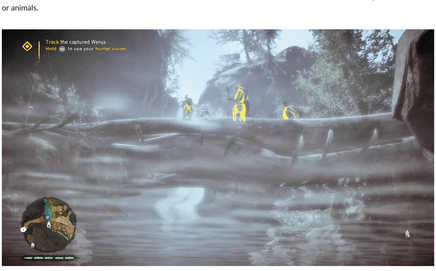
After unlocking the grappling claw, you are allowed to pull yourself up large cliff faces at certain points. These points are marked by a grappling claw icon at the actual grappling point. A cave painting of an eagle with its wings spread open is usually at the base of grappling points, signaling you to look up and locate the grappling point. When hanging from a grappling point, you can grapple to any other grappling point within range.

Once you are looking at the grappling point and within range, press and hold Square/X to throw your grappling claw up to the grappling point. Use L2/LT to go down, R2/RT to go up, X/A to jump, and Circle/B to detach yourself from the rope.

SWIMMING

When you enter water that is deep enough, Takkar immediately switches from walking to swimming. While swimming you can use the Left Analog Stick to move around. To go underwater, change your camera angle with the Right Analog Stick to face under the water.

Enemies cannot spot you when you are under water so you can use this to help with a stealth approach on a group of enemies or animals.



Swimming is one of the best ways to escape enemies; quickly enter deep water and submerge yourself. Swim a short distance and reemerge. Even if they detect you, you can quickly sprint or use your bow to kill them from a distance.

STEALTH

Remaining concealed is important for surviving. Stay crouched to lower your audio and visual imprint in the environment. Crouching is essential for hunting. Bushes and boulders make up the majority of cover points in Oros.

When undetected, you can make short work of enemies by performing takedowns with R3 when within distance. Submerging yourself in bodies of water also helps you stay undetected when moving.

Healing and Food

When you are damaged, press and hold Triangle/Y to heal yourself. The effectiveness of your healing depends on the type of food you are using and the different skills you have learned.

To view your available food recipes and set your quick heal options, press D-Pad Left. Constantly gather meat and plants to keep the necessary ingredients on hand for food crafting.

Keep helping Sayla to unlock new recipes, which both heal you and add temporary boosts to your abilities. For a full list of food check out the Food Recipes chapter.

Resources and Crafting

Resources are scattered around Oros and vary depending on the region you are in. To collect a resource, get in close then press and hold Square/X to collect it.

Different skills in the gatherer skill tree can increase your yields when collecting resources around Oros.

For a list of all the resources and crafting requirements, consult the Resources and Gear chapters.

REWARD STASH

As you progress in the game and liberate Outposts from enemy control, rewards go to you Rewards Stash. You can access your Reward Stash at any Outpost or Bonfire, as well as your Village.

WITHDRAWALS ONLY

You can only withdraw resources from the Reward Stash; you can't deposit excess resources for later use.

You receive rewards to your Stash every morning in game. The amount and type of rewards improves by upgrading the different huts in your village.

Reward Stashes can also be found at campfires, so stock up! Resources in the Stash do not count as being in your inventory, so you need to withdraw them for crafting or village upgrades.

The Map

The map menu allows you to apply a wide variety of filters to narrow down what you'd like to accomplish in Oros. You also have the ability to set custom Waypoints and Fast Travel from the map.

To zoom in on a point of the map use R2/RT, to zoom out press L2/LT.

Pressing R3 centers the map cursor on the current position of the player.

FAST TRAVEL

Once conquered, Bonfires and Outposts allow Takkar to Fast Travel directly to their location via the map. Open the map and hover over the Fast Travel icon, then press X/A to travel to that area.

SETTING A WAYPOINT

To set a waypoint, hover over any objective or open map area and press X/A. To remove a waypoint press X/A again. The waypoint appears on your mini-map and HUD as a small square with a number showing the distance remaining to the waypoint.

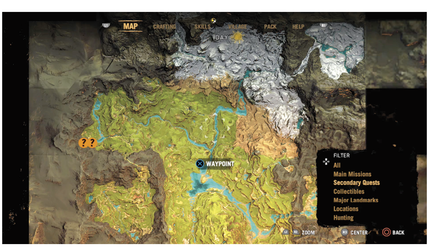
FILTERS

There are seven different filters on the map, each allowing you to target specific objectives:

ALL: This setting does not filter out any objectives, displaying them all at the same time.

MAIN MISSIONS: The Main Mission filter allows you to target the missions that progress the main story of the game.

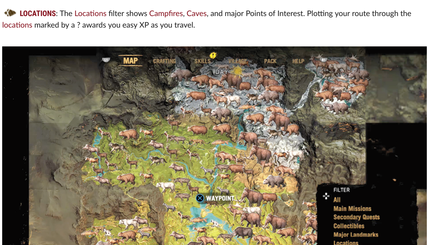
SECONDARY QUESTS: These missions are not integral to the progression of the game's story. This filter is great for finding quick opportunities to level up and gain villagers.



COLLECTIBLES: If you're looking for some easy XP, this filter shows you all the collectibles that you have discovered, but not yet acquired, during your journey through Oros.

MAJOR LANDMARKS: The Major Landmarks filter shows the location of all Outposts and Bonfires as well as your home base. This makes it easy to see which Fast Travel locations you have unlocked and which ones you still need to complete.

LOCATIONS: The Locations filter shows Campfires, Caves, and major Points of Interest. Plotting your route through the locations marked by a ? awards you easy XP as you travel.



HUNTING: The Hunting filter shows the standard locations that each animal is found in. This is great for hunting down a specific type of animal when you need their skin for crafting.

HUNTING KNOWLEDGE

Hovering over each animal shows their Hunting Difficulty, Loot, and any special trait the animal has.

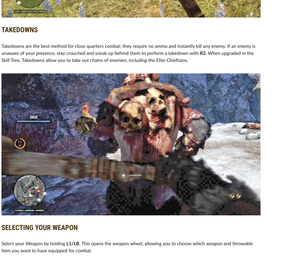
Combat

Takkar has various weapons at his disposal, allowing him to kill enemies in a variety of ways. Every single weapon has the ability to be used as a ranged weapon.

FIRE

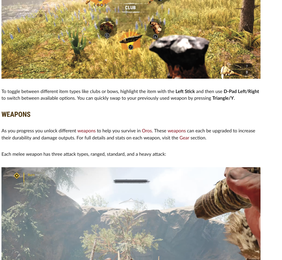
With the help of Animal Fat or a nearby fire, any weapon can also be used to carry a flame. To light a weapon on fire, hold L1/LB and choose the weapon with the Left Stick, and then press Square/X to ignite the weapon. This action removes a piece of Animal Fat from your inventory.

A fit weapon is extremely useful for scaring off predators, setting diversion fires, and staying warm in the cold north. When lit, however, your weapon loses durability until it eventually breaks. Try not to bring a mostly burnt weapon into battle as it will likely break after a few strikes.



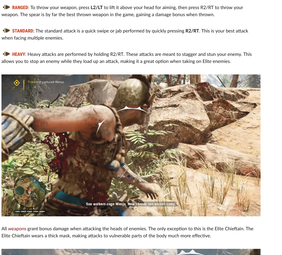
TAKEDOWNS

Takedowns are the best method for close quarters combat; they require no ammo and instantly kill any enemy. If an enemy is unaware of your presence, stay crouched and sneak up behind them to perform a takedown with R3. When upgraded in the Skill Tree, Takedowns allow you to take out chains of enemies, including the Elite Chieftains.



SELECTING YOUR WEAPON

Select your Weapon by holding L1/LB. This opens the weapon wheel, allowing you to choose which weapon and throwable item you want to have equipped for combat.



To toggle between different item types like clubs or bows, highlight the item with the Left Stick and then use D-Pad Left/Right to switch between available options. You can quickly swap to your previously used weapon by pressing Triangle/Y.

WEAPONS

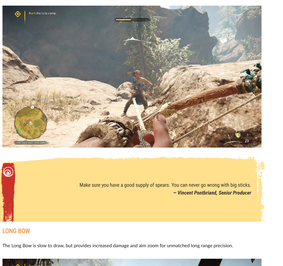
As you progress you unlock different weapons to help you survive in Oros. These weapons can each be upgraded to increase their durability and damage outputs. For full details and stats on each weapon, visit the Gear section.

Each melee weapon has three attack types, ranged, standard, and a heavy attack:

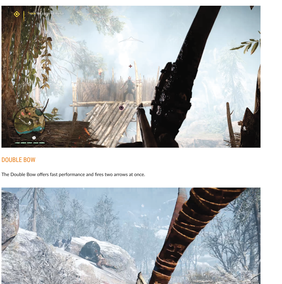
RANGED: To throw your weapon, press L2/LT to lift it above your head for aiming, then press R2/RT to throw your weapon. The spear is by far the best thrown weapon in the game, gaining a damage bonus when thrown.

STANDARD: The standard attack is a quick swipe or jab performed by quickly pressing R2/RT. This is your best attack when facing multiple enemies.

HEAVY: Heavy attacks are performed by holding R2/RT. These attacks are meant to stagger and stun your enemy. This allows you to stop an enemy while they load up an attack, making it a great option when taking on Elite enemies.



All weapons grant bonus damage when attacking the heads of enemies. The only exception to this is the Elite Chieftain. The Elite Chieftain wears a thick mask, making attacks to vulnerable parts of the body much more effective.



DOUSING YOUR FLAME

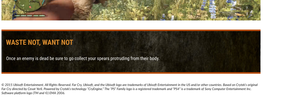
Entering water or walking underneath a waterfall will put out your fire.

CLUB

The Club is cheap and great for fighting multiple weak enemies. Since the club has a low cost, its best used when trying to carry fire from one place to another or to stay warm in cold areas.

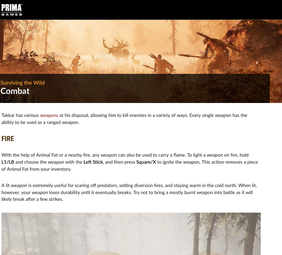
TWO-HANDED CLUB

The Two-Handed Club is the big brother to the standard club. This club is slower but compensates by dealing a greater amount of damage. It is good for fighting Elite Enemies.



BOW

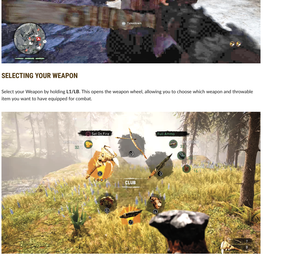
The Bow is a balanced and versatile long range weapon with great accuracy. When upgraded it gains a decent rate of fire bonus, allowing you to quickly put arrows into a charging target.



Make sure you have a good supply of spears. You can never go wrong with big sticks.
– Vincent Pontbriand, Senior Producer

LONG BOW

The Long Bow is slow to draw, but provides increased damage and aim zoom for unmatched long range precision.



DOUBLE BOW

The Double Bow offers fast performance and fires two arrows at once.

SPEAR

The Spear is a strong weapon, allowing you to easily get one hit melee kills when you land accurate shots to an enemy's head. The real benefit of the spear is found when you throw it. A thrown spear deals more damage than a melee strike. Using spears to eliminate an enemy from a distance can make the difference between life and death when facing certain foes.

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

Once an enemy is dead be sure to go collect your spears protruding from their body.

Throwables

Throwables are located at the bottom of your weapon wheel. You can quickly use them by holding R1/RB to aim, then releasing R1/RB to throw the weapon. Different throwables can be unlocked in the Skills Menu. For a full breakdown on all throwables, check out the Gear chapter.

STONE SHARD

Stone Shards are thrown to damage enemies; headshots are lethal. Stone Shards can be upgraded to shatter Elite enemy's masks. Stone Shards can even be used during Takedowns if you have the appropriate Skills.

POISON SHARD

Throw Poison Shards at human enemies to drive them berserk, making them attack others.

FIRE BOMB

Fire Bombs shatter on impact, igniting enemies and animals.

STING BOMB

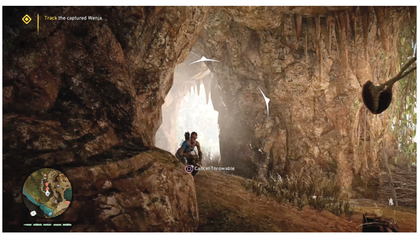
Sting Bombs are bags filled with angry bees. Throw them at your enemies and run.

BERSERK BOMB

Throw Berserk Bombs at human enemies to drive them berserk, making them attack others.

ROCKS AND THE SLING

Before you learn about the Sling, pressing D-Pad Down lets Takkar throw a rock. This helps distract enemies and singles them out for attack.



Once you have learned the Sling, holding D-Pad Down causes Takkar to start swinging the loaded Sling above his head. Rocks thrown from the Sling go much further and can be lethal if you hit an enemy in the head.

BAIT

Throw Bait to attract nearby animals. Some beasts attracted by bait can be tamed.

TRAP

Place these concealed Traps to surprise enemies and keep predators at bay.

Surviving the Wild

Surviving Oros

Oros is full of life, and a lot of it wants you dead. Animals want to kill you, enemy tribes want to kill you, and even the weather wants to kill you!

SNAKES...I HATE SNAKES

Snakes are everywhere. Luckily for you, they like to warn you before they attack with a loud hissing sound. If you ignore or don't hear the sound, you can still spot them with your Hunter Vision.

Using a rock thrown from your sling is the best option for killing snakes as it does not take any resources to replace the rock.

If a snake lands a bite on you, poison immediately starts to take hold, adding a green hue to your screen and draining your health. This effect can be stopped if you have the correct food on hand.

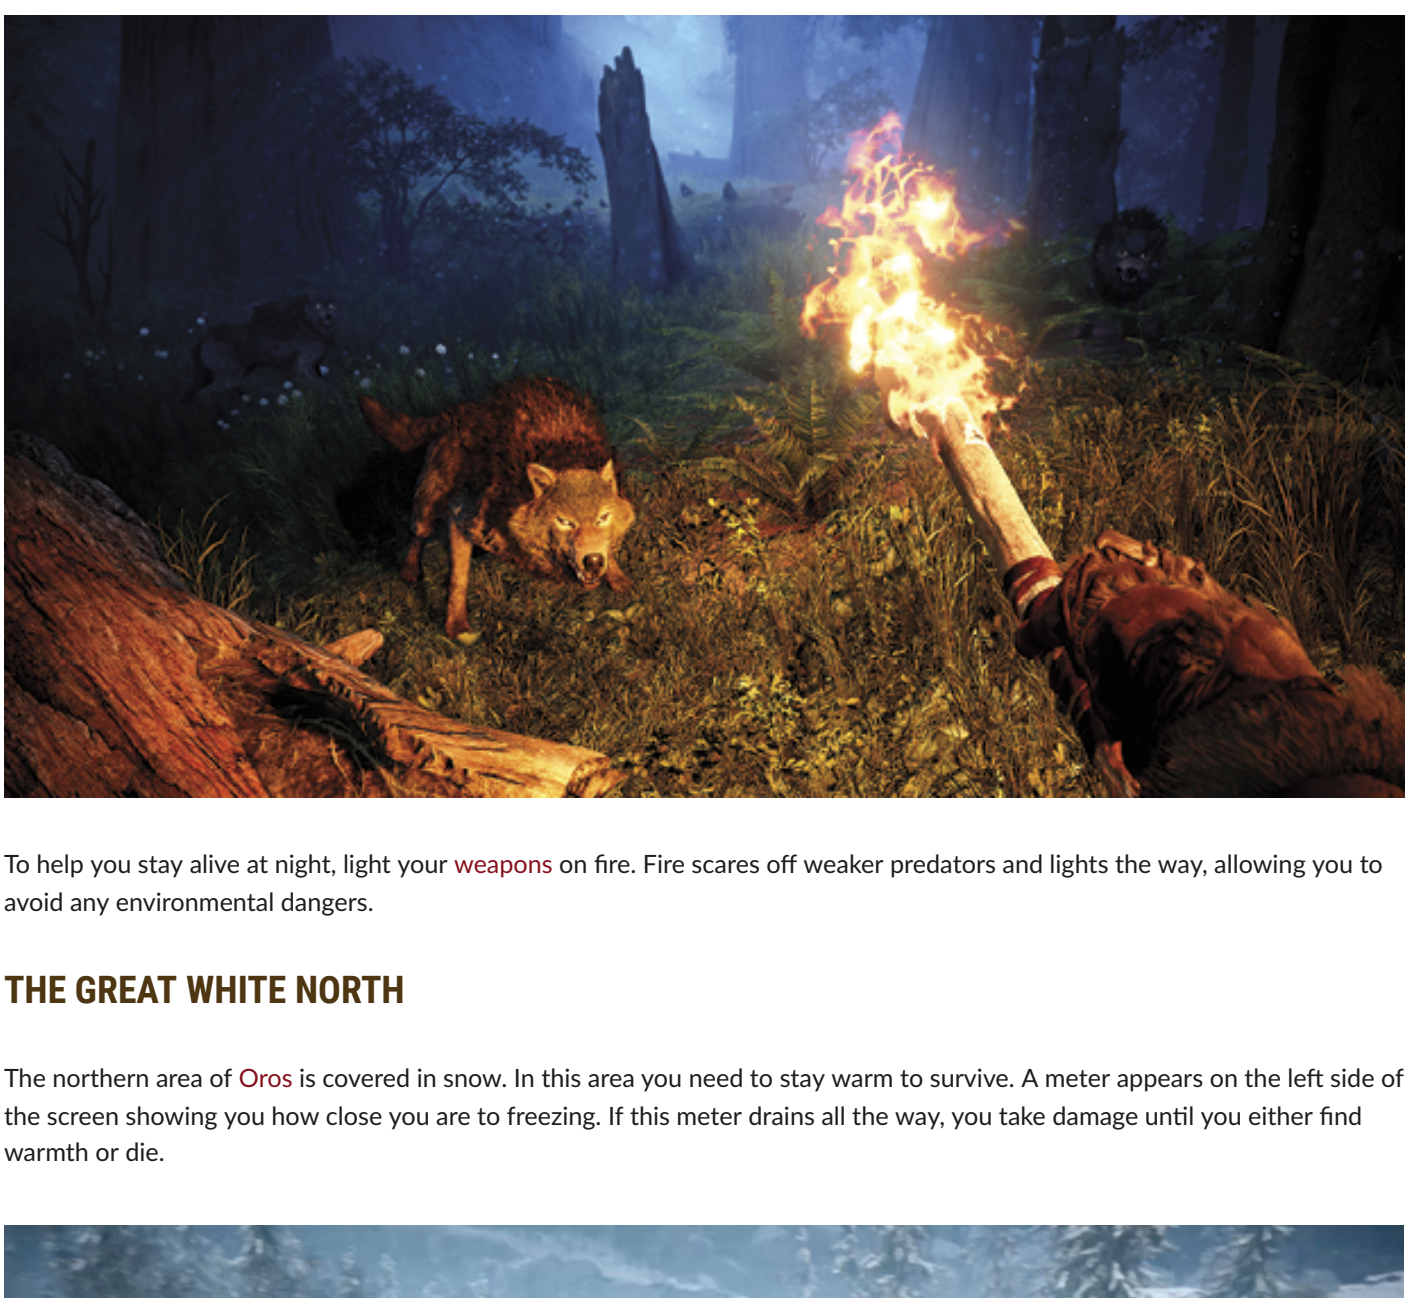
DAY AND NIGHT

Day and night are like two completely different versions of Oros.

During the day, predatory animals are rarely found outside of their natural hunting areas. The main threat during the day is hunting parties of the two enemy tribes that inhabit Oros. Keep your eyes and ears open and you'll make it through the day just fine.

The high visibility makes this a good time to travel longer distances to areas you haven't been before, preventing you from falling off an unseen cliff.

The night is a dark and dangerous place. Visibility is low and more predators come out to hunt. Exploring at night can yield unique animals, plants, and collectible items.



To help you stay alive at night, light your weapons on fire. Fire scares off weaker predators and lights the way, allowing you to avoid any environmental dangers.

THE GREAT WHITE NORTH

The northern area of Oros is covered in snow. In this area you need to stay warm to survive. A meter appears on the left side of the screen showing you how close you are to freezing. If this meter drains all the way, you take damage until you either find warmth or die.

Upgrading your Cold Gear in the Crafting Menu helps you stay warm longer.

Ultimately, the best way to stay warm is to light one of your weapons on fire and carry it with you into the cold. If you know you are going to come up on a fire soon, let the meter drain a bit and save your weapons from the durability loss.

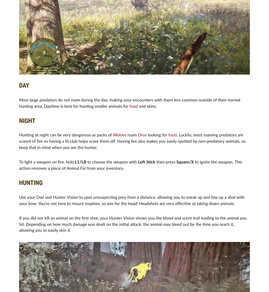
Surviving the Wilds

Animals of Oros

There are many different types of animals that inhabit the land of Oros. The in-game map will guide you to which animals inhabit specific areas. The types and amounts of animals in the landscape change depending on the time of day.



DAY

Most large predators do not roam during the day, making your encounters with them less common outside of their normal hunting area. Daytime is best for hunting smaller animals for food and skins.

NIGHT

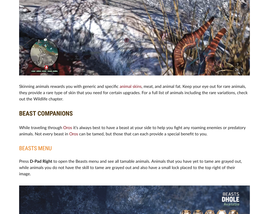
Hunting at night can be very dangerous as packs of Wolves roam Oros looking for food. Luckily, most roaming predators are scared of fire so having a lit club helps scare them off. Having fire also makes you easily spotted by non-predatory animals, so keep that in mind when you are the hunter.

To light a weapon on fire, hold L1/LB to choose the weapon with Left Stick then press Square/X to ignite the weapon. This action removes a piece of Animal Fat from your inventory.

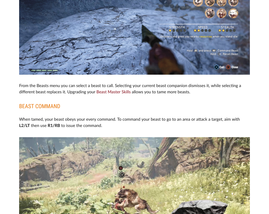
HUNTING

Use your Owl and Hunter Vision to spot unsuspecting prey from a distance, allowing you to sneak up and line up a shot with your bow. You're not here to mount trophies, so aim for the head! Headshots are very effective at taking down animals.

If you did not kill an animal on the first shot, use your Hunter Vision shows you the blood and scant trail leading to the animal you left. Depending on how much damage was dealt on the initial attack, the animal may bleed out by the time you reach it, allowing you to easily skin it.



Spears do the most damage against animals, but they require the most amount of resources, making them an ineffective tool for hunting larger quantities of animals.



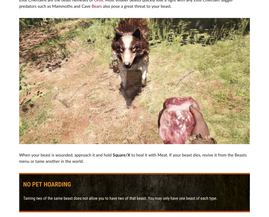
Skinning animals rewards you with generic and specific animal skins, meat, and animal fat. Keep your eye out for rare animals, they provide a rare type of skin that you need for certain upgrades. For a full list of animals including the rare variations, check out the Wildlife chapter.

BEAST COMPANIONS

While traveling through Oros it's always best to have a beast at your side to help you fight any roaming enemies or predatory animals. Not every beast in Oros can be tamed, but those that can all provide a special benefit to you.

BEASTS MENU

Press D-Pad Right to open the Beasts menu and see all tamable animals. Animals that you have yet to tame are ground out, while animals you do not have the skill to tame are grayed out and also have a small lock placed to the top right of their image.



From the Beasts menu you can select a beast to call. Selecting your current beast companion dismisses it, while selecting a different beast replaces it. Upgrading your Beast Master Skills allows you to tame more beasts.

BEAST COMMAND

When tamed, your beast obeys your every command. To command your beast to go to an area or attack a target, aim with L2/LT then use R1/RB to issue the command.

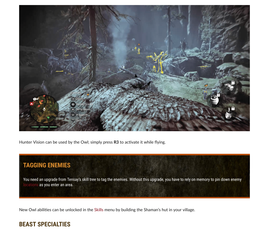
To call a beast back to your side, press and hold D-Pad Right. This causes Takkar to whistle and your beast immediately returns to you.

HERE, BOY!

It is extremely helpful to summon your beast after big charges in elevation. In some cases, your beast may just spawn on the higher ground.

BEAST SURVIVAL

Elite Chieftains are the beast mommies of Oros. Most smaller beasts quickly lose a fight with any Elite Chieftain. Bigger predators such as Hammerbs and Cave Bears also pose a great threat to your beast.



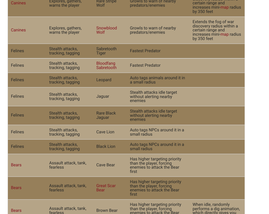
When your beast is wounded, approach it and hold Square/X to heal it with Meat. If your beast dies, revive it from the Beasts menu or tame another in the world.

NO PET HOARDING

Taming two of the same beast does not allow you to have two of that beast. You may only have one beast of each type.

BAIT AND TAMING BEASTS

Bait is a necessity when it comes to taming a wild animal. To craft bait, open your weapon wheel and then highlight Bait on the bottom left. Bait is made from two Meat, which can be harvested from an animal in Oros. Once you have bait crafted and selected in your weapon wheel, press R1/RB to throw the ball. If any nearby carnivore is attracted to the bait, a small exclamation point pops up above their head to confirm they are taking the bait.



Once it is at the bait, approach the distracted animal slowly, and then press and hold Square/X to tame the beast. The tamed beast is then added to your available beasts in the Beast menu.

THAT NEW PET SMELL

A tamed beast replaces any beast you have at your side. You can call your old beast back from the Beasts menu.

THE OWL

After bringing Tensay to your Village, you are granted access to your most valuable skill, the ability to call in an Owl to scout the area around you.

Press D-Pad Up to call in your Owl, then use your Left Stick to move the Owl through the air and the Right Stick to change where the Owl is looking. Pressing L3 causes the Owl to fly faster through the air, making it easy to avoid any enemies. The Owl cannot hover, so it constantly moves forward. Use large circles around areas to capture every angle possible.

Your Owl stays active until it either collides with an object, is shot down by an enemy, or flies out of range. Only enemies who have been alerted to Takkar attack the Owl, otherwise it is left untouched.

The Owl can be upgraded to be more than just an eye in the sky. An upgraded Owl can tag enemies, direct your Beast, and drop weapons like Fire and Sting Bombs.

Hunter Vision can be used by the Owl, simply press R3 to activate it while flying.

TAGGING ENEMIES

You need an upgrade from Tensay's skill tree to tag the enemies. Without this upgrade, you have to rely on memory to pin down enemy locations as you enter an area.

New Owl abilities can be unlocked in the Skills menu by building the Shaman's hut in your village.

BEAST SPECIALTIES

Each beast has special abilities to help you.

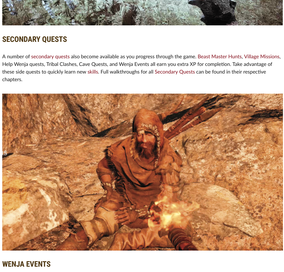
Journey Progression

Once the first mission, Path to Oros, is complete, you start building your Wenja village and help out the villagers on numerous quests. You must collect resources to build and upgrade huts as well as craft new weapons and gear. Completing quests, discovering locations, and capturing bonfires and outposts all earn XP. This, in turn, is used to purchase skills, available as you add specialists to your village.

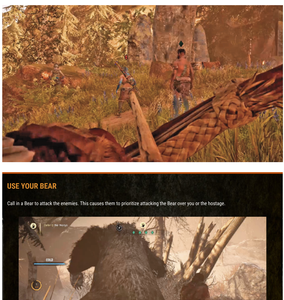
MAIN MISSIONS

Eight specialists found through your travels offer up a variety of missions. Every mission earns XP while occasionally unlocking new abilities, gear, food recipes, and resources. Some missions are required to move the story along. Refer to the Journey Progression chapter to find out how they are unlocked.



SECONDARY QUESTS

A number of secondary quests also become available as you progress through the game. Beast Master Hunts, Village Missions, Help Wenja quests, Tribal Clashes, Cave Quests, and Wenja Events all earn you extra XP for completion. Take advantage of these side quests to quickly learn new skills. Full walkthroughs for all Secondary Quests can be found in their respective chapters.

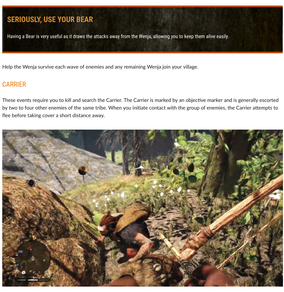


WENJA EVENTS

Wenja Events happen randomly as you travel the land of Oros. Successfully completing them awards the player with XP and more villagers.

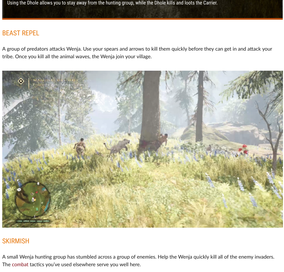
RESCUE

A small group of enemies marches a Wenja ally back to their encampment. Quickly kill the enemies before they can attack their hostage.



USE YOUR BEAR

Call in a Bear to attack the enemies. This causes them to prioritize attacking the Bear over you or the hostage.



Once all enemies are dead, move in and untie the hostage to complete the mission.

DEFEND

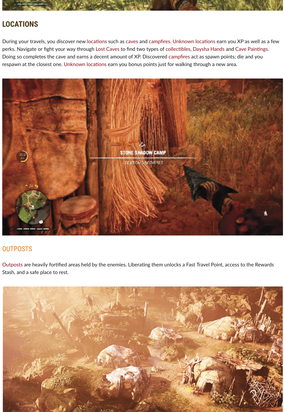
SERIOUSLY, USE YOUR BEAR

Having a Bear is very useful as it draws the attacks away from the Wenja, allowing you to keep them alive easily.

Help the Wenja survive each wave of enemies and any remaining Wenja join your village.

CARRIER

These events require you to kill and search the Carrier. The Carrier is marked by an objective marker and is generally escorted by two to four other enemies of the same tribe. When you initiate contact with the group of enemies, the Carrier attempts to flee before taking cover a short distance away.



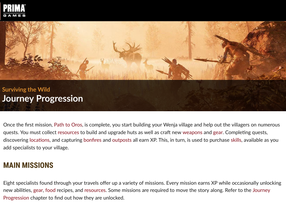
You do not need to kill all of the enemies in the small hunting group, just killing and looting the body of the Carrier completes the Wenja Event.

GOOD DOG!

Using the Dhole allows you to stay away from the hunting group, while the Dhole kills and loots the Carrier.

BEAST REPEL

A group of predators attacks Wenja. Use your spears and arrows to kill them quickly before they can get in and attack your tribe. Once you kill all the animal waves, the Wenja join your village.



SKIRMISH

A small Wenja hunting group has stumbled across a group of enemies. Help the Wenja quickly kill all of the enemy invaders. The combat tactics you've used elsewhere serve you well here.

LOCATIONS

During your travels, you discover new locations such as caves and campfires. Unknown locations earn you XP as well as a few perks. Navigate or fight your way through Lost Caves to find two types of collectibles, Daysha Hands and Cave Paintings. Doing so completes the cave and earns a decent amount of XP. Discovered campfires act as spawn points; die and you respawn at the closest one. Unknown locations earn you bonus points just for walking through a new area.

OUTPOSTS

Outposts are heavily fortified areas held by the enemies. Liberating them unlocks a Fast Travel Point, access to the Rewards Stash, and a safe place to rest.

BONFIRES

Bonfires are large beacons that mark your territory once claimed. Get rid of nearby enemies and light the bonfires to claim them for your tribe. Claimed bonfires unlock Fast Travel points, offer safe places to rest, and provide access to you Reward Stash.

Surviving the Wild

Collectible Items

Different Collectibles are scattered around Oros. When you are in close proximity to them, they appear on your mini-map and remain marked until you collect them. Your progress on each type of collectible can be viewed on your cave wall. Each collectible awards a small amount of XP, with the exception of the Spirit Totems which award the player with a 2% XP boost.

IZILA MASK: Once worn by Suxli's sacrifices, these mark Izila Land.

DAYSHA HAND: Glowing handprints show sites of spirit energy.

SPIRIT TOTEM: Totems ask spirits for safe and successful hunts.

WENJA BRACELET: Worn for life, they represent the tribe's eternal bond.

CAVE PAINTING: Study the cave painting to find a rare resource nearby.

The full list of collectible locations and descriptions of each can be found in the Collectibles Chapter.

Land of Oros

Oros

The sprawling world of Oros takes time to fully explore with its caves, mountains, waterways, and plains. As you move out from your village into more hostile territories, travel times get longer. Bonfires, Outposts, and a few Campfires act as Fast Travel locations, just like your village. Use these to quickly move around the map.

Takkar's Journey

The Journey Begins

> Our research [when creating Oros] was very extensive, and we spoke with several specialists for topics such as culture, beliefs, and anthropology. We spoke with Andrew and Brenna Byrd, who are linguists at the University of Kentucky. They were our language specialists, and they helped us to adapt Proto Indo European, or "PIE," into something that could be understood by a modern audience and served well in the game.
>
> — Clark Davies, Lead Game Designer

Members of the Wenja tribe have scattered throughout the land, driven away by the agressive Udam and Izila. Now, they search for their brethren, in the hopes they can build a new home in the land of Oros. You play as Takkar, an expert at hunting and survival, as he searches for much-needed food with a group of fellow tribesmen. Fortunately, a pack of Mammoth finds you.

Takkar's Journey

Hunting Mammoth

Once you gain control of Takkar, crouch and follow the group's leader, Dalso. As he moves, stay right behind him to remain undetected by the Mammoths. When he stops, you stop; when he goes, you go. Eventually, your group surrounds a small Mammoth, but a larger one keeps you from attacking right away.

Wait until you receive the signal to go and then sprint toward your prey. The other tribesmen are equipped with bows, while you hold two spears. The spear offers two attacks; get in close and press the Quick Attack button for a simple stab or hold the Aim button while pressing Quick Attack to throw the spear. The latter is much more effective, but once you throw both projectiles, you must recover them from your target—or the ground if you miss.

Jump to the side when the animal charges to avoid taking damage. If you are hit, sprint away from the beast and hold the Heal button to recover health. Continue to attack the Mammoth until it charges through the nearby bramble. Follow it up the hill and wait for Dalso to tell you to kill it.

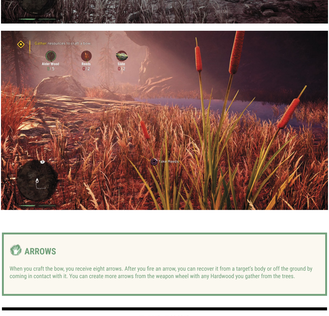
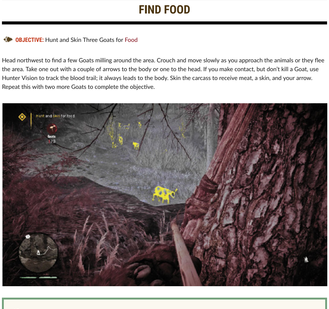
GATHER RESOURCES AND CRAFT A BOW

OBJECTIVE: Gather resources to craft a bow (5 Alder Wood, 2 Reeds, 2 Slate)

Takkar is the lone survivor from the group and must continue the search for Oros and his Wenja brothers. Not having the means to defend yourself, your first objective is to find the resources necessary to make a weapon. Activate Hunter Vision to highlight these items in the environment. The yellow glow allows for quick recognition of anything that can be interacted with. There are no threats in the immediate area, so freely run around as you collect the required resources. Once it is available, access the crafting menu and select the bow.





ARROWS

When you craft the bow, you receive eight arrows. After you fire an arrow, you can recover it from a target's body or off the ground by coming in contact with it. You can create more arrows from the weapon wheel with any Hardwood you gather from the trees.

FIND FOOD

OBJECTIVE: Hunt and Skin Three Goats for Food

Head northwest to find a few Goats milling around the area. Crouch and move slowly as you approach the animals or they flee the area. Take one out with a couple of arrows to the body or one to the head. If you make contact, but don't kill a Goat, use Hunter Vision to track the blood trail; it always leads to the body. Skin the carcass to receive meat, a skin, and your arrow. Repeat this with two more Goats to complete the objective.

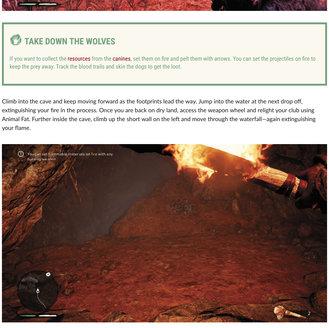
HUNTING

This objective teaches the basics of hunting, tracking, and skinning the wildlife. Here it is vital so that Takkar can eat, but it is always a good idea to hunt the variety of animals that inhabit Oros. The meat and skins obtained from their carcasses are required for survival. You are only able to transport so much of each resource. Upgrade the Guts Bag and other gear to increase the amount that can be carried. Messages appear on screen as you approach and reach your limits.

FIND SHELTER

OBJECTIVE: Find Shelter and Light a Campfire

Find shelter at the far west side of the map. Step under the rock cover in the corner and look for the campfire inside. Use one Hardwood to start a fire. After standing up, as long as you have three Alder Wood, create a club from the crafting menu. Face the fire and hold the Interact button to make a torch. This allows you to see at night and inside dark caves.



TRACK THE WENJA

OBJECTIVE: Follow the Wenja Tracks

Evidence of another Wenja is found at the campfire. Use your Hunter Vision to spot footprints leading to the west. Vines block the path ahead, so hold the torch out to set them on fire, clearing the way.

INVESTIGATE

Many times when tracking someone, you can investigate significant findings further to uncover new clues and gain valuable XP. Look for bigger red items in Hunter Vision and then approach the spot. A "search" or "investigate" prompt appears on screen when this is possible. Always take advantage of the easy experience.

Continue following the tracks, checking for clues on the sides of the path. Watch out for the drop off, as Takkar does take fall damage. Use the vines on the right to climb down safely. Eventually you hear Wolves farther ahead. Approach cautiously as three hungry Wolves pose your biggest threat yet. They are afraid of fire though, so hold out your torch to keep them at bay. Circle around to the side and force them to flee in the direction from which you came.

TAKE DOWN THE WOLVES

If you want to collect the resources from the canines, set them on fire and pelt them with arrows. You can set the projectiles on fire to keep the grey away. Track the blood trails and skin the dogs to get the loot.

Climb into the cave and keep moving forward as the footprints lead the way. Jump into the water at the next drop off, extinguishing your fire in the process. Once you are back on dry land, access the weapon wheel and relight your club using Animal Fat. Further inside the cave, climb up the short wall on the left and move through the waterfall—again extinguishing your flame.

Relight the club and jump across the gap. Crouch when the ceiling gets too low. Eventually, you drop into more water. Swim downstream until you spot someone on the ledge ahead and climb out of the water to find the other Wenja.

Takkar's Journey

Journey Progression

Now that you have found Oros and your first Wenja specialist, you can set up camp, build a village for your people, and help them out on numerous quests. Resources must be spent to make the cave your home and build huts for your tribe. You must complete many missions to progress through the story, as well as complete secondary quests that reward you with XP, new skills, and resources.

The story is split into five chapters, which are completed as you progress through the main missions.

Sayla the Gatherer

About Sayla

RECRUITMENT: Complete Path to Oros

SKILLS: Gathering Skills

SPECIAL: Teaches Food Recipes

Sayla suffers from the horrors she witnessed when her Wenja village was attacked by the vicious Udam and their bloodthirsty leader, Ull. After fleeing the slaughter, Sayla sought shelter far away in a small cave, but she was haunted by the screams of her dying Wenja tribespeople. She still hears the cries in her head, and she assumes everyone is haunted by the very same screams. As a skilled gatherer, she longs for the comfort and security of a Wenja village. She knows that Wenja have strength in numbers. It's the only way to combat the Udam.

She has a visceral hatred for all Udam. She soon discovers that slicing the ears from dead Udam is a way to quiet the screams, if only temporarily. For Sayla, the Udam ears absorb the screams. But in her heart, she believes the only way to silence the Wenja screams permanently is to kill the Udam leader, Ull. When she meets Takkar, Sayla sees a Wenja brother who could help her reunite the Wenja and defeat Ull.

After you rescue Sayla from the Sabretooth, she offers up her shelter and food located nearby. Takkar follows her to the temporary home. With help from your Wenja brethren, this is where you will build a new village for all of the lost tribe members.

Sayla is the first specialist to join the village. As you progress through her missions and build her hut, she teaches you the ways of healing with numerous food recipes, which are life savers in the heat of battle. Gathering Skills become available for purchase. With greater numbers of resources and improved odds of finding rare ones, many of the later upgrades become much easier to obtain. They may not be as flashy as the takedown and beast master skills that become available later, but do not overlook the importance of her skill offerings.

Sayla the Gatherer

Deep Wounds

DEEP WOUNDS

PREREQUISITE: Complete Path to Oros

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Collect 4 Green Leaves and return to Sayla

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 500 XP

SPECIAL: Village started and free to explore Oros, Rugged Healing food recipe, Spear available

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Archer

OVERVIEW

The Sabretooth did a number on Sayla and she needs to treat her wounds immediately. Collect Green Leaves that grow all around Oros and bring them to her.

STRATEGY

Down the hill, green plants grow near the water. As you explore Oros, this resource is found everywhere, but for this quest, you must search around the water. Make your way to the bend in the waterway and use your Hunter Vision to spot animals and enemies ahead, as well as the green plants that you seek. Udam are currently hunting the area, but they are fairly easy to perform takedowns on by sneaking up behind them. For the two guys together, either quickly kill the second after performing the takedown or draw him out by tossing a rock nearby. Pick four Green Leaves, located on both sides of the water, and return up the hill to the cave.

LEAVING THE MISSION ZONE

Be aware that it is possible to fail a mission if you stray for too long outside of the zone—marked by a yellow shading on the mini-map. A warning message appears on-screen letting you know that you must return to the objective. Quickly head back before you are placed at the previous checkpoint.

PASSIVE AND AGGRESSIVE WILDLIFE

Most of the animals that you cross paths with in this first mission are passive and do not attack unless provoked. There are Dholes nearby and they are hostile. Quickly put a couple of arrows into the canine as it approaches or pull out your club and take care of it in close combat. An animal that is engaged with you is represented with a red icon on the mini-map, whereas a white icon denotes a non-threat.

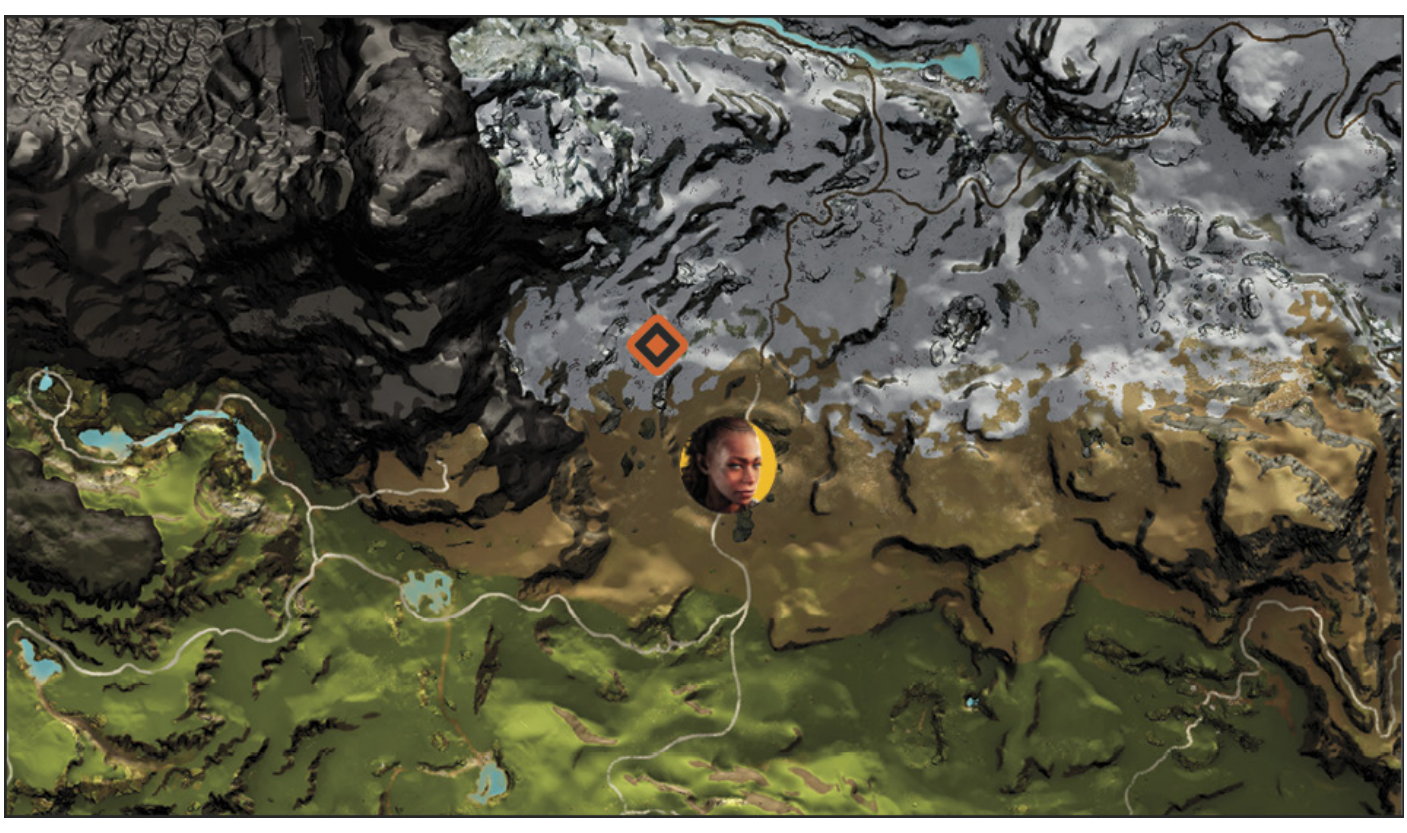
Sayla the Gatherer

The Bone Cave

THE BONE CAVE



PREREQUISITE: Complete Vision of Ice and talk to Sayla

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Search the bone cave for the missing Wenja hunter

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP

ENENIES: Cave Lions and Sabretooth

OVERVIEW

Sayla wants your help finding a Wenja hunter who has been reported missing. Navigate the dangerous, dark caverns to bring him back home.

STRATEGY

Find a Tall Elk carcass at the last known location of the hunter and accept the mission. Use Hunter Vision to find footprints leading to the northwest into the cold climate of northern Oros. The trail ends up at Dantan's Den; enter the dark cave.

THE COLD

Any time you navigate the northern wastes of Oros, a cold meter appears on screen that represents Takkar's comfort. As you remain in the cold climate, the meter drains and the outer edges of the screen frost over, eventually leading to your death. To survive, light campfires for warmth or ignite your weapon to stave off the cold. Craft Winter Clothing from Karoosh to lengthen the time before freezing to death with full protection once upgraded. Always be aware of your warmth as you roam the north.

Light your club and follow the footprints further inside to find Cave Lions roaming the interior. Keep your torch at the ready to keep them at bay, getting in attacks whenever possible. Once the threat has been dealt with, use Hunter Vision to find the Wenja hunter hiding in a small cubbyhole. Talk to him to heal him as he warns of more Tigers nearby. If you do not yet have enough healing plants, he tells you to find some. There are several bags containing plants in the cavern.

A group of felines, including a tough Sabretooth Tiger, must be dealt with before you can extract the Wenja from the den. Set them on fire, pelt them with arrows, or beat them down with your club or spear. Pay particular attention to the Sabretooth. If you can tame him, he is a great addition to your Beasts menu, though you do need the Tame Apex Predators skill before doing so. Clear out the beasts and return to the hunter to complete the mission.

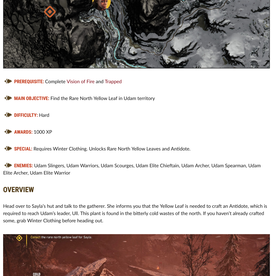
INTO UDAM LAND



PREREQUISITE: Complete Vision of Fire and Trapped

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find the Rare North Yellow Leaf in Udam territory

DIFFICULTY: Hard

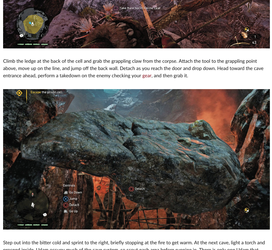
AWARDS: 5000 XP

SPECIAL: Requires Winter Clothing. Unlocks Rare North Yellow Leaves and Antidote.

ENEMIES: Udam Slingers, Udam Warriors, Udam Scourges, Udam Elite Chieftain, Udam Archer, Udam Spearman, Udam Elite Archer, Udam Elite Warrior

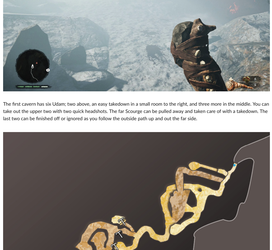
OVERVIEW

Head over to Sayla's hut and talk to the gatherer. She informs you that the Yellow Leaf is needed to craft an Antidote, which is required to reach Udam's leader, Ult. This plant is found in the bitterly cold wastes of the north. If you haven't already crafted some, grab Winter Clothing before heading out.

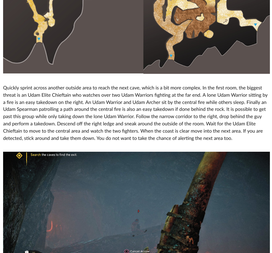


STRATEGY

Move up the west side of the icy north until into Udam Land begins. Hop across the rock outcrops, take out the Wolves below, and search for the rare yellow plant. Take the Yellow Leaf and you are captured and thrown into a cell located in a cave to the north. Escaping is made tougher as your gear has been taken from you.

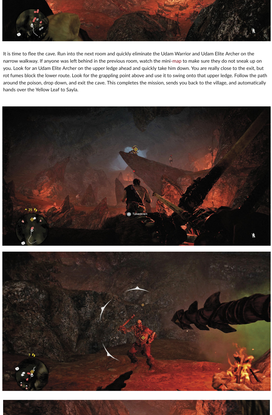


Climb the ledge at the back of the cell and grab the grappling claw from the corpse. Attach the tool to the grappling point above, move up on the line, and jump off the back wall. Ascend as you reach the door and drop down. Head toward the cave entrance ahead, perform a takedown on the enemy checking your gear, and then grab it.



Step out into the bitter cold and sprint to the right, briefly stopping at the fire to get warm. At the next cave, light a torch and proceed inside. Udam occupy much of the cave system, so scout each area before running in. There is only one Udam that must be taken down and searched; your main objective is exiting the caves. You can sneak past many of the Udam. Whether you kill them all or just the ones in your way, your goal is to escape.

The first cavern has six Udam; two above, an easy takedown in a small room to the right, and three more in the middle. You can take out the upper two with two quick headshots. The far Scourge can be pulled away and taken care of with a takedown. The last two can be finished off or ignored as you follow the outside path up and out the far side.



Quickly sprint across another outside area to reach the next cave, which is a bit more complex. In the first room, the biggest threat is an Udam Elite Chieftain who watches over two Udam Warriors fighting at the far end. A lone Udam Warrior sitting by a fire is an easy takedown on the right. An Udam Warrior and Udam Archer sit by the central fire while others sleep. Finally an Udam Spearman patrolling a path around the central fire is also an easy takedown if done behind the rock. It is possible to get past this group while only taking down the lone Udam Warrior. Follow the narrow corridor to the right, drop behind the guy and perform a takedown. Descend off the right ledge and sneak around the outside of the room. Wait for the Udam Elite Chieftain to move to the central area and watch the two fighters. When the coast is clear move into the next area. If you are detected, stick around and take them down. You do not want to take the chance of alerting the next area too.

The leader is busy with two women on a rock above the middle of the next room. He is the one Udam that must be taken down. There are several guys around the outside of this area, including two Udam Elite Chieftains and a few Udam Scourges. It is tough getting to the leader without being detected, but take care of as many as you can quietly to limit the numbers who attack later. Start by taking out the two Udam Scourges straight ahead and to the left. Then, just circle around both directions, trying to get headshots on lone enemies or draw them out for takedowns. If all who remain are the leader and civilians, grapple to the upper ledge and take them out. If you are detected, seek out the leader and kill him while fending off the others.

It is time to flee the cave. Run into the next room and quickly eliminate the Udam Warrior and Udam Elite Archer on the narrow walkway. If anyone was left behind in the previous room, watch the mini-map to make sure they do not sneak up on you. Look for an Udam Elite Archer on the upper ledge ahead and quickly take him down. You are really close to the exit, but not fumes block the lower route. Look for the grappling point above and use it to swing onto that upper ledge. Follow the path around the poison, drop down, and exit the cave. This completes the mission, sends you back to the Village, and automatically hands over the Yellow Leaf to Sayla.

UDAM HOMELAND

With the Antidote, it is now possible to enter the Udam homeland and find Ult. The boss is extremely tough. Be sure you are well prepared before taking him on. Other areas are also available with a way past the rot fumes.

Tensay the Shaman

About Tensay

- RECRUITMENT: Find Tensay and Complete Vision of Beasts
- SKILLS: Beast Master Skill
- SPECIAL: Ability to tame beasts, Owl, unlocks Udam's Big Darwa Fort and Izila's Fire Screamer Fort

Tensay is the psychotic, yet charming, Wenja shaman, intense and animalistic. He chews mind-altering plants, communicates with the spirits of nature, and holds audiences rapt with his colorful stories and animated personality. As the Wenja's only shaman, he is the keeper of the tribe's beliefs. When not lost in a hallucinatory spirit vision, he devotes his attention to healing the wounded, aiding births, and conducting funeral rites for fallen Wenja.

A year ago Tensay was captured and enslaved by the fire-wielding Izila tribe. They scorched his flesh with the fiery mark of a slave and forced him to erect their megalithic standing stones. After suffering months of back-breaking work, Tensay finally escaped and wrapped himself in a wolf skin to hide in the wilderness. Traumatized and half crazed, he set out to call upon a spirit strong enough to gather the scattered Wenja tribe and unite them against his former captors—the Izila.

Tensay the Shaman may seem a bit eccentric with the revolting concoctions he feeds to Takkar, but his missions offer up important aspects of the game. The ability to tame beasts and call for a scouting Owl are invaluable throughout your journey through Oros. Plus, his visions give you deep insight into the two bosses, unlocking both enemy tribe homelands along the way.

Tensay the Shaman

About Tensay

- RECRUITMENT: Find Tensay and Complete Vision of Beasts
- SKILLS: Beast Master Skill
- SPECIAL: Ability to tame beasts, Owl, unlocks Udam's Big Darwa Fort and Izila's Fire Screamer Fort

Tensay is the psychotic, yet charming, Wenja shaman, intense and animalistic. He chews mind-altering plants, communicates with the spirits of nature, and holds audiences rapt with his colorful stories and animated personality. As the Wenja's only shaman, he is the keeper of the tribe's beliefs. When not lost in a hallucinatory spirit vision, he devotes his attention to healing the wounded, aiding births, and conducting funeral rites for fallen Wenja.

A year ago Tensay was captured and enslaved by the fire-wielding Izila tribe. They scorched his flesh with the fiery mark of a slave and forced him to erect their megalithic standing stones. After suffering months of back-breaking work, Tensay finally escaped and wrapped himself in a wolf skin to hide in the wilderness. Traumatized and half crazed, he set out to call upon a spirit strong enough to gather the scattered Wenja tribe and unite them against his former captors—the Izila.

Tensay the Shaman may seem a bit eccentric with the revolting concoctions he feeds to Takkar, but his missions offer up important aspects of the game. The ability to tame beasts and call for a scouting Owl are invaluable throughout your journey through Oros. Plus, his visions give you deep insight into the two bosses, unlocking both enemy tribe homelands along the way.

Tensay the Shaman
Vision of Beasts

PREREQUISITE: Complete Deep Wounds

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Follow the Guide and Tame the Owl

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 500 XP

SPECIAL: Call an Owl to scout an area

ENEMIES: None

OVERVIEW

Tensay hides out in a cave, northeast of the village—just beyond the Nakuti Bonfire. He has been waiting for Takkar to arrive and serves up a tasty-looking concoction. This sends the player into a hallucinatory trip.

STRATEGY

Be cautious when heading to Tensay's initial location as Udam Warriors and Udam Spearmen occupy the area. Move to the back of the cave, where Tensay takes over and Vision of Beasts begins. This simple mission introduces you to your extremely handy Owl. You just need to follow your guide. When on your feet or swimming, move down the path to the bright Owl. When in the air, fly right behind the bird, keeping an eye out for obstacles in your flight path. Eventually, you gain the opportunity to tame it.

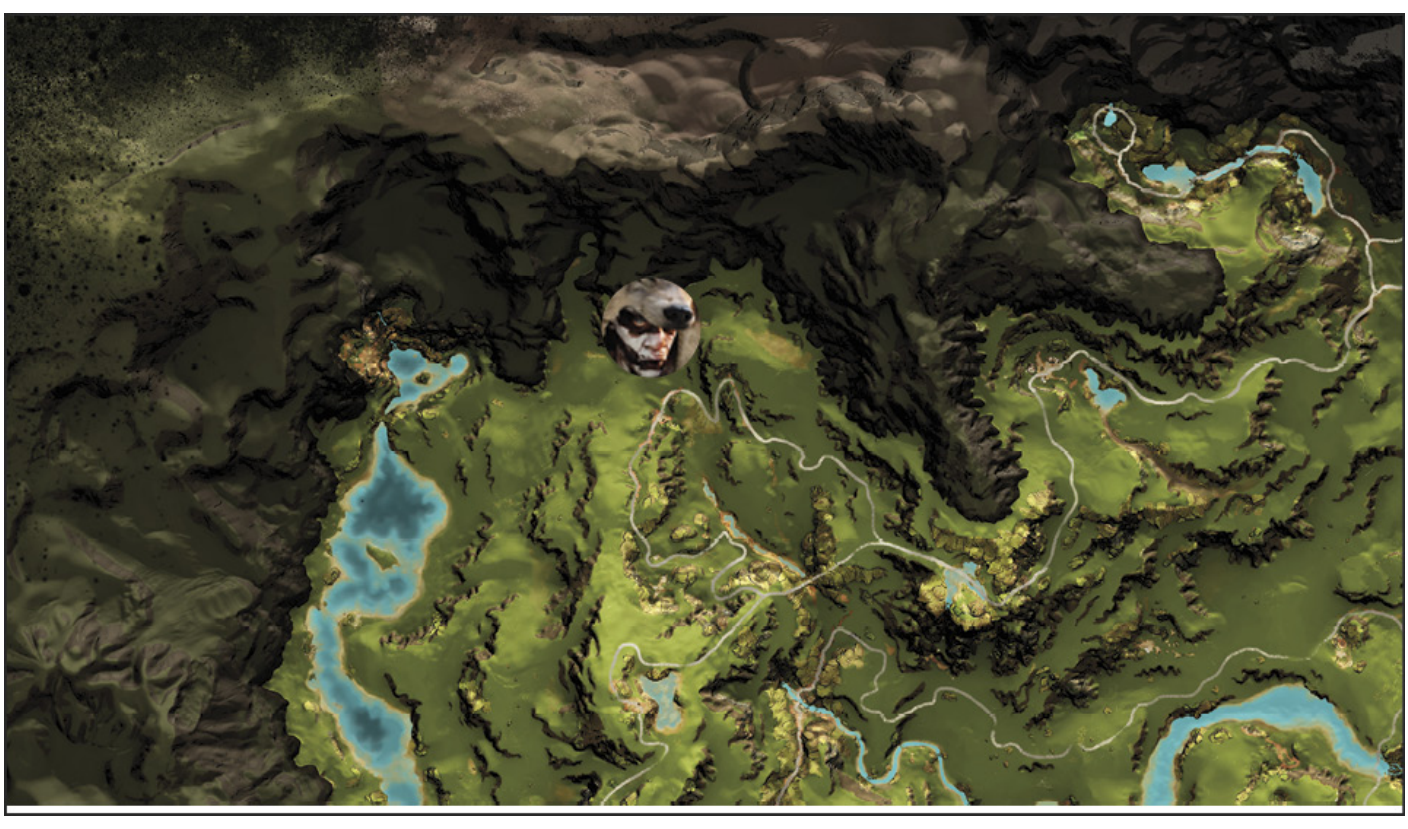
Tensay the Shaman
Beast Master

BEAST MASTER



PREREQUISITE: Complete Vision of Beasts

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find the wolf den and tame the White Wolf

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 750 XP

SPECIAL: Ability to tame beasts, Tensay the Shaman in your village

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Archers

OVERVIEW

Tensay claims you are the beast master and directs you to find the White Wolf and tame it. Completing this mission adds Tensay to your village. Taming Skills are unlocked. Build Tensay's Hut and gain even more.

STRATEGY

Head northwest from the previous mission, approach the Tensay icon, and accept the mission. Call your Owl and fly directly south to find three Udam. They are tagged automatically as you fly over. Stealthily approach their location and quickly take them down.

Use Hunter Vision to pick up footprints that head south from the Udam camp to the Den of Walkwa. Crouch down and spot the White Wolf. Craft bait at the weapon wheel and toss it out toward the canine. Slowly approach and once you are close enough, tame it. This adds the White Wolf to your Beasts menu, so it can be called on at any time.

A couple of Udam are located just to the east; a great opportunity to test the beast out. Before dropping off the rocks, use Hunter Vision to spot the two enemies below. Send the White Wolf to the far target, while quietly taking down the nearest one. This completes Beast Master and adds Tensay the Shaman to your village.

XP FOR KILLS

Beast Kills do not get you as much XP as other kills such as Headshots and Takedowns. It is a quick and easy kill; just remember the payout is not as good.

BUILDING YOUR VILLAGE

It is time to start building your village. Give Sayla and Tensay huts and unlock skills, weapons, new items in your Reward Stash, and more. Once huts are built, talk to Sayla in the cave. She gives Takkar a new, powerful club as The Next Day begins.

VISION OF ICE

PREREQUISITE: Complete Attack of the Udam

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find and destroy the stone woman statue

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 750 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Spearmen, Udam Chieftains, Udam Archers

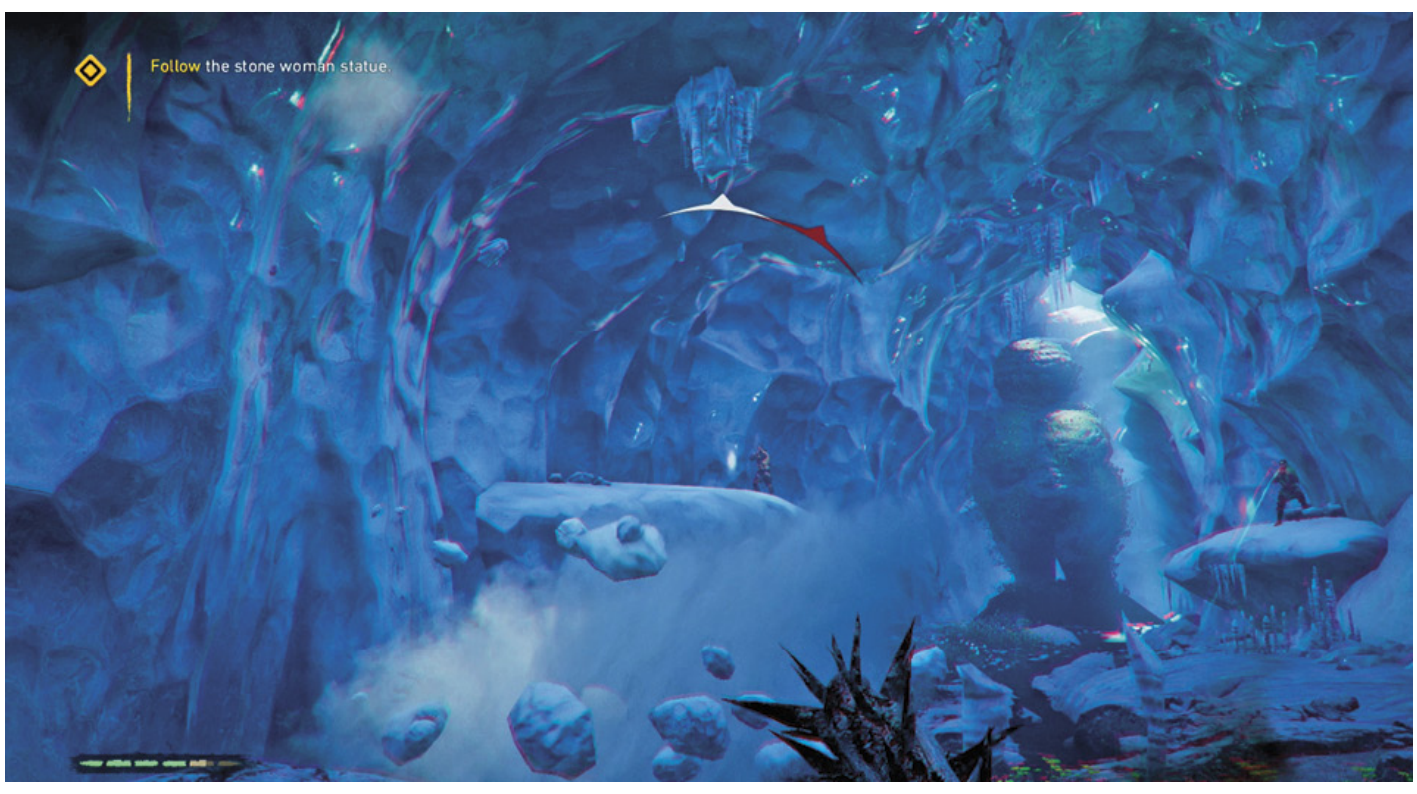
OVERVIEW

Tensay has concocted another of his hallucination-inducing cocktails. As Takkar takes a drink, Vision of Ice begins, allowing you to see through the eyes of Udam.

STRATEGY

Follow the icy path to the stone woman statue and attempt to interact with it. This transports you to another icy locale, equipped with a spiky club. Follow the path down the hill and pummel the Udam Warriors and Udam Spearmen who attack. You have unlimited clubs, so feel free to throw them at incoming fighters. Eventually you reach Udam Chieftains, equipped with a big, powerful club and better armor. They require a couple of club tosses to kill.

Just ahead, a big, stone woman statue stands in the way. Follow as it forges a path through the ice cave. Fight off the warriors that appear, keeping an eye out for ground attacks from the statue itself—jumping to the side to avoid taking damage. Farther ahead, archers fire from side ledges; well-aimed clubs take care of them in one shot.



At the clearing, an onslaught of Udam Warriors and Udam Chieftains attack. Make quick tosses of your club to take them down. Udam Archers join in from above, requiring more precise throws. This goes on for a while. Avoid being surrounded as you finish them off. With the area clear, use a club to destroy the statue.

TAKING THE FIGHT TO THE UDAM

The small Udam camp has been destroyed, sending a message to the enemy tribe and now you have seen their icy home. It is time to prepare for the elimination of their clan. The fight for Oros begins as Big Darwa Fort becomes available to the north. It is not an easy fight though, so spend some time completing other missions, earning XP, and getting stronger before taking the Udam on.

Tensay the Shaman

The Taken Wenja

THE TAKEN WENJA

PREREQUISITE: Complete The Bone Cave

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Track the Wenja taken by the Izila tribe and free them

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 1,000 XP

ENEMIES: Izila Slingers, Izila Archers, Izila Spearmen, Izila Warriors

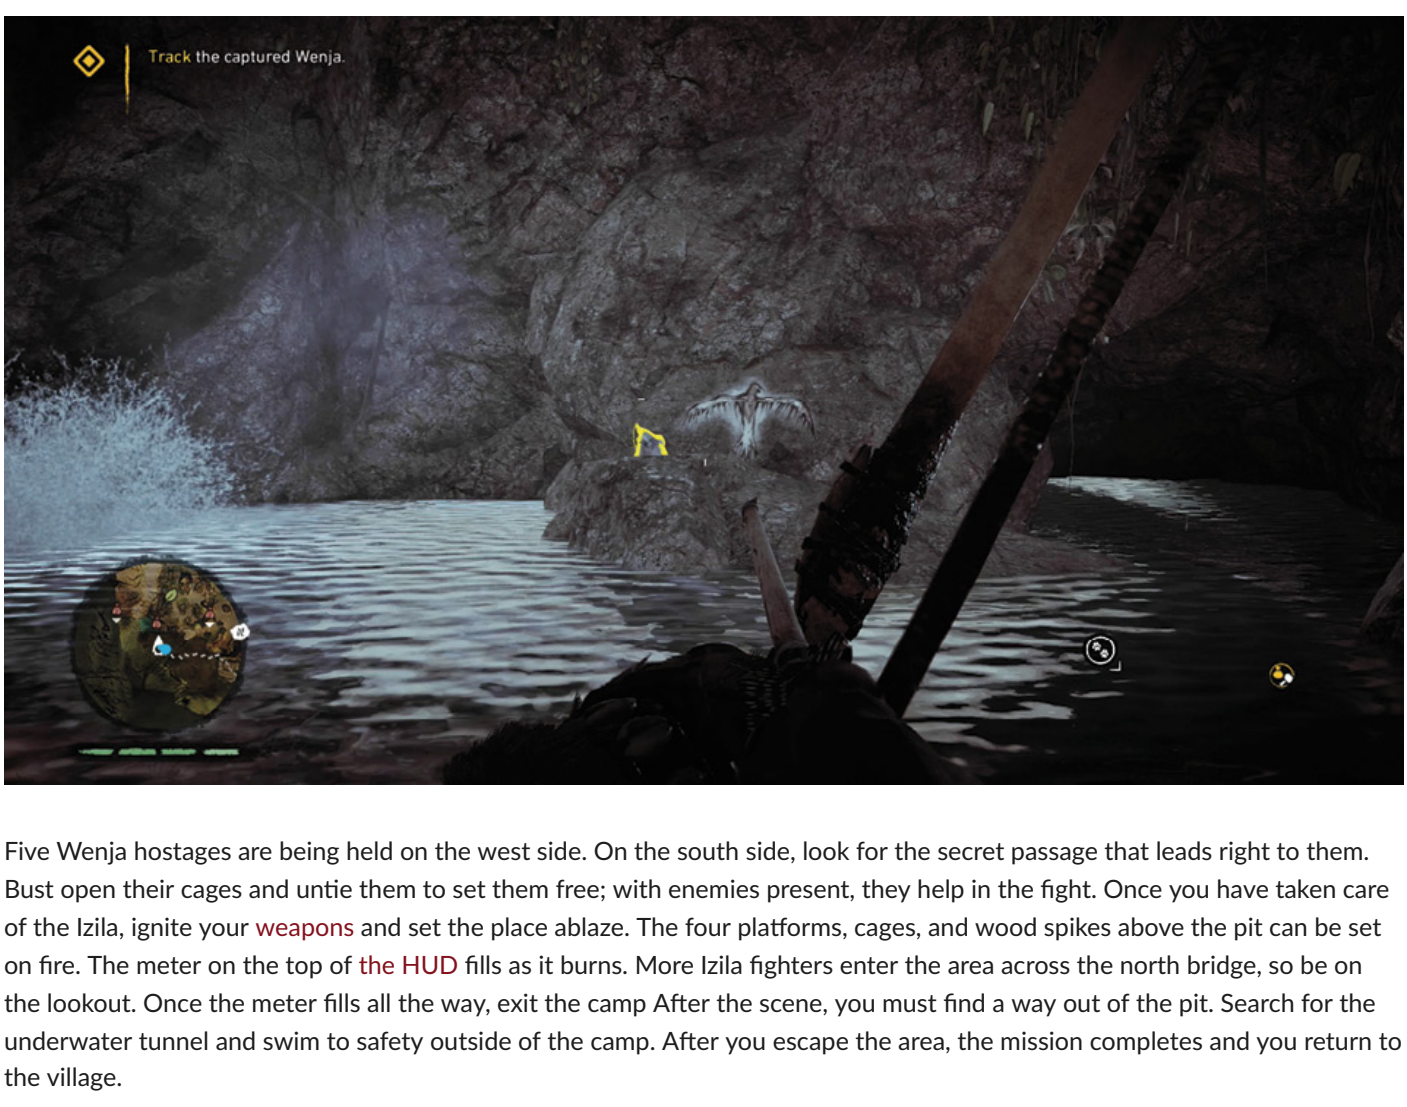
OVERVIEW

The Izila tribe have taken Wenja and locked them up to the far east. There is still time to free them from their cages before they are used as tools by the sun walkers.

STRATEGY

Head east to the quest marker and accept the mission. Use Hunter Vision to follow the blood trail southeast toward the water. Follow the stream east through Mash Baya Rocks, investigating clues along the way. As you reach a bridge above, a scene plays out between the Izila and a couple of their hostages. Continue swimming, diving into a tunnel when you reach the waterfall. This leads into the Izila camp where they hold the hostages. Izila Slingers man watchtowers around the outside, while Izila Spearmen and Izila Warriors patrol the area.

Water tunnels wrap around the east side, leading all the way to the south end. Grappling points on the southeast and east allow for easy access to a couple of the Izila Slingers. Continuing in the water to the south, find a secret passage that leads north into the central pit. If you are detected inside, enemies pour into the hole, so be ready for a fight or flee back into the water. Stealth is an option for a while, but with the four watchtowers, it doesn't take long before you are detected.



Five Wenja hostages are being held on the west side. On the south side, look for the secret passage that leads right to them. Bust open their cages and untie them to set them free; with enemies present, they help in the fight. Once you have taken care of the Izila, ignite your weapons and set the place ablaze. The four platforms, cages, and wood spikes above the pit can be set on fire. The meter on the top of the HUD fills as it burns. More Izila fighters enter the area across the north bridge, so be on the lookout. Once the meter fills all the way, exit the camp After the scene, you must find a way out of the pit. Search for the underwater tunnel and swim to safety outside of the camp. After you escape the area, the mission completes and you return to the village.

FACING BATARI

Wenja hostages have been freed from Batari's clutches, but there are more being forced to do her bidding. The sun daughter must be found and defeated in order to bring peace to Oros. Fire Screamer Fort appears on the map. This stronghold must be captured before you can reach Batari. Be sure you are ready before taking on this very challenging mission.

Tensay the Shaman
Vision of Fire

VISION OF FIRE

PREREQUISITE: Complete The Taken Wenja

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Discover what feeds Izila's fire

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 1000 XP

ENEMIES: Izila Spearmen, Izila Archers, Izila Warriors

OVERVIEW

Your next visit to Tensay the Shaman offers up another drink and another vision. This time Takkar sees through the eyes of the Izila in a quest to find out what feeds their fire.

Tensay is always on edge. One second he could be joyful and charming and the second after he can be dangerously scary and violent.
— Jean-Sébastien Decant, Narrative Director

STRATEGY

Start out by interacting with the Krati ahead. This sends you to an Izila camp, equipped with The Fire of Krati bow. Move up the red path to reach the standing stones, killing the Izila along the way. Destroy the four stones, while fighting off the Izila Archers and Izila Spearmen.

In the next area, the moon threatens to block the sun during a lunar eclipse. Your goal is to shatter the moon with The Fire of Krati. Move up the path and kill any Izila that you see. Every time a triple-arrow shot is earned, launch them at the moon. Pay attention to damage indicators to find where the enemies are located. This also leads you up the fiery path. Be careful running into the final section as it is easy to get surrounded. Each successful hit with the triple-arrow further breaks up the moon until finally it explodes, completing the vision.

THE FIRE OF KRATI

This mission equips you with a special bow that fires a devastating meteor arrow. Kill five enemies to charge the Fire of Krati and gain a powerful triple-arrow shot as your next shot. After shooting the triple arrows you switch back to a meteor arrow.

Takkar is a reluctant hero. He comes to Oros to reunite with the Wenja, not to lead them. But Sayla and Tensay see the makings of a true leader in Takkar. Our story is about the resilience of humankind. No matter what is thrown in our path, we fight on and we form bonds. It's in our nature.

THE MASK OF KRATI

PREREQUISITE: Complete Into Udam Land

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Steal the mask of Krati from the Izila

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 2000 XP

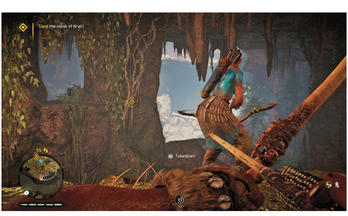
ENEMIES: Izila Elite Slinger, Izila Spearmen, Izila Elite Archer, Izila Warriors, Izila Archers, Izila Chieftain, Izila Elite Spearmen

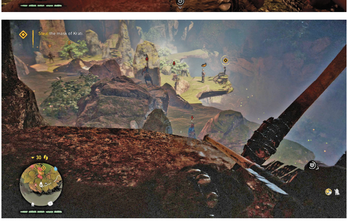
OVERVIEW

Tensay the Shaman has a favor to ask of Takkar. Find the mask of Krati so that we can destroy their leader, Batari. The quest marker appears in far south Oros; approach it to begin the mission.

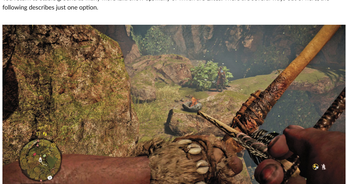
Find the narrow opening to the sacred cavern southeast of the Forest Tomb and follow the path until you drop into the water below. Swim through the tunnel toward the light to reach your destination. Call your Owl and take a minute to survey the area. An Izila Elite Slinger stands next to the mask of Krati with Izila Spearmen, Izila Archers, and Izila Warriors patrolling all around the area. Ivy to the right and a grappling point to the left offer access to the upper level, but watch out for the Izila. The more you can tag with the Owl, the less likely you are to be surprised.

Quietly move around the upper level and take out as many soldiers as you can with takedowns or headshots. The more you can eliminate from the cavern, the less you must face if and when the Izila Elite Slinger calls in reinforcements. As you get closer to the mask, the environment opens up, making it tougher to sneak around. A ledge on the north end gives great access to the Izila near the mask. Spend some time picking off the remaining foes while keeping an eye on the mini-map. Once the area is clear, run to the mask and snag it. It is now time to escape the tomb of Krati—hopefully unscathed.

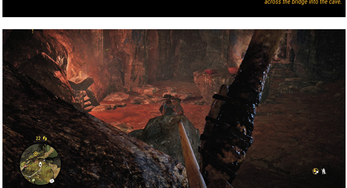




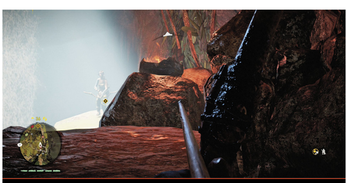
You return to stable ground as many more Izila show up, many of which are Elites. There are several ways out of here; the following describes just one option.



Sneak over to the right ledge, wait for the Izila Elite Spearman to turn away, and quickly take him down. Remain crouched as you move across the bridge into the cave.

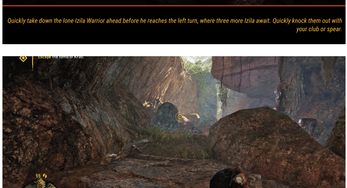


Turn left behind a short wall. An Izila Warrior above and Izila Archer below are easy targets for your bow. Hop over the ledge and climb the ladder on the left.



Peek around the next corner to spot an Izila Archer, quickly duck behind cover, and pull her toward you for a takedown.

Quickly take down the lone Izila Warrior ahead before he reaches the left turn, where three more Izila await. Quickly knock them out with your club or spear.



Remaining undetected is over, so sprint toward the quest markers to find the exit. It is possible to grapple across the front of the waterfall, but the safer route is around the left side.

IZILA HOMELAND

This unlocks the Izila homeland, but you need the strength of a Mammoth to breach the gates. Purchase the Mammoth Rider skill before attempting this.

Tensay the Shaman
Attack of the Udam

ATTACK OF THE UDAM

PREREQUISITE: Build Sayla and Tensay's huts and talk to Sayla

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Defend the Village from Udam. Kill Enemies and Destroy three Bone Trees at Udam Camp.

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Archers, Udam Scourges, Udam Slingers

OVERVIEW

As your clan begins to make a new home for themselves in Oros, the Udam tribe takes notice and organizes an attack to once again destroy the Wenja village. Join with your fellow tribespeople and defend against the onslaught. Takkar is introduced to their evil leader, Ull, but he exits the area before you can go after him.

DEFEND THE VILLAGE STRATEGY

If it's not already at your side, call your White Wolf to assist in the fight. You can soften the Udam with arrows from afar, but the new club from Sayla and thrown spears do more damage. Warnings appear on screen when certain locations are under attack. First they go after the front gate and then the cavern gate. Use your canine's speed to your advantage and sic it on the distant Archers, while you go after the Warriors.

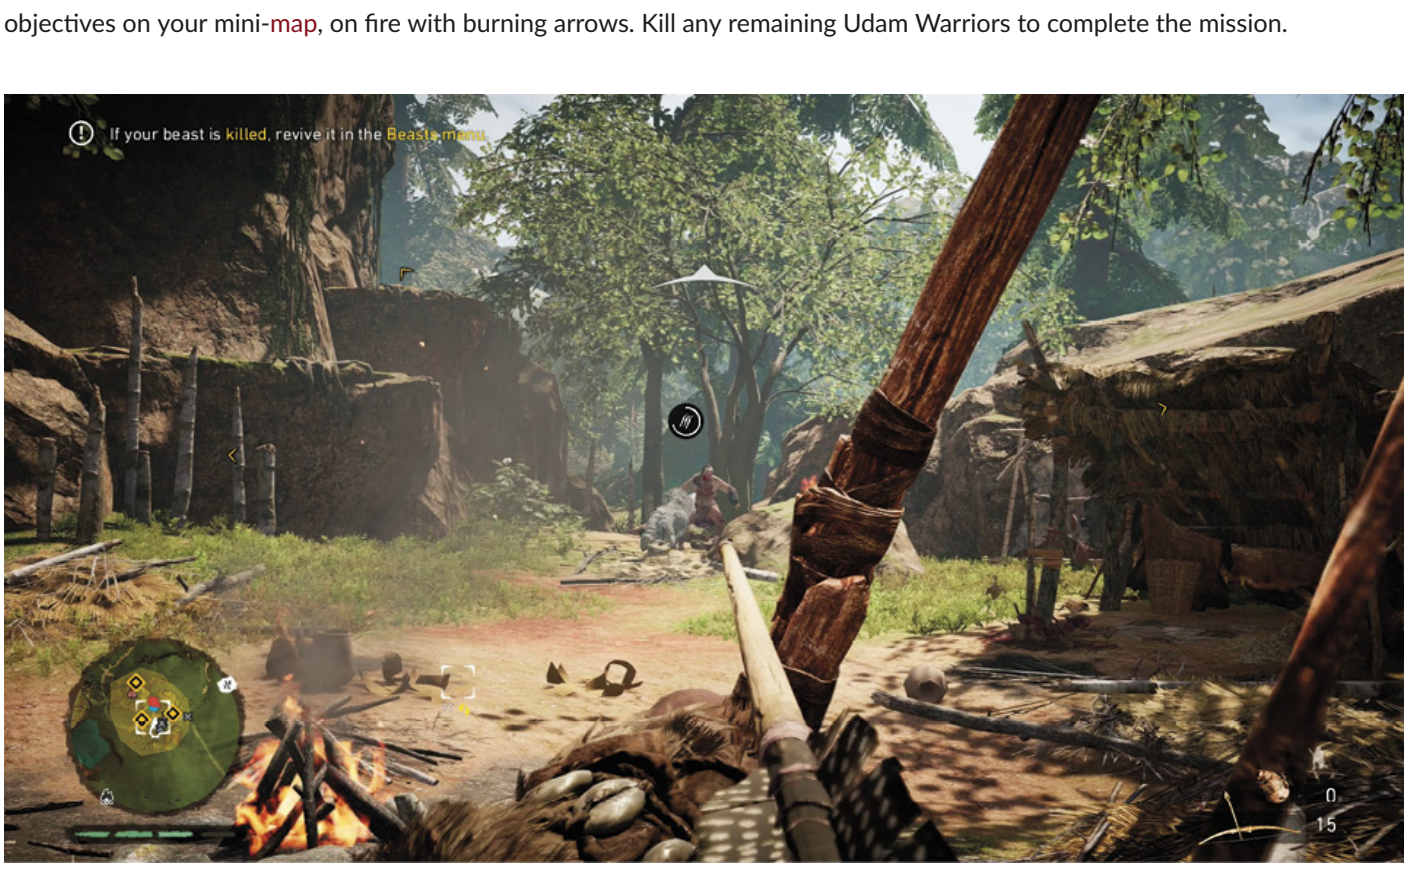
Watch out for Udam Scourges who toss poison bombs. These projectiles can eat away at your health, so make them a priority as you defend the village. Continue to watch the mini-map and go wherever help is needed. Eventually the attack is thwarted. Regroup with Sayla; it is time to take the fight to the Udam.

EFFECTS OF POISON

Bee stings, snake bites, rot fumes found later in the game, and poisonous bombs can all poison you. Once you are poisoned, your health slowly drains. At the moment you do not have an Antidote, so you must wait it out. Keep an eye on your health and be sure to heal when it gets low.

ELIMINATE UDAM CAMP STRATEGY

A small Udam camp, located nearby to the east, offers a chance to exact revenge on your enemy. Cautiously move up the hill toward the location and use your Owl to survey the area. Be careful if you have the Wolf companion as it may spoil a stealth attempt. Udam Archers and Udam Warriors occupy the retreat. They can be pulled outside the camp by tossing rocks, allowing you to perform takedowns on them without alerting the others. Or you can take the area over with brute force. Watch your back as reinforcements may have been called. Once the enemy has been eliminated, set the three bone trees, marked as objectives on your mini-map, on fire with burning arrows. Kill any remaining Udam Warriors to complete the mission.



BE CAREFUL AROUND FIRE

You always need to be cautious when setting targets on fire as it can easily spread through nearby brush, huts, and any other dry debris. Move clear of an area you wish to burn down to avoid taking damage from the flames. If you are set on fire, hold the Interact button to put it out or risk losing more health. It is even easier to set your companion ablaze, so be ready to heal it when playing with fire.

MORE WENJA FOR THE VILLAGE

More lost Wenja appear on the map to the east. Bring them back to the village and build them huts to unlock even more abilities.

Wogah the Crafter

About Wogah

- RECRUITMENT: Complete Trapped and Blood of Oros
- SKILLS: Crafting Skills
- SPECIAL: Gives Grappling Claw and unlocks several great items for crafting

Wogah is a feral, dangerous, one-armed Wenja crafter—at once brilliant and completely deranged. One year ago the Udam tribe attacked his people. They massacred Wogah's village, captured him, and cut off his arm to feed on his flesh. Wogah staunched the blood flow and fashioned an ingenious device to break free from his cage. Ever since, he has lived the solitary existence of a hermit, chattering to himself and crafting traps to kill the violent Udam.

Wogah believes he is now the last surviving Wenja of the Udam attack. When he discovers the existence of other Wenja, his world is turned upside down as he rededicates his life to helping the tribespeople he feared he'd lost.

Wogah the Crafter lives alone in a nearby cave, thinking the rest of his fellow Wenja have been massacred. Because of this, it takes a while for him to warm up to Takkar. Once he does though, he offers a great selection of Crafting Skills and invaluable gear.

TRAPPED

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Escape the Cave

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 500 XP

SPECIAL: Grappling Claw

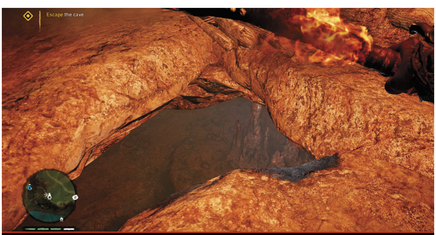
ENEMIES: Jaguars

OVERVIEW

Once the Udam attack has been thwarted, new specialists appear on the map. Find and bring them back to the village to gain new skills and upgrades. Wogah the Crafter is found in a cave near the Shelter of the Lost. Climb the vines just to the east of this location and follow the wood path back west to find the cave. Enter to begin the Trapped mission.

STRATEGY

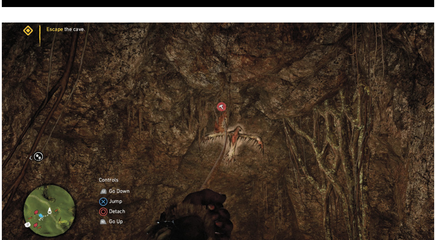
Wogah thinks he has caught another Udam and does not believe you are Wenja. You must find a way out of the cave to convince him otherwise.



Light your torch and set the debris on fire to reveal a hole. Drop down to the lower level.

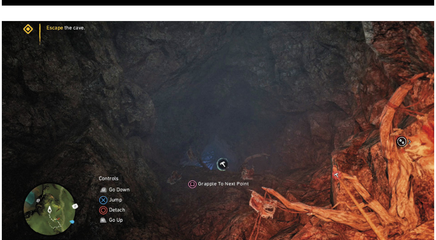
Head northwest to find a Leopard, tending to another Leopard carcass, and (if you have the skill) tame it with a piece of bait. Walk over to the body and pick up the grappling claw stuck in its side. This is an extremely useful tool as it allows for climbing and swinging to new heights.

Return to the first cavern and spot a grappling point to the right. Use the claw to reach the ledge above and move to the end of the corridor.



Turn left and use the grappling claw to swing across the gap. Another grapple point allows you to descend into a big cavern below.

Four Jaguars attack as soon as you get within range, so be ready to keep them away with your torch. Climb out of the pit to the west and use the grappling claw on a point high up the right wall.



Continue up the wall ahead by ascending toward the first grapple point and switching to the next one when possible. You find an exit just ahead.

Wogah the Crafter
Blood of Oros

BLOOD OF OROS

PREREQUISITE: Complete Trapped

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find four Blood of Oros Rocks

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 750 XP

SPECIAL: Wogah the Crafter in your village, unlocks Blood of Oros resource

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Spearmen, Udam Archers

OVERVIEW

Return to Wogah so that he can get a look at the Wenja that he trapped. He introduces you to a great resource for weapons called Blood of Oros, but finding it has proven a tough endeavor. Find the precious material and Wogah will help the Wenja.

STRATEGY

Start the search at the objective marker to the northeast, where an Udam Warrior and Udam Spearman must be taken care of first. Just south of the campfire, burn off the branches from the dolmens and then interact with them to peer through the openings. Most have no result, but look through the one that faces southwest to find the Blood of Oros shining in the distance.

Climb to the sparkling location and investigate. More Udam fighters guard the site, where the four precious rocks are hidden. The overhead image shows the locations of the Blood Oros. Work your way around the outside of the area and eliminate the enemies.

Now you are able to collect four of the rocks without worrying about the Udam. Search in the water and along the various ledges to the west and south to find them. Use Hunter Vision to make them stand out. Wogah joins your village once the you've obtained the fourth rock.

BEWARE OF THE CROCODILES

Be cautious as you enter the water around Oros, where Crocodiles often lie in wait. These predators do serious damage before you can escape their clutches. Use Hunter Vision to spot them hanging out near the water's edge. Put an arrow in a croc's head and collect the easy skin.

THE PEAK OF OROS

- PREREQUISITE: Complete Blood of Oros and build Wogah's hut
- MAIN OBJECTIVE: Climb the cliff and collect Rare Feathers from the Eagle nests
- DIFFICULTY: Hard
- AWARDS: 1000 XP
- SPECIAL: Unlocks Rare Feathers
- ENEMIES: Eagles

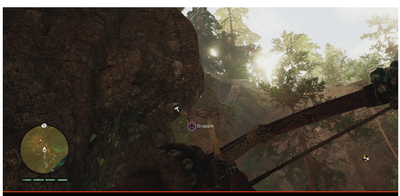
OVERVIEW

After building Wogah's hut, talk to him just outside and he offers to create new tools for you. But first, he wants you to collect Rare Feathers from Eagle nests to the north. Your new grappling claw allows you to reach the heights necessary to find these elusive resources.



Move around the left side of the lake and climb up the vines to the first ledge. Use the grappling claw on the first point ahead and swing across the gap.

STRATEGY

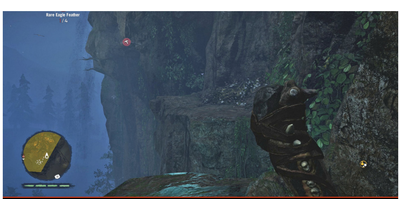
As you reach the water next to Eagle Cry Peak, the mission begins. Five Eagle nests are scattered up the cliff ahead. The mission helps get you familiar with the grappling claw as you climb and swing your way to the top.

Climb and grapple up to the next ledge. Crouch and crawl under the low clearing ahead before ascending more vines.

Turn around and grapple up to find the first nest. Grab the Rare Feathers that sit inside, turn around, and carefully cross the log that fills the next gap.

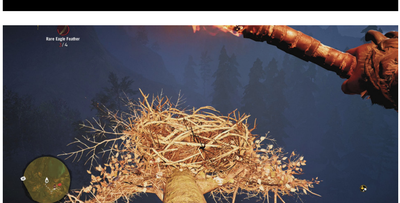
BE AWARE OF ANGRY EAGLES

As you ransack the Eagle nests, you should expect the owners to not be happy. Listen for an Eagle to screech, signifying they are ready to swoop in on their prey. Quickly check the mini-map to see from where it approaches. Ready your club and time your swing so that you knock it out of the air just as it reaches you. If you are close to the edge, you could throw yourself off the side, so be careful. Staying on the move or holding a burning club out can also help avoid their attacks. More Eagles soar above as more nests are disturbed.

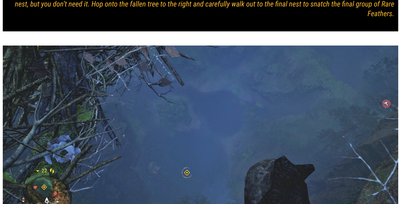


To the left is a weak wall that leads to a hidden room with two sacks inside. Watch out for the snakes. Back outside, use the grappling point high up the north face. Turn left and make a running leap to the next ledge where more Rare Feathers sit in a nest.

Three grappling points jut out from the cliff side ahead in succession. Use the grappling claw on the first, swing toward the second, attach to the second when the prompt appears, and repeat on the third. You can reach a fourth point on an upper ledge as you swing forward. The third group of Rare Feathers awaits inside another nest.



Ahead, vines lead up to the highest point. Watch out as the Eagle attacks become more frequent. Forward on the left is another Eagle nest, but you don't need it. Hop onto the fallen tree to the right and carefully walk out to the final nest to snatch the final group of Rare Feathers.



Take a leap of faith from the Eagle nest into the water below to complete the mission.

Wogah the Crafter
The Lost Totem

PREREQUISITE: Complete The Peak of Oros

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Recover scraps of the old Wenja totem from the Udam

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 1000 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Elite Archers, Udam Elite Scourge, Udam Spearmen, Udam Scourges, Udam Warriors, Udam Slingers

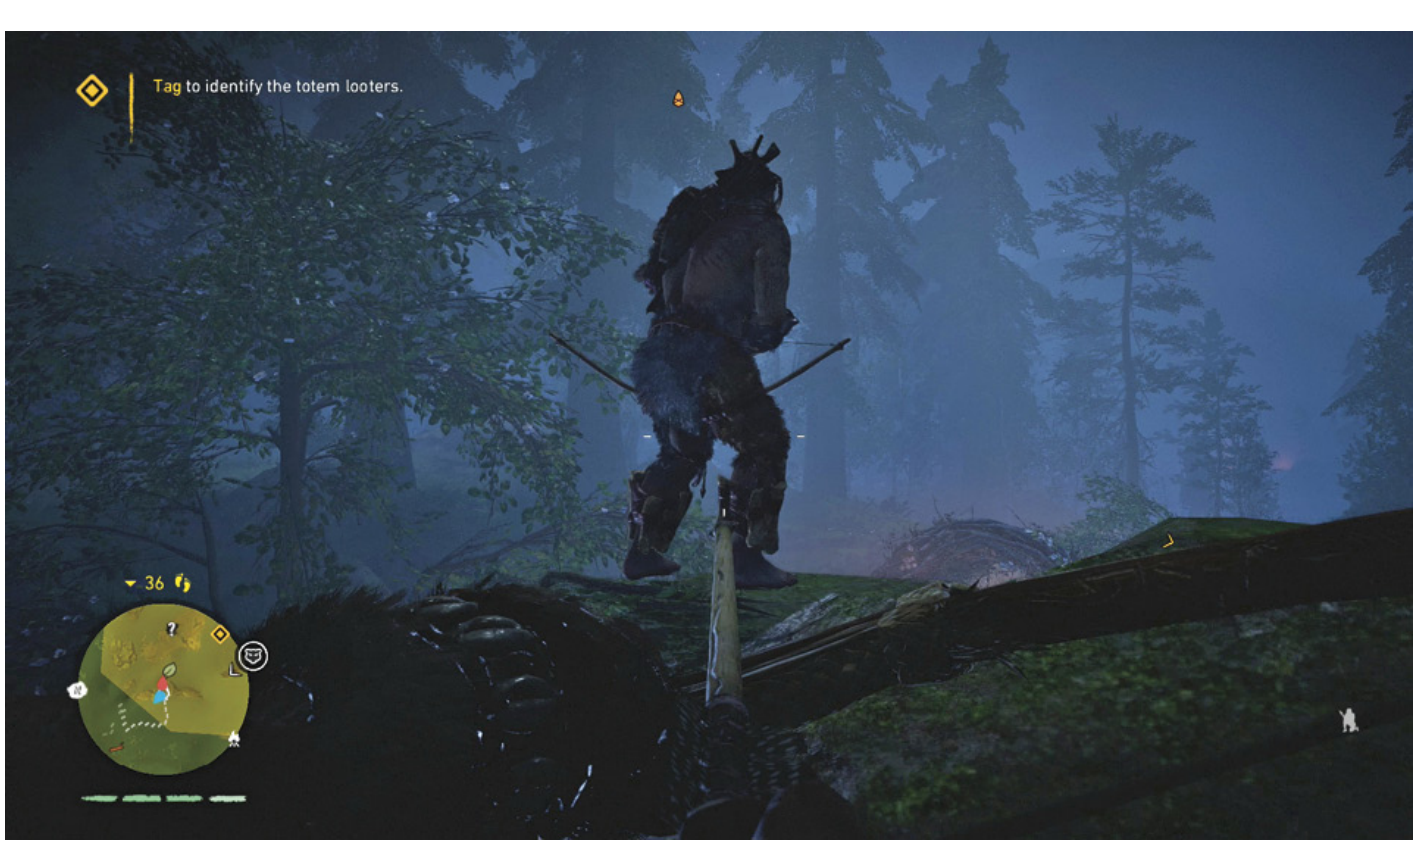
OVERVIEW

Find Wogah just outside his hut. He talks about the Udam attack on the old Wenja home, which broke their totem in the process. He wants you to kill Udam and take back the totem scraps, so he can build a new one.

STRATEGY

As you near the Wogah marker, the mission begins. Your first objective is to tag the totem looters. Quietly approach their location on the Daywa Snake Path and aim at each Udam to identify them; a double circle icon appears above those who hold the totem scraps. They also highlight in red with Hunter Vision enabled. Stay in the shadows as you identify the three looters.

Once they have been exposed, set out to take them down. It doesn't matter how you do it—with stealth or all out warfare—you just need to kill and search the three looters. Once you are detected though, they tend to run, so be aware that a chase may be involved. Start by taking down the Udam Elite Archer as he stands guard on the rock above. Look for the three quest markers to quickly identify the scrap locations. Watch for poison bombs, Wolves, and attacking Udam as you collect the three pieces of the totem. The runners lead you into Lone Spear Camp, which is occupied by the Udam, so be alert for more enemies. Once you obtain the third scrap, the mission is complete. Talk to Wogah at the village to see the new totem.



My favorite character? Wogah the crafter. Because even if we are in the Mesolithic era, even if he is surrounded by other strong and brutish people, he was able to invent something to help him and his tribe survive. How cool is the grappling claw?!

Jayma the Hunter

On the Hunt

ON THE HUNT

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Track the Brown Bear

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP

SPECIAL: Adds Jayma the Hunter to village

OVERVIEW

Jayma is an expert hunter who is currently with her hunting party southeast of the village. She is brash and thinks that Takkar needs help improving his skills. Grab the Tame Apex Predators skill if possible before starting this mission.

STRATEGY

Approach the objective marker to meet the arrogant hunter. It is time to show her you are no slouch. Enable Hunter Vision to find Bear prints leading to the east. Follow them down the hill; stopping to investigate the damage the Bear has done along the way. Pay attention to the way the prints face as there are gaps in the trail. Continue in that direction to pick it back up.

Track the Bear south and then east to the big lake. The trail continues over a strip of land across the water, along the coast to the left and on over to the narrow island located to the northeast. Here you find your target. If you have the ability to tame Apex Predators, then toss bait out and add it to your companions; a powerful option for tougher foes. It also uncovers and gives you nearby resources when idle. Otherwise, take the Bear down with some spear throws. Cross the water to the south to show off your new pet to the hunters—if that is the way you handled it.

Jayma the wise hunter wears her wounds with pride. You can't rattle Jayma. She's seen the worst that Oros can deliver and she's ready to pass on her wisdom to you.

Jayma the Hunter
The Tall Elk

THE TALL ELK

PREREQUISITE: Build Jayma's hut

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Hunt the Tall Elk

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 750 XP

SPECIAL: Only available at night

ENEMIES: Tall Elk, Udam Spearmen

OVERVIEW

After building Jayma's hut, enter and talk to the huntress. She challenges you to take on the Tall Elk at nighttime. The Elk is most likely your toughest hunt yet, so prepare. Once you are ready, head out to the far west at night to find the mission start.

STRATEGY

After accepting the mission, turn to the south and follow the path of the fireflies up the hill. Eventually you reach an overlook at Halchi Hunt Run. Wait for the Tall Elk to show up below and get things started with an arrow or spear to the head. These animals are tough, taking quite a bit of damage before going down, so be prepared. Immediately sic your beast on it as it flees the area. You must take it down before the Udam do, so quickly chase after it.

Watch out when you catch up to the beast, as it charges at you. Step to the side to avoid taking damage. When needed, be quick with a heal and get back in the fight. Kill the Udam Hunters whenever the opportunity arises, but your focus is the Elk. Keep your pet after your target as you continue to hit it with your most powerful weapons. Once it goes down, approach and skin it to complete the mission.

THE GREAT BEAST MASTER HUNTS

Talk to Jayma at her hut after completing The Tall Elk. She challenges you to go after four elusive great beasts, unlocking the four Beast Master Hunts: Bloodfang Sabretooth, Bloodtusk Mammoth, Great Scar Bear, and Snowblood Wolf. Look for the quest markers on the map.

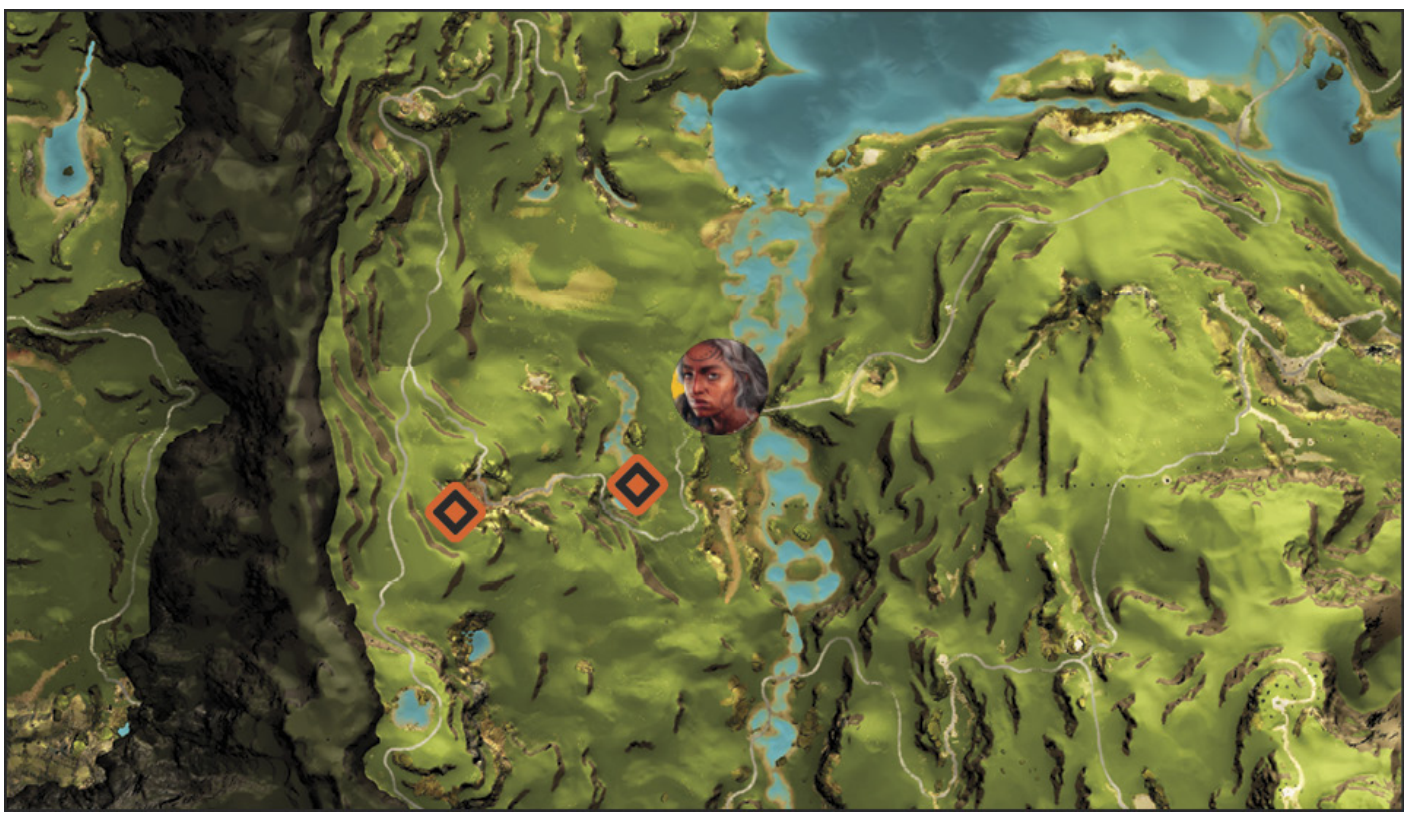
Jayma the Hunter

The Great Beast

THE GREAT BEAST



PREREQUISITE: Complete The Tall Elk

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Join Jayma's hunters to take down a mighty Mammoth

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 1,000 XP

ENENIES: Mammoth

OVERVIEW

Visit Jayma in front of her hut to learn of a hunt that is already underway. Head out to Jayma's quest marker to the southeast, find the tree stump used for target practice, and accept the mission. Find the hunting path to the west at Nasan Run Valley and talk to the lead hunter to get things started. Call your strongest beast, but make it stay with the hunters for now. Since the Bear is strong and draws the enemies' attention, it is a good choice. Also, set a strong heal as the default before moving out.

STRATEGY

Find the Mammoth not too far away to the east, near the small body of water. Stay a safe distance away and get its attention with an arrow. If it moves in, quickly turn around and run back toward the hunters. Don't get too far away though, or the Mammoth loses interest. If you notice it heading back or see the message to lure the Mammoth, get its attention again. When you reach Nasan Run Valley with the target, the hunting party launches their attack.

Use up your spears on the Mammoth while keeping your companion busy attacking. Climb onto the south or east platform and attack from there, though it may be necessary to get back into the action if you run out of projectiles or your beast is knocked out. Try to keep the center rocks in between you and the target. If you find yourself in line with her charge attack, jump out of the way to limit the damage. Finally, she collapses.

BROTHER IN NEED

PREREQUISITE: Complete Attack of the Udam

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Protect a Wenja Warrior from the Udam

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP

SPECIAL: Adds Karoosh the Warrior to village

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Slinger, Udam Spearmen, Udam Archers

OVERVIEW

Find a Wenja hiding behind a tree, directly north of the Roaring Falls Bonfire. He needs you to help out a Wenja Warrior to the north who is under attack from the Udam.

STRATEGY

Call your strongest companion and run north toward Mamaf Foot Pond. As you approach the Warrior's location, Karoosh's health bar appears at the top of the screen. If this drains completely, you fail the mission, so work quickly. Move onto the rock outcrop to get a view of the situation; the Wenja attempts to fight off a group of Udam Warriors. Immediately sic your pet on one and pelt the others with arrows and spears. Once the Udam have been taken care of, meet the mighty Karoosh.

He wants your help burning the bodies to send a message to his mortal enemy, Mog. Spot three bodies and move them to the campfire. More Warriors attack as you do so, but it is possible for Karoosh and your beast to take care of them during the time it takes you to perform this task—just keep an eye on your friend's health. Watch out for an Udam Slinger on the rocks above. Take care of him with a well-placed arrow. Spearmen and Archers join the Warriors in the attack. Keep your pet busy and quickly move between the enemies. Defeat them all to complete the mission and bring Karoosh back to your village.

STOMP UDAM

PREREQUISITE: Build Karoosh's hut and purchase Mammoth Rider skill

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Save a Mammoth, mount the beast, and trample the Udam Hunters

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 1,000 XP

SPECIAL: Mammoth Rider skill is required to unlock this mission

ENEMIES: Udam Slingers, Udam Warriors, Udam Elite Scourges, Udam Elite Archers, Udam Elite Spearmen

OVERVIEW

Build Karoosh's hut once the resources are available and talk to him inside. He warns of Udam who hunt the Mammoth in the far north and use the bones for their bone trees. Turn the animal against the Udam by mounting it and trampling the Hunters.

STRATEGY

After accepting the mission at the marker, head northwest to find a captured Mammoth surrounded by Udam. Move up the right rock and perform a takedown on the first Slinger, followed by an arrow to the head of the second. Sprint over to the Mammoth and mount it. Take off to the north and charge through the bone tree. There are three ways to attack with the beast.

MAMMOTH ACTIONS

Charge Attack	Sprint Button
Mammoth Attack	Takedown Button
Takkar Attack	Hold Aim and press Quick Attack

Take the Mammoth west and demolish any bone structure you see. The shaded areas on the mini-map represent where they are found. Udam continually attack throughout the quest. Kill them as you move between the bone trees. Once the yellow bar at the top of the HUD fills, ride the Mammoth to its herd to the west and dismount.

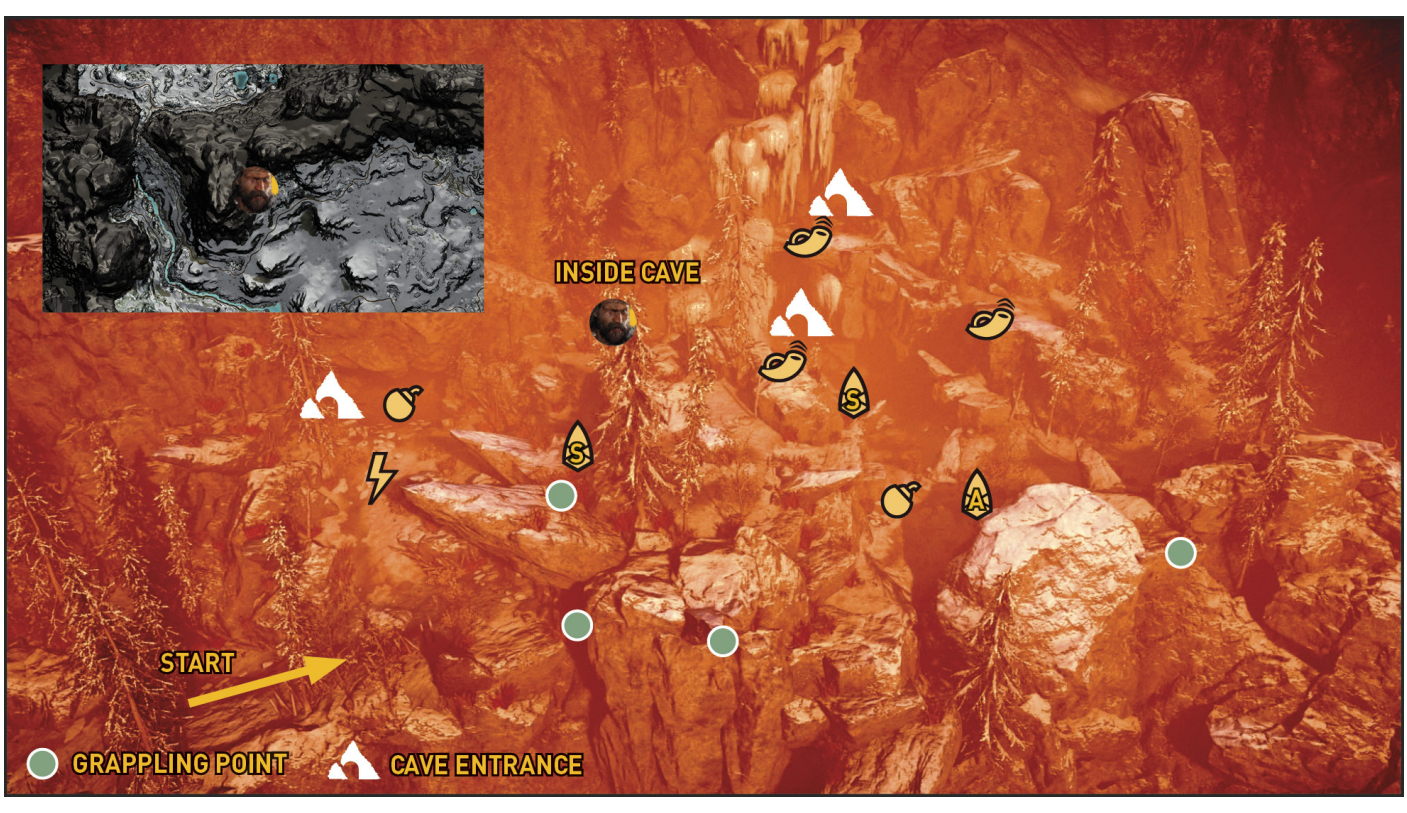
EYE FOR AN EYE



PREREQUISITE: Complete Stomp Udam

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Catch up to Karoosh and join his fight against his Udam nemesis

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 750 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Elite Warrior, Udam Elite Scourges, Udam Elite Spearmen, Udam Elite Slingers, Udam Elite Archers, Udam Elite Chieftain

OVERVIEW

Head over to Karoosh's hut and talk to the villager to find out the warrior has gone after Mog himself. Find his quest marker in far north Oros, deep inside Udam territory. He rests inside a cave on the east side of the mountain just south of Cave of the Drowned. If you already have three Green Leaves in your pack, this mission is easier to complete. If you don't yet have them, you are given an additional objective to gather them in the nearby area.

STRATEGY

As you approach the Cave of Frozen Knives, dismiss your beast and send out the Owl to survey the location. Udam litter the area, but it is possible to distract the enemies and sneak inside unscathed. We are going to take the stealth kill approach, though, and eliminate all foes. Note that the left cave entrance does not reach Karoosh.

Hide in the brush ahead and use rocks to pull the Elite Warrior over and take him down. Grapple to the rock ledge above and quietly perform a takedown on the Elite Spearman.

Move toward the cave entrance, wait for the Elite Scourge to turn his back, and eliminate him. With the left side taken care of, use the three grappling points around the east side to reach the northern area.

Drop down to the path and observe the Elite Archer and Scourge. Takedowns from the brush eliminate that threat without drawing attention from the Elite Slingers. Carefully move out to the path below them and kill the Elite Spearman who patrols the route.

Now only the three Elite Slingers remain as they stand guard on the rock ledges above. Quietly get behind each one, kill them with takedowns, and pull them away from the edge to avoid detection. Now you are free to enter one of the right cave openings and reach Karoosh.

Now that you have found Karoosh, hand him the three Green Leaves to get him back on his feet. Many more Udam approach your location, so you must fight your way out. The debris that blocked the path to the right is now clear so it is a straight shot out. Call in your beast if it's not already by your side. Stay close to Karoosh as you fight off the enemies, making sure his health bar is not reduced all the way. He does heal when not in combat. Watch your back, as Udam enter from the other side. Use bombs at the cave entrance to quickly reduce their forces. Once you get a short way down the hill, the mission is complete.

The Mammoth is the beast most emblematic of the Stone Age. They are also gigantic and the shape of their tusks is unique.

Urki the Thinker

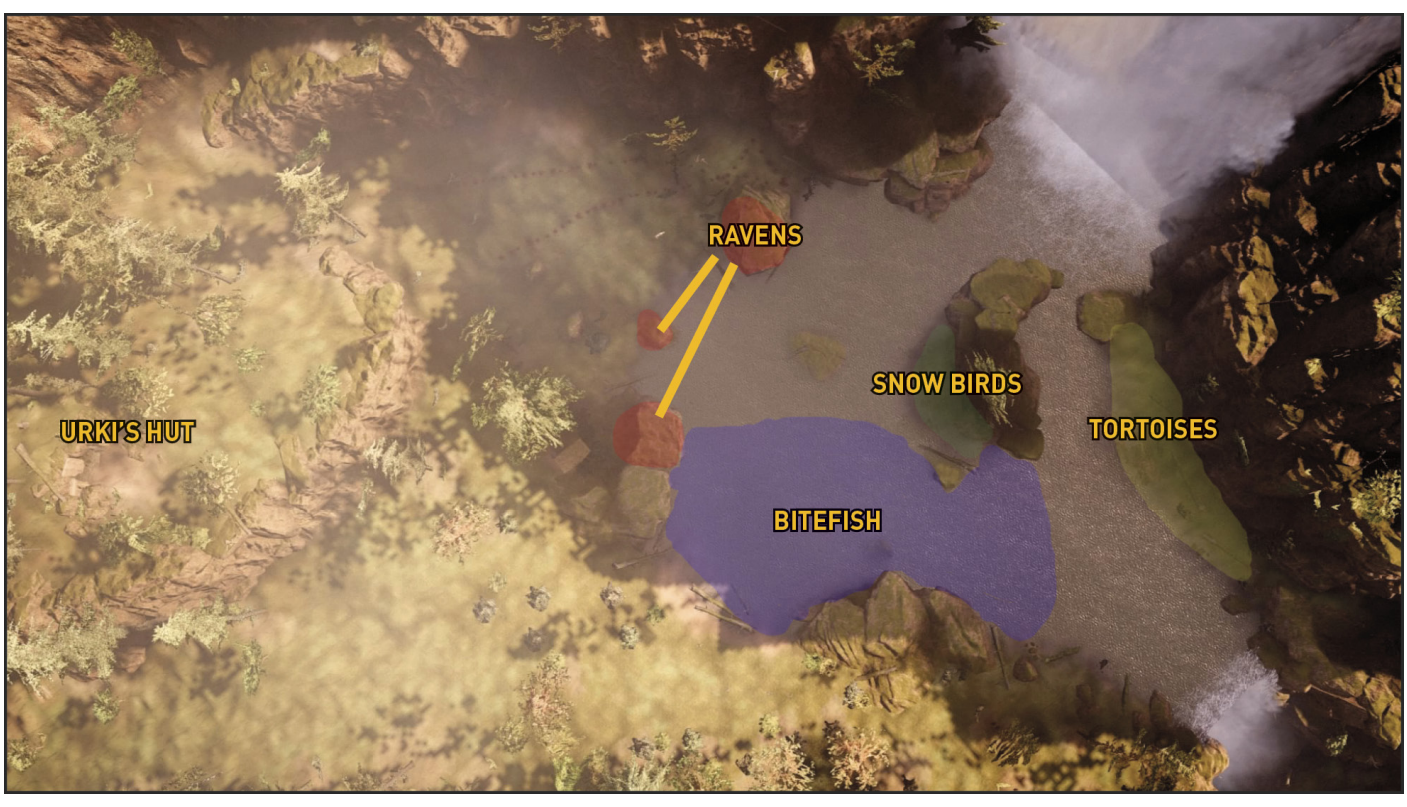
Fly Like Bird

FLY LIKE BIRD



PREREQUISITE: Complete The Taken Wenja

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Help Urki learn to fly

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 500 XP

ENEMIES: Bitefish, Izila Hunters, Jaguar

OVERVIEW

Find Urki the Thinker at Mayta Wenja Camp. Move close to the hut door to accept his first mission. He needs help making feathers so that he can fly like a bird. The nearby lake attracts all four animals that you need: Raven, Snow Bird, Bitefish, and Tortoises.

STRATEGY

Hunt and skin the four animals for Urki. Once you've obtained them, join him on the wood platform high up on the side of the cliff and hand over the ingredients. Return to the objective marker below to complete the mission.

For Bitefish, use Hunter Vision to spot the predatory fish in the water. Wait for one to get close to the shore and take it out with a spear. You can also fight one off after it bites you in the lake. Jump in and skin it, but watch out for other Bitefish.

Ravens land on rocks along the northwest side of the lake. Take one out with an arrow and skin it to obtain the Raven feather.

Snow Birds are found walking around the grassy area of the center island. Just like with the Raven, take one out with an arrow and skin it.

Tortoises are easy to find on the far shore, but they do need to be coaxed out of their shell. Knock one out with your club.

AWARDS: 750 XP

ENEMIES: Izila Elite Warriors, Izila Elite Archers, Izila Elite Slingers, Izila Elite Chieftain, Izila Civilians

OVERVIEW

Return to Urki's hut to learn about his next scheme. He wants you to collect a particularly hard rock from a nearby Izila camp so that he can protect himself with "rock skin." Head over to the cliff above Drowning Huts and scout the area with your owl, being sure to tag all of the Izila, including the civilians.

STRATEGY

Follow the winding trail or use the grappling claw to reach the huts. There are four "Urki rocks" that can be collected, but you only need to grab three. Izila patrol the area around the structures well, requiring you to use distractions to take them down stealthily. Note that some Izila are less active at nighttime, when it is easier to get the stones without stirring up any trouble.

Give them a wide berth as you move around the left side and collect the rock next to the hay. Swim out to the end of the left dock, wait for the civilian to head back to camp, and nab the second. Swim to the left and make sure the coast is clear as you move toward the far stone. Return them to Urki and do what he asks to complete the quest.

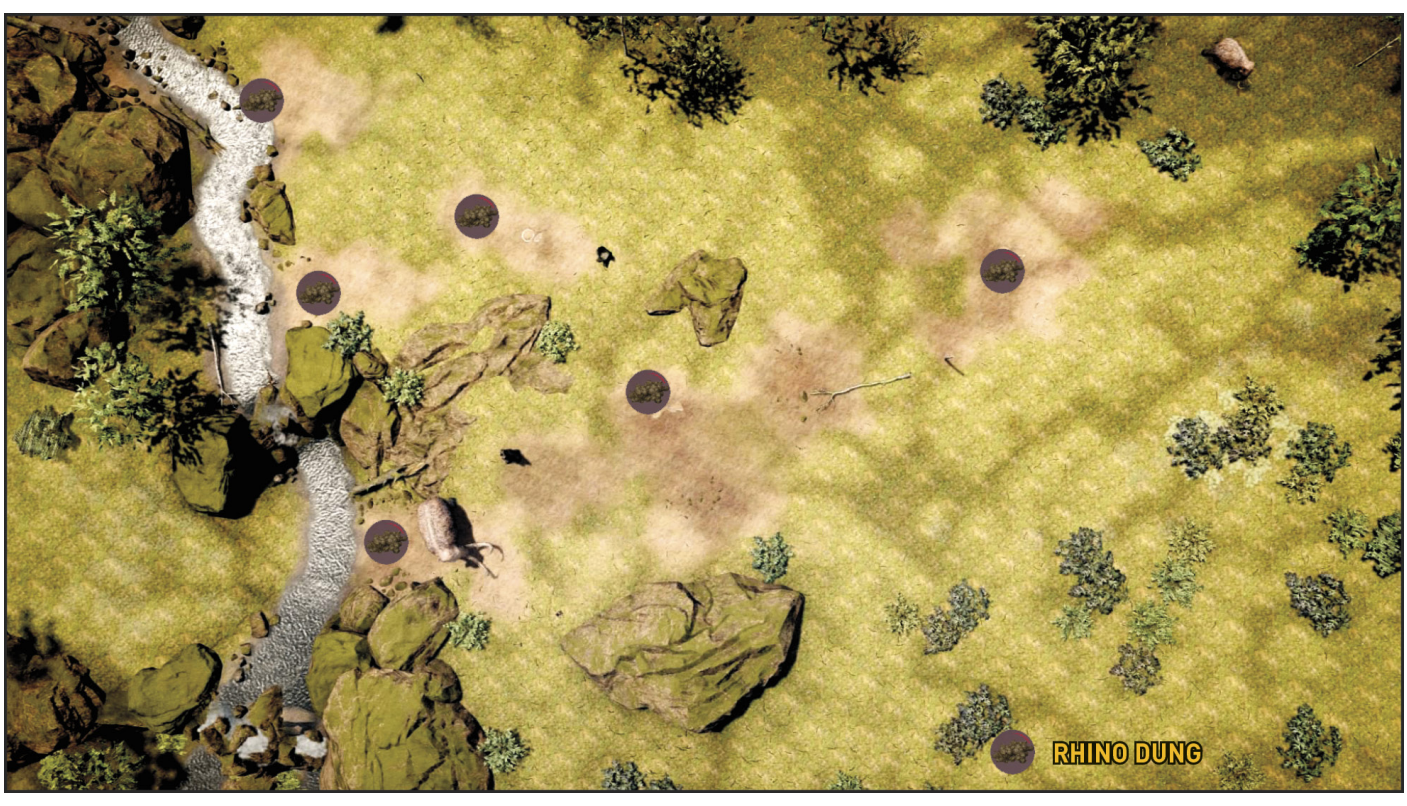
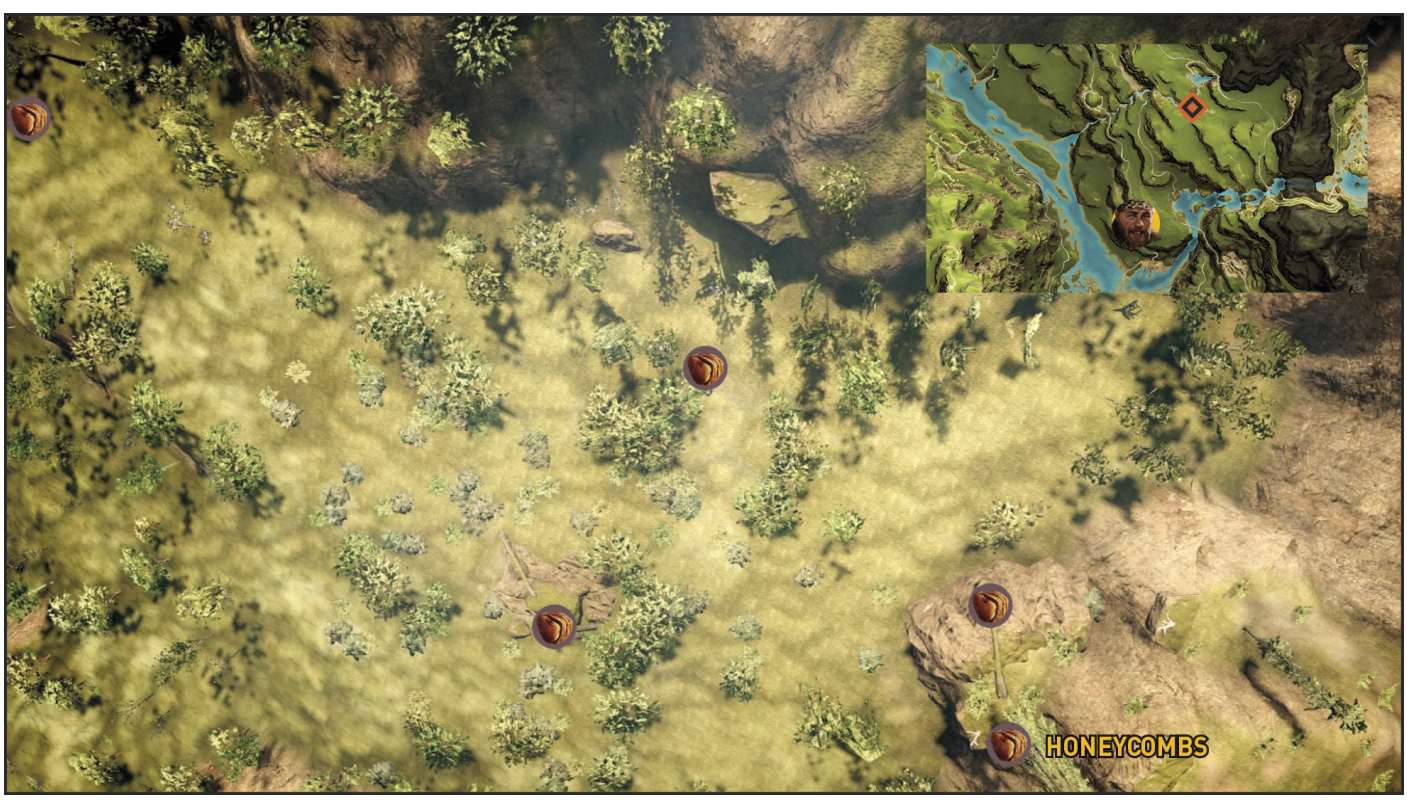
URKI'S NEW STINK





PREREQUISITE: Complete Strong Like Rock, buy Tame Apex Predators skill, and return to the village

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Help Urki defend himself against Bears by collecting stink ingredients

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 1,000 XP

ENEMIES: Brown Bear, Woolly Rhino, Izila Hunters

OVERVIEW

For Urki's final request, he wants you to gather ingredients necessary to create a bear-repelling smell. You must find Rhino Dung and Honeycombs for the scent, and then tame a Brown Bear to test it. A clearing to the northeast offers up all of the above.

STRATEGY

Look for piles of rhino dung at the quest marker and search five of them to complete the first task. Rhinos are fairly passive, but they will attack if you give them a reason.

Just to the east, four beehives hang from the trees, but you only need three. Watch out for Izila Hunters who attack if you are detected. Reach up and grab the Honeycombs; Hunter Vision helps when they are hard to spot. Throughout this quest, keep an eye out for a Brown Bear. Throw down bait and tame the beast so that he can escort you back to Urki's hut. Talk to Urki and complete the mission by having your new companion attack.

URKI AT WENJA VILLAGE

After you complete his three missions, and bid farewell to Dah or Jayma, Urki finds a home near Tensay's hut in your village. Stop by and welcome him.

CAPTURE UDAM BIG DARWA FORT

PREREQUISITE: Complete Vision of Ice and prepare for a tough battle

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Capture this heavily guarded Udam fort

DIFFICULTY: Very Hard

AWARDS: 1800 XP

SPECIAL: Bonus XP for stealth, Fast Travel, Reward Stash

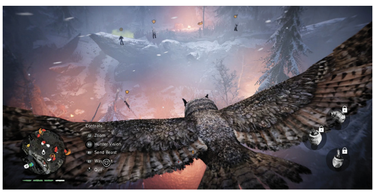
ENEMIES: Udam Elite Archers, Udam Elite Spearmen, Udam Elite Scourges, Udam Elite slingers, Udam Elite Chieftains, Udam civilians, Dah (Mini-boss), Wave Reinforcements: Udam Archers, Udam Elite Spearmen, Udam Elite Chieftains

SETUP

Once Vision of Ice is complete, the quest marker for Big Darwa Fort unlocks on the map. This mission is rated very hard and likely requires some preparation before taking on. Similar to capturing an outpost, the fort is littered with Udam fighters and alarms, with your first mini-boss, Dah, waiting at the finish. When you are ready, head to the location in the northeast. This fort must be captured before you can proceed toward the Udam leader, Ull, who is holed up in a cave on the other side of their homeland. The Heavy Takedown skill allows you to take down the large Chieftain enemies, making this fight a little simpler.

STRATEGY

There are three ways into the fort. Grapple points at two and three lead to the northwest corner and far west side of the camp respectively. From the far south, the camp can be entered up the main path. From there, you can go straight into the main gate or east toward Dah's position. Three alarms and two Udam Elite slingers mean that more than likely you must deal with reinforcements, who enter from the south and east when called. It is best to take out everyone north and west of Dah. Then, if more enemies are called, there are fewer to deal with at that point.

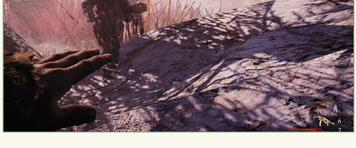


The northwest entrance is a great location to plan your attack. A caged Leopard offers a decent stealth companion if you don't have one already available. Start out by taking down the Udam Elite Archer, pulling him behind the cage, and destroying the first alarm. Use your Owl to scout out the post and then quietly eliminate the Udam Elite Scourge and Udam Elite Chieftain to the east. The enemies on the south side of the bridges change positions at nighttime.

The middle area can get fairly busy, so try drawing enemies out from groups with rocks. Carry bodies into the brush to avoid detection. The enemy civilians can be spared, but remember that they too can call reinforcements, so stay out of view. Once the area is clear, free the Wenja in the cage by busting it open and untying her.

RUN!

If things get hairy and reinforcements are called, flee outside the camp or onto the rocks in the northwest corner to heal and call a beast. Clear out any nearby pursuers and then make your way back into the camp.



Avoid Dah until you have defeated the rest of the Udam. When only he remains, sic your beast on him and launch arrows and spears at him. Stay clear of his powerful club and rot fumes. When your pet goes down, make a loop around the camp to draw Dah away and revive it. By avoiding the mini-boss, keeping your beast attacking, and pelting Dah with weapons, you eventually take him down. Instead of killing him though, Takkar invites him to join the Wenja village and teach the others how to make rot bane.

KILL THE UDAM LEADER

This is the first step toward the Udam leader, Ull, but to progress further you must complete Into Udam Land and get the Antidote food recipe from Sayla. This allows you to move through the rot fumes inside the northern passage and reach their homeland.

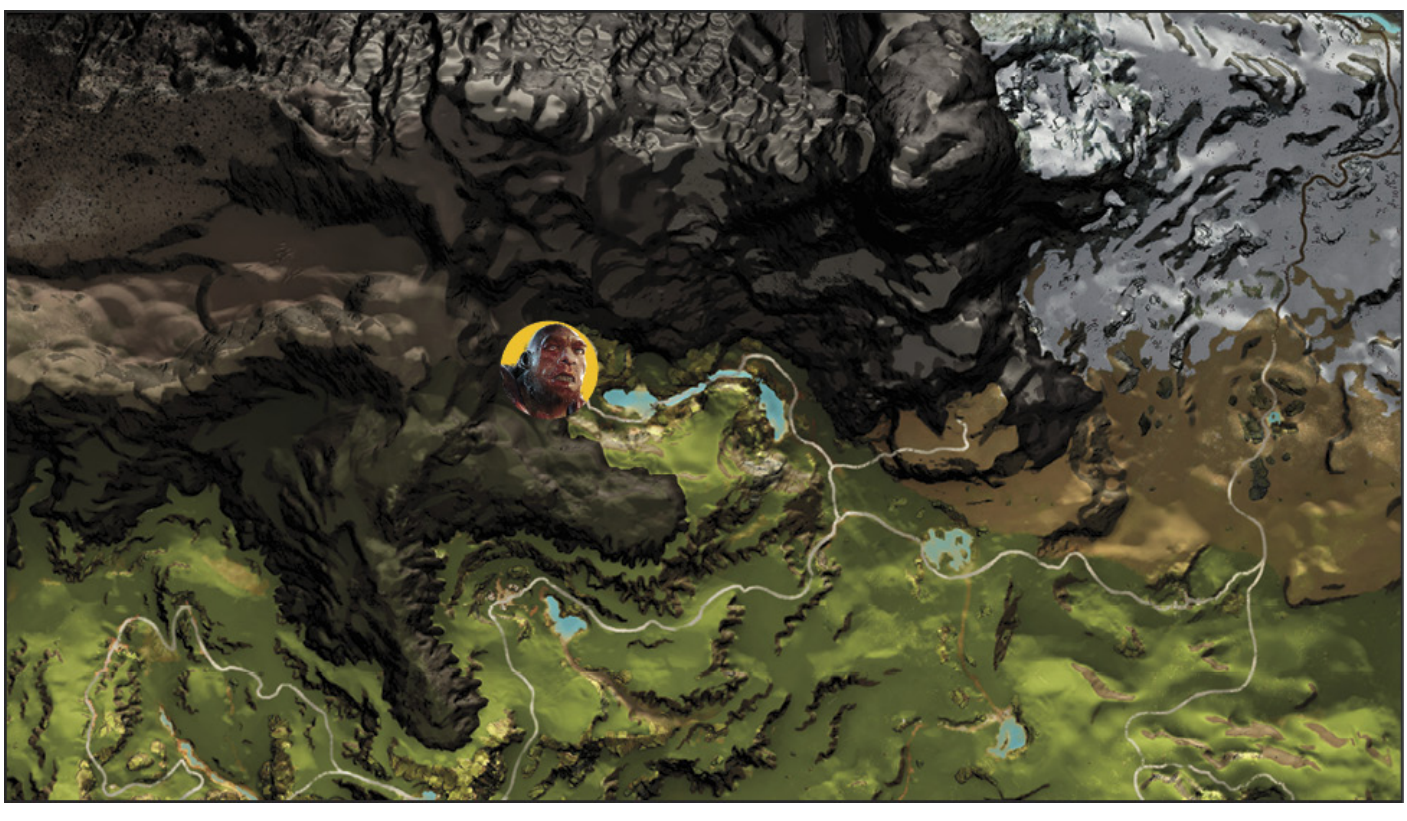
WENJA WELCOME



PREREQUISITE: Capture Udam's Big Darwa Fort

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Help Dah survive the anger of the Wenja welcoming party

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 1000 XP

SPECIAL: Dah joins village

ENEMIES: Bitefish

OVERVIEW

Return to Dah's cage to find that the Wenja have taken him into the forest to watch him die. Quickly head to the Dah quest marker to save him.

STRATEGY

Head to the location, northeast of the village, and follow the stream past a waterfall to begin the mission. Run toward the water and slide down the vines to reach a rock platform, where Dah has been strapped down. The water rises and drowns the Udam if you don't repair the four water leaks in time. The white meter at the top of the HUD represents the water level. Once it fills, Dah drowns. You must approach each hole and interact with it to plug it. To make things worse, a bitefish attacks while you work. Mash on the indicated button to knock it off.

One leak is located on the wall ahead, two are down to the left, and the fourth is just below. The four locations are marked on the mini-map and appear on your HUD when you're heading in that direction. Small arrows point to any that are off screen. It doesn't matter in which order you take care of them, but the water level must get close to the one on the side wall or it cannot be reached. After you have taken care of the leaks, climb onto the ledge and talk to Dah.

After the mission, talk to Dah at his cage and if the resources are available, build his hut. This unlocks his skills and a new mission.

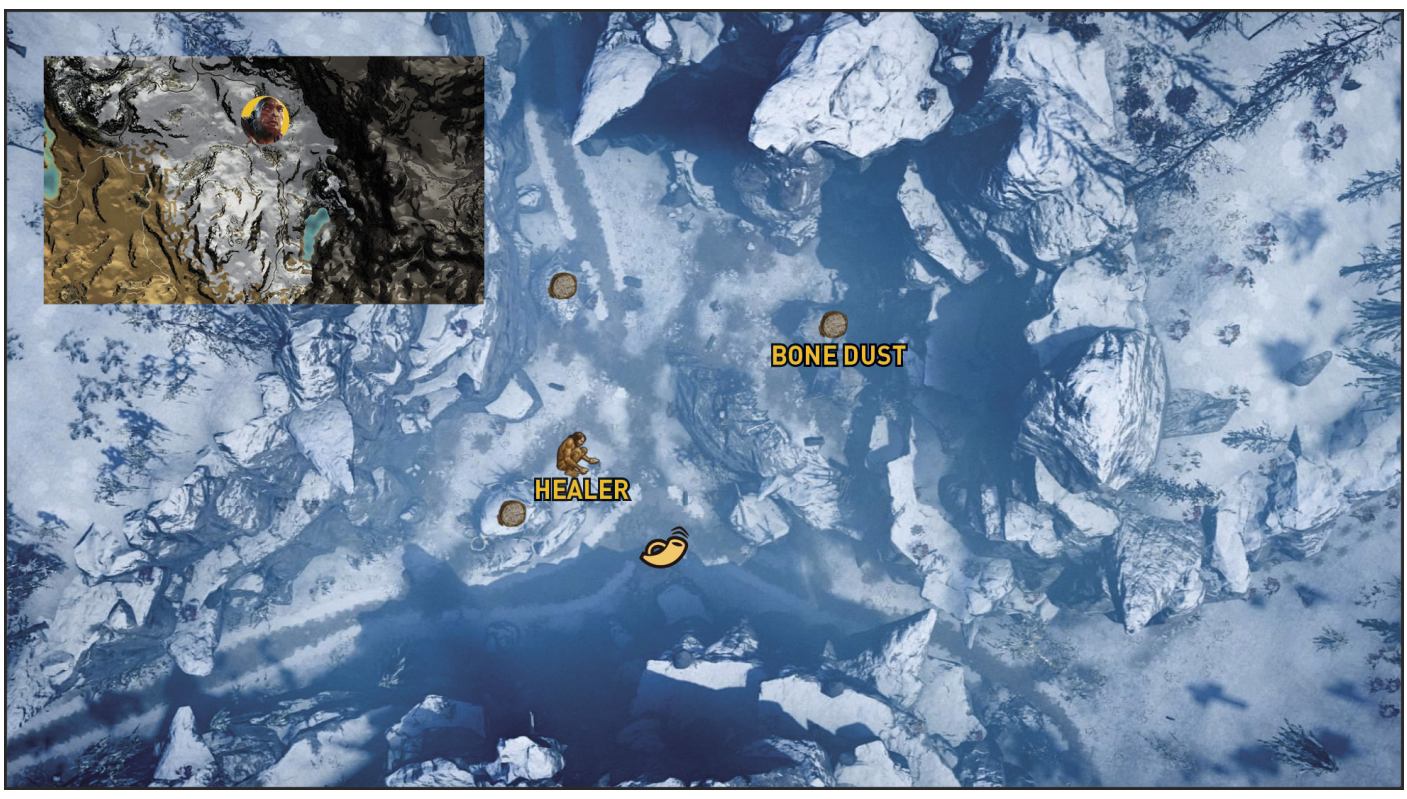
BONE DUST



PREREQUISITE: Complete Vision of Ice and Build Dah's hut

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find bone dust to help treat Dah's skull fire fevers

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 1300 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Scourge, Udam Slinger

OVERVIEW

After building Dah's hut, step inside and talk to him. He wants you to grab bone dust from an Udam camp. This is the fix he needs for his fever.

STRATEGY

Head up to the north wastes and locate the quest marker, just south of the Big Darwa Fort. Approach Stone Mother Camp to begin the mission. The Udam are located in the valley below. Call your Owl to survey the area, being sure to tag the Udam healer near the southwest road. Now you just need to watch where she goes to find the bone dust, which is inside one of three huts around the camp.

You can stealthily sneak into the hut and swipe the dust or kill the Udam and grab it with ease. Starting from a high ledge, take out the Udam Slinger who overlooks the camp. Be sure to keep an eye on your cold meter. Fires can be found throughout the camp. An alarm sits on the south end, so destroy it with a fire arrow. Sic your beast and Owl on enemies below and finish them off with your bow. Descend to the ground and collect the bone dust. If you did not find out the correct location, simply search every pot in the three huts. Escape outside the zone to complete the mission. Talk to Dah to hand over the bone dust.

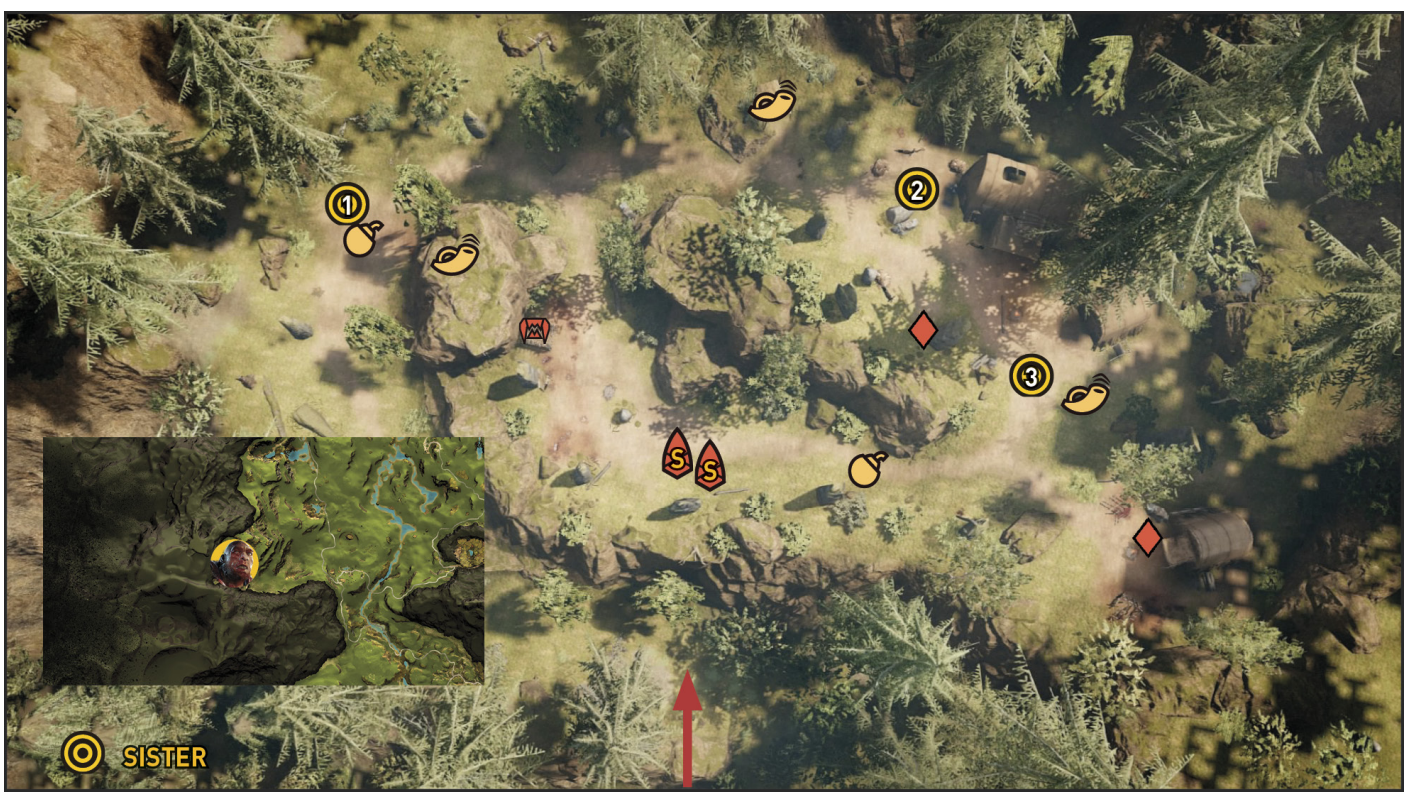
Dah of the Udam

Sisters of fire

SISTERS OF FIRE



PREREQUISITE: Complete Bone Dust and Upgrade Dah's hut to level 2 (or move at least 150 meters from village)

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Kill the three deadly Izila sisters

DIFFICULTY: Very Hard

AWARDS: 1500 XP

ENEMIES: Izila Elite Slingers, Izila Elite Scourges, Izila Spearmen, Izila Civilians, Izila Sisters

OVERVIEW

Talk to Dah outside his hut to learn about sun walker sisters that he has hunted for some time. He is unable to finish the job now and wishes for Takkar to kill them for him. Head to the far south, to find the Izila camp where the three sisters can be found.

STRATEGY

As you approach Stone Shadow Camp, the Sisters of Fire mission begins. Move up the hill and use your Owl to scout the camp. Staying put on the left side, sister number one is an Izila Elite Archer. To the right, the other two sisters, Izila Elite Chieftains, roam around the camp. Izila Elite Slingers stand guard atop the rock bluffs and wood watchtower. Climb over the flat rock to enter the south side and dispose of the guard on the rocks above. Then, quickly take out the sister and Izila Elite Scourge straight ahead.

Move around the backside of the camp and take down the second Izila Elite Slinger on the wood tower. He will jump down and wander a bit, if you don't find him there. Work your way over to the alarm and destroy it to remove the chance of reinforcements. From there your options are fairly wide open. Remember how tough an Izila Elite Chieftain Sister is before going after her. Don't expect to take her down with one arrow to the head. Be sure to search the three bodies to grab trophies for Dah.

CAPTURE IZILA FIRE SCREAMER FORT

PREREQUISITE: Complete The Taken Wenjas

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Capture this heavily guarded Izila fort and confront the commander.

DIFFICULTY: Very Hard

AWARDS: 1800 XP

SPECIAL: Bonus XP for stealth, Fast Travel, Reward Stash

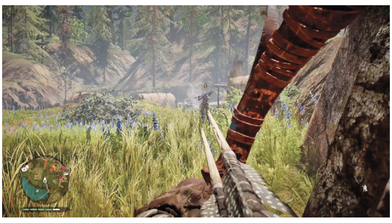
ENEMIES: Izila Elite Slingers, Izila Elite Spearmen, Izila Warrior, Izila Elite Hunters, Izila Elite Chieftains, Izila civilians, Roshani (Mini-boss), Wave Reinforcements: Izila Elite Spearmen, Izila Elite Warriors, Izila Elite Hunters, Izila Elite Chieftain

SETUP

Once the Wenja are rescued from the Izila in The Taken Wenja mission, Fire Screamer Fort becomes available, which must be captured to gain access to the Izila Homeland and their leader, Batari. Head to their stronghold in the marshlands and spend some time surveying with your Owl, tagging every enemy force. Two Elite Spearmen guard your main target, Roshani, atop a plateau at the far end of the fort, while two Elite Slingers watch over the camp from watchtowers. Several more Elite soldiers patrol the grounds. At night, five of the hostiles sleep inside the hut.

STRATEGY

An alternate entrance on each side of the camp can be reached from the water, giving you quick access to the back half of the stronghold. If you wish to go after the mini-boss right away, access the western cliff and find the ivy at the south end that takes you down to a lower shelf. This gives you access behind the huts with a direct shot to Roshani and his immediate guards. Watch out for the Chieftain who patrols the path. If possible, take him down without alerting the others. From there, you and your beast can make quick work of the two Elite Spearmen and Roshani before reinforcements can reach you.



The more cautious approach is to methodically eliminate the Izila fighters, leaving Roshani for last. With three alarms and two Elite Slingers, it is very possible that reinforcements join the fight, so be ready. Work the two side water entrances to quietly take down the northern Izila. Next, pull each Elite Slinger from their post, staying clear of the big Chieftain who patrols to the south. If your Owl is able to attack Chieftains, have him do so when it is available. Always note the positions of Roshani's two guards as they can call in reinforcements if you are spotted. Clear out the bottom of the camp before following the south path up to your target, where a lone Chieftain awaits. From the bushes, get his attention with a rock and perform a takedown as he gets near.

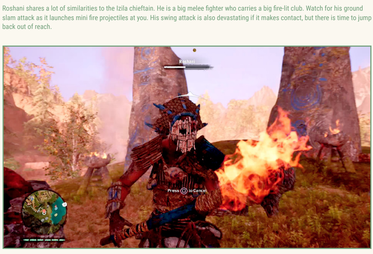
FREE THE HOSTAGES

There are two Wenja being held in a cell on the east side. Add a couple of members to your village by sneaking into the camp along the wood walkway on the east side. Pull the Elite Warrior from his post and take him down. Watch the Izila as you bust open the cell door and untie the Wenja. This causes a ruckus as they flee through the front gate. You can wait for things to calm down or you can take advantage of the chaos and get in a couple of easy kills.

Call in a strong beast such as the Cave Bear or Sabretooth as you move in on the mini-boss. Send your companion after one Elite Spearman while you pick off the other with a bow or thrown spear. Now it is just Roshani against the two of you. With your beast tearing him to shreds, launch spears at him or move in with the club. It does not take too long for him to start pleading for his life. After a short talk, Takkar escorts the Izila commander back to the village, where you receive the Fire Bomb.

ROSHANI IS A TOUGH CHIEFTAIN

Roshani shares a lot of similarities to the Izila chieftain. He is a big melee fighter who carries a big fire-lit club. Watch for his ground slam attack as it launches mini fire projectiles at you. His swing attack is also devastating if it makes contact, but there is time to jump back out of reach.



If you decide to go it alone, work on the spearmen from a distance. Roshani lumbers your way once he detects your attacks, but you should have time to finish off the two guards before facing him. Use a club heavy attack to stun the mini-boss and then back away while throwing spears at him. Turn and run when things get hairy. Then, you can set up with more ranged attacks.

SEEDS OF THE SUN

- PREREQUISITE: Capture the Izila's Fire Screamer Fort
- MAIN OBJECTIVE: Steal seeds for your village during an Izila race
- DIFFICULTY: Medium
- AWARDS: 1250 XP
- SPECIAL: Roshani joins village
- ENEMIES: Izila Warriors, Izila Archers, Izila Spearmen

OVERVIEW

With Roshani safely in your village, talk to him to learn about seeds the Izila possess. Take his secrets, but leave the trader behind. Examine the pillar at the Roshani quest marker to accept the mission.

STRATEGY

Three bags of seeds can be found nearby as part of an Izila race, where Hunters prove their strength by getting to them the quickest; you just need to be quicker than they are. Izila Warriors, Archers, and Spearmen participate in the contest, but there is no need to fight anyone here. In fact, it is a waste of valuable time. Sprint to each bag and flee the area. The first bag is just southwest of the closest standing stone. Hunter Vision highlights the bags in red, making them easier to spot. Head northwest and find the second resting next to a big boulder, just past a red plant.

Sprint east, navigating your way down from the cliffs as you race for the small island. The final bag rests at the end of the downed tree. If an Izila gets to a bag before you, immediately give chase and take him down. Don't forget to collect the dropped item. After all three bags have been collected, a yellow zone appears on the map. Sprint to the closest edge of this zone to get far enough away from the enemy tribe and complete the mission.

Blood Sacrifice

BLOOD SACRIFICE

PREREQUISITE: Complete Vision of Fire and Build Roshani's hut

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Save a Wenja Hunter from an Izila sacrifice

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 1500 XP

ENEMIES: Izila Spearmen, Izila Warriors, Izila Civilians, Izila Priestess

OVERVIEW

Build Roshani's hut and talk to him inside. He is worried that the Izila saw him at the village when they took a Wenja man and will come after him next. Roshani's danger doesn't worry Takkar, it is the Wenja, who has been taken to be sacrificed, that concerns him. There is still time to save him, so head for the quest marker at Blajiman Stones to find the victim.

STRATEGY

Only a Spearman, a Warrior, and three Civilians occupy the area at the moment, but shortly, three Spearmen and two Warriors escort in the Priestess from the southwest. She is your main target and must be killed before she reaches the Wenja. An alarm sits on each side of the temple, so if you are detected, reinforcements are called. There is not much need to send out your Owl, except that it can take out the priestess in a single swoop. Then you and a beast companion can clean up those who remain.

After a short time, another Priestess moves up the path and sprints for the Wenja. Quickly take her down and kill the rest of the Izila. Free the Wenja to complete the mission.

Beast Master Hunts

About Beast Master Hunts

Beast Master Hunts are epic hunting quests that send you on a mission to kill or tame these one of a kind beasts in Oros.

Upgraded spears are the best tool for taking down these beasts. Having a strong beast companion, like a Cave Bear, helps you tremendously.

Stop by your Rewards Stash and stock up on Hardwood before you begin these quests. Hardwood is used to craft traps in the areas of the Beast Master Hunts.

Beast Master Hunt

Bloodfang Sabretooth

- DIFFICULTY: Hard
- AWARDS: High XP
- SPECIAL: Tame the Bloodfang Sabretooth

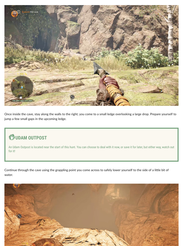
You can begin the hunt during the day, climbing to the top of the waterfall near your cave. Once at the top of the waterfall you are notified that a Beast Master Hunt is nearby.

Use your grappling claw to pull yourself even higher until you finally reach an entrance to a cave that you are tasked to explore.

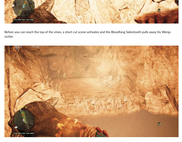


Once inside the cave, stay along the walls to the right; you come to a small ledge overlooking a large drop. Prepare yourself to jump a few small gaps in the upcoming ledge.

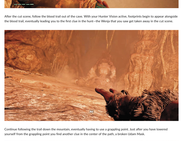
UDAM OUTPOST

Ad Client Outpost is located near the start of this hunt. You can choose to deal with it now, or save it for later, but either way, watch out for it!

Continue through the cave using the grappling point you come across to safely lower yourself to the side of a little bit of water.



Once you are at the rocks beside the water, you need to jump or swim across to the small landing, and then begin to climb the long vines upward.



Before you can reach the top of the vines, a short cut scene activates and the Bloodfang Sabretooth pulls away his Wimpy victim.

After the cut scene, follow the blood trail out of the cave. With your Hunter Vision active, footprints begin to appear alongside the blood trail, eventually leading you to the first clue in the hunt: the Wimpy that you saw get taken away in the cut scene.

Continue following the trail down the mountain, eventually having to use a grappling point. Just after you have lowered yourself from the grappling point you find another clue in the corner of the path, a broken totem Hook.

Slide down the hill as you follow the tracks south, eventually sliding into a pit of bones and bodies. Inside this small pit is a third clue, a dead Udam, killed by the Sabretooth.

The tracks then lead you to a small camp, which may be guarded by a few Udam. Some of them may even surround the nest that illustrates the Udam if needed, and then examine the pile of dead evil gods.

> My favorite beast is obviously the Sabretooth Tiger. I'm a cat person.
> — Vincent Pontbriand, Senior Producer

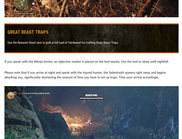
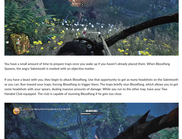
After examining the clue, you have two sets of tracks to follow, each leading to a different location to fight the Bloodfang Sabretooth.

Head toward the western objective; this takes you to some ruins. This area has more trap locations which dust a great amount of damage to the Sabretooth without your dominating down your weapons supply.



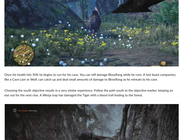
As you follow the path to the west, you come across another clue, a new totem that the Sabretooth has used to sharpen its claws.



Continue along the path which eventually leads you to your next clue, a spear that has been thrown into a large tree trunk. The Wimpy that were at this camp weren't ready for the threat of the Bloodfang Sabretooth.

There are no more clues now, work your way to the objective marker. If it is daytime, a Wimpy hunter is there waiting for you.

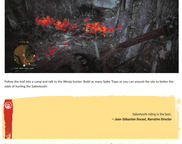
Use the daylight to set up traps. They are marked by a stone with white markings, as well as by a small white trap icon on your mini-map. The trap changes to red when you have placed a trap in that location.



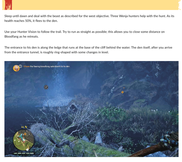
GREAT BEAST TRAPS

See the Rewards Guide near to grab a full load of Hardwood for crafting Great Beast Traps.

If you speak with the Wimpy hunter, an objective marker is placed on the last nearby. Use the bird to sleep until nightfall.

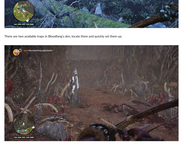


Please note that if you arrive at night and speak with the injured hunter, the Sabretooth spawns right away and begins attacking you, significantly shortening the amount of time you have to set up traps. Time your arrival accordingly.



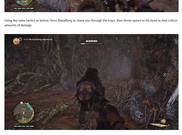
You have a small amount of time to prepare traps once you wake up if you haven't already placed them. When Bloodfang Sabretooth spawns, he will immediately charge the nearest trap.

If you have a beast with you, they begin to attack Bloodfang. Use that opportunity to get as many headshots on the Sabretooth as you can. Bloodfang Sabretooth has 50% less health than the Alpha Sabretooth, but he is still a challenging foe. Be sure to get some headshots with your bow(s), dealing massive amounts of damage. While you run to fire after trap, have your Two-Handed Club equipped. The club is capable of stunning Bloodfang if he gets too close.



Once he health hits 50% he begins to run for his cave. You can still damage Bloodfang while he runs. A fast beast companion, like a Cane Lion or Wolf, can catch up and deal small amounts of damage to Bloodfang as he retreats to his cave.

Choosing the south objective results in a very similar experience. Follow the path south to the objective marker, keeping an eye out for the next clue. A Wimpy has be damaged the Tiger with a blood trail leading to the hunt.



Follow the trail into a camp and talk to the Wimpy hunter. Build as many Spike Traps as you can around the site to better the odds of hurting the Sabretooth.

> Sabretooth riding is the best.
> — Jean-Sébastien Decant, Narrative Director

Sleep until dawn and deal with the beast as described for the west objective. Three Wimpy hunters help with the hunt. As its health reaches 50%, it flees to the den.

Use your Hunter Vision to follow the trail. Try to run as straight as possible; this allows you to close some distances on Bloodfang as he retreats.

The entrance to his den is along the ledge that runs at the fore of the cliff behind the water. The den itself, after you arrive from the entrance tunnel, is roughly ring-shaped with some changes in level.

There are two available traps in Bloodfang's den; locate them and quickly set them up.

Using the same tactics as before, force Bloodfang to chase you through the traps, then throw spears at his head to deal critical amounts of damage.

Once you have brought his health bar to nothing, the option to tame him appears. When you have tamed Bloodfang he joins you as your beast companion, allowing you to call for him whenever you'd like!

Beast Master Hunt

Bloodtusk Mammoth

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: High XP

SPECIAL: Bloodtusk Mammoth Skull

This area is in the snow, so having upgraded cold gear helps your hunt! If you don't have upgraded cold gear, be sure to stock up on Animal Fat as you want to be holding a lit weapon when you are not combating the Mammoth. You can also stay warm using fire pits and by visiting the edges of the Hot Springs pools.

Once you're in the area for the hunt, speak to the hunter crouched down by the fire. He tells you of the Bloodtusk Mammoth that is wreaking havoc on the Wenja.

After speaking with the Wenja hunter, head north and grapple down the cliffs. This will lead you to your first clue, a piece of meat and skin from the Mammoth on some wooden spikes.

Continue north either following the footprints with your Hunter Vision, or using the grapple points to quickly descend to the next clue. Hunter Vision can also highlight Resources and Traps. You find a dead Wenja that was crushed by the foot of the Bloodtusk Mammoth.

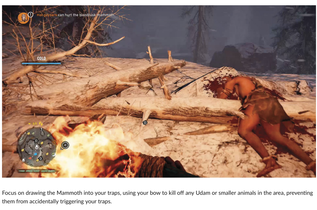
After examining the dead Wenja, three different places to fight the Mammoth are marked on your map. You can choose any of them to start with as the Mammoth always spawns at whichever you choose first. As you fight the Mammoth it retreats when damaged and takes you to each of the areas.

TRAP IT!

Traps are extremely effective against Mammoths. If you've brought enough wood, you can kill the Mammoth with traps alone.

To the west you have the Hot Springs. The clue leading into the hot springs area is another dead Wenja on top of a few logs.

There are plenty of traps in the hot springs that can deal heavy damage to the Mammoth. The geysers deal a great amount of damage if you can situate the Mammoth on top of one while it erupts. Snare traps located on the spring can help make this happen.

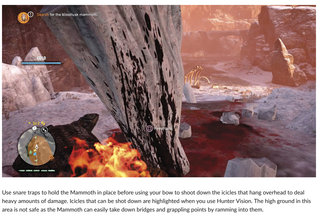


Focus on drawing the Mammoth into your traps, using your bow to kill off any Udam or smaller animals in the area, preventing them from accidentally triggering your traps.

After the Mammoth retreats, you can pick either of the remaining areas for the next part of the fight. You can also damage the Mammoth while chasing it from each battlefield.

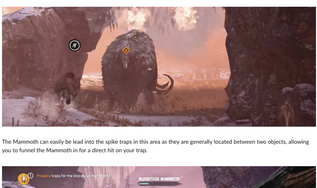
To the north is the Glacier Valley. On your way there a group of trampled elk is your clue before entering the area

As you near the end of the cavern leading into the Glacier Valley, a large, blood-covered icicle protrudes from the ground. Examine it before entering the valley.

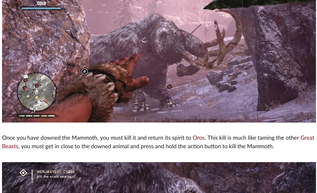


Use snare traps to hold the Mammoth in place before using your bow to shoot down the icicles that hang overhead to deal heavy amounts of damage. Icicles that can be shot down are highlighted when you use Hunter Vision. The high ground in this area is not safe as the Mammoth can easily take down bridges and grappling points by ramming into them.

The remaining area to the east is the Mammoth Graveyard. The graveyard has Udam warriors scattered throughout it. Kill the warriors before you set the traps and begin attacking the Mammoth. This prevents them from triggering your traps.



The Mammoth can easily be lead into the spike traps in this area as they are generally located between two objects, allowing you to funnel the Mammoth in for a direct hit on your trap.



Once you have downed the Mammoth, you must kill it and return its spirit to Oros. This kill is much like taming the other Great Beasts, you must get in close to the downed animal and press and hold the action button to kill the Mammoth.

If you wait too long before reaching the Mammoth and activating the kill, it gets back up with a small amount of health.

After killing the Mammoth be sure to collect the Bloodtusk Mammoth Skull from its corpse before leaving the area.

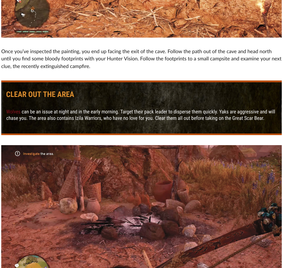
Great Scar Bear

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: High XP

SPECIAL: Tame the Great Scar Bear

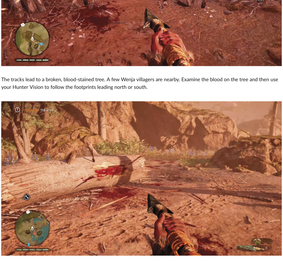
After entering the area to begin the search for the Great Scar Bear, you work your way through a cave system, swimming through a tunnel, then climbing up to an area containing a cave painting detailing the threat of the Great Scar Bear. Examine it.



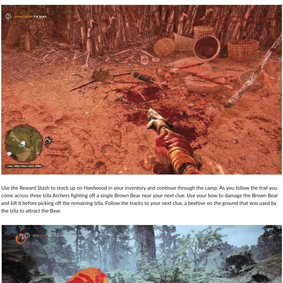
Once you've inspected the painting, you end up facing the exit of the cave. Follow the path out of the cave and head north until you find some bloody footprints with your Hunter Vision. Follow the footprints to a small campsite and examine your next clue, the recently extinguished campfire.

CLEAR OUT THE AREA

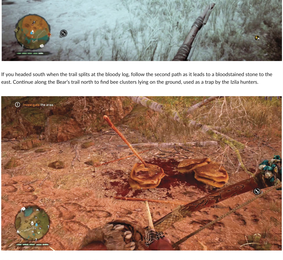
…can be an issue at night and in the early morning. Target their pack leader to disperse them quickly. Yaks are aggressive and will chase you. The area also contains Izila Warriors, who hate no love for you. Clear them all out before taking on the Great Scar Bear.



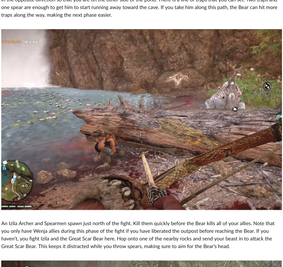
Use your Hunter Vision to follow the Bear tracks north out of the camp, eventually coming across a spike trap that the Bear has tracked through. Examine the trap before continuing along the trail.



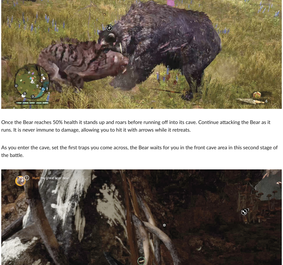
The tracks lead to a broken, blood-stained tree. A few Wenja villagers are nearby. Examine the blood on the tree and then use your Hunter Vision to follow the footprints leading north or south.



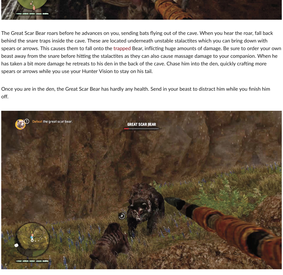
Along the north path, a few Izila may scatter into the forest here as you approach a small camp containing the next clue. Once you've dealt with any Izila in the area, move into the camp and examine the broken tools on the ground.



Use the Reward Stash to stock up on Hardwood in your inventory and continue through the camp. As you follow the trail you come across three Izila Archers fighting off a single Brown Bear near your next clue. Use your bow to damage the Brown Bear and kill it before picking off the remaining Izila. Follow the tracks to your next clue, a beehive on the ground that was used by the Izila to attract the Bear.



If you headed south when the trail splits at the bloody log, follow the second path as it leads to a bloodstained stone to the east. Continue along the Bear's trail north to find bee clusters lying on the ground, used as a trap by the Izila hunters.



Follow the tracks as they head up the hill. They lead to a small pond below a waterfall with a few dead Izila Hunters near a downed tree at the edge of the water. Investigate the dead Izila Hunter at the edge of the water. Climb up the cliff from the base of the pond using the grappling claw, where you come into contact with the Bear fighting the Izila (or allies). Quickly grapple back down to the base of the cliff and turn to the left so that you are heading up toward the hill. Set the Great Best Trap there and wait for the Bear to come down the hill. After he hits the trap, quickly run (R helps to have a speed boost active) in the opposite direction so that you are on the other side of the pond. There is a line of traps that you can set. Two traps and one spear are enough to get him to start running away toward the cave. If you take him along this path, the Bear can hit more traps along the way, making the next phase easier.

An Izila Archer and Spearmen spawn just north of the fight. Kill them quickly before the Bear kills all of your allies. Note that you only have Wenja allies during this phase of the fight if you have liberated the outpost before reaching the Bear. If you haven't, you fight Izila and the Great Scar Bear here. Hop onto one of the nearby rocks and send your beast in to attack the Great Scar Bear. This keeps it distracted while you throw spears, making sure to aim for the Bear's head.

Once the Bear reaches 50% health it stands up and roars before running off into its cave. Continue attacking the Bear as it runs. It is never immune to damage, allowing you to hit it with arrows while it retreats.

As you enter the cave, set the first traps you come across, the Bear waits for you in the front cave area in this second stage of the battle.

The Great Scar Bear roars before he advances on you, sending bats flying out of the cave. When you hear the roar, fall back behind the snare traps inside the cave. These are located underneath unstable stalactites which you can bring down with spears or arrows. This causes them to fall onto the trapped Bear, inflicting huge amounts of damage. Be sure to order your own beast away from the snare before hitting the stalactites as they can also cause massive damage to your companion. When he has taken a bit more damage he retreats to his den in the back of the cave. Chase him into the den, quickly crafting more spears or arrows while you use your Hunter Vision to stay on his tail.

Once you are in the den, the Great Scar Bear has hardly any health. Send in your beast to distract him while you finish him off.

Beast Master Hunts

Snowblood wolf

DIFFICULTY: Very Hard

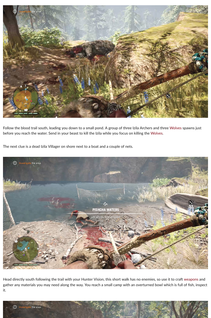
AWARDS: High XP

SPECIAL: Tame the Snowblood Wolf leader.

The entrance to the Snowblood Dire Wolf Beast Master Hunt zone is in the far south. It is relatively easy to find. Follow the main river south and it takes you to the zone entrance. Keep following the river and you arrive at the quest giver.

Make sure to have your spear ready before accepting the quest from the dead Wenja body. Two Wolves immediately attack you once the cut scene ends. Kill the Wolves, stock up on Hardwood from the Rewards Stash nearby, and then head south toward the objective marker.

An Elite Hunting group is spread out in the forest near your first clue. Use your Hunter Vision to spot them, and the Wolves that are lurking in the forest. Once you've killed them, follow the blood trail to a dead Bear and examine it.



Follow the blood trail south, leading you down to a small pond. A group of three Ielis Archers and three Wolves spawns just before you reach the water. Send in your beast to kill the Ielis while you focus on killing the Wolves.

The next clue is a dead Ielis Villager on shore next to a boat and a couple of nets.

Head directly south following the trail with your Hunter Vision. His short walk has no enemies, so use it to craft weapons and gather any materials you may need along the way. You reach a small camp with an overturned boat which is full of fish, inspect it.

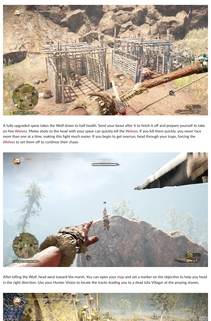
Run down the riverbed another short distance with no enemies until you come across a blood stained section with some broken spears. These broken spears are your next clue.

Follow the paw prints east to the standing stones. A group of four Ielis, three Archers and one Spearman, attack you as you follow the trail. After killing them, you reach the hunting area for the first of the Snowblood Wolves.

Examine the dead Ielis on the ground, then set all the traps in the area and prepare yourself for the oncoming Wolf onslaught.

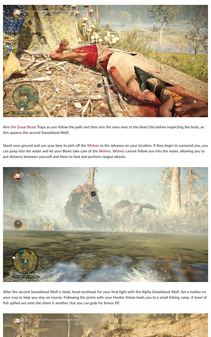
The Great Beast traps kill any regular Wolf in one hit and deal great amounts of damage to the Snowblood Wolf. This first Wolf dies much easier than the Alpha you fight in the third battle.

Once you free the caged Wenja, the assault begins. Head slightly north from the cage area as you free the Wenja. An objective marker spawns on the Snowblood Wolf to guide you to an opportune chance to take a good chunk of health off of the Wolf. As the Wolf appears, it howls from the top of a rock to summon the other Wolves, leaving it open to an easy headshot with your spear.



A fully upgraded spear takes the Wolf down to half health. Send your beast after it to finish it off and prepare yourself to take on five Wolves. Melee shots to the head with your spear can quickly kill the Wolves. If you kill them quickly, you never face more than one at a time, making this fight much easier. If you begin to get overrun, head through your traps, forcing the Wolves to set them off to continue their chase.

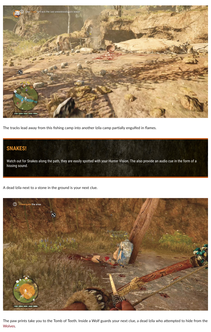
After killing the Wolf, head west toward the marsh. You can open your map and set a marker on the objective to help you head in the right direction. Use your Hunter Vision to locate the tracks leading you to a dead Ielis Villager at the pooling stones.



Arm the Great Beast Traps as you follow the path and then arm the ones next to the dead Ielis before inspecting the body, as this spawns the second Snowblood Wolf.

Stand your ground and use your bow to pick off the Wolves as the advance on your location. If they begin to surround you, you can jump into the water and let your Beast take care of the Wolves. Wolves cannot follow you into the water, allowing you to put distance between yourself and them to heal and perform ranged attacks.

After the second Snowblood Wolf is dead, head northeast for your final fight with the Alpha Snowblood Wolf. Set a marker on your map to help you stay on course. Following the prints with your Hunter Vision leads you to a small fishing camp. A bowl of fish spilled out onto the shore is another clue you can grab for bonus XP.



The tracks lead away from this fishing camp into another Ielis camp partially engulfed in flames.

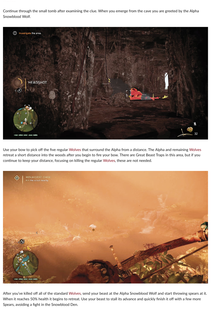
SNAKES

Watch out for Snakes along the path, they are easily spotted with your Hunter Vision. The also provide an audio cue in the form of a hissing sound.

A dead Ielis next to a stone in the ground is your next clue.

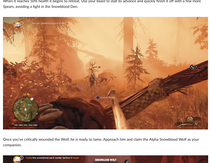
The pass prints take you to the Tomb of Teeth. Inside a Wolf guards your next clue, a dead Ielis who attempted to hide from the Wolves.

Continue through the small tomb after examining the clue. When you emerge from the cave you are greeted by the Alpha Snowblood Wolf.



Use your bow to pick off the four regular Wolves that surround the Alpha from a distance. The Alpha and remaining Wolves retreat a short distance into the woods after you begin to fire your bow. There are Great Beast Traps in this area, but if you continue to keep your distance, focusing on killing the regular Wolves, these are not needed.

After you've killed off all of the standard Wolves, send your beast at the Alpha Snowblood Wolf and start throwing spears at it. When it reaches 50% health it begins to retreat. Use your beast to stall its advance and quickly finish it off with a few more Spears, awarding a fight to the Snowblood Den.



Once you've critically wounded the Wolf, he is ready to tame. Approach him and claim the Alpha Snowblood Wolf as your companion.

Village Missions

The Rotten River

PREREQUISITE: Build Karoosh's, Wogah's, and Jayma's huts

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find what spoiled the village water

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 500 XP

PREDATORS: Dholes, Wolves

STRATEGY

After talking to the villager, head down to the river, find the dead fish inside the netting, and accept the mission. Investigate the water and then enable your Hunter Vision. Follow the trail of sickness to the south, across the path to the east, and along the shore further south. Investigate another net full of dead fish and continue to follow the trail up three waterfalls and into a cave to the east.

Inside the cave, bodies rot in the water. They need to be removed to prevent more sickness, but first you must deal with the hungry Wolves ahead. Once the area is clear, pick up the three bodies and drop them so that they are completely out of the water. Kill any remaining Wolves to complete the mission.

ROT FUMES

If you explore deeper inside the cave, you run into rot fumes that keep you from advancing any farther. Eventually you gain the ability to craft Antidotes, which allow you to move through the gas without taking damage.

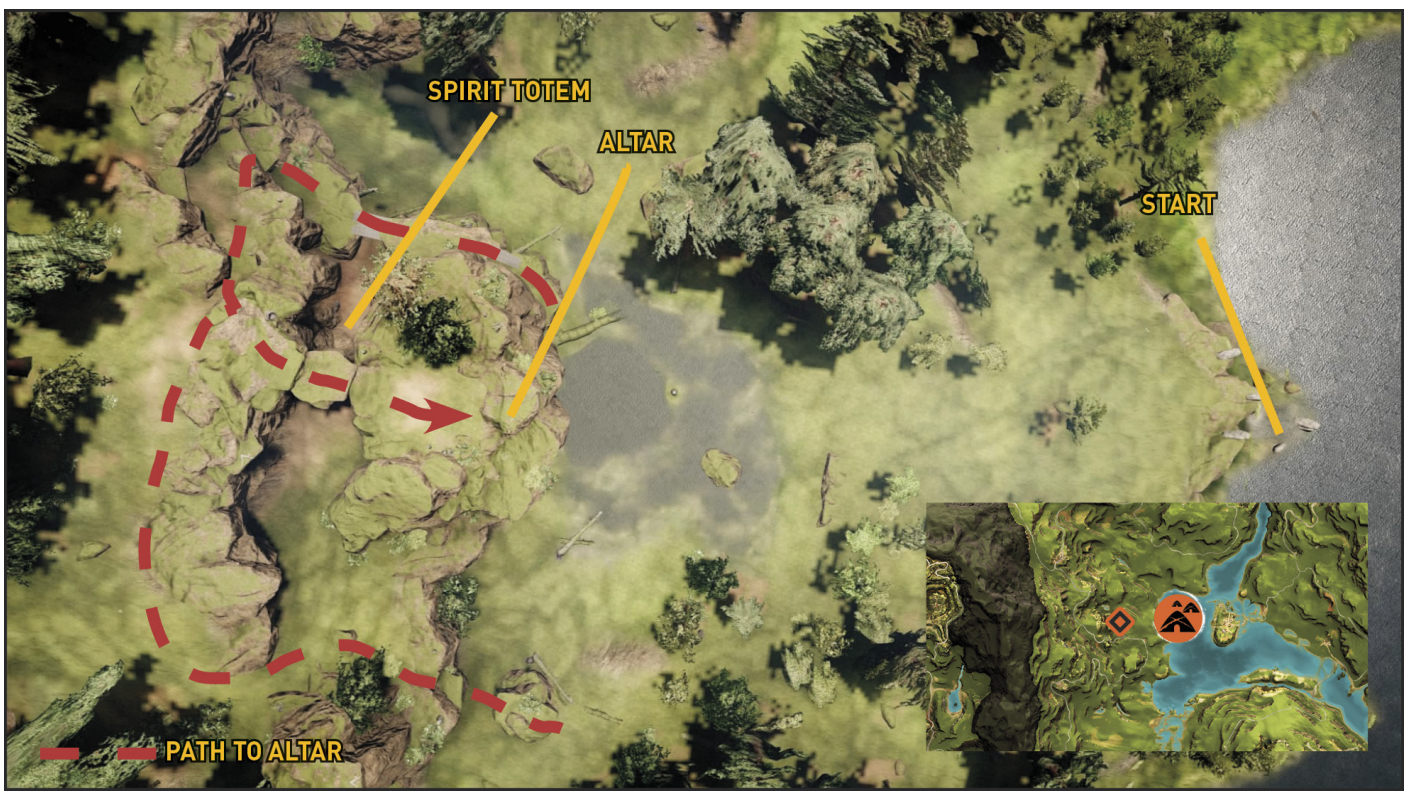
Village Missions

Spirit Totem



PREREQUISITE: Build Karoosh's, Wogah's, and Jayma's huts

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find the Spirit Totem and place it on the altar.

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 500 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Slinger

PREDATORS: Brown Bear, Jaguars

STRATEGY

Talk to Manoo who hangs out west of Karoosh's hut. He wants you to help a fellow Wenja place a new spirit totem. A village mission marker appears on the map to the southeast. If available, use a nearby Fast Travel point to quicken the trip. Head west once the mission has been accepted. You must find the totem and place it on the altar, located on a cliff to the west.

Move west to find a high cliff, accessible around the north and south sides. Sitting just above is the altar where the totem must be placed. The spirit totem sits inside an opening accessible from the north, so move around the right side. Udam Warriors and Udam Slingers occupy the surrounding area, as does a Brown Bear, so move cautiously. Look inside the opening below the wood and spot the Wenja and the spirit totem. Grab the item and make your way up to the altar, taking care of the enemies and jaguars along the way. Place the totem to complete the mission.

Village Missions

Moon Heart

PREREQUISITE: Complete The Rotten River, Spirit Totem, and Vision of Ice

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Gather moon heart mushrooms from cave

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP

PREDATORS: Wolves, Brown Bear

STRATEGY

A villager just outside your cave asks for help gathering moon heart mushrooms for a newborn. Head to the marked location just northeast of the Nakuti Bonfire and accept the mission. Enter the cave found to the north at Mansi Rest. There are eight spots in the cave where the mushroom is available, but only five need to be gathered. Two Wolves impede your progress, but are fairly easy to take care of with your lit club. A Brown Bear also makes an appearance and takes a little more work to take down. You are unable to tame it, but bait can be used as a distraction. Look for vines that lead to upper ledges and pick away at its health from there.

The fungus glows bright green in the dark and has a slight flicker when you are carrying a burning weapon. Explore the cave and grab five mushrooms. Head to the cave exit to find the villager and complete the mission.

Village Missions

Sick Beasts

PREREQUISITE: Complete The Rotten River, Spirit Totem, and Vision of Ice

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Follow the sick beast's trail to discover what poisons the animals

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 750 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Archers, Udam Spearman

PREDATORS: Boars, Jaguar, Rhinos

STRATEGY

Talk to Manoo in the middle of the village. He talks about a problem with sick beasts that is tainting the meat supply for the Wenja. A quest marker appears to the east. Head there to accept the mission and start the investigation. Signs of a sick Brown Bear give the first clue. Use Hunter Vision to track its trail along the stream to the east and then north to a small cave. Quietly dispose of the Udam who hang out at the entrance and proceed inside to find a sick Wenja who ate berries near the beehives. The cause has been found, now they must be burned. A Jaguar waits for you at the cave exit, so be careful.

Head east to find six bushes marked with objective markers. Set them all on fire to get rid of the sickness. A burning pot is here in case you want to conserve animal fat. Be careful as you set the bushes ablaze as the fire can quickly spread through the nearby grass. If you anger the nearby Rhinos, they do become hostile, so be ready with your spear.

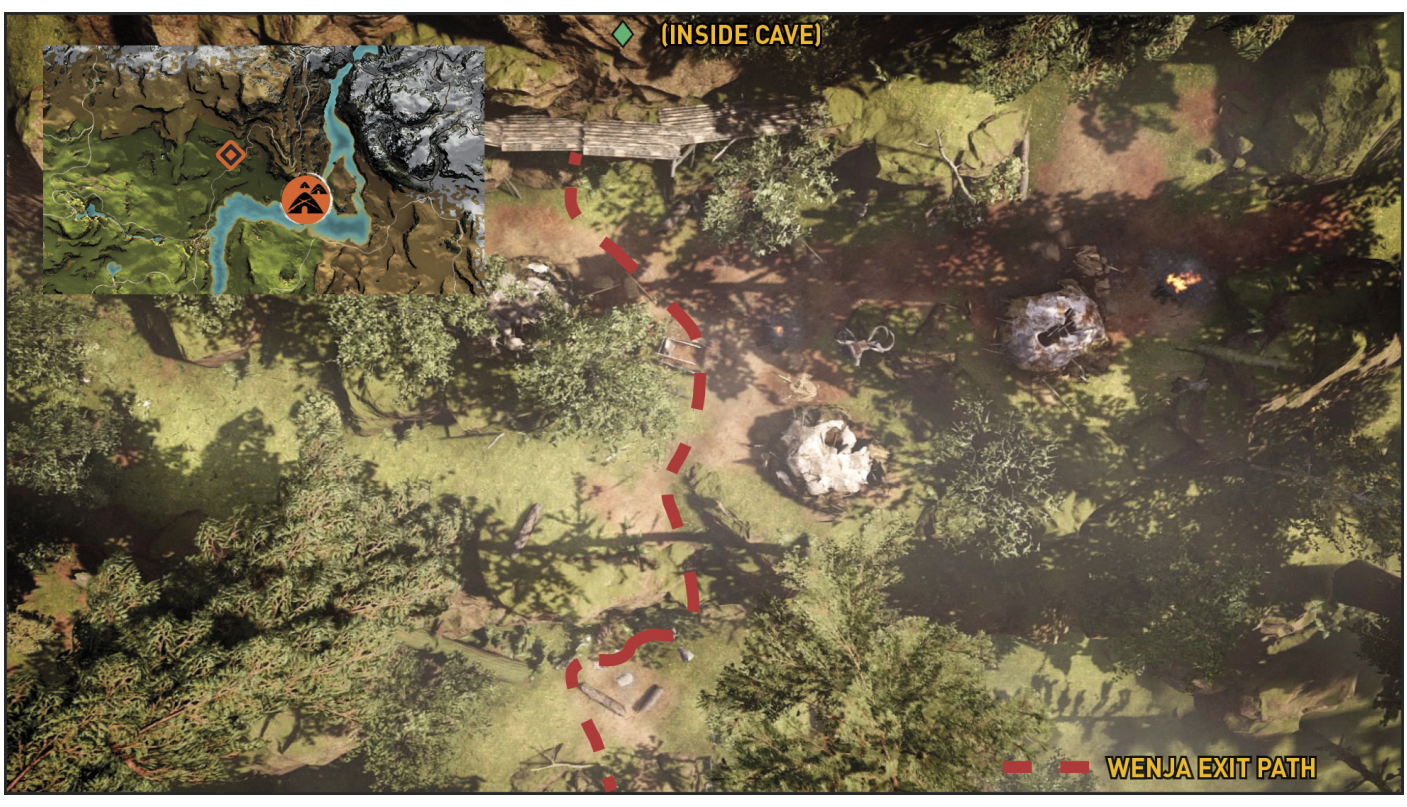
Village Missions

Blood and Honey



PREREQUISITE: Complete Moon Heart and Sick Beasts

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find the Wenja out gathering village supplies

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP, Population

ENEMIES: Udam Elite Chieftain, Udam Spearmen, Udam Warriors, Udam Scourges, Udam Elite Warrior, Udam Elite Slinger

STRATEGY

Speak with Manoo again for the next village mission. A Wenja has not returned from fetching honey. Move out to the quest marker and accept the mission. Enable Hunter Vision and follow the blood trail to the west as it leads to an Udam camp. Several Udam occupy the area with an alarm situated between the two fires. Try to keep this operation stealthy—at least until the Udam Elite Slinger and alarm have been taken care of.

With the area clear of Udam, find the Wenja inside a small cave, northwest of the camp, and interact with him. At this point, you must escort him to safety. His health bar appears at the top of the HUD. If it depletes, he dies and you return to the previous checkpoint. Udam attack from all sides; use the mini-map to spot them early. Use a strong beast companion to increase the odds of the Wenja surviving. It may seem obvious, but be careful with fire, as the Wenja burn too.

Missing Hunters

PREREQUISITE: Complete Blood and Honey

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find the missing Wenja hunters

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP

ENEMIES: Izila Elite Chieftain, Izila Warriors, Izila Archers

PREDATOR: Leopard, Wolves, Cave Lion

STRATEGY

The woman just outside Takkar's Cave is concerned about two Wenja hunters who haven't returned from an outing. Find their camp at the marker and accept the mission. Flip on Hunter Vision and track the blood trail to the southeast until you find a body. From there, the trail splits.

The left path shows evidence of an Izila attack. Continue down the hill to a rock overlooking five enemies surrounding a pond. Hiding inside a cranny below is a Wenja hunter. Eliminate the Izila threat, paying particular attention to the Izila Elite Chieftain, and then talk to the Wenja.

Return to the split and follow the other trail south up the side of the cliff to find the second hunter who cowers in fear. He wants you to deal with a nearby Leopard. Kill it and talk to the Wenja to complete the mission.

Village Missions

Song of the Spirits

PREREQUISITE: Complete Blood and Honey

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Protect the Wenja procession from the dangers of Oros

DIFFICULTY: Medium

AWARDS: 500 XP

SPECIAL: Mission is only available at night

ENEMIES: Udam Archers, Udam Spearmen, Udam Warriors

PREDATORS: Wolves, Cave Lions

STRATEGY

Manoo has another job for you; protect the Wenja voices from night beasts. If it is daytime, sleep until night and head out to the marker, northeast of the village. Call a beast for help and accept the mission. Run over to Prashrawa's Birth and interact with the woman to find four Wenja at the start of the celebratory progression. To complete the mission, at least two Wenja must survive. The four green diamonds at the top of the HUD note how many remain. Stay near the group with your trusty companion as they head southwest toward their first stop.

Keep an eye on the mini-map as predators attack. The longer you take defeating them, the more likely a Wenja dies. Continue the protection as they move to Stones of the Lost for another stop. Udam Archers, Udam Spearmen, and Udam Warriors attack from the east. Immediately sic your pet on one as you take another. Quickly take care of the enemies so no harm comes to the party. Watch out, as the Wenja bolt toward the nearby stream. Follow them west along the stream until they reach the finish at Wakwas River Stones.

Village Missions

Beyond the Stones

PREREQUISITE: Complete Missing Hunters, Song of the Spirits, and Vision of fire

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Find the Wenja hunter lost in Izila territory

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 500 XP

ENEMIES: Izila Archers, Izila Warriors, Izila Elite Warriors, Izila Slinger

Talk to Manoo to learn of a Wenja hunter gone missing in Izila territory. Just southwest of Pardal's Perch, find the quest marker and accept. Using Hunter Vision, track the hunter to the southwest. Search the clues for bonus XP as you wind your way to the hunter. Eliminate the Izila in between you and the Wenja. Before talking to him, prepare for a big fight by calling your strongest beast and crafting weapons.

SHORTCUT

The three clues take you quite a bit out of the way. If you don't mind forgoing the 300 XP, head up the left hill just after starting the mission. You can make a beeline for the hunter and save time.

The Wenja Hunter's health appears at the top of the HUD, which means one thing—you cannot let him die. Defend against waves of Izila as they attack from the south. Once ready, talk to him to get things started. Keep your beast busy as you aim your weapons at the incoming fighters. Glance at the mini-map often to avoid being surprised. Kill all of the Izila and talk to the hunter again to complete the mission.

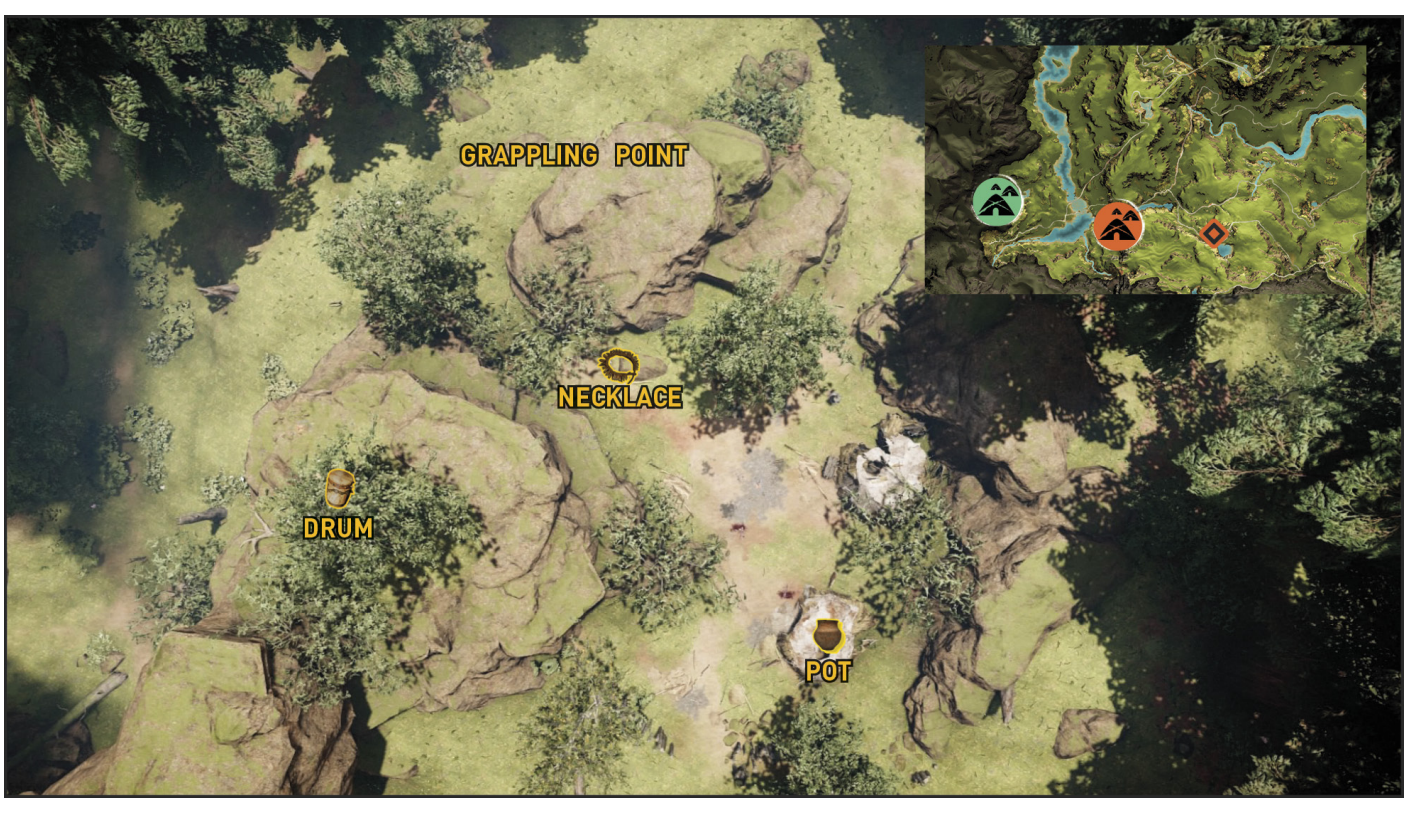
Village Missions

Spirit Gifts



PREREQUISITE: Complete Missing Hunters, Song of the Spirits, and Vision of Fire

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Recover the stolen gifts from the Udam camp

DIFFICULTY: Medium

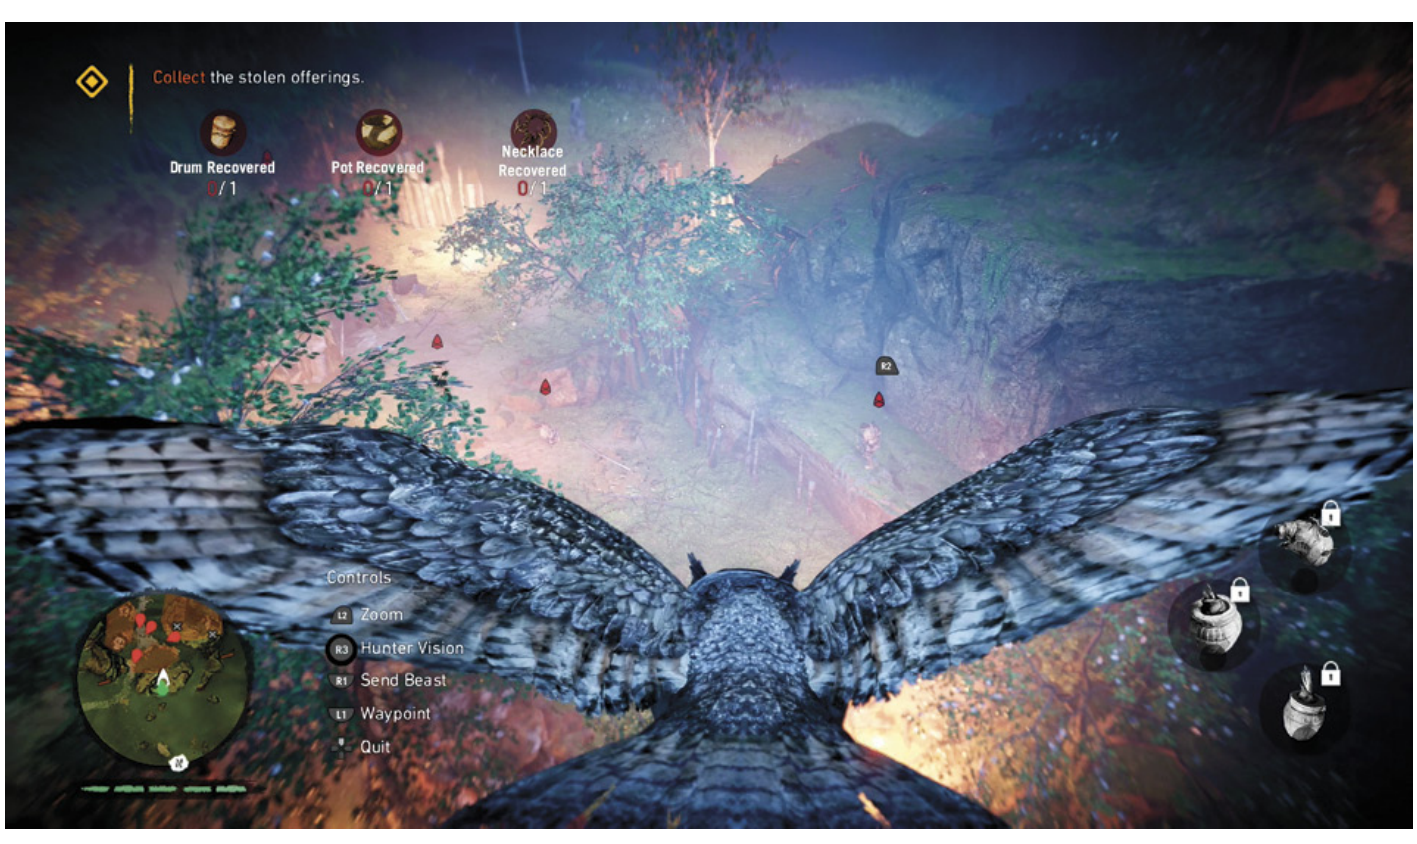
AWARDS: 500 XP

ENEMIES: Udam Archers, Udam Spearmen, Udam Slingers, Udam Civilians

STRATEGY

Talk to the woman outside Takkar's Cave to find out the Udam have been digging up Wenja graves and swiping the gifts left for the spirits. Head over to Stones of the Lost, grapple up to the rock high above the stream, and wait for the grave robbers. Crouch and step back to avoid being spotted. As soon as they leave, follow them to their camp to the southeast. Use Hunter Vision to follow their tracks.

Three lone Udam are easy takedowns as you follow the group's footprints, but eventually you reach the camp at Torn Flesh Retreat, where several enemies stand guard. Scout the place out from a high point or by calling in your Owl. You can get an easy kill with the bird on one of the lone watchmen, though if the body is found, the Udam become alerted. All of the Udam do not need to be eliminated, but it does make the recovery process much easier. You must find The Drum, Pot, and Necklace and return them to their rightful place.



Climb onto the northwest rock with the grappling claw to get good shots on the Udam Slingers to the right; watch for the left guy to move away and quickly take them both down. The outer Udam Archers and Udam Spearmen can be pulled away from the camp by tossing rocks just outside. Once the camp is clear of armed Udam, it is safe to collect the stolen offerings. Return the items to Stones of the Lost, placing them in the three marked locations.

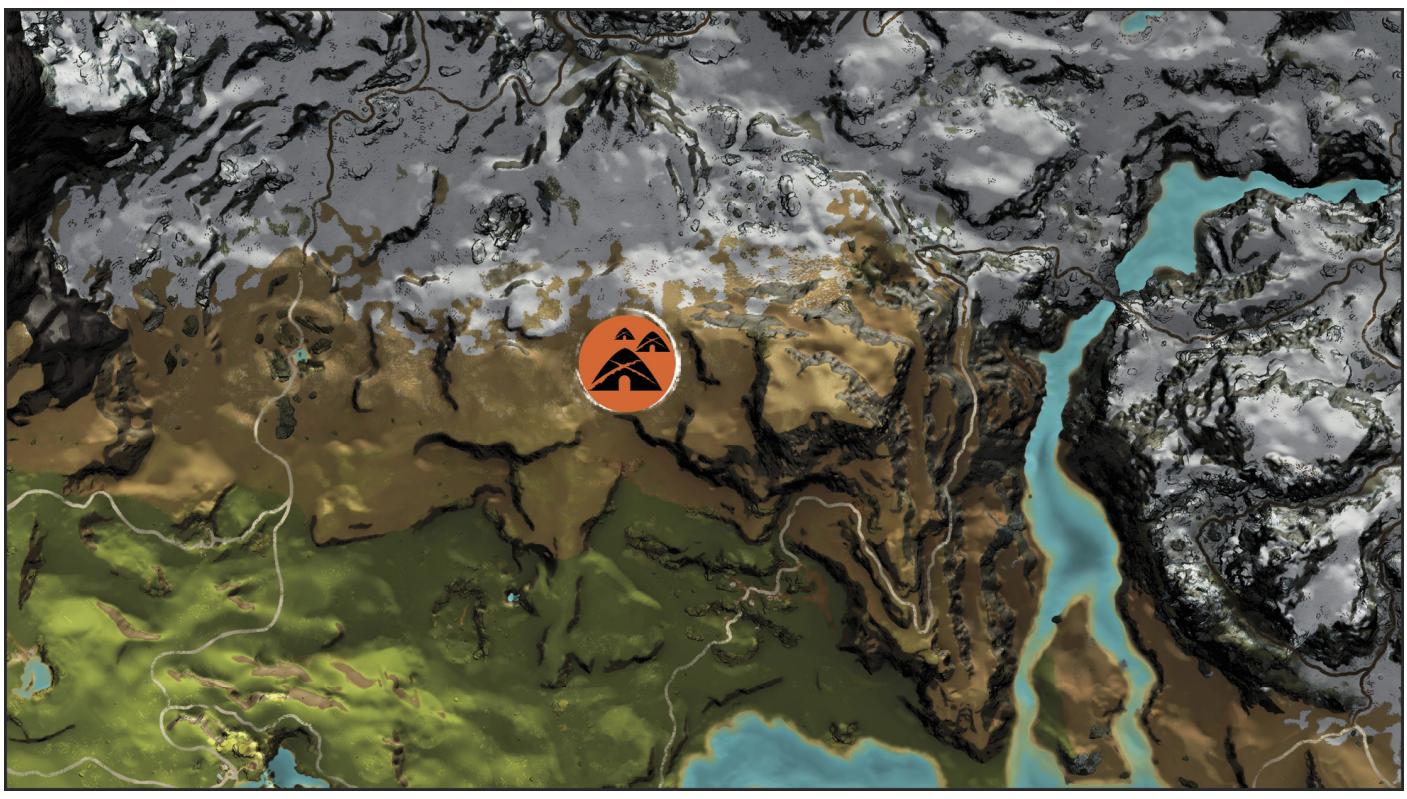
Village Missions

Biter in the Deep



PREREQUISITE: Complete Spirit Gifts and Beyond the Stones

MAIN OBJECTIVE: Hunt the Rare Red Bitefish in its underwater lair

DIFFICULTY: Hard

AWARDS: 1000 XP

PREDATORS: Brown Bears

STRATEGY

A villager wants you to kill and skin a rare Bitefish found in a deep cave far to the east. As you approach the location of the cavern, the mission begins. Look for rock outcroppings surrounding a deep hole at Dupaskaya Tooth Cave. A grappling point allows you to lower yourself inside. Move to a second grappling point as you move by, swing over to another on the ceiling, and finally grapple to a fourth to reach a ledge and solid ground.

Light a spear and follow the corridor into a big cavern, where two untamable Brown Bears wander the wet room. Kill one immediately upon contact or you may end up facing both at one time. With the predators defeated, climb the far ledge to find the remains of the Rare Red Bitefish. Skin it and leave the cave by moving between the grappling points in the same manner that you entered. Once out, the quest is complete.

Village Missions

Lost in Ice

- PREREQUISITE: Complete Spirit Gifts and Beyond the Stones
- MAIN OBJECTIVE: Help the Wenja lost in the cold
- DIFFICULTY: Hard
- AWARDS: 500 XP
- ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Spearmen, Udam Archers, Udam Scourge, Udam Elite Spearman, Udam Elite Chieftain
- PREDATORS: Wolf, Cave Lion

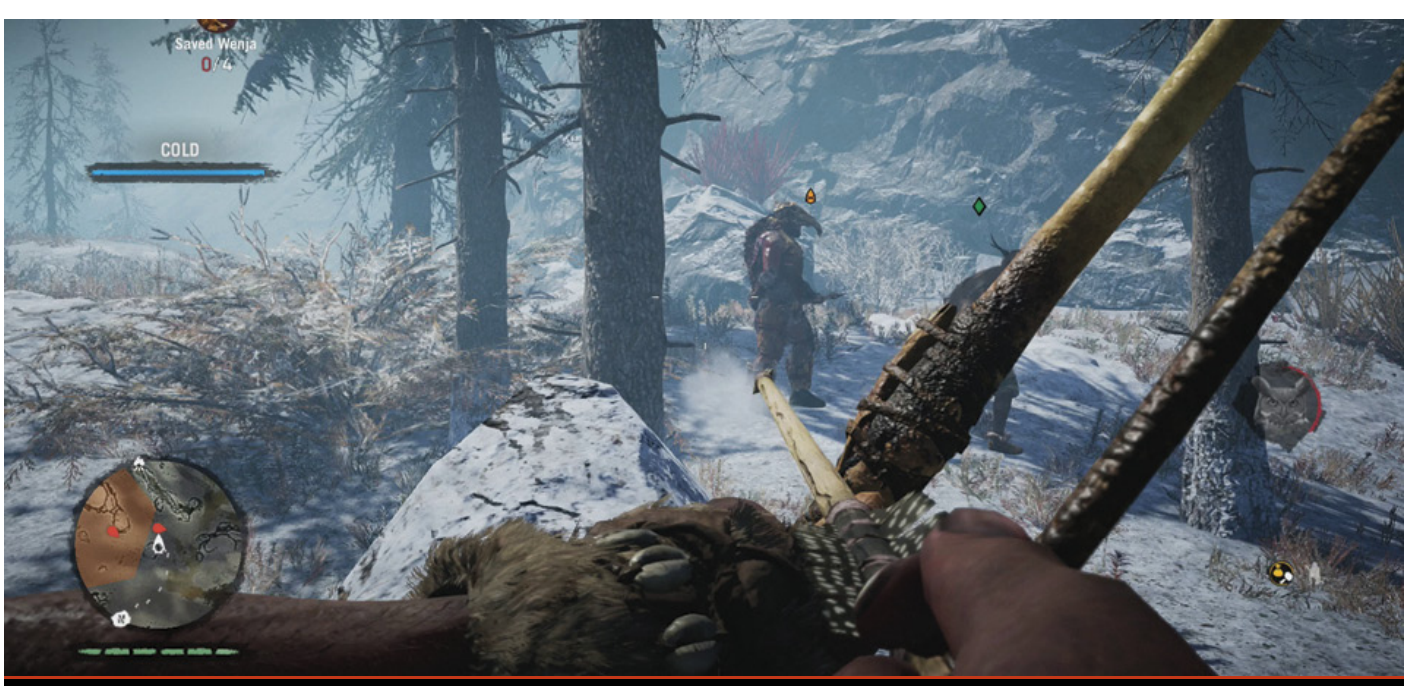
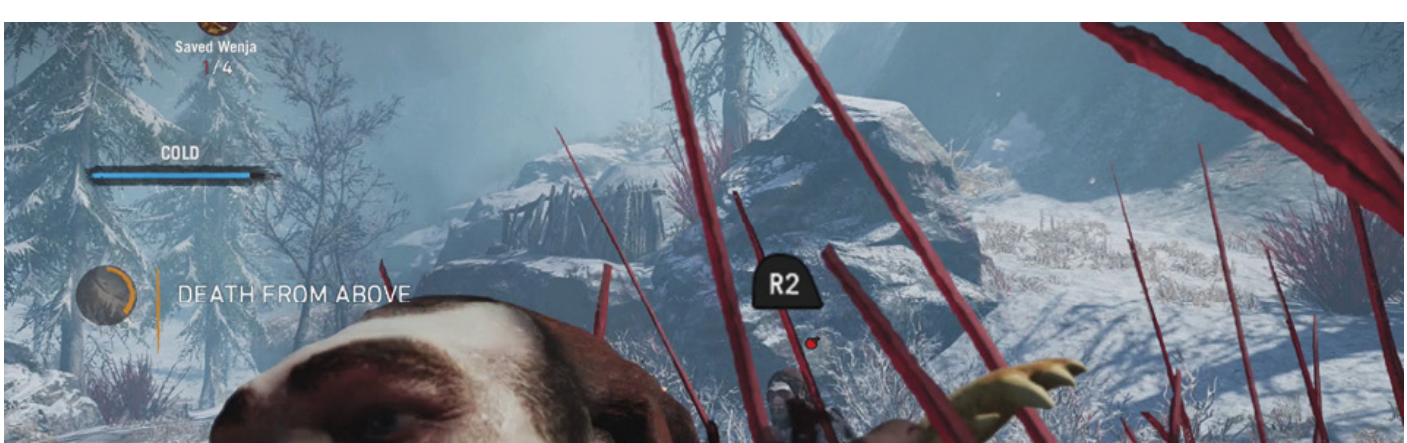
STRATEGY

Visit Manoo to learn of Wenja who travelled to Udam territory in the ice hills and haven't been heard from since. Head to the new village mission marker west of Udam Homeland and accept the challenge. To find the Wenja, enable Hunter Vision and track them east, south, and east again until you find a woman warming up next to a fire. She tells you about Udam who have taken four Wenja south. All four, each represented by a quest marker, must be saved to complete the mission. Be sure to untie each one before proceeding.

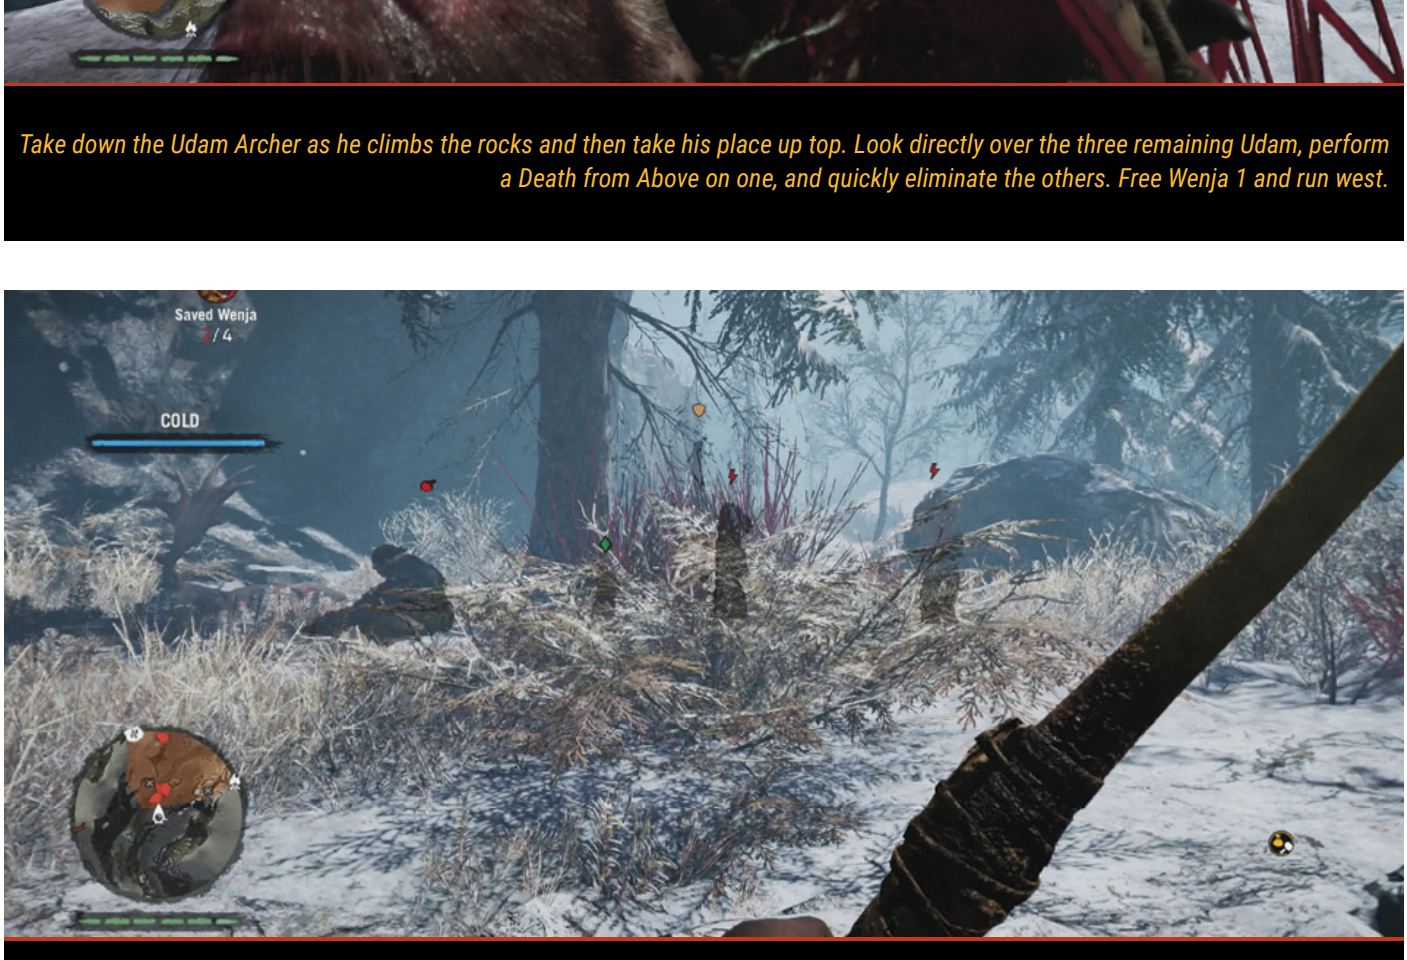
Wenja 1 is surrounded by a group of Udam just to the south, as Wenja 2 is escorted away toward Wenja 3, who is also protected by several enemies. The fourth Wenja faces the most immediate danger—tied up on a rock ledge further west as a Cave Lion closes in. It is this final victim who acts as a timer for the mission; take too long and the feline gets dinner.



Quickly scout the south with your Owl, tagging as many Udam as possible and killing the left archer as he takes a break. Head south around the right side of the rocks and intercept Wenja 2 by taking down his escort.



Take down the Udam Archer as he climbs the rocks and then take his place up top. Look directly over the three remaining Udam, perform a Death from Above on one, and quickly eliminate the others. Free Wenja 1 and run west.



Send your Owl in to scout the valley, taking out the right Udam Spearman who stands guard over the others. Move up the left side and take down the left Udam Spearman. The remaining Udam surround Wenja 3 below. Drop off the ledge and quickly fight your way to the Wenja and untie him.

Ignore the Udam Elite Chieftain and sprint south to Wenja 4. Kill the Cave Lion and free the last Wenja, completing the village mission.

Village Missions

Rings of Fire

- PREREQUISITE: Complete Biter in the Deep and Lost in Ice
- MAIN OBJECTIVE: Defend the Wenja landmarks from an Izila attack
- DIFFICULTY: Very Hard
- AWARDS: 500 XP
- ENEMIES: Izila Warriors, Izila Archers, Izila Spearmen, Izila Elite Chieftains

STRATEGY

Talking to Manoo starts the final village mission. Three Wenja rings are in danger of being burnt down by the sun walkers. Help defend the landmarks from the waves of Izila attackers. Before leaving, prepare for an Izila onslaught. Call your strongest beast; the Great Scar Bear is a great choice if it's available. The felines' speed is great against the smaller Izila, but the Izila Elite Chieftains are your biggest challenge, which requires strength. Set a fireproof food as your default; Ultimate Boost is your best bet. As you close in on Naymin of Spirits, quest markers note the locations of the three Wenja rings and the Izila begin their assault.

Four waves attack in all.

IZILA WAVES

Wave 1	Two Izila Warriors, two Izila Spearmen, Izila Elite Chieftain
Wave 2	Izila Archers, Izila Spearmen, Izila Warrior, Izila Elite Chieftain
Wave 3	Izila Spearmen, two Izila Elite Chieftains
Wave 4	Izila Warriors, Izila Archer, Izila Spearman, three Izila Elite Chieftains

The number of remaining Wenja landmarks is noted in the upper-left corner of the HUD. Ideally all three stay upright throughout the quest, but as long as one survives, the mission is a success. Keep your beast busy as the Izila pour into the area. The weaker Izila attempt to divert your attention, but keep your focus on the fire wielding Izila Elite Chieftains. They are by far the biggest threat to the flammable rings. Stave off the firepower of the Izila without losing the three rings to complete the quest.

Help Wenja: Beast Kill

Helpful Tips

It's time to help your fellow Wenja by hunting down beasts causing various problems in their lives. Every mission starts by speaking to a Wenja tribesman. They tell you about an issue caused by wildlife and then a new marker shows up on your map. This next map marker actually starts the mission.

You can talk to each tribe member without starting the mission. So if you find yourself near one of the Objective starting locations, speak to the tribesman before moving on.

Below are some helpful tips that will aid you in each Beast Kill mission, as well as facing beasts anywhere in Oros.

HUNT DURING THE DAY!

Hunting during the day helps you spot the animals and prevents other predatory beasts from spawning during your fight.

FOOD CHOICE

Making Scent Camouflage your quick heal food choice has a great impact on your ability to sneak up on predatory animals and get away when they decide to chase you. It does this by making it harder for the animal to detect you, and, on top of all of that it heals two health! Make sure you have a fair amount of Violet Leaves though, as it requires two Meat and one Violet Leaf to craft.

USE BAIT!

Using bait not only helps you tame an animal; it is a great way to call out and distract animals while you line them up for an easy shot.

BRING YOUR BEAST

Each Beast Companion awards you benefits; some of them are very helpful when hunting other animals

BEAR: The Bear causes enemies, including other Beasts, to attack them first, allowing you to stay out of the fight while helping the Bear wreak havoc on your enemies.

BADGER: All animals on Oros fear the Badger. Having a Badger at your side keeps even the most aggressive animals at bay, as long as you don't get overrun. The Badger even revives itself from death one time.

LEOPARD: The Leopard is the only animal that can tag other animals. This ability to tag animals in a nearby radius prevents anything from sneaking up on you.

WOLF: The Wolf reveals more terrain on your mini-map, helping you to see the different advantages the nearby terrain has to offer. It is also a decent fighter and growls to alert you to the presence of hostile beasts and tribes.

HELPFUL SKILLS

Take these skills with you into the Beast Hunting area and you dominate your prey.

SPRINT FOREVER: You can run forever, giving you the ability to flee any bad situation.

TAME CANINES, WILDCATS, APEX PREDATORS, CUNNING BEASTS: Having all of the taming skills unlocked allows you to tame creatures instead of killing them, which is much easier. You can also have much more powerful Beast companions, helping you in all aspects of the game.

TAG ANIMALS: Both you and your Owl can tag animals. Once tagged, animals show up on your HUD or mini-map until they are eliminated.

ANIMAL WOUNDS: Animal wounds increases the amount of damage your weapons inflict against animals.

MAMMOTH RIDER: The Mammoth is the strongest weapon in the game. The ability to use a Mammoth against the Wolves and Bears in the Beast Kill missions is worth all of the skill points in the world. Plus, you get to ride a Mammoth so it's just flat out AWESOME!

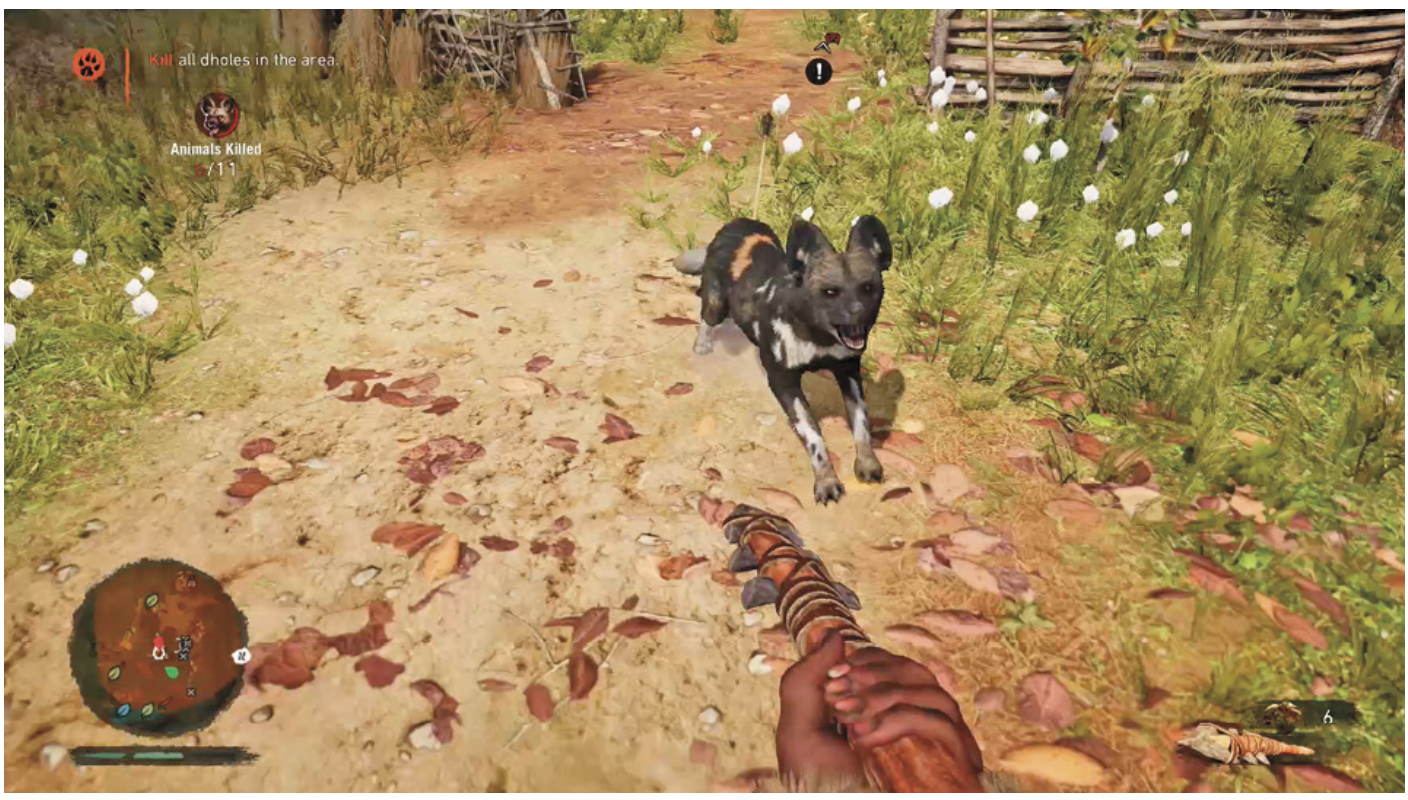
Dholes

ANIMAL COUNT: 11

DIFFICULTY: Easy

AWARDS: 800 XP + Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

After activating the mission, keep following the path and you find a Wenja hunter. Once you find the Hunter, use your Owl to locate all of the Dholes; this helps you plot your attack as you move forward. The first pair of Dholes is located at the end of the body of water. Headshots with your bow and arrows make short work of them. Looking in from the water, the next Dhole is located on the east side of the camp. Take it out from a distance as there are three more located at the opposite side of the camp.



THE RARE DHOLE

The Rare Dhole is located in the group of three Dholes on the west side of the camp so have some bait ready if you want to tame it.

If you don't have a shot on any of the Dholes, throw some bait to lure them out of their hiding spots. Head toward the back of the camp and start to approach the cave. Throw some bait to lure out at least one of the Dholes. This prevents you from fighting all three that reside in the cave at once.

Once you've killed them, finish off the two Dholes up on the hill to the southwest of the cave entrance and the mission is complete.

Wild Boars

ANIMAL COUNT: 7

DIFFICULTY: Medium

REWARDS: 1000 XP + Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

Head north down the path after activating the mission. Stay crouched and have Hunter Vision on. You first come across four Boars. Line up a good headshot with your bow for the first Boar, then just try to hit the other three.

The headshot should instantly kill the first Boar and a trail of blood can help you track the remaining Boars. They are most likely to flee down toward the Boars on the beach. Do not go running after them; continue to stay crouched and follow their tracks until you have a shot on them.

Once you near the beach where the last three Boars remain, keep an eye out for a Bear. This Bear is alerted by all the violence happening on your side of the river and is likely to cross and begin attacking the Wenja hunter and the Boars in the area.

You can't attempt to save the Wenja Hunter, but it may be easier to just ignore the Bear and pick off the Boars before the Bear crosses the river to attack the Boars and Wenja Hunter.

Make sure to keep your distance so that the Bear focuses on the other Hunter and Boars before aggressing toward you. With all the Boars dead, you can flee, tame the Bear, or kill the Bear. The choice is yours as the mission is already complete.

Jaguars

ANIMAL COUNT: 6

DIFFICULTY: Medium

REWARD: 1000 XP

After speaking with the Wenja and locating the mission start point, head west following a path that leads down into a small canyon. Once you bump into the Friendly Hunter, two Jaguars immediately attack.

HIT AND RUN

Jaguars are hit and run type animals so make every hit count! Your spear is your highest damaging ranged weapon and can make short work of a Jaguar.

Help the Hunter fend off the attack, and use your Hunter Vision to follow their trails. Wait for them to hide in a bush, then use your arrows to finish them off while they aren't moving.

One more Jaguar stands between you and the cavern's entrance. This Jaguar is located on a rock to the north behind a tree, just before the cavern and can easily be picked up with your Hunter Vision. Have some bait ready as you head into the cavern if you want your chance at taming the Rare Jaguar. Taming it is much easier than killing it if you have the appropriate skill set.

Once you have tamed or killed this Jaguar, you face three Jaguars at the same time at the end of the cavern.

Use your bow to injure them as they try to attack; this causes them to run away in pain. If you begin to get overrun, set some of the surrounding shrubs on fire. The Jaguars fear fire, so this causes them to scatter, allowing you to pick them off one by one. After clearing this trio of Jaguars the mission is over.

Help Wenja: Beast Kill

Wolves

ANIMAL COUNT: 9

DIFFICULTY: Hard

REWARD: 1200 XP + Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

The safest, fastest and easiest way to complete this mission is simply riding a Mammoth in from the west and trampling all of the Wolves in the area. But assuming you do not have the Mammoth Rider skill here's how to do it on foot.

After accepting the mission, head east into the hunting area. Use your Owl to scout out the Wolves' locations. You quickly notice that they have the path surrounded. Stay to the north side of the path and use your Hunter Vision to locate the Wolves hiding in the brush. Take your time to aim for the head. You want to deal as much damage as possible so that they do not have time to "howl in" reinforcements.

There are six Wolves in the bushes before the Wooly Rhino. Make sure you kill them all before moving on past the Rhino. If they begin to surround you, light your arrow or club to scare them off.

Lighting the bushes on fire here may spook the Wooly Rhino, who is a much bigger problem to deal with than a few Wolves.

Give the Rhino plenty of distance as you move by, heading diagonally back down the south side of the hunting site. This will hopefully mean that you will face the Rare Wolf last, allowing you to tame it or kill it much easier.

Use your arrows to kill off the three remaining Wolves from the high rocks to the south. If they catch on to you, again use fire to scare them off and spread them out. Eliminate them one by one and then have your spears or bait ready to kill or tame the Rare Wolf.

Cave Lions

ANIMAL COUNT: 5

DIFFICULTY: Hard

REWARD: 1200 XP + Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

After accepting the mission, light one of your weapons on fire and head east, where you find a hunter at the beginning of the hunting area.

On the south side of the rock they are standing in front of, there are two Cave Lions. Pull out your spear and activate your Hunter Vision to locate them.

Get in close enough to land a Spear on one of them, if you have upgraded your spear and land a headshot, this could be the end for the Cave Lion. The other Cave Lion flees in a random direction; follow it and take it down with your spear.

HALT!

A thrown spear or fire stops a Cave Lion from charging you.

Now with almost half the Lions eliminated, head down to the north side of the small pond's edge and throw some bait. This attracts the Rare Black Lion, you can chose to tame or kill it. Either option takes it off your amount of Cave Lions left to kill. Across the water from you there is a lone Cave Lion. This Lion may be a bit tough to hit with a spear so use your bow to land a headshot and then Hunter Vision to follow its tracks and finish it off.

A small cave in the back of the pond houses the last two Cave Lions, throw some bait to draw them out.

BE GENEROUS

Don't be afraid to waste bait. If no animal takes it, you can quickly pick it back up and place it in your inventory.

Ideally one of the Cave Lions will come out; attack it with a spear. If it runs, do not cross the mouth of the cave, instead prepare another spear and take on the Cave Lion still residing in the Cave.

This will leave it pinned in the cave for a follow up attack. Once the Lion is dead, hunt down the last injured Cave Lion to collect your reward.

Badgers

ANIMAL COUNT: 9

DIFFICULTY: Hard

REWARD: 1200 XP + Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

After accepting the mission, quickly run south into the hunting area. Badgers are attaking a friendly Wenja Hunter. Use your spears to make short work of them and try to save the hunter. If he survives, he makes excellent bait as you make your way south toward a cave in the camp.

THE BEAR IS MIGHTIER THAN THE BADGER

If you have a Bear now is a great time to use it. The Badgers attack the Bear, and the Bear makes short work of the Badgers, making this mission easy.

If the hunter did not survive your initial encounter with the Badgers, toss bait a few meters in front of you and wait to see if it pulls any Badgers out. You can use this opportunity to tame a Badger if you'd like. Even if you've already tamed a Badger, you can still tame another. This is much easier than trying to hit them while they speed around. Push forward using this method to prevent being overrun by Badgers.

HONEY BADGER DON'T CARE!

Honey Badgers just don't care; hence they aren't scared by fire.

Three of the Badgers are located in the small houses along the path forward: one in the hut to the east and two in the fenced area to the west.

After you kill them, a short incline leads to a bush that is hiding two Badgers just before the cave. Use a spear or bow to line a headshot up on one of them before they detect you, then hunt down the other. Do not chase it if it runs to the south as that leads you into three more Badgers.

Head toward the mouth of the cave slowly; a Badger hides in the brush just to the right of the cave entrance. Take him out with a headshot, then throw some bait to call out the remaining Badgers one by one. A couple of Badger Headshots later and you have saved the day for this Wenja Village.

My favorite beast companion is the Honey Badger. When he dies…he doesn't really, because he don't give a damn.

Leopards

DIFFICULTY: Hard

REWARD: 1200 XP + Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

If you have a Bear tamed, bring it with you. The Leopards are weak, but very aggressive and stalk you before quickly jumping out for an attack. A Bear forces them to attack it before attacking you, making this mission incredibly easy.

Grab your spear and be ready to perform heavy attacks. The Leopards attack so quickly that taking time to aim and throw your spear my cause you to miss and deal no damage at all. The Leopards come running straight at you with no warning, leaping from their cover and closing the distance quickly.

The Leopards are so aggressive that you may not even make it through half of the hunting area before facing all of them. It is a good idea to have a lit club ready to scare them off if too many begin to attack. Once they scatter, activate Hunter Vision and hunt them down. If you strike a Leopard with your Spear head-on, it bleeds and runs away, allowing you to quickly hunt it down.

You can also throw bait around to distract a few Leopards, jumping in to tame one if you have the skills!

Once you've killed all eight of the Leopards, you complete the mission.

Bears

ANIMAL COUNT: 7

DIFFICULTY: Very Hard

REWARD: 1400 XP + Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

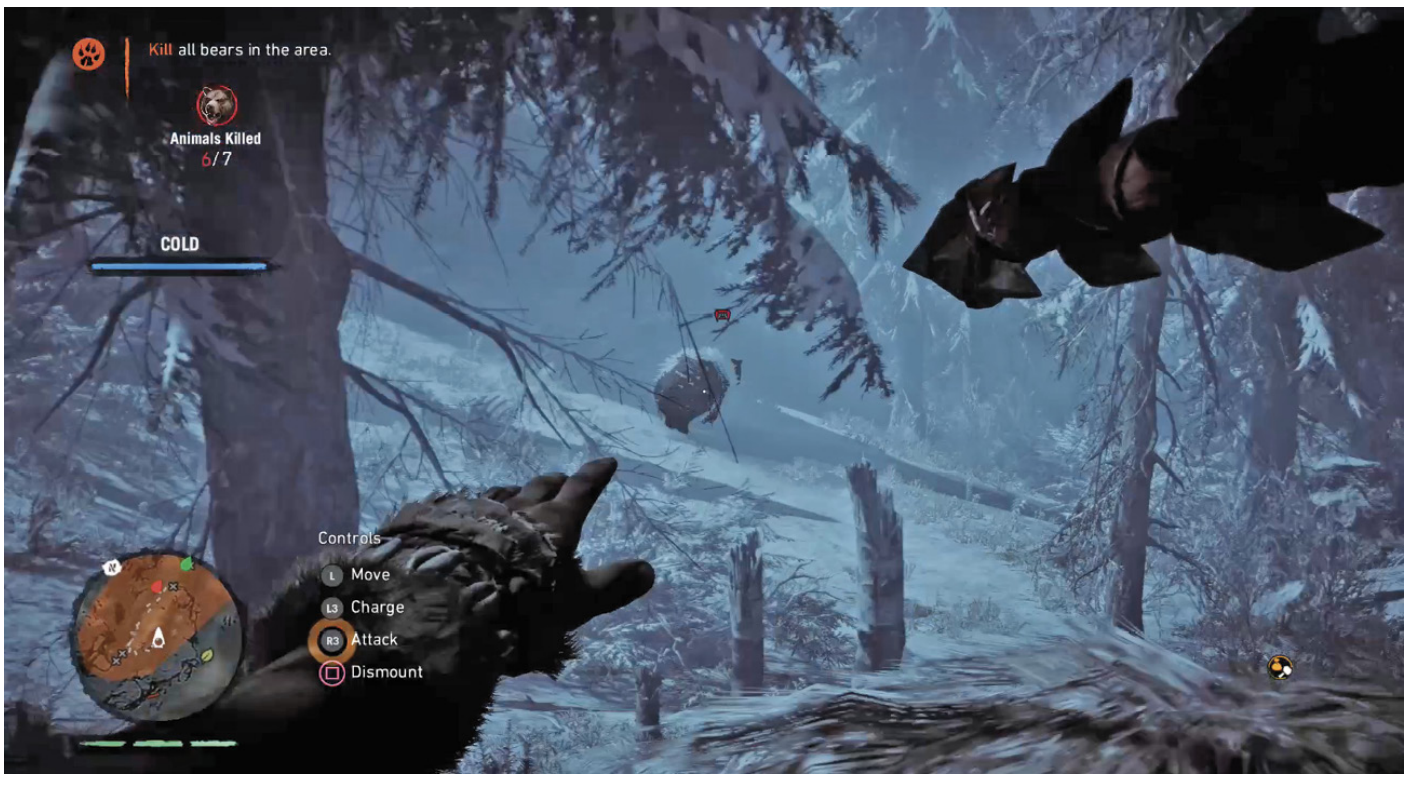
The best way to accomplish this mission is by grabbing a Mammoth from the area to the east and riding it into the hunting Area. You'll be able to easily trample Brown Bears and Cave Bears without issue. You can even use Spears to weaken the Cave Bears from atop the Mammoth to make things easier.

If you haven't learned how to ride a Mammoth yet, you need to rely on your Hunter Vision to get you through this quest alive.

First use your Owl to locate the Bears, making sure to make note of the location of the Cave Bears and Brown Bears separately. Head south once entering the hunting area. This pits you against your first Brown Bear. Use arrows while the Bear is at a distance, then shift to spears once it is in close range. Use this tactic on the next two Brown Bears to the north. With them down, you can focus on the Cave Bear that is north of the entrance of the hunting area.

Set a few traps on the ground if you have them available on the route you plan on using to retreat. These deal damage to the Bear if it chooses to chase you. Use your arrows, making sure to aim for the head, to deal the greatest amount of damage. You can use bait to stall it momentarily or even tame it if you haven't yet tamed a Cave Bear.

Stay crouched and use Hunter Vision while you head farther east into the camp where you encounter another Cave Bear. Employ the same tactics used to kill the last Cave Bear to make short work of this one. Continue pushing into the camp until you come across a cave containing two Brown Bears.



If you've kept your distance you can pull the first Bear out of the front of the cave, kill them, and then pull the second one out. If you accidentally pull both Bears out of the cave, use some bait to distract one while you kill the other.

With all of these Bears dead, the mission rewards are yours!

Cave Lions 2

ANIMAL COUNT: 6

DIFFICULTY: Medium

REWARDS: 1000 XP and Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

While taking out six Cave Lions may sound like a challenging task, this quest takes place in a large area allowing you to sneak up and fight one Cave Lion at a time.

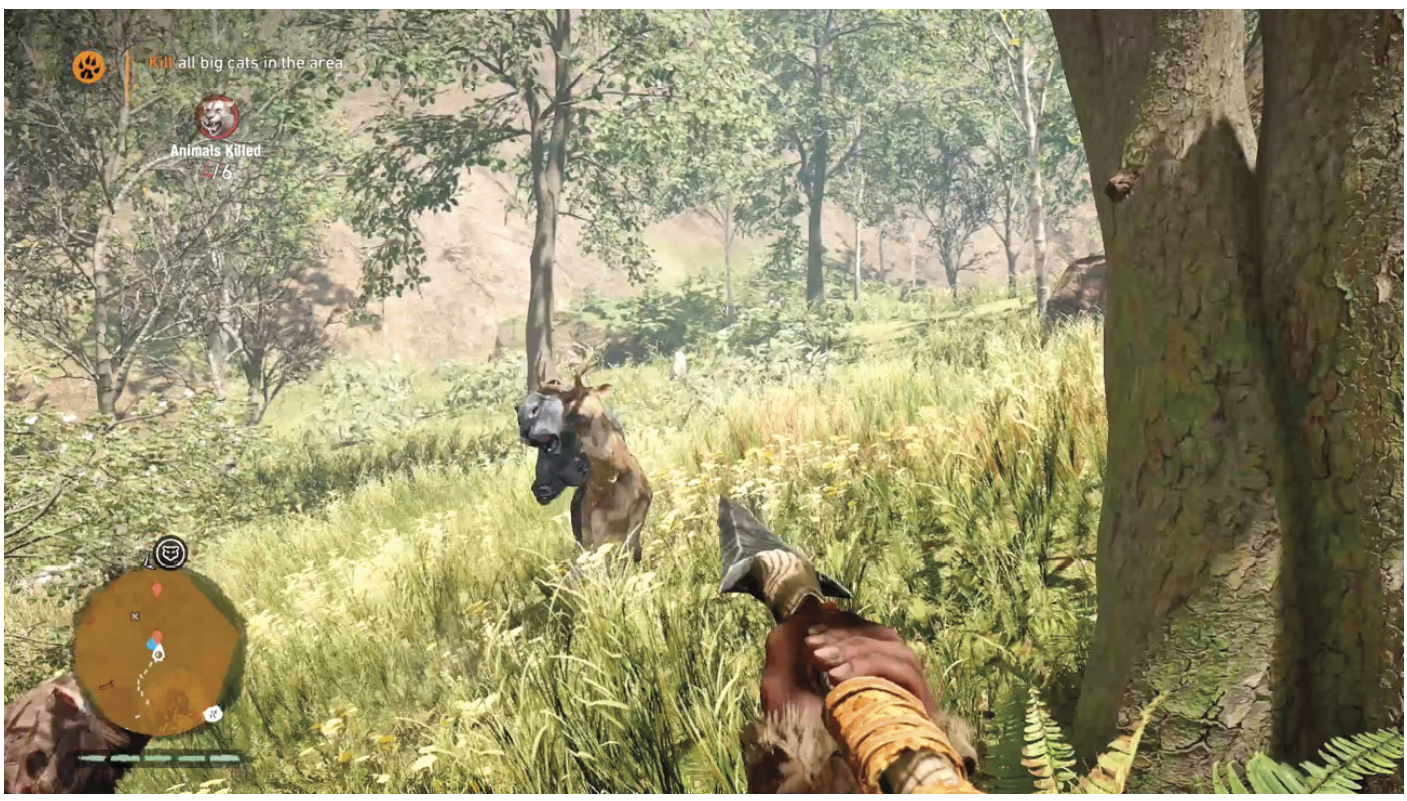
Use your Hunter Vision and stay crouched as you move through the grass heading towards the waterfall. Your first three cave lions will be on the east side of the waterfall.

WILD BOARS

Wild Boars in the area may distract the Cave Lions, allowing you to easily take aim and land critical hits with your Spear.

A Black Cave Lion is in the west side of the hunting area. Use bait or wait for it to attack some of the local wildlife before you attempt to attack.

The Black Cave Lion is much stronger than its standard Cave Lion counterparts.



If you are having trouble locating any of the Cave Lions, call in your Owl and use it to scout out and mark their locations.

Woolly Rhino

ANIMAL COUNT: 4

DIFFICULTY: Hard

REWARDS: 1200 XP and Animal Skins sent to your Reward Stash

Woolly Rhinos can deal out a ton of damage, assuming you let them get close enough. Take advantage of their non-aggressive nature, by beginning your attack with a spear to the head from a distance. You'll want to kill them as quickly as possible, since they will attack in a group if they reach another Woolly Rhino.

Your Beast can distract and slow a Woolly Rhino's attempt to flee, but it will likely take a lethal amount of damage in the process so be ready to revive your Beast.

Keep your eyes out for the two Two Horned Woolly Rhinos that are in the hunting area. They have more health and deal more damage than the standard Woolly Rhino. Leave them for last, lessening the chances of them running off and recruiting another Woolly Rhino to fight you.

My favorite beast is the Rare Woolly Rhino. It's surprising to see a rhino with hair! The horns are also amazing.

Next, you will want to push forward to the Scarecrows. Be aware of the large cake with, smaller wooden walls, and Urban Scarecrows. As the mass fills, enforcements begin to swarm to finish the task and even take off the camp.

Once you've already destroyed most items on the outside of the camp, move inside and take out the most transporters and the small shelters they have built. This quickly hinders off the destruction meter.

When this comes low these of the axe, your objective changes from burning the Urban camp to simply finishing the area. This is a much easier task than attempting to take on the waves of reinforcements that are about to fill the camp.

Continue circling around the camp until you've stomped and burned the place to the ground.

DESTROY: THREE

- LOCATION Cave of Ice Wolves
- INTENSITY Medium
- SPECIAL 1 Skill Point

Once inside the cave, immediately begin lighting the bundles of wood on fire, this helps raise the destruction meter quickly. Additionally, it helps you see where you're going. Use the mounted Cube to not only light everything inside on fire, but to quickly dispatch enemies that sneak like creeper fire.

Moving slowly and staying smartfood allows you to sneak up on groups of enemies. When this happens use your bow to make short work of them.

It's good to bring your bow into the cave with you, this prevents any enemies from sneaking up behind you while you move around the cave. Look for the stegosaurs and snatter foot inside the cave as you circle around. these help your destruction meter fill rapidly.

When your meter is full, at this Urbe Spearman and this Warrior spawn, they are easily taken down by thrown spears. You can choose to push ignore them and flee the cave to complete the mission. Besides XP awarded for the kills, there is no bonus for killing all the enemies.

DESTROY: FOUR

Continue working your way up to the high ground to the north side of the camp, killing the Warrior near the Fire Lake and to remain undetected.

Once up on the high ground, turn back down toward the camp and begin shooting lit arrows down into it. Call in your Duel to distract the kills while you aim for the big Magolithic Siege cleaver supported by wood) and the wooden cat walks. The destruction meter quickly fills as more things catch fire.

Once you've killed off a few enemies, drop down into the camp and light your club on fire, using it to fight the stacks of wood, signs, huts, and the remaining objects you can find. The enemies you have running out of armies and Animal Fat.

Stay constantly moving to prevent yourself from being overrun by any enemies. Killing them is not the goal: you're just there to burn the place to the ground!

Take the path to the east, using your Hunter Vision to spot enemies before they spot you. Use your Sword to kill enemies while you focus on lighting things on fire. The most common item in this zone is the most tempting stick.

The more you blast you at the walls of the cave. Continue to locate them and burn them in any more in a circle around the large cave. Don't forget to destroy the bundles of wood. The more items fills bit of wood in this cave to burn to fill your destruction meter.

If you've taken care to burn and destroy everything in your path as you circled around the cave, you should have your meter filled by the time you reach the cliff.

As Ellis Archer watch for you at the exit as you try to focus. Kill him or move past him and exit the area to complete the mission.

DESTROY: SIX

- LOCATION Chasing Cave
- INTENSITY Hard
- SPECIAL 1 Skill Point

A few hills guard the path into this cave. Kill them with your bow, then slowly work your way into the cave system.

The destruction objects are all localized in an open area with a handful of kills patrolling around. Use takedowns on close enemies and call your Sword out on the enemies that are located at the opposite end of the cave.

Bundles of wood are your primary target here, with the majority of them being in the north end of the cave near a waterfall.

Make sure to destroy every piece of wood you see as you work through the hills. If you're hit at the pieces of wood, you won't soon need to burn the final stacks of wood in the north end.

When the last kills jump into the water near the waterfall in the north side of the cave. This counts as clearing the area and completes the mission.

Zuko is standing on the beach with Iroh. Speak to him to learn about the search and rescue mission.

Zuko: Uncle, I'm worried about the Fire Nation citizens who were trapped in the Ember Island Theatre. Search and rescue is the only way to find out if they're safe.

Iroh: Prince Zuko, I'm sure they're safe. Perhaps you should focus on something more pleasant, like your tea.

Zuko: Pleasant? Uncle, I'm the Fire Lord! I'm responsible for the safety of my people. I'm going to search and rescue the trapped citizens myself.

Iroh: Very well, Fire Lord Zuko. Search and rescue the trapped citizens. I'll be here when you return.

Zuko: Thanks, Uncle. I'll be back soon. Search and rescue the trapped citizens. Search and rescue the trapped citizens. Search and rescue the trapped citizens

Caves

About Caves

These caves require a bit of exploration as well as combat to get through each lair of the caves.

A Grappling Claw is required to complete all of these caves, this is acquired very early in the game from Wogah, so you may have to advance the story further with him if you have not yet unlocked it.

Make sure to stock up on Animal Fat; this allows you to light your weapons without having a static source of fire nearby. You can conserve the amount of fat you use by lighting an object nearby on fire, allowing you to light future weapons from that. Small campfires work best for conserving your flame.

Falling into water extinguishes your fire. Try throwing your lit weapon across the water into some objects so that you can light your weapon again without using fat.

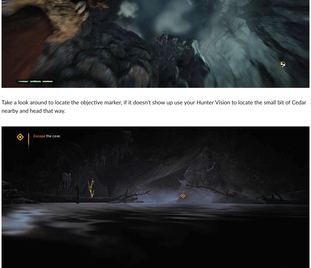
Caves

Cave of Blood Claws

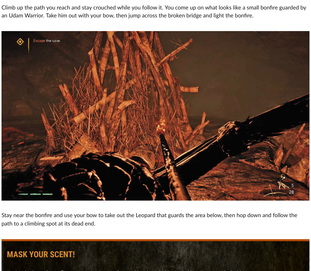
DIFFICULTY: Medium

REWARD: 780 XP

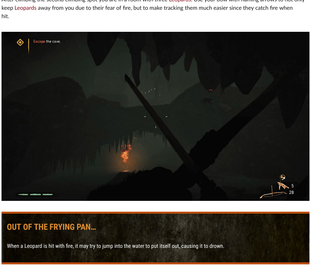
Follow the short path into the cave, then take a long leap down into the water below.



Take a look around to locate the objective marker, if it doesn't show up use your Hunter Vision to locate the small bit of Cedar nearby and head that way.



Climb up the path you reach and stay crouched while you follow it. You come up on what looks like a small bonfire guarded by an Udam Warrior. Take him out with your bow, then jump across the broken bridge and light the bonfire.

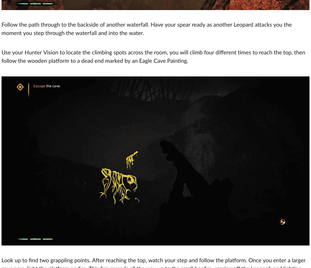


Stay near the bonfire and use your bow to take out the Leopard that guards the area below, then hop down and follow the path to a climbing spot at its dead end.

MASK YOUR SCENT!

Having the Scent Camouflage [illegible] option is great for sneaking through this cave without having to deal with angry Leopards.

After climbing the second climbing spot you are in a room with three Leopards. Use your bow with flaming arrows to not only keep Leopards away from you due to their fear of fire, but to make tracking them much easier since they catch fire when hit.



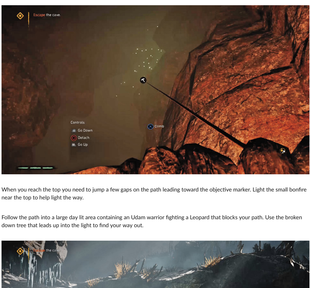
OUT OF THE FRYING PAN...

When a Leopard is hit with fire, it may try to jump into the water to put itself out, causing it to drown.

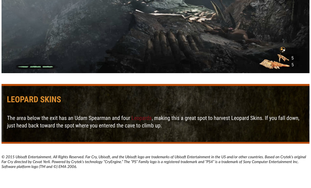
Once you've killed the animals, run toward the waterfall, locating the grappling point that is just above it.

Follow the path through to the backside of another waterfall. Have your spear ready as another Leopard attacks you the moment you step through the waterfall and into the water.

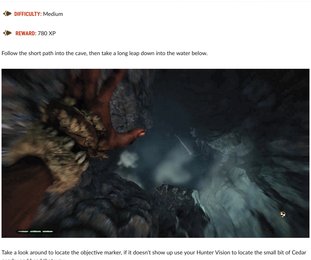
Use your Hunter Vision to locate the climbing spots across the room, you will climb four different times to reach the top, then follow the wooden platform to a dead end marked by an Eagle Cave Painting.



Look up to find two grappling points. After reaching the top, watch your step and follow the platform. Once you enter a larger cave area, light the platform on fire. This fire spreads all the way up to the small bonfire, scaring off the Leopard, and lighting the way out of this area.

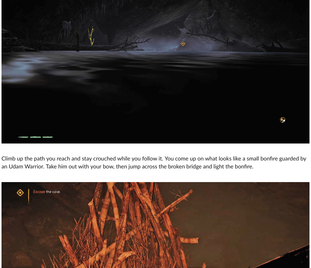


You have to jump a few gaps to reach the next area so be sure to watch where you step as falling could be fatal.



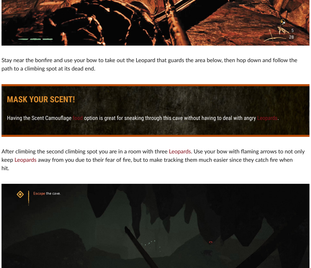
Once you reach a large cliff, look left and stick to the wall. This path take you to the bottom of the cliffs. When in the water at the bottom, use your Hunter Vision to locate climbing spots. These two climbing spots lead up to a grappling point.

Pull yourself up to the top of the grappling point, then look up and pull yourself to the top of the next grappling point.



When you reach the top you need to jump a few gaps on the path leading toward the objective marker. Light the small bonfire near the top to help light the way.

Follow the path into a large day lit area containing an Udam warrior fighting a Leopard that blocks your path. Use the broken down tree that leads up into the light to find your way out.



LEOPARD SKINS

The area below the exit has an Udam Spearman and four Leopards, making this a great spot to harvest Leopard Skins. If you fall down, just head back toward the spot where you entered the cave to climb up.

Caves

Cave of the Drowned

DIFFICULTY: Medium

REWARD: 780 XP

Once you've entered the cave, drop down into the water and head left, away from the waterfall. Once you see a point to climb, use it. You come across a small camp of Udam containing two Archers and a Warrior. Use your bow, and take the one farthest from the fire out first, then look left and take the other two out before they notice you.

After a brief moment outside looking over the water you swam through at the beginning, you come across a cave with a small fork. Both point at the same stretch of water.

BITEFISH

This water is inhabited by Bitefish. Use your bow to make short work of them and gather their resources if you need them.

From the left side of the fork you can use the above grappling point to swing to the platform on the right side. Be careful! If you touch the water while swinging you immediately lose your hold on the grapple.

You can also swim across the water, through the gap between the two platforms, before locating a climb spot hidden on the back side of the right platform. Either way you choose to go, it is best to kill the Bitefish before swimming or swimming to avoid taking any unnecessary damage.

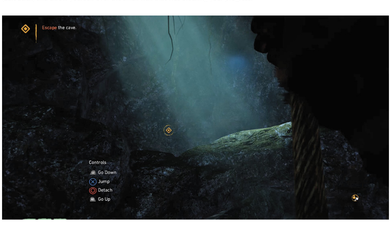
Once you are on top of the right platform jump the small gap to the other platform and follow the path to another body of water. A Red Leaf, two North Yellow Leaves, and North Black Rock inhabit this platform; grab them before moving on!

Stay underwater and follow the stream until it dead ends behind a small Udam camp. Climb up into the camp. Five enemy Udam inhabit the camp: three Archers and two Spearmen. You can either use your position to take down each enemy with a bow, or use the bushes and cover to move through the camp onto the next area. If you alert them to your presence, quickly jump into the water and dive down to ditch them.

Head though the camp toward the next way point where you will hit a wall. When facing the wall, look left for a small rock ramp that you can climb up, this is marked with an Eagle Cave Painting.

Once on there, look up, and slightly back toward the camp and you will find a grappling point.

Hold (R2/RT) to pull yourself up and prevent from touching the water. Now you will need to swing yourself back and forth (Left Stick) and throw yourself over the small wall that was blocking your progress.



Once in the water on the other side you will swim through a small tunnel. Quickly swim left to the small ramp! Three Bitefish and one Crocodile inhabit this water making it a very dangerous place to spend more than a few moments. Since you are already out of the water, you will not need to kill these creatures unless you want their resources. Follow the ramp up to the small bridge, do not cross it and stay along the wall.

This will eventually lead you into the water. Continue swimming through the water, staying under to avoid any Udam in the camp noticing you. Be sure to use Hunter Vision as a Crocodile is waiting near your exit.

If he is in the way you may need to retreat back to where you came and use a spear or bow to take him out.

If you've stayed along the wall this whole time, you go up a small ramp that leads to the left side of the waterfall, from there all you have to do is swim straight through a small body of water and you are free from the cave.

Caves

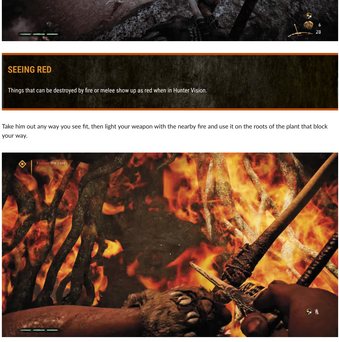
Cave of Weeping Roots

DIFFICULTY: Medium

REWARD: 780 XP

This cave contains the highest amount of Udam, however, it has many routes that lead you past them without conflict.

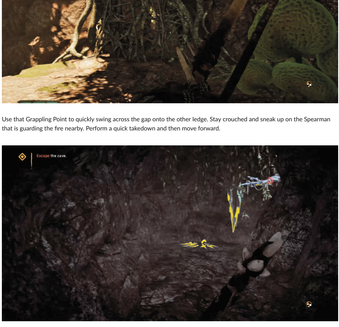
First enter the cave by sliding down the entrance. Once inside, follow the path down to a small drop off where you find an Udam Spearman looking over the Leopard he just killed.



SEEING RED

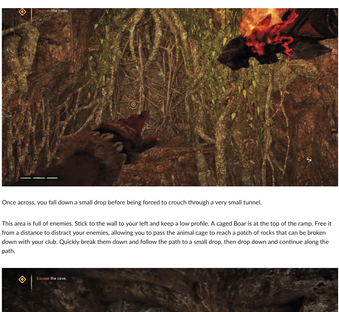
Things that can be destroyed by fire or melee show up as red when in Hunter Vision.

Take him out any way you see fit, then light your weapon with the nearby fire and use it on the roots of the plant that block your way.

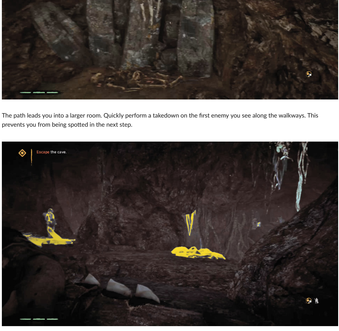


Once through the passage you cleared, look right just before the sun hits the ground in the new area you enter. Use fire to again destroy that root, allowing you to bypass all of the enemies in this room.

Follow the small tunnel to its end and you find yourself at a cliff. Straight in front of you on the right wall there is a Grappling Point.



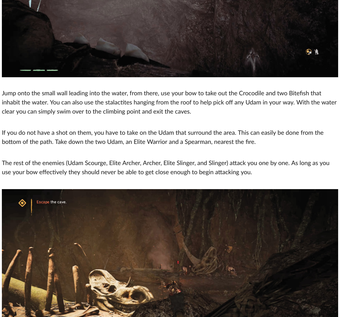
Use that Grappling Point to quickly swing across the gap onto the other ledge. Stay crouched and sneak up on the Spearman that is guarding the fire nearby. Perform a quick takedown and then move forward.



COLLECTING ROCK

A piece of Northern Black Rock is behind the destructible roots next to the small camp.

Another patch of tree roots blocks your advance. Use a lit arrow or spear to destroy it before attempting to use the Grappling Claw to swing across.



Once across, you fall down a small drop before being forced to crouch through a very small tunnel.

This area is full of enemies. Stick to the wall to your left and keep a low profile. A caged Boar is at the top of the ramp. Free it from a distance to distract your enemies, allowing you to pass the animal cage to reach a patch of rocks that can be broken down with your club. Quickly break them down and follow the path to a small drop, then drop down and continue along the path.

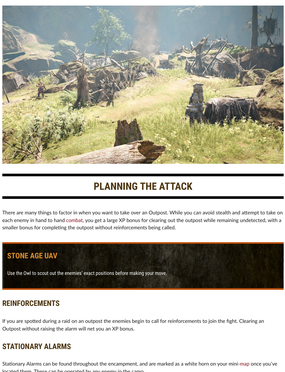
Outposts

About Outposts

Outposts are hostile camps controlled by enemy tribes. Claim them all to make Oros safer for the Werija. Claimed outposts can be used as Fast Travel points in the Map menu and also act as an access point for your Reward Stash.

Outposts are heavily fortified with enemies which would be impossible for Takkar to take on all at once. This means you need to plan your attack and plot your moves to prevent yourself from being overrun by enemies.



PLANNING THE ATTACK

There are many things to factor in when you want to take over an Outpost. While you can avoid stealth and attempt to take on each enemy in hand to hand combat, you get a large XP bonus for clearing out the outpost while remaining undetected, with a smaller bonus for completing the outpost without reinforcements being called.

STONE AGE UAV

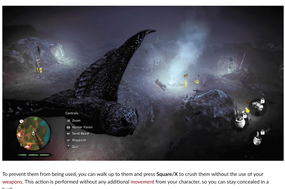
Use the Owl to scout out the enemies' exact positions before making your move.

REINFORCEMENTS

If you are spotted during a raid on an outpost the enemies begin to call for reinforcements to join the fight. Clearing an Outpost without raising the alarm will net you an XP bonus.

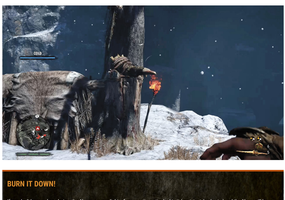
STATIONARY ALARMS

Stationary Alarms can be found throughout the encampment, and are marked as a white horn on your mini-map once you've located them. These can be operated by any enemy in the camp.



To prevent them from being used, you can walk up to them and press Square/X to crush them without the use of your weapons. This action is performed without any additional movement from your character, so you can stay concealed in a bush.

You can also destroy the Alarm by hitting it with any weapon including a ranged weapon, like your bow or a thrown rock.

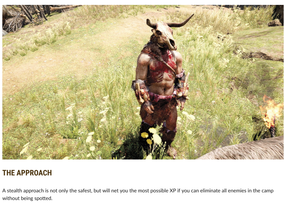


BURN IT DOWN!

If you don't have a clear shot on the Alarm, you can light a fire on an item attached to it (post, tent, bush, etc.) and the Alarm will be destroyed once the fire reaches it.

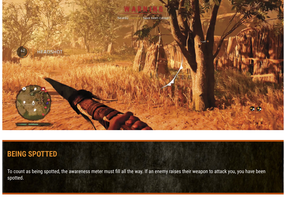
ELITE SLINGERS

Elite Slingers carry a Horn on them at all times. When they have discovered you, they reach for their horn. You can stop them from calling for reinforcements by attacking them. If you are at a distance, quickly throw your weapon or a rock to stun them, then quickly kill them. Elite Slingers wear masks so it takes two headshots with a Bow to take them out. A thrown spear to the chest is the best way to put down an Elite Slinger from a distance.



THE APPROACH

A stealth approach is not only the safest, but will net you the most possible XP if you can eliminate all enemies in the camp without being spotted.



BEING SPOTTED

To count as being spotted, the awareness meter must fill all the way. If an enemy raises their weapon to attack you, you have been spotted.

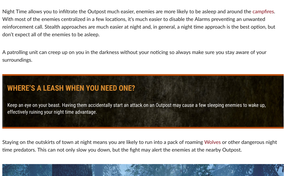
If you fail a stealth approach, you can remove yourself from combat and Fast Travel to another location, then return to try again without forfeiting your XP bonus.

In general, it's a safe bet to eliminate any type of Alarm before taking out other enemies, this takes a lot of pressure off you, while you eliminate all enemies in the base.

Always scout out possible hiding spots as well as a good exfiltration route on the off chance that you get surrounded and progressing forward is too hard. Some enemies patrol around the camp; use your Owl to observe their routes. Depending on the time of day, some enemies leave their patrol routes in favor of a spot near the fire, or a bed in their tents.

TIME OF DAY

While the amount of units in an Outpost does not change at any time of day, their positions, however, do change. If you'd prefer to wait for a specific time of day to begin your attack, find the closest camp site, light the fire, and sleep until the time you choose to attack.



DAY TIME

Attacking an outpost during the day allows you to plan your attack much easier due to the lack of predators and the visibility of the enemies. The enemies are also a spaced out farther from each other so singling them out for attack is a little easier. However, you are much easier to spot, enemies will be on patrol routes, and gaining access to the alarms to Destroy them is much harder.

NIGHT TIME

Night Time allows you to infiltrate the Outpost much easier, enemies are more likely to be asleep and around the campfires. With most of the enemies centralized in a few locations, it's much easier to disable the Alarms preventing an unwanted reinforcement call. Stealth approaches are much easier at night and, in general, a night time approach is the best option, but don't expect all of the enemies to be asleep.

A patrolling unit can creep up on you in the darkness without your noticing so always make sure you stay aware of your surroundings.

WHERE'S A LEASH WHEN YOU NEED ONE?

Keep an eye on your beast. Having them accidentally start an attack on an Outpost may cause a few sleeping enemies to wake up, effectively ruining your night time advantage.

Staying on the outskirts of town at night means you are likely to run into a pack of roaming Wolves or other dangerous night time predators. This can not only slow you down, but the fight may alert the enemies at the nearby Outpost.

Locating enemies at night time is hard due to the lack of light, make sure you use Hunter Vision and your Owl to plot your way into the base and locate all of the enemies.

Check out the specific walkthroughs for each outpost below to get full enemy counts and stealth walkthroughs.

- STATIONARY ALARMS: 0
- ENEMIES: 2 Archers, 2 Slingers, 1 Warrior, 1 Villagers
- WAVE REINFORCEMENT: None

This outpost has no reinforcements due to its lack of a Stationary Alarm or Elite Slinger. Take the high road in from the north, and line yourself up to take a shot at the animal cage, freeing the Wolf inside.

Follow the path around toward the waterfall and take up a position at the base of the large mossy log and begin raining down arrows on your enemies.

Prioritize any enemies attacking the Wolf, this allows you to remain in your position while the Wolf does all of the footwork chasing down enemies and finishing them off.

If the Wolf dies, take the quick way down and jump into the water below, before emerging to finish off the remaining enemies. Make sure to remain hidden to secure the 1000 XP undetected bonus in this easy Outpost.

Swara's Outpost

- DIFFICULTY: Easy
- TRIBE: Udam
- AWARDS: 500 XP, Population, Village Resources
- SPECIAL: 1000 XP for Stealth, Fast Travel, Stash
- STATIONARY ALARMS: 3
- ENEMIES: 2 Archers, 1 Spearman, 1 Warrior, 2 Villagers
- WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 2 Warriors, 2 Spearmen

Reinforcements can easily be stopped by eliminating the Stationary Alarms before entering the base as there is no Elite Slinger to call for reinforcements.

Start out north of the base. The entrance that leads northeast out of the base will allow an easy shot on two of the three stationary alarms. Take them out with your arrow, and kill the Warrior nearby, then move clockwise around the outside of the base. The next entrance you come across will give an easy shot on the third alarm.

XP BONUS

Destroying all three alarms grants you a small XP bonus even if you end up getting spotted.

Pick off the closest Archer then cross the road taking out the Spearman hiding in the tents. The last Archer is on the west side of the camp. He may come running down to you when you begin killing his allies on the east side of the camp. If he doesn't, move up the road with your bow drawn and be ready to eliminate him or send your beast out to do the dirty work for you. Sending your beast prevents you from being spotted.

- STATIONARY ALARM: 1
- ENEMIES: 2 Archers, 2 Spearmen, 2 Elite Slingers, 2 Villagers, 1 Elite Archer
- WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 3 Archers, 3 Spearmen

Enter from the water to the southeast of the outpost, quickly killing the Archer that patrols the south side of the camp. With the Archer down, look east into the camp toward the Stationary Alarm and use a spear to take down the Elite Archer with shot to the head. Then quickly use a rock or shot from your bow to destroy the Stationary Alarm.

An Elite Slinger patrols up to the location of the Stationary Alarm, wait for him to get close, then quickly kill him with a spear as well.

Continue around the outskirts of the camp, picking off the Archers and Spearmen around the camp with takedowns or a few well-placed arrows.

The second Elite Slinger stays near the middle of the camp, mostly circling the campfire unless something else has caught his attention. This makes him less of a priority since you are more likely to get noticed sneaking in to kill him than you are killing everybody around him first.

Killing the Elite Slinger will most likely draw the attention of any enemies you may have missed, so it's best to make sure you're in a concealed location and have disabled the alarm to avoid losing your stealth bonus.

STATIONARY HORNS: 1

ENEMIES: 3 Warriors, 2 Archers, 2 Villagers, 2 Elite Slingers

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 3 Archers, 2 Spearmen, 1 Warrior

Enter the Camp from the north, sticking to the high ground. You encounter two Warriors on the outskirts of the base, these are easy targets for takedowns or arrows since they are so far away from the rest of their allies.

With them dead, use your higher elevation to land a shot on the Stationary Alarm, disabling it. Then enter the camp from the east side, killing the single Warrior that guards that entrance.

Slowly move into the camp, heading toward the disabled Stationary Alarm. Two Archers will be in between you and the Elite Slingers. They are far enough from each other and the Elite Slingers to prevent raising the alarm from killing either of them.

This part is a little tricky as the two Elite Slingers like to stay together in the Outpost. Ready a spear and then call in your beast on one of the Elite Slingers and throw your spear for a headshot on the remaining one to clear the outpost.

Snow Shwalda Outpost

DIFFICULTY: Medium

STATIONARY HORNS: 1

ENEMIES: 3 Archers, 2 Scourge, 2 Villagers, 1 Spearman, 1 Warrior, 1 Caged Wolf

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 4 Spearmen, 2 Archers

Enter from the south, leading through a small cavern. Just before you get to the Outpost climb up the vines on the rocks to the right, then follow the path north up into the back side of the Outpost. On your way north, take a look into the camp and shoot the Stationary Alarm with your bow.

Climb down the large vines in the north side of the camp, being careful to not attract the attention of the Scourge or Elite Slinger near the campfire. Call in your beast and have them take out the Elite Slinger while you kill the Scourge. Now that you've eliminated all the alarms, you have guaranteed a "No Alarms" bonus. Remain undetected to get the full bonus.

Move west into the camp, killing the Warrior and Archer. Hold your position once you begin firing, keeping yourself concealed from the two Spearmen that will likely come looking for you. Kill the Spearmen then retreat back up the vines that you took down into the camp.

Once you're back at the south entrance, kill off the Archer if he is still guarding the entrance, and move in to kill the Spearmen if they weren't drawn out by the death of the other Udam. If you remained concealed, you'll have a hefty 1250 XP bonus waiting for you upon completion!

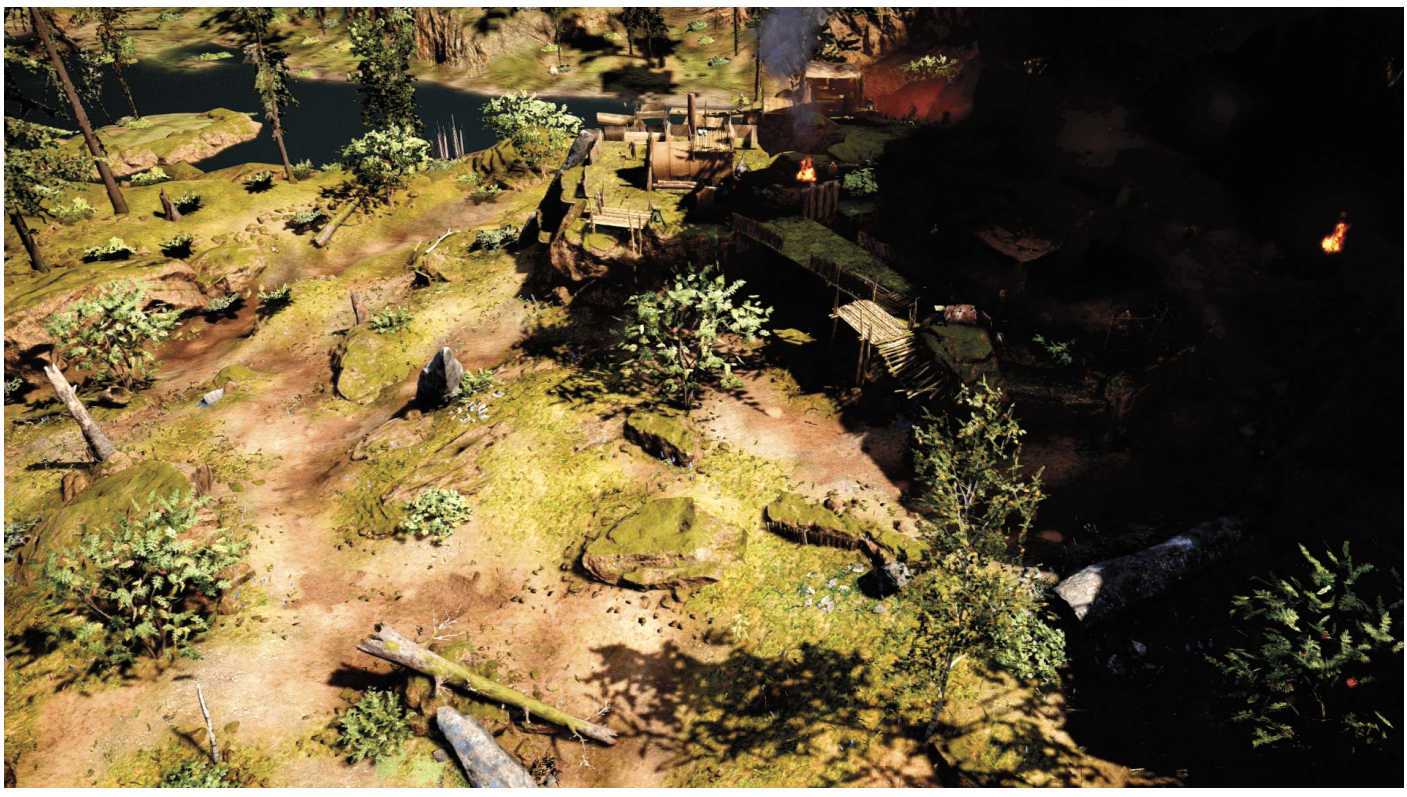
Fallen Tashla Outpost



DIFFICULTY: Hard

TRIBE: Izila

AWARDS: 500 XP, Population, Village Resources

SPECIAL: 1500 XP for Stealth, Fast Travel, Stash

STATIONARY ALARMS: 2

ENEMIES: 3 Spearmen, 3 Villagers, 2 Warriors, 2 Elite Slingers, 1 Elite Chieftain, 1 Elite Warrior

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 2 Elite Spearmen, 2 Warriors, 1 Elite Slinger

This Outpost has multiple stealth entries due to its multi-leveled layout. The bottom level is uninhabited by enemies, unless something grabs their attention, allowing you the move stealthily through the outpost.

UNDERWATER CAVE

A waterfall to the north conceals an underwater cave that allows for a stealth water entry. It is complicated by the darkness of the underwater caves that you need to navigate in order to get there, but as long as you pick the right option at every fork, you navigate to the Grappling Point in time without drowning. This point brings you to the backside of an Elite Chieftain allowing for a quick takedown if you have learned the Heavy Takedown skill.

Start on the north side of the camp. This path is patrolled by a Spearman so hang out in the bushes along the path until they come in close enough for a takedown.

With the Spearman down, move up the path and use your bow to take out the Stationary Alarms. The Stationary Alarm in the cave has a Warrior nearby; take them out with another shot from your bow. Eliminate the Stationary Alarm to the west by lighting the attached hut on fire. This not only disables the alarm, but the fire forces enemies out of the area, allowing you to pick them off one by one. After you've killed the remaining Spearmen and Warriors that fled the fire, take out the Elite Slinger on the north side of the camp with your beast. Stay away from the cave while you move south to eliminate the remaining Elite Slinger.

Once you've taken down the last Elite Slinger make sure your beast is healed and head toward the cave to face an Elite Warrior and Elite Chieftain. Try to separate them by throwing rocks, dividing their attention to two locations. Depending on your success of separating them, you may be able to sneak up to the Elite Warrior and perform a takedown. If sneaking up is not possible, call in your beast to take out the Elite Warrior for you.

Use rocks to keep the Elite Chieftain out of the fight while your beast takes out the Elite Warrior. Once the battle is over, switch from rocks to Spears and help your beast take down the Elite Chieftain and claim the Outpost for the Wenja.

Find the south entrance to the cave and be ready to encounter an Elite Chieftain. Sneaking up behind him and using your Heavy Takedown skill is the easiest way to kill him and gain entry, but if you do not have that skill, lure him out and use your Two Handed Club, only performing heavy hits. Attacking with heavy hits keeps the Elite Chieftain off balance and prevents him from attacking or calling his allies.

With the Elite Chieftain dead, use your bow and arrow to pick off the Stationary Alarm and the two Spearmen nearby.

Carefully continue through the cave and perform a takedown on the Elite Scourge before using your bow to disable the second Stationary Alarm.

Sneak to the north side of the cave, leaving the two Villagers and Spearman alone while you work your way around into position to perform takedowns on each of the Elite Slingers that resides on the upper level. As you take down the second Elite Slinger you'll be in position just in front of an Elite Scourge and Elite Chieftain. Using your beast here likely results in them being knocked down and killed.

Throw some rocks to attract the attention of the Elite Chieftain and Elite Slinger, separating them enough for you to perform a quick takedown. Sneak around to the Elite Chieftain and perform a takedown if possible, if you are unable to do this, use your spears to weaken the Elite Chieftain then finish him off with some arrows.

At this point you only have a Spearman to deal with, that you've left behind down by the Villagers. Follow the path back out toward the entrance you took to get into the cave. Turn back toward the Villagers for an easy shot on the Spearman. Once he is down the cave is clear, no need to kill the Villagers.

Ring Wall Outpost

TRIBE: Udam

AWARDS: 500 XP, Population, Village Resources

STATIONARY ALARMS: 2

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 2 Warriors , 1 Archer, 1 Elite Slinger, 1 Elite Scourge

Search for the south entrance to the caverns, move past the first grappling point you see and follow the path into the cavern. After a short walk you find a lower grappling point which, when used, allows you to pull yourself into range of another higher grappling point.

This point effectively pulls you up into the back side of the Outpost.

Your first enemy will be an Elite Archer, wait for him to look away from the last ledge then quickly perform a takedown and line yourself up to shoot out the two Stationary Alarms with your bow. Remember, you can destroy them by lighting an attached object on fire. This approach is a little higher profile and will cause enemies to change positions.

Wait for the Elite Slinger to move into one of the tents containing a female Villager. He will be “distracted” there for a while. With the Elite Slinger distracted, move to the north side of the camp and take down the two Spearmen and then move into position to perform a Heavy Takedown on the Elite Chieftain.

LOCATION, LOCATION, LOCATION

Make sure you perform the takedown on the Elite Chieftain in a concealed place, or the body may be discovered by a patrolling Warrior.

Work clockwise around the camp and use your arrows to take down the two Warriors that patrol the outside of the camp. Another Elite Chieftain is at the south side of the camp. Stay crouched and throw rocks to distract him, allowing you to easily sneak up for the takedown.

All that’s left now is the enemy Elite Slinger who has been “distracted” by the female Villager inside of one of the tents in the Outpost. Stay crouched and sneak in for an easy takedown to finish clearing the Ring Wall Outpost for the Wenja.

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 2 Warriors, 2 Slingers, 3 Archers

Grappling points to the east of the Outpost allow for easy access into the area. Once at the top of the Grappling Point, you are in great position to handle both of the Stationary Alarms; quickly take them out with your bow.

Your next objective is to take out both of the Elite Slingers which are located near the two now broken Alarms. This is complicated by three Archers who patrol a circle around the Outpost, so be sure to look around before performing a takedown on either Elite Slinger. Eliminate the Archers with a headshot from your bow if they are within range.

Once you've eliminated both Elite Slingers finish off the any of the patrolling Archers and move into the outpost to kill the remaining Scourge and Spearmen. The Scourge and Spearmen are spread far enough to not be aware of their allies being eliminated with stealth, so choose a direction, then work around in a circle killing them off one by one. You can use your beast to cut the time in half, sending him to attack the next enemy while you sneak up on yours.

Once all of the enemies are eliminated, the outpost is yours.

Enter from the northern-most entrance into the cave.

Once inside you are greeted by a Scourge that you can quickly kill with a headshot from your bow. Push a little further into the cave, looking for the Archer in the south part of the cave, near the water.

Take the Archer out with your bow, then turn right and look into the northern part of the cave. Use another shot from your bow to release the caged animal, which will most likely run straight for the Elite Slinger. While the Udam are fighting off the animal, take out the first alarm near the water, then move across the water heading to the west side of the cave. Take out the Scourge that is guarding the entrance on that side, then climb up and head into the northern part of the cave. If you've done this quickly enough, they may still be fighting the animal, making it very easy to line up a shot on the Stationary Alarm.

After the alarm is down, you face a Slinger and a Archer. Remain hidden behind the rocks, and take them out without getting noticed to secure the maximum reward for this outpost.

SPEED RUN

If you're looking to speed run this Outpost without getting the stealth bonus, and have the ability to ride a Mammoth, grab a Mammoth from nearby and charge it straight into the caves! Charging circles around the cave kills all of the enemies and any reinforcements that come in an extremely short time.

STATIONARY ALARM: 2

ENEMIES: 2 Spearmen, 2 Elite Slingers, 1 Scourge, 2 Chieftains, 1 Archer, 1 Elite Scourge, 3 Villagers, 1 Caged Bear

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 2 Spearmen, 2 Scourges, 2 Chieftain, 2 Archers

First take out the stationary alarms. The two in the north side of the camp can be shot with a bow from the west entrance; the remaining one can easily be shot from the south entrance.

Have your spears equipped and head into the outpost from the southwest corner. Call in your beast on one of the Elite Slingers while you take the other one down with your spears.

Use your bow to take out the Scourge nearby, then wait for any other enemies to come your way, making sure to recall your beast after it kills the Elite Slinger so that it doesn't move east into the camp and attack the Elite Chieftain before you've eliminated the other enemies.

Retreat back out of the camp and then infiltrate the camp again from the west side. The enemies should have moved to the south. The first enemy you encounter is the Elite Scourge that may still be on his small tower to the left of the west entrance. Take him down with a spear or a couple of arrows before moving into the camp and picking off any remaining Spearmen and the Archer, if they did not get pulled into the initial fight with the Elite Slingers.

Once you've isolated the Elite Chieftain in the east side of the camp, free the caged Brown Bear when the Elite Chieftain is nearby. Throw some rocks to get the Elite Chieftain in a good position between you and the Bear. If you don't have him close enough to the freed Bear, you may end up facing the Elite Chieftain and the Brown Bear at the same time.

Stun the Elite Chieftain with rocks from a distance and let the bear deal damage to him. This prevents you from being spotted and gives you an easy victory over this outpost.

- STATIONARY ALARM: 3
- ENEMIES: 3 Warriors, 4 Elite Slingers, 1 Elite Archer, 1 Archer, 1 Spearman, 1 Elite Chieftain
- WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 2 Archers, 2 Warriors

At first glance, this outpost looks incredibly challenging with seven potential opportunities for reinforcements to be called. Don't let the reinforcements scare you as they are relatively weak compared to the other Very Hard rated outposts.

First things first, keep your distance, and move your way around the perimeter of the camp. Use your bow to take out the three Stationary Alarms through the openings. With those alarms down, now focus on releasing the four caged animals using the same method.

STAY DOWN

Be sure to stay crouched as you move around the camp. Sprinting or standing makes you stand out to the four Elite Slingers watching over the outpost.

Once you've freed the animals, move in from the west side of the base. With your spears equipped, begin to slowly move into the camp looking for the four Elite Slingers if the animals haven't already killed them. Use your spears to quickly kill off the Elite Slingers, be sure to stay concealed as you move through the camp as a few enemies may have stayed away from the animals.

Slowly work your way in a circle, staying inside the camp, and use your beast to pick off enemies without revealing yourself. If you aren't sure of the enemy's location, discretely retreat from the camp and call in your Owl to get a bird's eye view of the area. With that knowledge you can choose a new entry point to give you the upper hand on any remaining enemies.

More likely than not, the only remaining enemy after the caged animals are released is the Elite Chieftain. The easiest way to take him down is using the Upgraded Takedown ability from your Owl while you search the camp for enemies.

Once you've killed all of the enemies, the camp is yours!

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 3 Archers, 2 Spearman, 2 Slingers, 1 Chieftain

Both Elite Slingers are located near each other in the northwest corner of the camp. Stay hidden in the trees and tall brush as you approach the camp from the north.

Use some rocks to attract the attention of the Slinger nearest to the large tent closer to you, then perform a takedown on them out of view of the other enemies.

With one Elite Slinger down, use your bow to take out the three Stationary Alarms; all of them are easily seen from the east side of the large tent. Shoot them from inside the tent, preventing you from accidentally being spotted by the other hostiles in the camp

Quickly kill the Elite Slinger with a spear or two quick headshots from your bow. Order your beast to take down the Elite Warriors, helping it finish them off once you've killed the Elite Slinger.

Move around the north side of the camp, working your way clockwise around the perimeter, and use your bow to pick off the Warriors and Spearmen.

As you reach the East side of the camp, you face the Elite Chieftain. Use the different huts and tall grass to stay hidden, launching your assault from a distance. Alternatively, you can use the Heavy Takedown skill to make short work of this foe.

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 3 Warriors, 1 Slinger, 1 Archer, 1 Scourge

Enter from the high ground looking out into the camp from the south. There are multiple grappling points in the area, allowing you to change your elevation, giving you clear shots on all of the Stationary Alarms.

Once you've taken out all of the alarms, you have two choices. You can either attempt to take down the Elite Slinger from above with a Spear, which allows you to take them down with a Head Shot, or move away and back down the rocks and enter from the East, putting you right next to a Scourge and the Elite Slinger.

Once you've eliminated the Elite Slinger quickly kill the Scourge and then hide behind the tent nearby and take out the approaching Warrior and the Scourge to the west.

Continue up the path toward the Elite Chieftain, killing the nearby Slinger, before making a move toward the Elite Chieftain. If you have the Heavy Takedown skill, sneak up behind the Elite Chieftain and perform a takedown. If not, leave the Elite Chieftain alive until you've cleared out more enemies, so you don't get overrun.

Retreat back down toward the area where you killed the Elite Slinger. From there look east and use your bow to take down the Spearman and Warrior near the caged Cave Lion.

Release the Cave Lion with a ranged shot, this draws the attention of the Elite Chieftain and Elite Spearman on the east side of the camp. Quickly kill the Elite Spearman then throw rocks at the Elite Chieftain to keep him stunned while the Cave Lion Finishes him off. Keep your distance on the off chance that the Cave Lion is not able to kill the Elite Chieftain.

If you weren't able to takedown the initial Elite Chieftain, work your way to his side of the campsite for your final showdown before clearing the outpost.

Sneak into the Outpost from the high ground to the west of it. Once you're in a nearby concealed position, call in your Owl to locate the enemies. Two Elite Slingers should be close by to the north; they will be your first targets.

Stay on the upper path and work your way past the Archer to the furthest Elite Slinger. If the Elite Slinger begins to walk back toward the camp, let them go, and stay hidden until they pass. Once they have moved back into the camp, sneak down to the Elite Slinger on the upper level and perform a quick takedown. Use your bow to quickly kill the Archer to the north before moving back into the camp and taking down the second Elite Slinger that is now facing west in the south side of the camp.

With two Elite Slingers down, move back to the high ground on the West side and use your bow to take out the two Stationary Alarms in the middle of the camp.

This attracts the attention of the Elite Slinger and Archer that are near the fire in the center of the camp. As you move up, throw some rocks over their heads to distract them from your movement. Perform a takedown on the Archer, and then quickly take down the Elite Slinger.

At this point there is no way for reinforcements to be called. Retreat back to your insertion point and then work your way around the camp in a circle. Take out the remaining enemies one by one, using rocks to separate them if they come together.

TAR PITS

Be sure to stay out of the bubbling pits to the south; they begin inflicting damage on you the moment you set foot in them.

Bonfires

About Bonfires

Successfully lighting a bonfire and clearing out all of the enemies awards Takkar with a varying amount of XP and Population (depending on difficulty), a Fast Travel point, a Spawn Point, and access to his Stash.

The level of difficulty does not change in respect to the player's current level or progress in the story. For example, a highly leveled and well-equipped player can easily accomplish a Hard rated bonfire, while a newer player with a less diverse skill set may struggle.

SECURING THE BONFIRE CAMP

Scout the area out with your Owl making sure to locate the Elite Slingers first. These are the priority target as taking them out prevents reinforcements from being called.

YOUR CHOICE

Stealth is optional when clearing out Bonfires as there is no XP bonus for completing them with no alarms or undetected.

If you have learned Owl Attack II from the Beast Master Skill Tree, you can take down the Elite Slingers without even entering the camp!

You don't need to kill caged animals and enemy Villagers to complete the bonfire.

Bonfires have fewer enemies guarding them in comparison to Outposts, making night or day raids fairly easy.

LIGHTING THE FIRE

You can light the fire at any point during your attack, but doing so attracts the attention of the enemies. This is the easiest objective of the raid, and in general should be accomplished once all enemies are eliminated.

Light the tall pillar of wood by carrying fire with any of your melee weapons over to the wood. Hold (R2/RT) to hold your weapon out and light the Bonfire. You can also light one of your arrows on fire with Animal Fat or one of the local fire sources (lit torch or campfire) and shoot the lit arrow into the stack of wood. Using an arrow prevents you from causing damage to your melee weapons.

The Stone Watch Bonfire is the only bonfire that does not have a Slinger to call for backup. This means that even if you get noticed by the enemies, they cannot call for reinforcements.

The enemies are grouped up, surrounding the Bonfire. Sometimes one of the Spearmen moves west to a smaller campfire.

Throw a rock to pull them away from each other. Once they've separated, use your bow to take them down while remaining hidden behind the tents and larger bushes.

Optionally, you can light the fire by using a lit arrow; this causes confusion in the group and they begin searching the nearby area. Let them separate, then pick the Udam off one by one.

Gaining line of sight on the Elite Slinger is a bit hard at first, so throw a rock to pull them away from cover opening them up for a ranged attack, or call your beast in to do the dirty work for you.

The next move is up to you, attacking the Elite Slinger draws the attention of the Elite Spearman and Elite Scourge. Taking out the Elite Scourge is a better option at first, this prevents you from getting poisoned, however it does expose you to devastating spears being thrown by the Elite Spearman. The Stone Galu Bonfire has three routes leading into it, a grapple point on the north and south end, as well as a land route heading up from the west.

Use your Owl to scout the enemy locations before using the southern grappling point. Pull yourself up and you are in a nice position behind the bonfire, concealed by a rock. Use your bow to take out the first enemy to the east, making sure to keep yourself hidden from the Elite Slinger located on the high ground to the right.

Stay along the edge of the cliff, without entering the huts, moving to the right until you find a small spot to climb up. Once you've pulled yourself back up, stay crouched and move yourself into a good position to take out the Elite Slinger. With the Elite Slinger down you are free to take out the remaining Spearman however you see fit, without worrying about potential reinforcements.

Bonfires

Yagi Arrow Bonfire

DIFFICULTY: Medium

TRIBE: Udam

AWARDS: 600 XP, 3 Villagers

SPECIAL: Fast Travel, Spawn Point, Stash

ENEMIES: 1 Elite Slinger, 1 Spearman, 1 Archer

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 1 Warrior, 1 Archer

The Yagi Arrow bonfire is the easiest of all the Medium rated Bonfires due to its low enemy count and number of Elites.

Climb up the long vines to the south of the Bonfire. This puts you right next to the Elite Slinger. Quickly crouch to remain hidden in the bushes. Depending on the position of the Elite Slinger you may be able to start a takedown from the bushes.

With the Elite Slinger down, the only enemies left are an Archer and a Spearman. Use your bow to dispatch them quickly, taking the Spearman down, then looking towards the campfire to take out the unsuspecting Archer. With all the enemies down, you should still be right next to the bonfire, light it and claim this spawn point for the Wenja.

Burning Spear Bonfire

DIFFICULTY: Hard

TRIBE: Izila

AWARDS: 900 XP, 3 Villagers

SPECIAL: Fast Travel, Spawn Point, Stash

ENEMIES: 1 Archer Elite, 1 Spearman Elite, 1 Warrior Elite, 1 Elite Slinger

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 1 Spearman Elite, 1 Warrior Elite, 1 Archer Elite

Enter the camp using the Path that leads in from the north. Once you've closed the distance, stay hidden in the bushes to the north side of the camp while moving towards the bonfire.

An Elite Archer may be on top of a small shelter acting as a lookout. Use a rock to distract him, allowing you to sneak by without being detected.

Depending on the Elite Slinger's location, you may be able to lure him into the bush for a takedown. If the Elite Slinger has started to head down the southern path, use your beast to take him out, disabling their ability to call for reinforcements.

While your beast is attacking the Elite Slinger take out the Elite Archer in the camp.

The remaining Elite Spearman and Elite Warrior are down the southern path, patrolling the area. Focus on taking out the Elite Warrior from range with your bow or spears, and send your beast to attack the Elite Spearman to prevent yourself from fighting two enemies at once.

Once that fight is complete the camp is clear for your taking.

High Cliff Bonfire

DIFFICULTY: Hard

TRIBE: Izila

AWARDS: 900 XP, 3 Villagers

SPECIAL: Fast Travel, Spawn Point, Stash

ENEMIES: 2 Spearman, 1 Elite Chieftain, 1 Elite Slinger

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: None

Climb the vines leading up to the platform on the east side of the camp. This puts you directly underneath the Elite Slinger. Once there, use a rock to distract the Elite Slinger off of the platform, bringing him close enough for a takedown.

If you didn't alert any enemies, maintain your cover and use your bow to take down the two Spearman allowing you to then focus on a one-on-one fight with the Elite Chieftain. There is plenty of high ground available in this area, so using ranged weapons is a great option.

Be careful if you run to the west of the bonfire as there is a small camp that is sometimes inhabited by more Izila tribe members. Once all the enemies are down, light the fire.

Bonfires

Hold Rock Bonfire

DIFFICULTY: Hard

TRIBE: Izila

AWARDS: 900 XP, 3 Villagers

SPECIAL: Fast Travel, Spawn Point, Stash

ENEMIES: 2 Elite Archers, 2 Elite Spearman, 1 Elite Slinger, 1 Caged Animal

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 1 Elite Spearman, 1 Scourge, 2 Archers

The enemies in this bonfire stay spread out across the camp. If you are patient and remain concealed, you can use a takedown on each enemy.

Take the vines on the south side of the bonfire. They are located on the east side of the path that takes you directly into the bonfire. From there, sneak up on the Elite Slinger and perform a takedown. An Elite Spearman is your next target, located next to a small campfire on the left. Stay in the bushes and take them down.

Work your way around to the north side of the Bonfire area, staying in the bushes, then perform a takedown on the next Elite Spearman. The two Elite Archers tend to patrol the path within the camp, leading down towards the caged animal.

Use your bow to free the caged animal while one of the Elite Archers is nearby. With the now-free Wolf attacking one of the Elite Archers, sneak up on the other and perform a takedown.

Be ready for the Wolf to come attack you as it most likely is still alive. The Wolf should be weakened from its encounter with the enemy, making this an easy kill with a few well-placed arrows, or a strike from your spear.

With all the enemies down, the Hold Rock Bonfire is yours.

- SPECIAL: Fast Travel, Spawn Point, Stash
- ENEMIES: 1 Spearman Elite, 1 Archer Elite, 2 Chieftain Elite, 1 Elite Slinger, 1 Caged Animal
- WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 1 Warrior Elite, 2 Archer Elite, 1 Chieftain Elite

A grappling point to the south of the Bonfire helps you get up to the path if you aren't already at the correct elevation. From there, stay to the left of the path leading into the bonfire, heading for the high ground of the rock that protrudes into the camp itself.

Killing the Elite Slinger without detection is crucial in this Bonfire, as allowing them to sound the alarm results in more Elite enemies coming your way.

Stay concealed in brush on top of the rock while you wait for an opportune time to strike the Elite Slinger You can either distract other enemies away from the Elite Slinger with some rocks, or, wait until the Elite Slinger crosses in front of the caged Jaguar.

The Jaguar may not attack the Elite Slinger when it is released from the cage, so be ready with a couple of arrows to take them down while the other enemies are distracted.

Having the Heavy Takedown skill is extremely useful in this camp, allowing you to make short work on the two Chieftain Elites. If you have not learned the Heavy Takedown Skill (located in the Fighting Skills tree), try your best to keep the two Elite Chieftains Separate while killing off the Elite Spearman and Elite Archer. If you attracted the attention of both Chieftains at once, run away and come back around behind them.

Once you're behind them, use some rocks to divide their attention, opening them up to be attack separately. You can also use a Sting Bomb to temporarily hold one of the Elite Chieftains at bay while you fight the other.

After you've killed all the enemies, light the bonfire and claim it for the Wenja.

Look for the two grapple points leading up to the large rock that protrudes from the mountain pointing directly north.

These points take you up to the bonfire, practically dropping you on top of the Elite Slinger, allowing you to make quick work of him however you see fit. The Elite Spearman and Elite Chieftain are located nearer to the tents and the bonfire. Stay hidden behind the tents and take out the two Elite Spearman first. If you aren't in a good position, you can head back down the cliff via the grapple and latch on to the west grapple point. Coming up from the west gives you an easy flank on the enemies, especially if you have directed their attention back towards the campsite.

Try to engage the Elite Chieftain while you are hidden away. This allows you to quickly take down his health before he gets close enough to deal damage.

Use the grappling point to the south of the bonfire. Climbing from the grapple point places you right next to the bonfire, lining you up for a clear shot on the caged animal.

Use your bow and arrow to shoot the cage open. Simply shooting the front of the cage breaks the door open, freeing the Cave Lion. As long as there is an enemy nearby, the lion begins to attack them.

Once the Cave Lion starts attacking the Izila, use the confusion to quickly kill the Elite Slinger. The freed Cave Lion should have killed at least one enemy by now, use your Hunter Vision to detect the remaining enemies.

Use arrows from behind the bonfire to kill off the two Spearman and the Elite Chieftain. If you get overrun, run down the path and use the grappling spot to pull yourself back up to the bonfire, then begin your attack again from behind them.

Get yourself in position to use the Grappling point to the west of the camp, near the bonfire. Make sure you have a Beast companion ready, and call in your Owl.

MAMSA SAJA BONFIRE

The Mamsa Saja Bonfire is part of the Into the Udam Land mission, check the Mission walkthrough to complete this Bonfire.

Use your Owl to scout out the enemies, then when you are ready to attack, call in your Beast on the Elite Slinger farthest from the grappling point.

Quickly climb up and perform a takedown on the other Elite Slinger while the enemies all begin to focus on your Beast. Quickly move around, and perform a takedown on the Elite Archer and Elite Spearman before focusing your attention on the Elite Chieftain.

Depending on the outcome, you may want to quickly run over and revive your beast to avoid using Red Leaf.

Use Heavy attacks to keep the Elite Chieftain stunned while finishing him off and claiming the Hisu Sister's Bonfire from the Wenja.

Saja's Hill Bonfire

DIFFICULTY: Very Hard

SPECIAL: Fast Travel, Spawn Point, Stash

ENEMIES: 2 Spearman, 1 Chieftain Elite, 2 Elite Slingers

WAVE REINFORCEMENT: 3 Archers

After scouting out the enemies with your Owl, work your way to the southeast side of the encampment and locate the grappling point. Grapple up, and then climb up the vines to get to the same level of the encampment. From there, you are hidden behind a rock, so there is no immediate danger to you.

Locate the first Elite Slinger to your left, carefully moving within striking distance while avoiding the gaze of the nearby Elite Chieftain.

SIC 'EM!

Use one of your powerful Beast Companions to take down the Elite Slinger without raising alarm, and then call it back to your side before anybody notices.

With one Elite Slinger down, your focus now shifts to sneaking to the other side of the camp to take down the remaining Elite Slinger. Head back toward the grapple you used to come up, still making sure to not attract the attention of the Elite Chieftain or either of the Spearmen. Once you've safely navigated to the other side, use your beast to take down the Elite Slinger. The Spearman may see this attack happen so have your bow and arrow ready to take them out while remaining concealed in the bushes.

If any Spearman are alive at the end of this encounter, quickly eliminate them with takedowns or a few well-placed arrows. With the Spearmen dead, all that's left is killing the Elite Chieftain. There are plenty of cover spots available if you need to heal during the fight. In extreme cases you can climb down the vines you originally climbed and take the path back up to the camp, allowing you to easily flank the Elite Chieftain

When all the enemies are dead, light the bonfire and the encampment is yours!

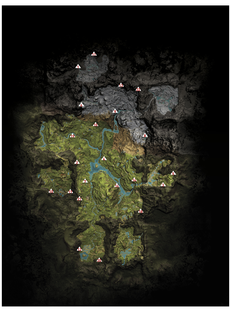
Lost Caves

About Lost Caves



From the icy, mountainous north wastes to the southern marshlands, Oros is an extraordinary, lively world and it begs to be explored. A variety of fauna and flora produces an array of resources, necessary for building a Wenja village and crafting gear. During your travels you discover new locations. Caves, campfires, and unknown locations earn you XP as well as a few perks. Navigate or fight your way through Lost Caves to find two types of collectibles, Dyasha Hands and Cave Paintings. Doing so completes the cave and earns a decent amount of XP. Discovered campfires act as spawn points; die and you respawn at the closest one. Unknown locations earn you bonus points just for walking through a new area.

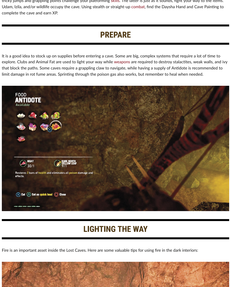
22. Yachaesha Cave

Lost Caves come in two varieties, navigation and combat. The former tends to be more complex, requiring you to find your way through a maze in order to gather the two collectibles. A fire in the first main room signifies the start of your exploration, as Ichta jumps and grappling points challenge your platforming skills. The latter is just as it sounds, fight your way to the items. Ulam, Isha, and/or wildlife occupy the cave. Using stealth or straight-up combat, find the Dyasha Hand and Cave Painting to complete the cave and earn XP.

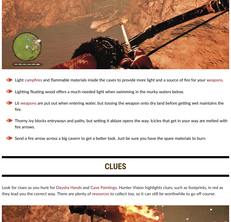
PREPARE

It is a good idea to stock up on supplies before entering a cave. Some are big, complex systems that require a lot of time to explore. Clubs and Animal Fat are used to fight your way while weapons are required to destroy stalactites, weak walls, and ivy that block the paths. Some caves require a grappling claw to navigate, while having a supply of Antidotes is recommended in. Sock damage in not home areas. Sprinting through the poison gas also works, but remember to heal when needed.



LIGHTING THE WAY

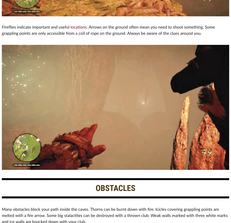
Fire is an important asset inside the Lost Caves. Here are some valuable tips for using fire in the dark interiors:



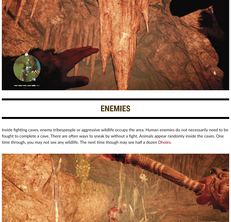
- Light campfires and flammable materials inside the caves to provide more light and a source of fire for your weapons.
- Lighting floating wood offers a much-needed light when swimming in the murky waters below.
- Lit weapons are put out when entering water, but tossing the weapon onto dry land before getting wet maintains the fire.
- Thorny ivy blocks entryways and paths, but setting it ablaze opens the way. Icicles that get in your way are melted with fire arrows.
- Send a fire arrow across a big cavern to get a better look. Just be sure you have the spare materials to burn.

CLUES

Look for clues as you hunt for Dyasha Hands and Cave Paintings. Hunter Vision highlights clues, such as footprints, in red as they lead you the correct way. There are plenty of resources to collect too, so it can still be worthwhile to go off course.



Fireflies indicate important and useful locations. Arrows on the ground often mean you need to shoot something. Some grappling points are only accessible from a roll of rope on the ground. Always be aware of the clues around you.



OBSTACLES

Many obstacles block your path inside the caves. Thorns can be burnt down with fire. Icicles covering grappling points are melted with a fire arrow. Some big stalactites can be destroyed with a thrown club. Weak walls marked with three white marks and ice walls are knocked down with your club.

ENEMIES

Inside fighting caves, enemy tribespeople or aggressive wildlife occupy the area. Human enemies do not necessarily need to be fought to complete a cave. There are often ways to sneak by without a fight. Animals appear randomly inside the caves. One time through, you may not see any wildlife. The next time though may see half a dozen Orcelets.

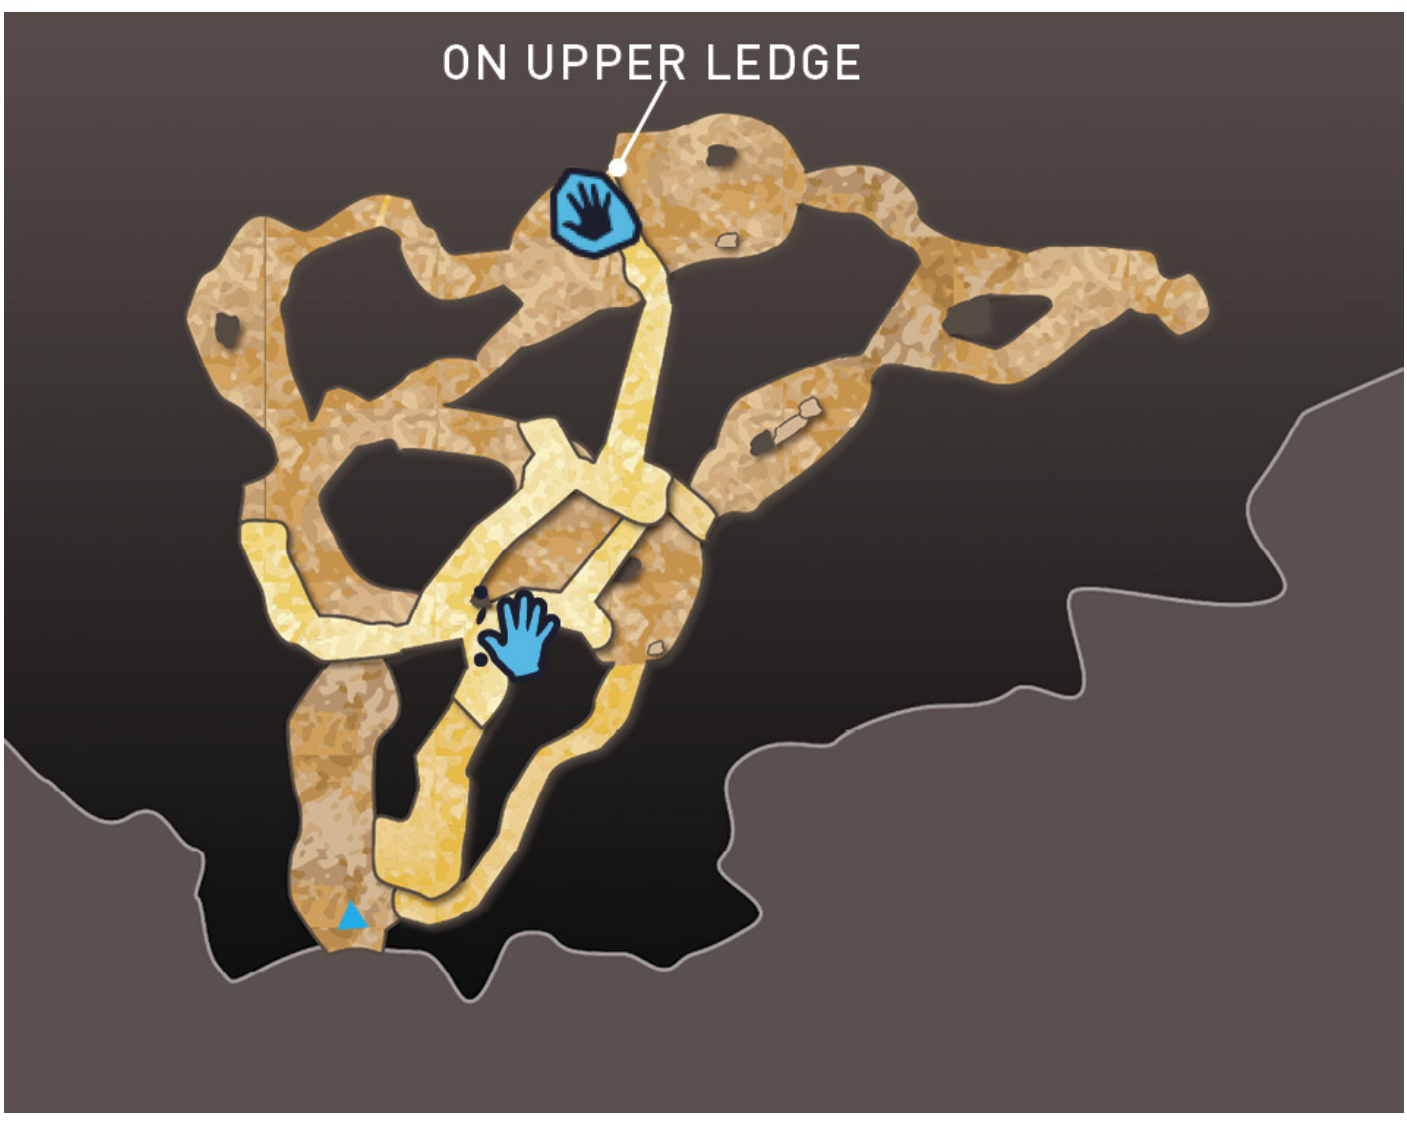
Lost Caves

Cave of Bones



TYPE: Combat

ENEMIES: Udam Warriors, Udam Slingers, Udam Spearmen, Udam Elite Scourge, Udam Elite Spearman, Udam Elite Warrior

THE CAVE

Find Cave of Bones to the far north on the west side of the wastes next to Totems of the Old Ones. The Udam inhabit the cave, but they only occupy the main floor. They can be avoided altogether by climbing onto the right pathway from the entrance and following the narrow ledges to the back of the cave. Exit the same way without any confrontation. Though it is fun to get Death from Above Takedowns from the narrow ledges.

DAYSHA HAND

Reach the upper ledges in the main room and follow the north corridor. At the very back of the cave, the Daysha Hand rests on a narrow bridge above a fire.

CAVE PAINTING

From the cave entrance, climb up the ledges on the right and follow the path straight until you reach the big room. Study the Cave Painting on the right wall, next to the pots.

Lost Caves

Cave of Hasari

TYPE: Combat

ENEMIES: Wolves, Jaguars, Cave Bear, Dholes

THE CAVE

There are two entrances to the cave, one on a ledge above the other. Wolves, Jaguars, Dholes, or a Cave Bear can spawn inside the lair, but you are also likely to find nothing. This small, straightforward cave has three big chambers connected by a narrow tunnel and breakable wall.

Enter the upper cave entrance and make an immediate left. Burn down the thorns on the left to reveal a small corridor. The Daysha Hand sits in the back.

CAVE PAINTING

Find the painting in the big room closest to the lower entrance. Make your way inside and hug the right wall to find a group of thorns. Burn them down to access the Cave Painting. To reach it from the upper entrance you must bust through the weak wall in the first room. Then follow the path through the second room on into the final room.

Lost Caves

Cave of Strength

TYPE: Navigation

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw

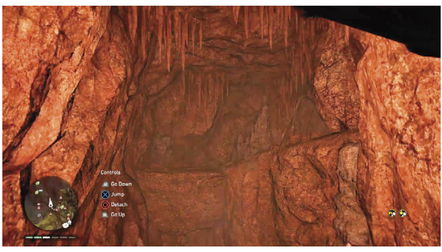
THE CAVE

Located at Twisted Path Climb, this fairly complex cave requires skillful use of the grappling claw and platform jumping. Two tips before navigating this cave, look for the red footprints that lead to the collectibles and spot the fireflies when you are not sure where to go.

1 The first big room includes platforms on the middle column along with ledges on the outside. Make your way to a tunnel above with some running jumps. Use Hunter Vision to spot the red footprints.

2 An intersection is blocked by thorns on the left, stones in the middle, and a ledge to the right. The latter path is not necessary to complete the cave. Set the hanging thorns ablaze to reveal a grappling point. By attaching to this point, you can swing to the ledge ahead. If you hold the rope too low, you hit the wall; too high and you cannot reach when detached.

3 In the next big cavern, water floods the bottom around a huge column. Many of the ledges around the outside are only accessible by grappling claw. Before going right, jump over to a platform on the left wall and find the thorns that block the path to the southeast. Set them on fire and return to the room entrance.

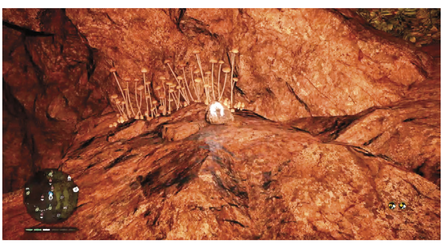


4 Clear the thorns to the right, swing to the next platform, and then jump into the far corner. Climb the ivy, turn around, and swing across the series of hooks, detaching onto the platform that was blocked by ivy. You can now climb up the far wall to reach the upper tunnel.

5 Following the path beyond the Daysha Hand leads you back outside to a secret access above the main entrance.

DAYSHA HAND

After swinging around the big cavern, follow the right ledge to a grappling point. Climb up to the upper level to find the Daysha Hand.



CAVE PAINTING

When the path splits three ways, burn the thorns down and enter the left. Attach to the grapple above, but do not climb all the way up. Swing into the mid-way tunnel and then hop onto the small platform to find the Cave Painting.

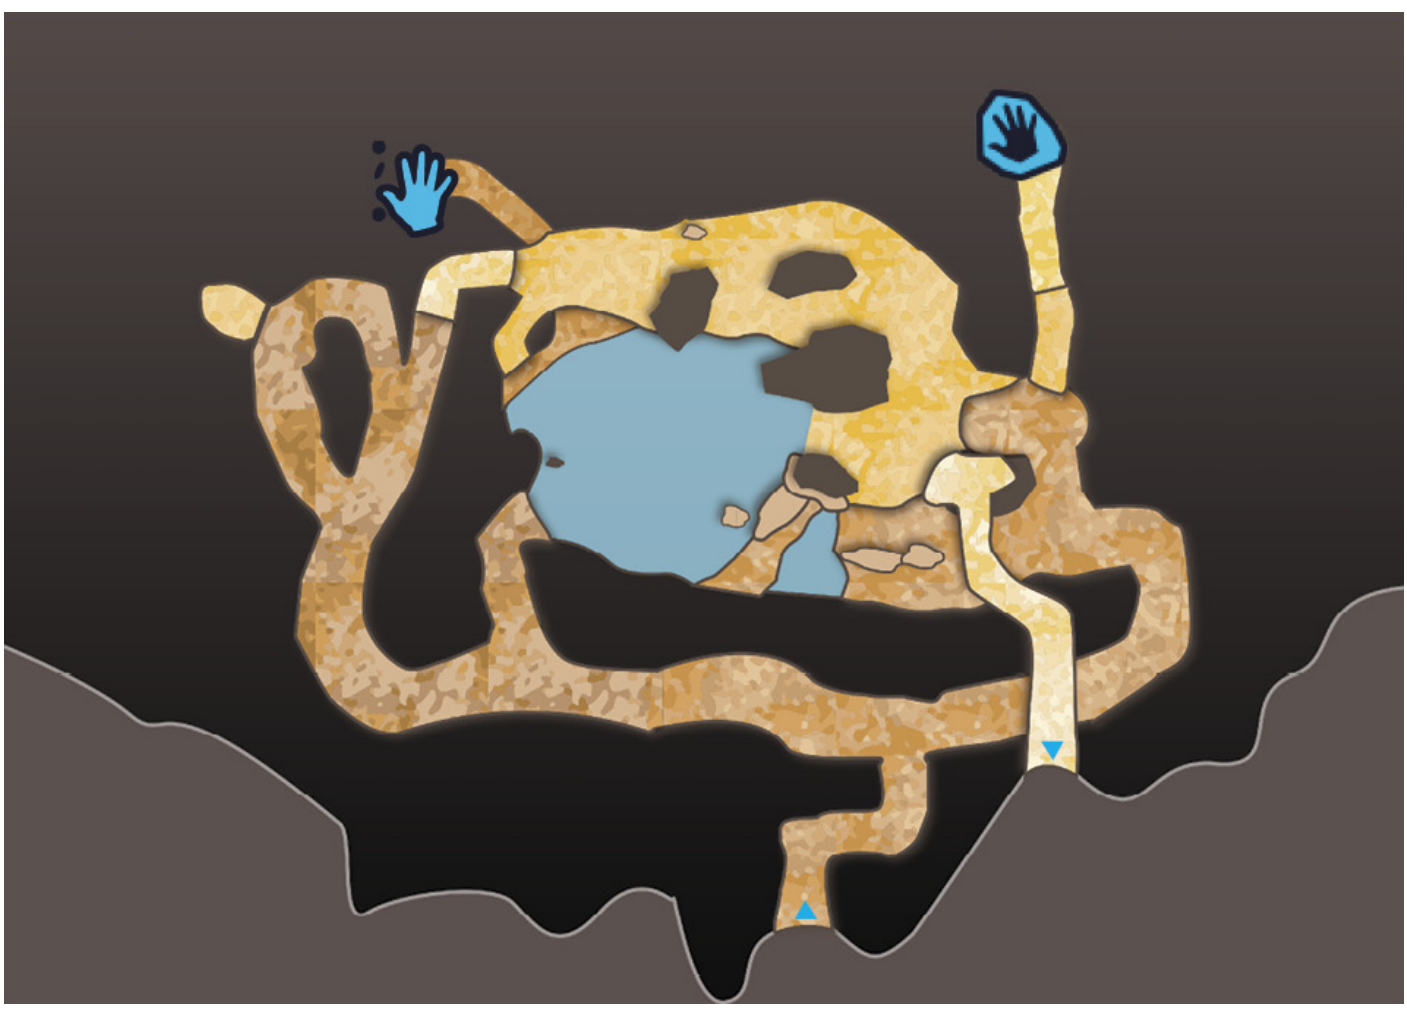
Lost Caves

Cave of Sun Walkers



TYPE: Combat

ENEMIES: Izila archers, Izila Spearmen, Izila Warriors, Izila Scourge, Wolves, Jaguars, Sabretooth Tigers, and a Cave Bear

THE CAVE

You may have already explored the Cave of Sun Walkers if you completed the Tribal Clashes. In the secondary quest, you burn down the Izila camp inside. Those Izila still hide out within the cave, so explore cautiously. Besides the main entrance, a second stealth opening is found on top of the cave, slightly to the east. Avoid enemy contact from the main entrance by sticking to the right, completing the collectibles, and slipping back out. Find your way to the upper level to find long ivy that leads to the secret exit.

DAYSHA HAND

From the main entrance, hug the right wall all the way into the big cavern. Continuing on the right side, climb onto the ledge and bust open the weak wall. The Daysha Hand sits at the end of the hall.

CAVE PAINTING

Inside the main room, find the flooded area and follow the water to the north to find thorns blocking a room. Burn them down to access the painting on the back wall.

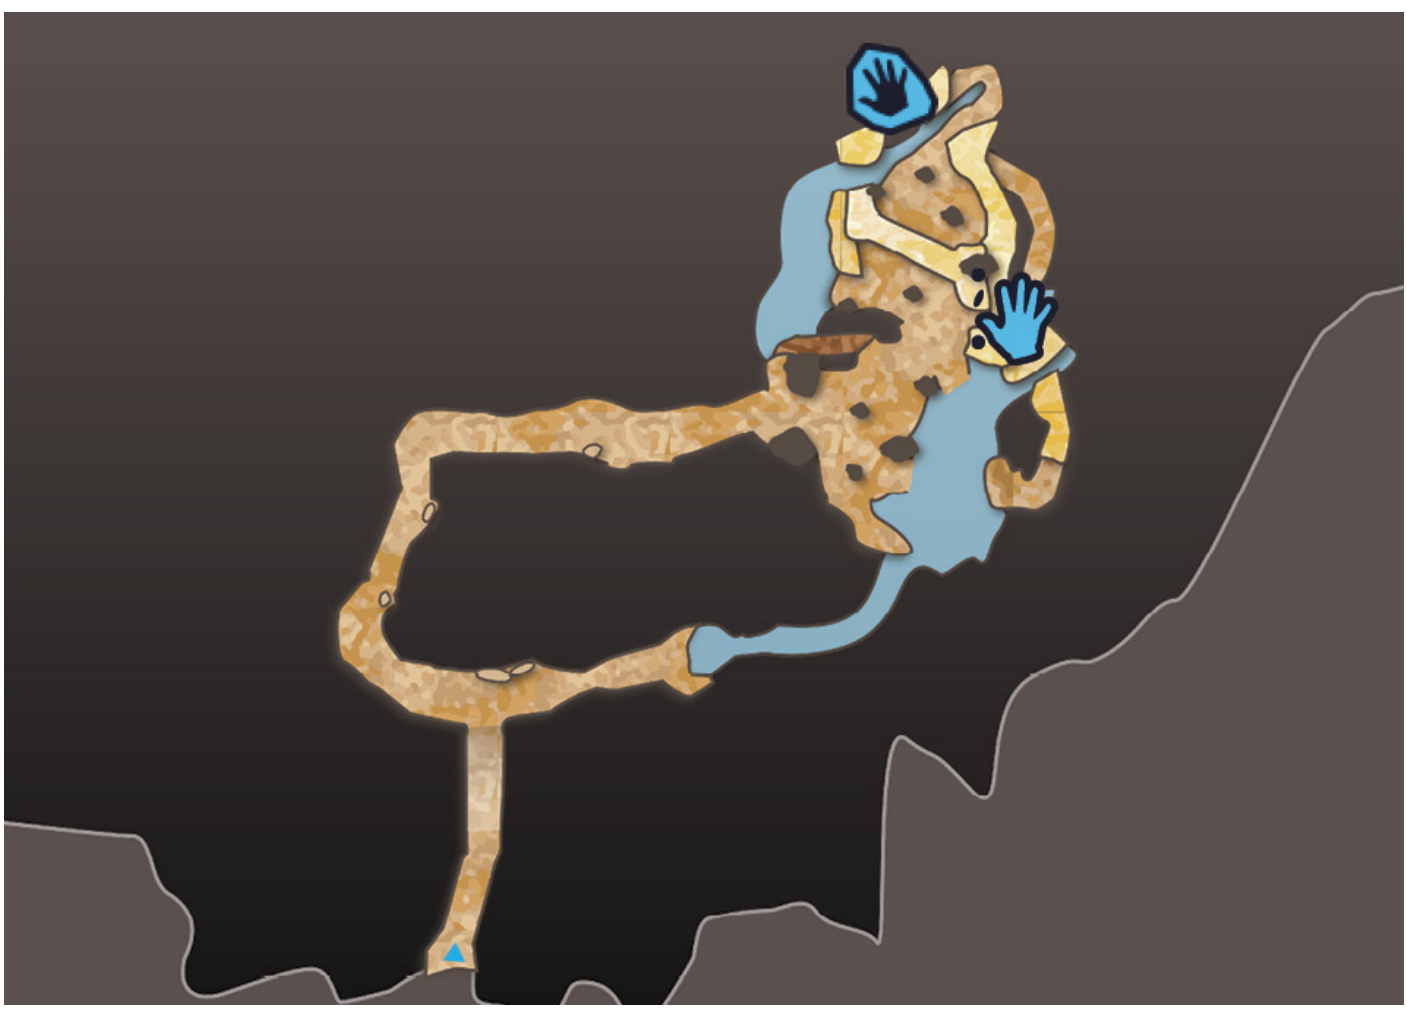
Lost Caves

Chanting Cave



TYPE: Combat

ENEMIES: Izila Warriors, Izila Elite Spearman, Izila Elite Archer, Izila Scourges

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw

THE CAVE

In far eastern Oros find a cave just behind a circle of standing stones. The Izila occupy the grotto, but there is no need to pick a fight. Tag the enemies whenever possible, while using pillars and water to break line of sight. Immediately after entering the cave, look for a path on the right. Dive underwater to find a water tunnel that connects to the main room. Access the ivy from this water and climb up to the two collectibles. This allows you to complete the cave without worrying about the enemy.

DAYSHA HAND

Follow the cave until you reach the water on the right, spot the ivy on the back wall, and climb to the upper ledge. Hop and grapple up to a higher level. Walk toward the waterfall and cross the rock bridge to the left. Hop over to the platform on the right and climb up to the Daysha Hand.

CAVE PAINTING

Find the ivy that climbs out of the water on the right side and take it up to the ledge. Grapple up to a higher level and look straight ahead to spot the Cave Painting.

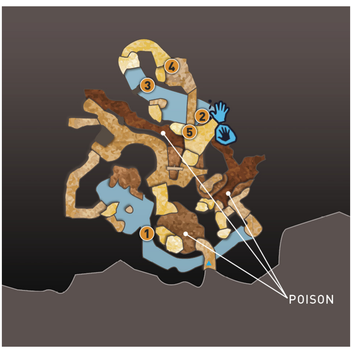
Lost Caves

Charnga Cave



TYPE: Navigation

ENEMIES: Bitefish

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw, Antidote

THE CAVE

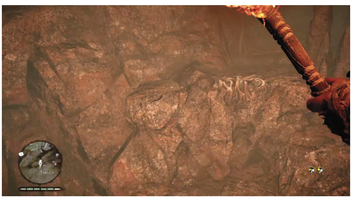
Just inside snowy north Oros, find Charnga Cave on the west edge. There are a few general tips for the ice caves. Icicles often block your path and must be shattered with your club or melted with a fire arrow. Sprinting through or taking an Antidote can minimize the effect of the poisonous gas. A couple of flooded rooms require time in the water, but be careful of a Bitefish that can appear.

1 At the first flooded room, shoot a burning arrow at the floating wood to set it on fire. This allows you to see while swimming underwater. Just past this point, descend into the rot fumes to gather the Daysha Hand.

2 At the second flooded room, spot more wood debris floating in the water ahead. Light it on fire and swim around to the far side of it.

3 After climbing out of the second flooded room, look for a frozen grappling point at a rock point. Hit the ice with a burning arrow and then use the grappling claw on it. Swing and detach on the other side.

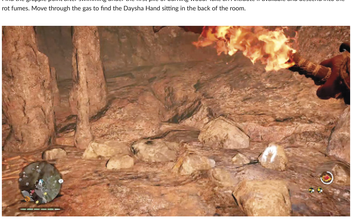
4 A deep valley offers a quick death if you don't make the jump to the other side. Get a running start and be sure you jump before the edge.



5 After the long jump, you reach a split with ice blocking both paths. The Cave Painting is on the left and right leads back to the exit.

DAYSHA HAND

Find the grapple point after swimming under the first pile of burning wood. Take an Antidote if available and descend into the rot fumes. Move through the gas to find the Daysha Hand sitting in the back of the room.



CAVE PAINTING

After the long jump, you reach a split with ice blocking both paths. Drop down and shatter the left blockade. Study the painting on the far wall before exiting the cave.

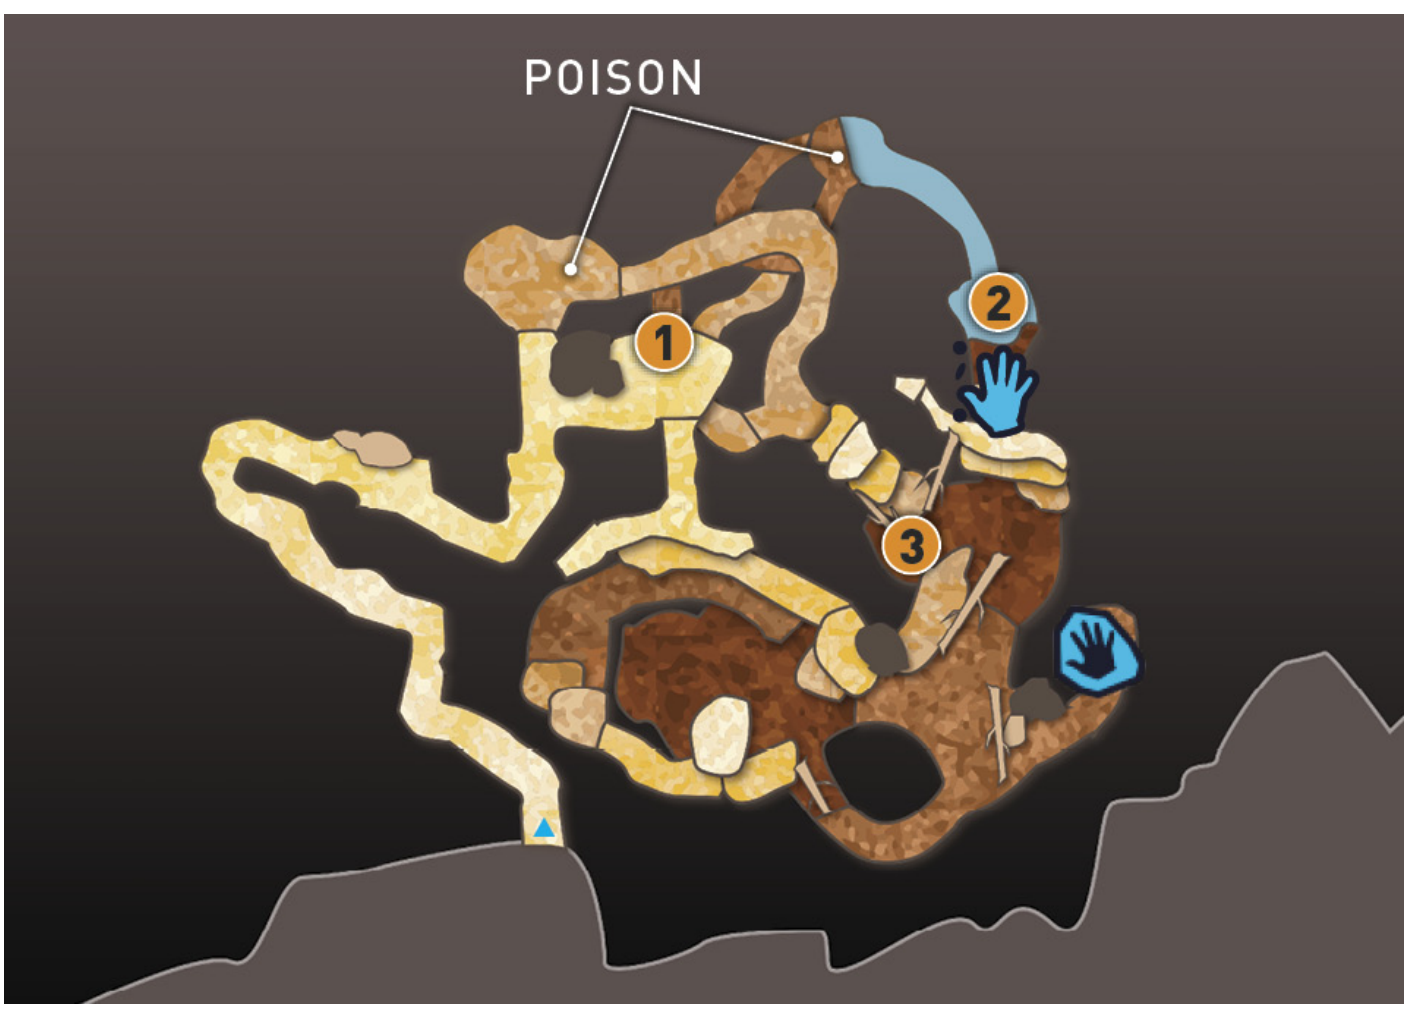
Lost Caves

Chishta Cave



TYPE: Navigation

ENEMIES: Brown Bear

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw, Antidote (side path)

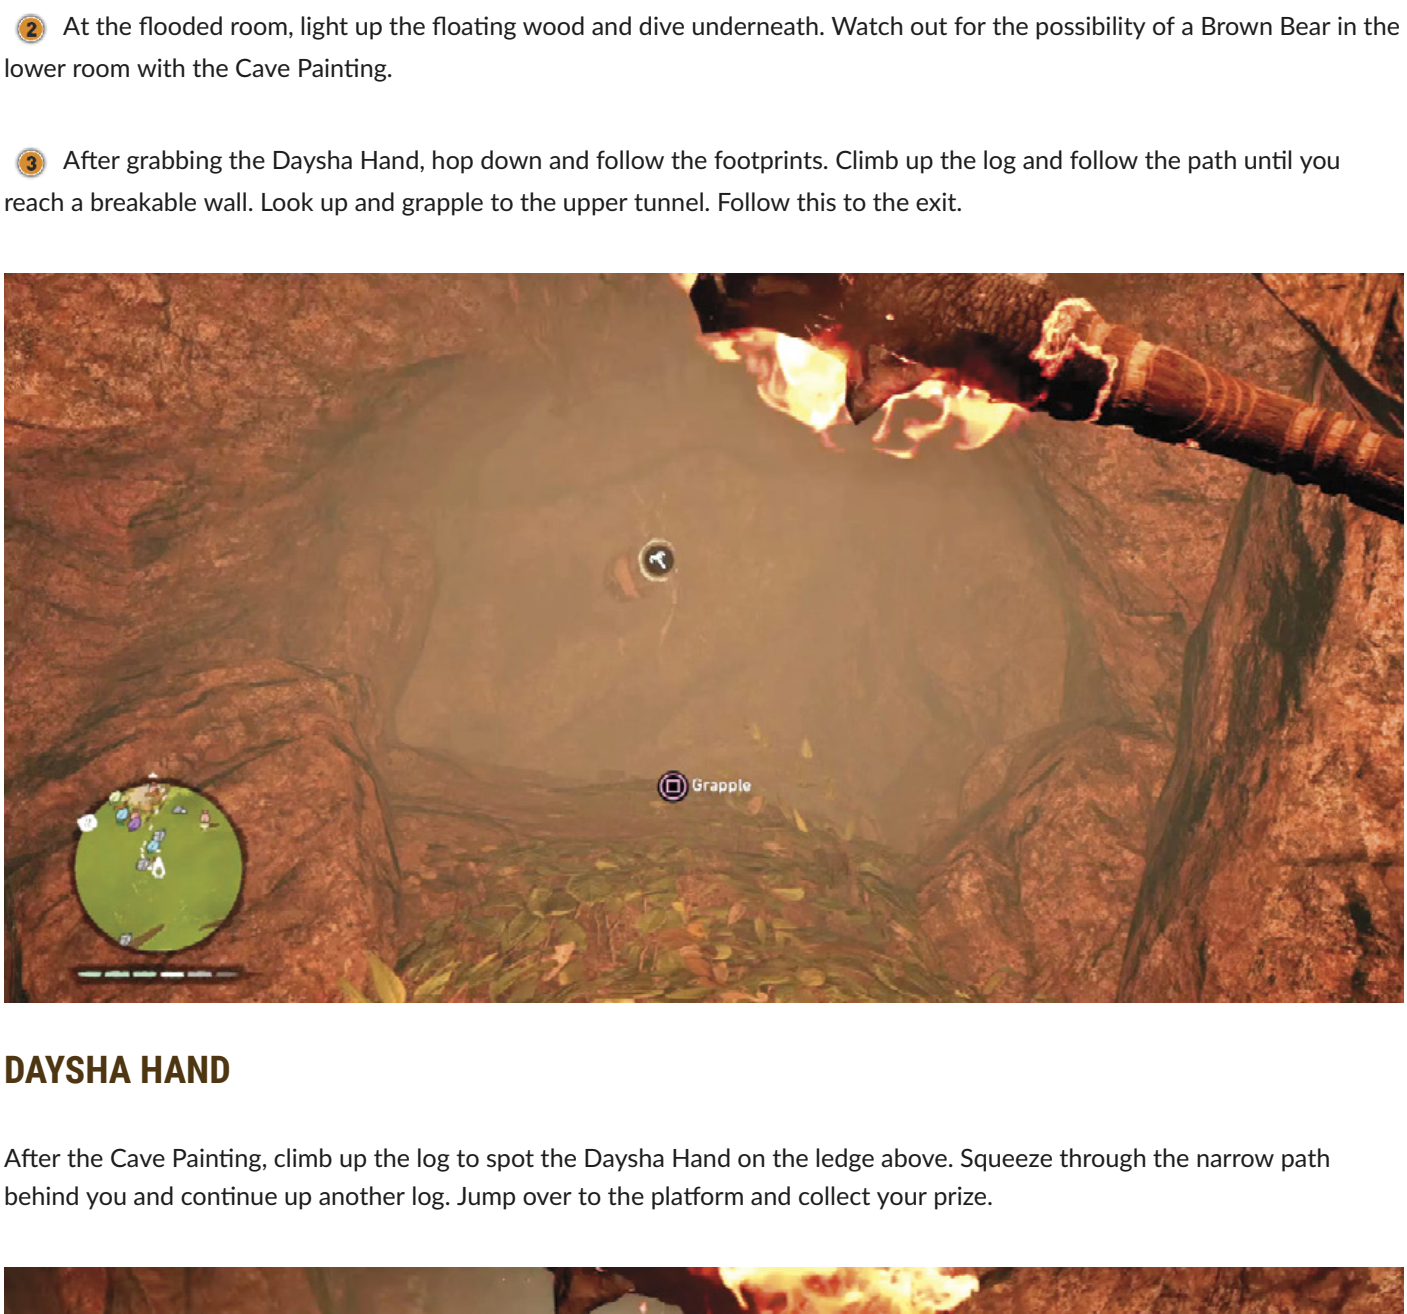
THE CAVE

In the southern wetlands, find the entrance to Chishta Cave west of the river and northeast of Nasan Run Valley. This one has many side paths, but if you stick to the clues, it is fairly straightforward. Trees litter the underground cavern; use them to reach the various levels.

1 Just after the initial fire, the path splits into three routes. It is best to follow the footprints along the middle path.

2 At the flooded room, light up the floating wood and dive underneath. Watch out for the possibility of a Brown Bear in the lower room with the Cave Painting.

3 After grabbing the Daysha Hand, hop down and follow the footprints. Climb up the log and follow the path until you reach a breakable wall. Look up and grapple to the upper tunnel. Follow this to the exit.



DAYSHA HAND

After the Cave Painting, climb up the log to spot the Daysha Hand on the ledge above. Squeeze through the narrow path behind you and continue up another log. Jump over to the platform and collect your prize.

CAVE PAINTING

Follow the middle path from the starting fire, bust through the weak wall, and continue down into the lower room. Light the floating wood with a burning arrow and dive underwater. Prepare your spear as you pass through the waterfall, since a Brown Bear may spawn in the room. Find the Cave Painting on a central rock and study it.

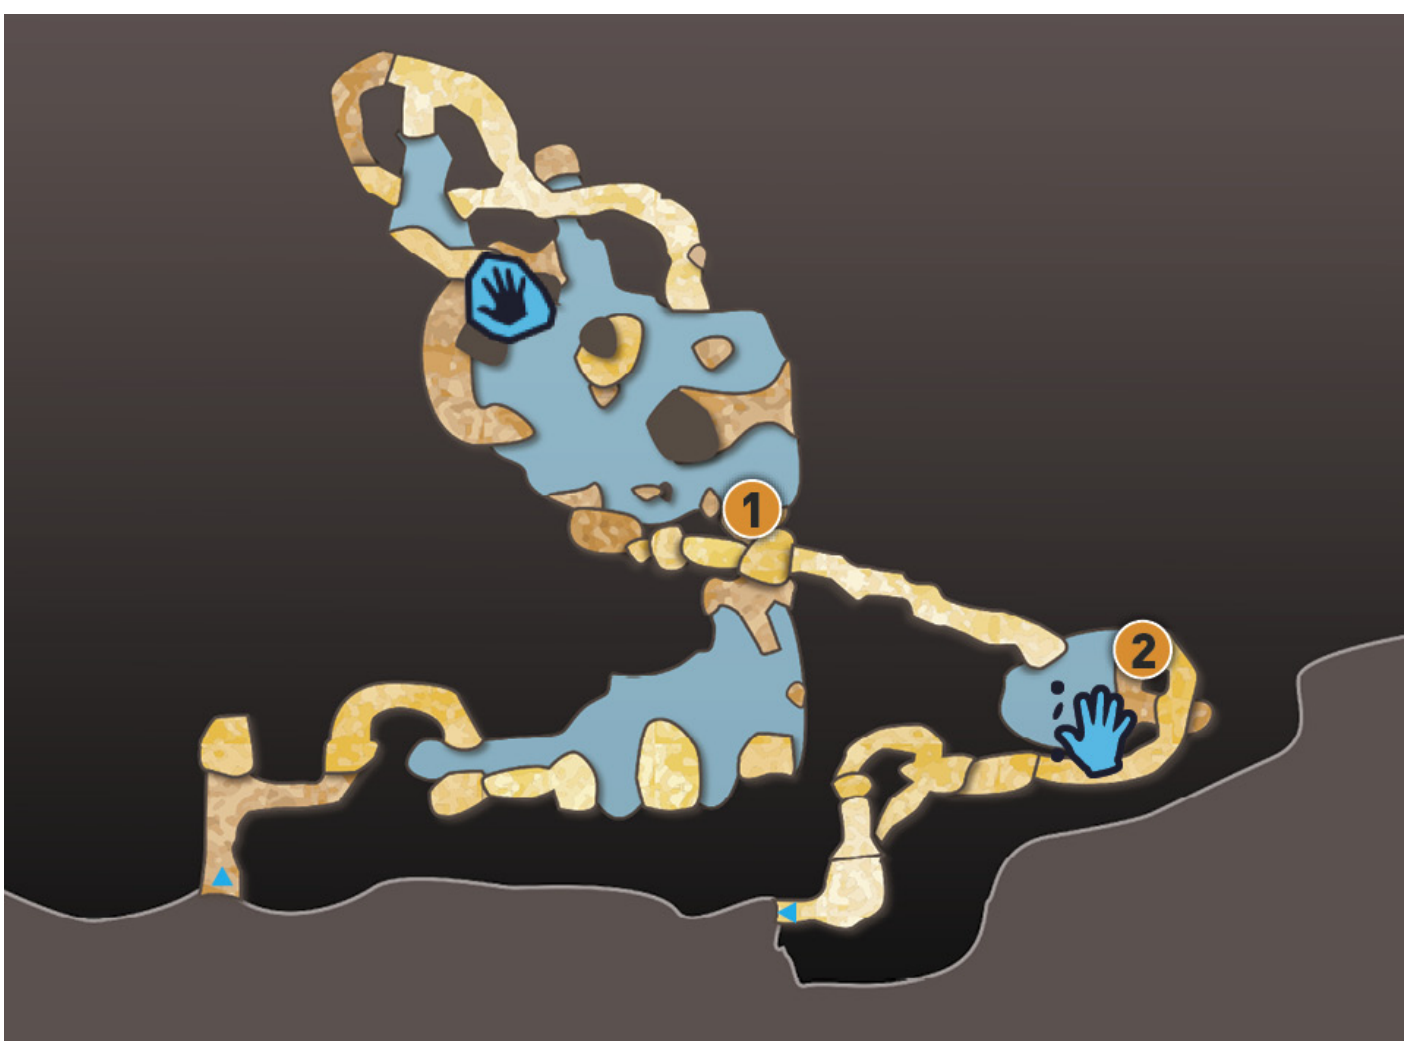
Lost Caves

Cold Swim Cave



TYPE: Navigation

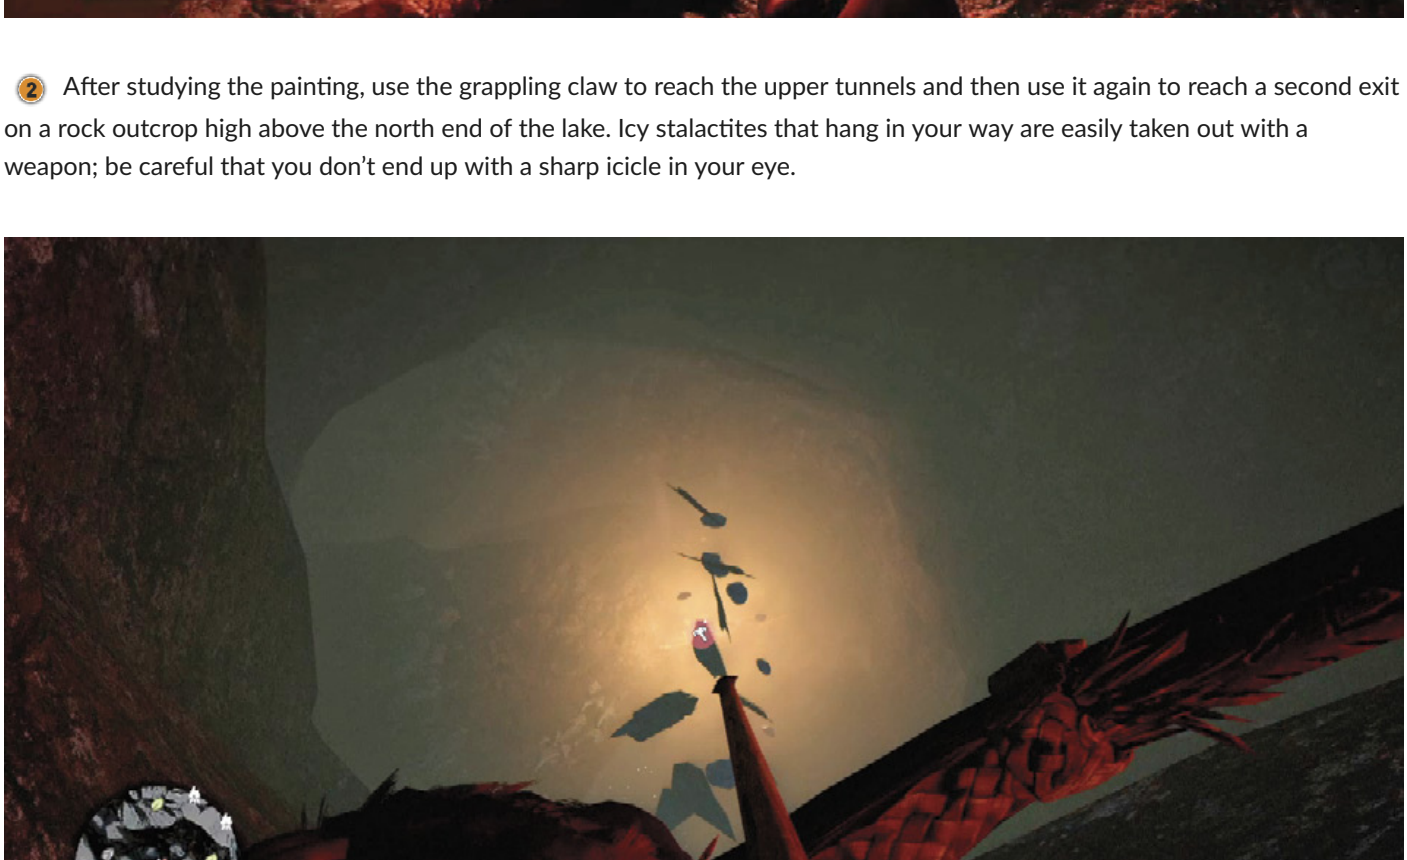
REQUIRED: Grappling Claw

THE CAVE

Head to the lake in the southeast corner of icy Oros and jump in. Swim to the entrance, located on the west side of the body of water, to find Cold Swim Cave.

1 Passing through the icy waterfall places you inside the main cave room. Rocks jutting out of the flooded cavern provide stepping-stones for crossing the water. Light up the floating piles of wood for extra light and another fire source. The Daysha Hand shines brightly on a high platform to the left. The Cave Painting can be found down the other path by grappling to the top of the waterfall.

2 After studying the painting, use the grappling claw to reach the upper tunnels and then use it again to reach a second exit on a rock outcrop high above the north end of the lake. Icy stalactites that hang in your way are easily taken out with a weapon; be careful that you don't end up with a sharp icicle in your eye.



DAYSHA HAND

As you pass through the waterfall into the main room, look up to the left to spot the Daysha Hand shining bright on an upper ledge. Find an iced-in grappling point on the ceiling and free the ice with an arrow. Attach your claw and swing toward the bright glow. Detach at the platform, slipping under the stalactites, and collect the hand. There is ivy located on the other side of the Daysha Hand that can also be used to access the platform.

CAVE PAINTING

Follow the upper path to the grappling point and break the surrounding ice if you have not already done so. Swing to the top of the waterfall and break the ice wall ahead. Slide down to the lower cave room and study the painting on the far wall.

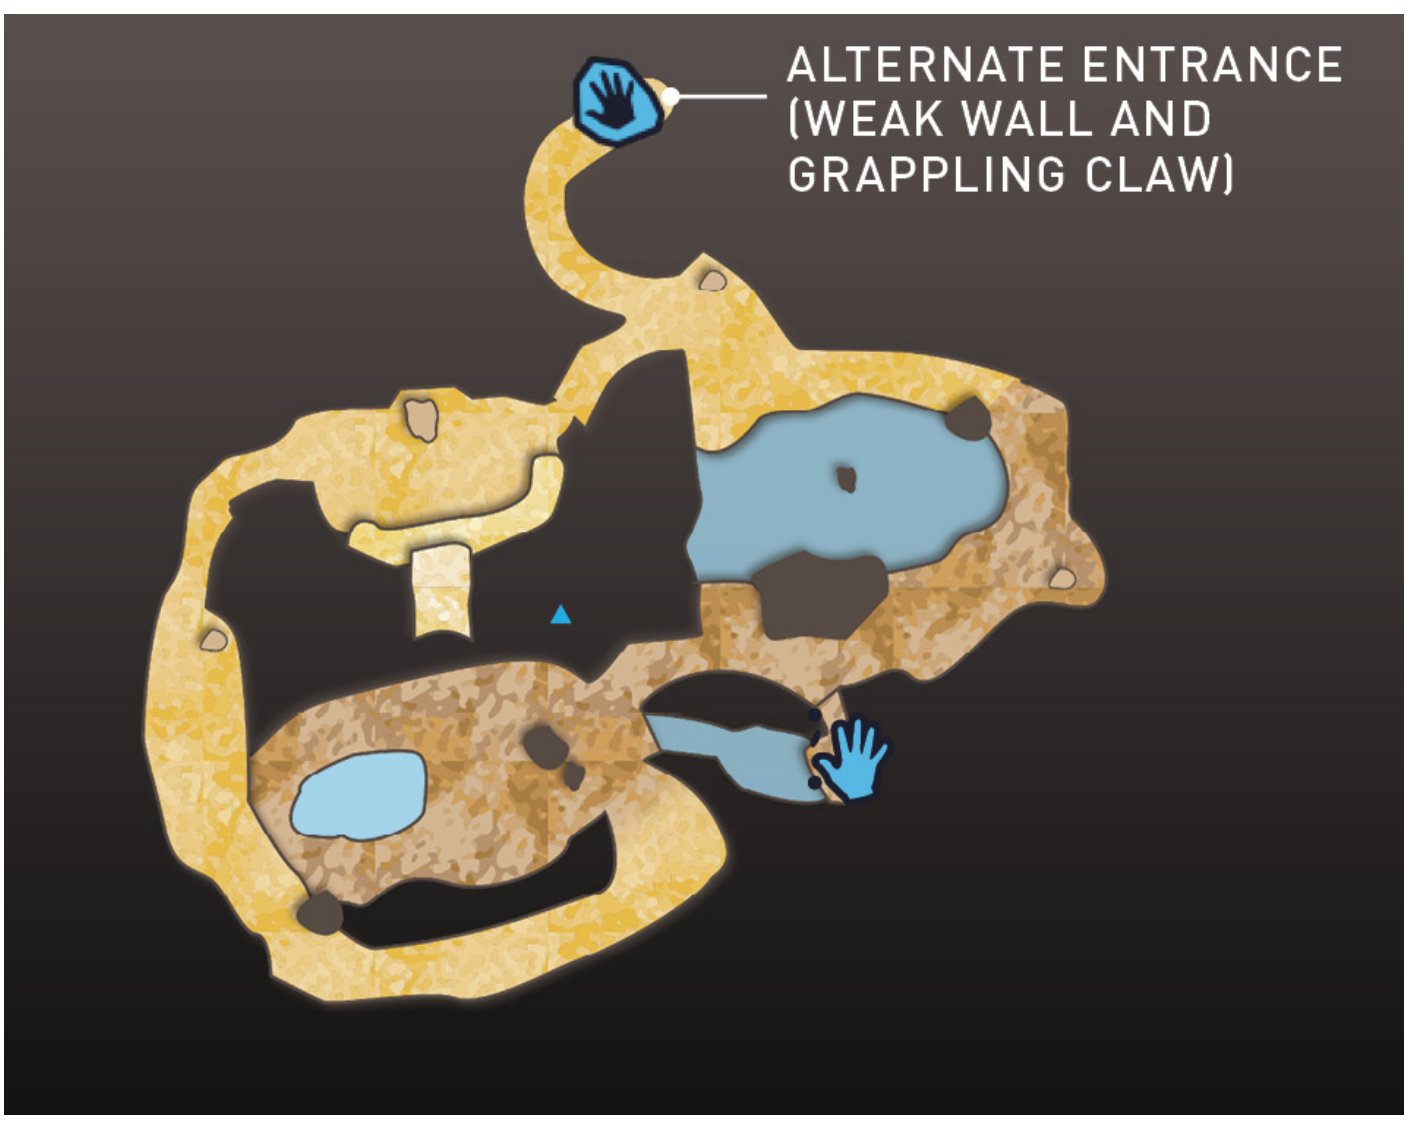
Lost Caves

Cut Mamaf Cave



TYPE: Combat

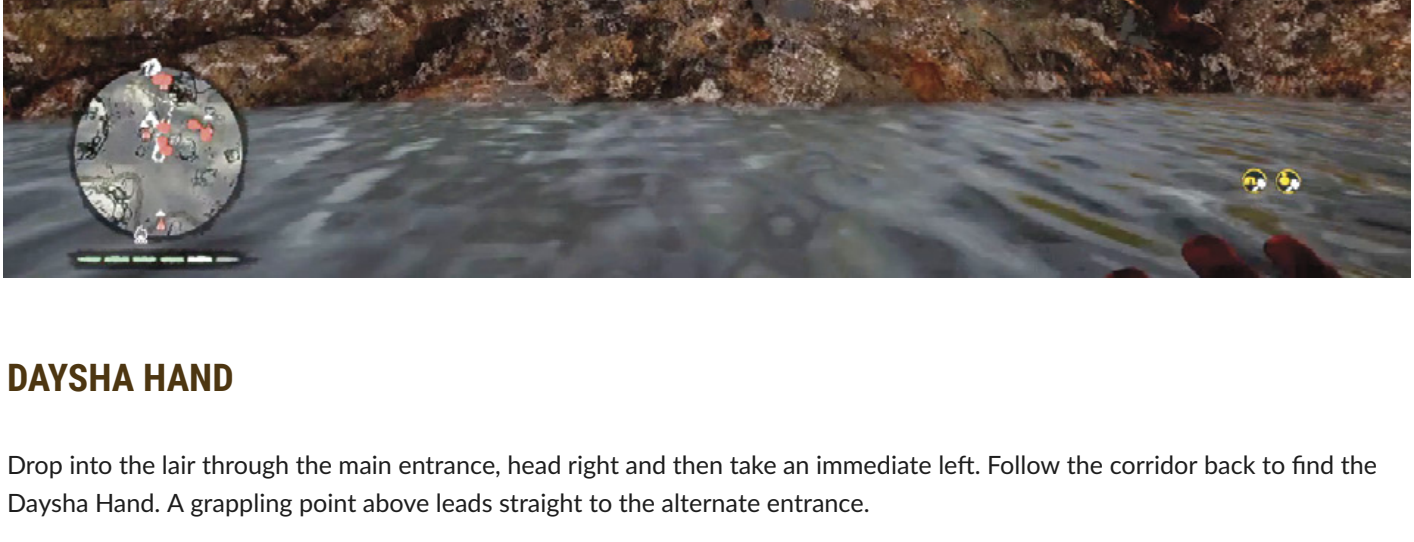
ENEMIES: Udam Chieftain, Udam Hunters, Udam Spearmen, Udam Warriors, Udam Scourge, Leopard, Rare Black Jaguar, Cave Bear, Brown Bear, Black Lion

THE CAVE

Just inside northern Oros, an Udam camp hides a small entrance into an underground lair. Udam and predators are found inside and out, so you must sneak or fight your way to this opening. A second stealth entrance can be found on top of the cave, just to the northwest. Udam litter the interior, but for the most part, they are easily avoided.

DAYSHA HAND

Drop into the lair through the main entrance, head right and then take an immediate left. Follow the corridor back to find the Daysha Hand. A grappling point above leads straight to the alternate entrance.



CAVE PAINTING

From the main entrance, drop inside, immediately head left, and enter the small pool of water. Dive and follow the water tunnel northeast to find the Cave Painting. Burn the thorns to clear the way and study the picture. This room can also be accessed through a weak wall to the northwest.

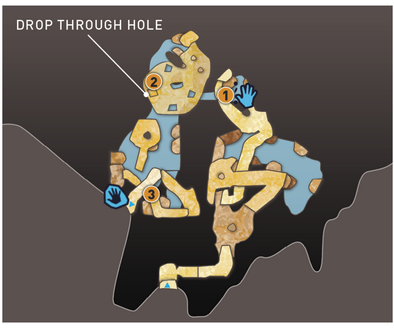
Lost Caves

Dangu Cave



TYPE: Navigation

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw

THE CAVE

In southwest Oros, a cave runs through the mountain west of a small lake. Thorns block many of your paths out of the flooded rooms. Dry locations must be found from which you can shoot burning arrows. Arrows on the ground often signify the best spots. A second exit can be reached with your grappling claw, leaving you high above the lake.

1 After studying the Cave Painting, use your club to knock out the stones that block the east path and dive underwater. Swim south to reach a big room. Spot the fireflies on the right and climb onto the rock. Continue up to reach an upper rock floor, where a few openings lead back into the water. Drop into the east hole to continue through the cave.

3 After grappling to the upper level, bust through the stones and head left. Grapple up two more grappling points to find the exit above the lake. Swing from another grappling point to jump into the water.

DAYSHA HAND

As you emerge from the upper exit, the Daysha hand sits on the side of the platform. Grab it before jumping to the grappling point above the lake.

CAVE PAINTING

Burn the thorns that block the path before jumping across the gap. Continue up the corridor and attach to the grappling point ahead. Lower yourself to the bottom platform or hop down the series of ledges to find the Cave Painting.

Players should not miss the various cave networks!

Freezing Caves

TYPE: Navigation

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw

THE CAVE

A campfire sits just outside Freezing Caves, located at the northern tip of Oros, which is good since the deep caverns have seen its share of deaths from falling. Some grappling points can only be used where you see the coil of rope.

1 From the start, descend from the grappling point onto the small platform. There are resources to collect in this first room, but they are not necessary. Hop, grapple, and climb to the southeast corner. From there are a few ways into the second room.

2 After getting the Cave Painting in the second room, follow the red footprints west to a narrow tunnel. Inside the next room, the glow from the Daysha Hand can be seen on the platform ahead.

3 Continue past the Daysha Hand to find a waterfall. Jump into the water to exit the cave, well south of where you entered.

DAYSHA HAND

In the third room, the Daysha Hand can be seen ahead. Drop down to find coils of rope. Swing east and detach at the far side. If you miss, just swim back to a lower platform on the south side and reattach to the grappling point. Use another grappling point to reach the upper level, turn around, and grab the hand ahead.

CAVE PAINTING

Inside the second room, climb onto the upper, north ledge to find coils of rope. Face southeast and use the two grappling points to swing onto the far ledge where the Cave Painting is found. Study it before dropping to the lower level.

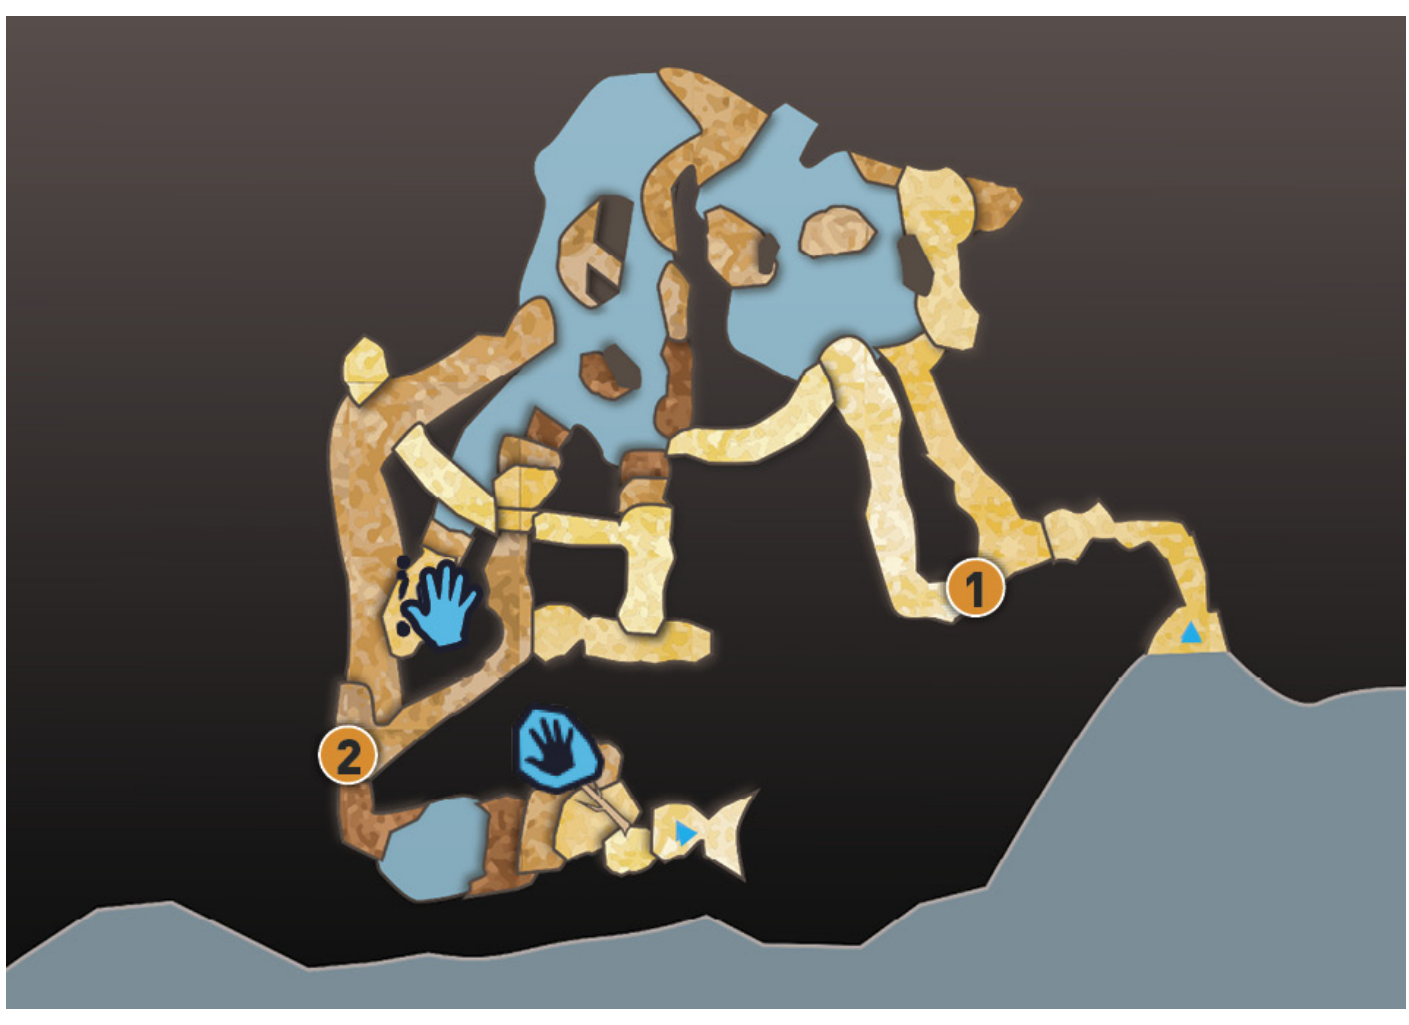
Lost Caves

Gwashtru Cave



TYPE: Navigation

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw

THE CAVE

To the far south, west of the Praying Stones, Gwashtru Cave sits on the north side of a small lake. Break up the stones that block the small opening. This cave requires a lot of jumping to navigate your way through.

A second exit emerges on the cliff above the west side of the lake.

1 At the first fire, burn the pile of hay on the left to gain access to the main room. A few platforms provide a way across this flooded room with ivy leading back up in case you fall in.

2 Follow the footprints through the tunnels and bust your way through the stones that block your path to reach a small body of water. Swing across and climb toward the light to find the exit.

DAYSHA HAND

Swing toward the exit and climb up the natural steps to a log. Cross it to find the Daysha Hand.

CAVE PAINTING

After crossing the first flooded room, hop to the left platform and look right to spot a glow under a rock wall. Dive underneath and climb the ivy to reach the platform where the Cave Painting is found.

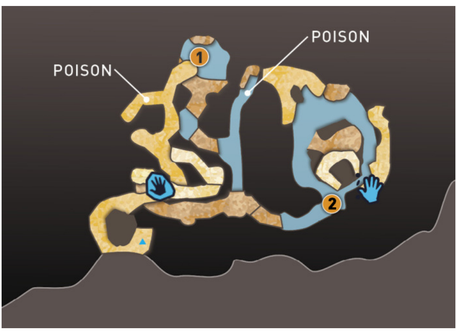
Lost Caves

Hagwi Drink Cave



TYPE: Navigation

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw, Antidote

THE CAVE

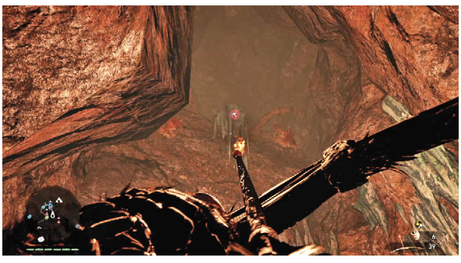
Travel to Hunter's Shelter in far north Oros and grapple up the cliff-side to the north to reach a path high above. Follow it east to another grappling point, cross a log, and climb up another two grapples to finally reach Hagwi Drink Cave. Slip through the narrow opening on the left to enter. Note that there is no campfire on this cliff, so if you die, you must climb all the way back up.

1 Just past the fire, dive into the deep shaft to find a flooded cave. Be sure to drop straight down or else you may die hitting the rock walls. Shatter ice walls to open the paths and burn the thorns to light the way. Take an Antidote and dive underwater to reach the main room.

2 On the west side of the main room, light the floating wood and dive underneath. Follow the path through a weak wall and up two grappling points—melting the ice to gain access. Drop into the hole to return to the cave start.

DAYSHA HAND

Light the floating wood and dive underneath. Follow the path to the end where a couple fish heads lie. Melt the ice from the grappling point above and pull yourself up to find the Daysha Hand.



CAVE PAINTING

After passing through the rot fumes and entering the big room, jump onto the middle rock island and then over to the far side. Study the painting on the south side of the room.

TYPE: Navigation

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw, Antidote (side path)

THE CAVE

Just north of Great Prashrawa in southeast Oros, the Hungry Walkwa Cave is found on a shelf north of the big waterfall. This cave doesn't require tricky jumps or swinging on grappling points, just follow the clues through the flooded cavern. Watch out for the possible snake though.

1 The cave immediately branches three ways. Follow the footprints up the left path, climbing the ivy and then grappling to reach the top tunnel.

2 After collecting the Daysha Hand and Cave Painting, dive into the water and quickly swim underwater. Follow any tunnel to reach the exit.

DAYSHA HAND

From the start, take the left path. Climb the ivy and grappling point to reach the top tunnel. Take the first left and burn the thorns ahead to find a short corridor. At the other end is the Daysha Hand.

CAVE PAINTING

After collecting the Daysha Hand, back out and follow the right path. Use the two grappling points to descend into the lower depths of the cave. Light the floating wood and swim underneath. This path leads you straight to the Cave Painting.

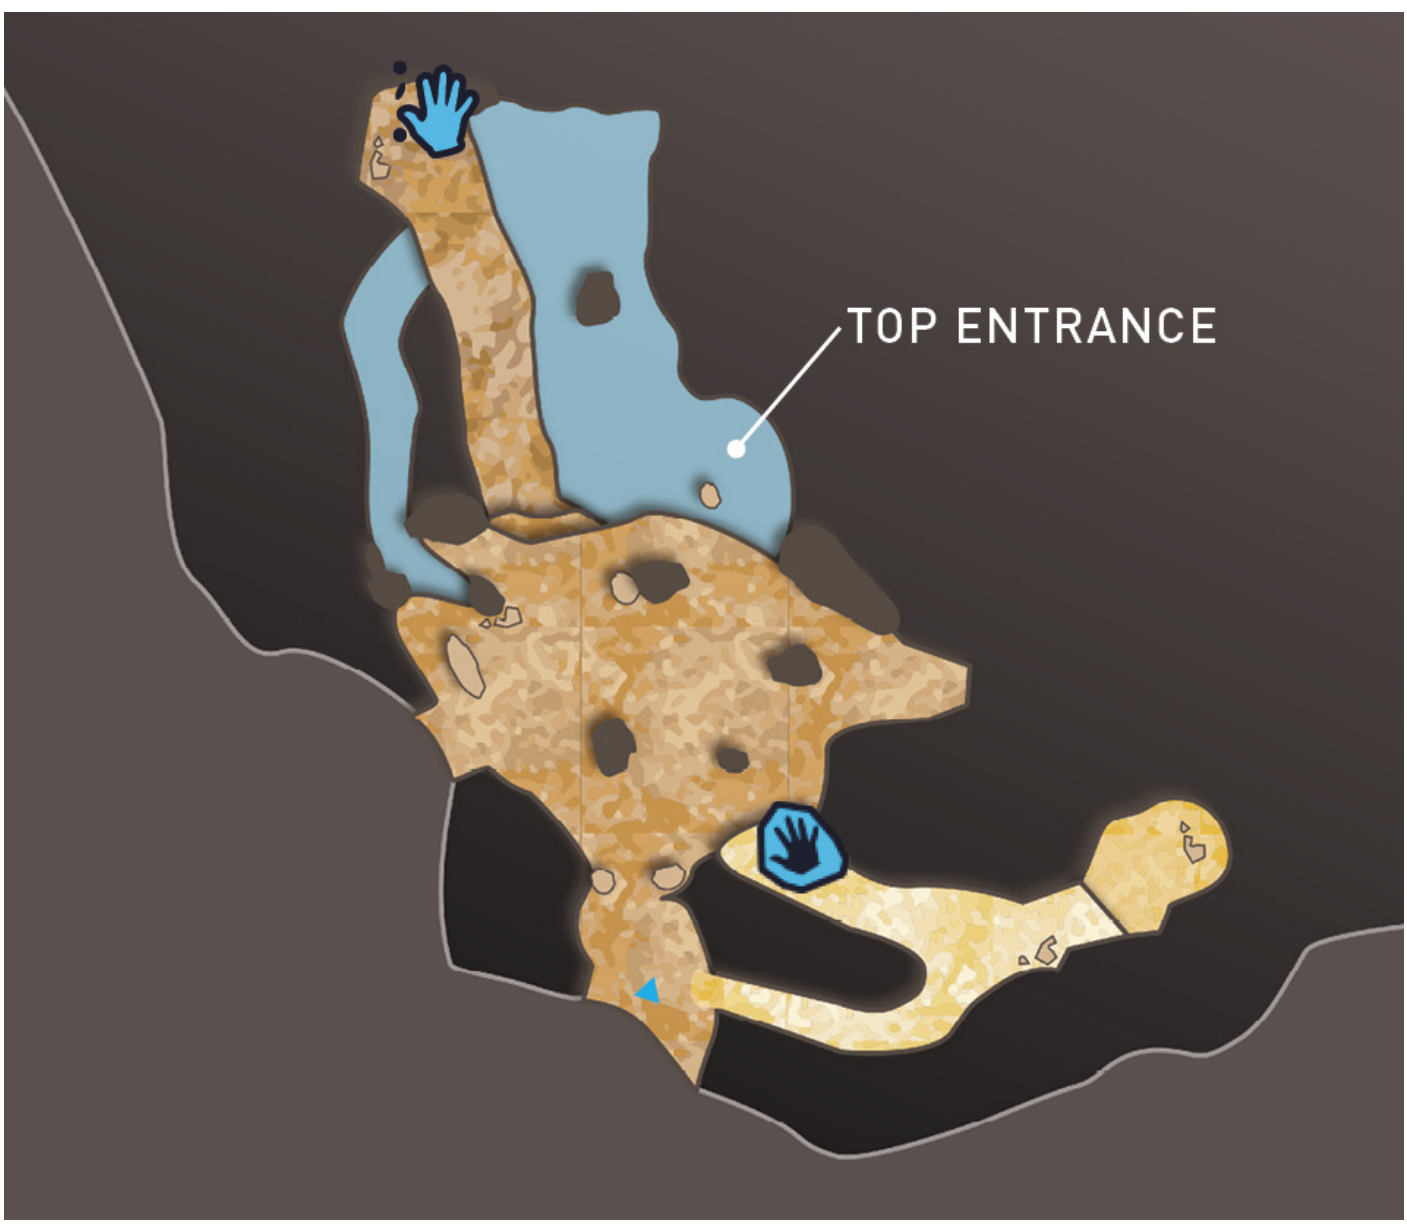
Lost Caves

Marsa Cave



TYPE: Combat

ENEMIES: Udam Spearman, Udam Warrior, Udam Scourge, Wolves, Cave Lion, Black Lion, Brown Bear, Rare Black Jaguar

THE CAVE

Find Marsa Cave a short distance from your village to the northeast. There are three entrances, two adjacent entrances in the front and another stealth entrance accessible above by grappling claw near the waterfall. The cave is relatively small, requiring only a little combat to clear it out. Watch out for various wildlife that may attack, especially the Brown Bear that will dive into the water with you. Drop in from above to avoid the Udam.

DAYSHA HAND

On the south side of the cave, climb onto the ledge and follow the path to a breakable wall. Bust through to find the Daysha Hand.

CAVE PAINTING

From the waterfall, swim underwater north and west through the tunnel. Exit at the first opening to find the Cave Painting behind thorns. Burn them down to reach the collectible.

My favorite beast companion is the Jaguar because it's a super stealthy animal. I like seeing my beast crouch like me and go kill enemies at my command.

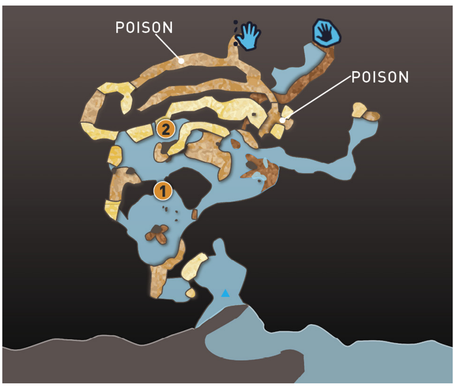
Lost Caves

River Bagwi Cave



TYPE: Navigation

ENEMIES: Crocodile, Udam Warriors, Udam Scourge

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw, Antidote

THE CAVE

Flooded by the nearby waterway, River Bagwi Cave is situated on the river, west of the big waterfall. This is a navigation cave, but there is a possibility of finding a Crocodile in the flooded areas and Udam Warriors in the upper tunnels.

1 Set the floating wood on fire in the main room and swim underneath. Climb onto the left rock and grapple to the ledge above.

2 Turn right from the grapple and follow the path into the upper tunnels, where Udam Warriors may be present.

DAYSHA HAND

At the main room, run through the waterfall on the right and then burn the ivy that blocks the small hole on the far side. The Daysha Hand sits at the back of the next room.

CAVE PAINTING

In the upper tunnels, throw your club into the stalactite that hangs in your way and jump across. Use the grappling claw to lower yourself away from the rot fumes. Set the blocking ivy on fire and then follow the right path to find the Cave Painting.

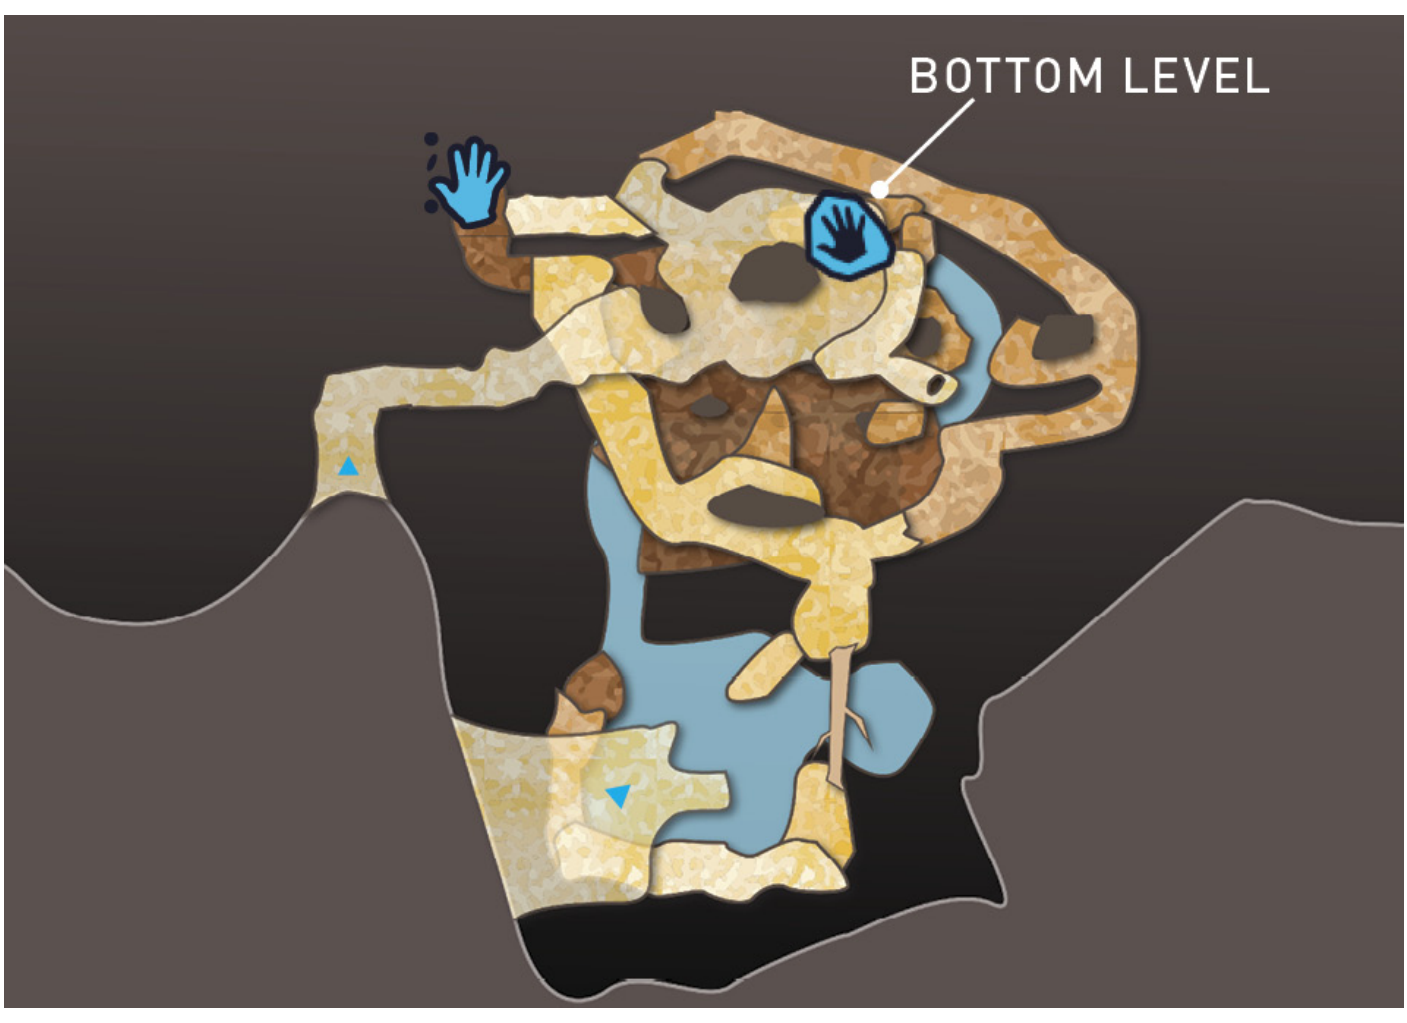
Lost Caves

Shanma Cave



TYPE: Combat

ENEMIES: Udam Slinger, Udam Warriors, Udam Archer, Udam Elite Spearman, Udam Scourge, Udam Elite Slinger

THE CAVE

In the southwest region of Oros, find a big bone tree marking an Udam lair in the southeast corner. Several Udam occupy Shanma Cave, including an Elite Slinger, so reinforcements can be called. Southwest of the main entrance, a waterfall offers an alternate way in by grappling claw. A long water tunnel connects this area to small pools on the north and south sides of the main room.

Just inside the main entrance you find your easiest takedown, a Slinger with his back turned. Peek around every corner and tag every enemy you can. Try to move Udam bodies to inconspicuous locations so as not to be discovered. Use the changes in elevation to your advantage.

DAYSHA HAND

The Daysha Hand sits in the east corner of the main room. Enter the cave at the waterfall and swim through the water tunnel to the south side of the main room. Sneak along the east side of the room and gather the collectible.

CAVE PAINTING

From the main entrance, turn left at the first opportunity and climb onto the left ledge, quietly moving behind the Warrior so not to alert him. Use your grappling claw to descend into the hole to find the Cave Painting.

Call your Owl to scout the area to see when entry is safe. Drop into the hole to enter the cave.

DAYSHA HAND

Drop into the cave, bust open the breakable wall, and collect the Daysha Hand inside.

THE CAVE

In the southernmost regions of Oros, an Izila lair sits at the base of the southern mountains. The starting passage accesses a big cavern with high ledges and platforms around the outside and a big pillar in the middle. Water on the left side of the entryway connects to a couple of pools around the outside of the main room. Follow the water tunnels all the way back for easy access to the south ledge where the Cave Painting is found. The water also allows for an escape if things go bad.

Climb the ledges just beyond the first water and follow the path to ivy, which leads you up to the east ledge of the main room—giving you easy access to both collectibles. A variety of Izila fighters are found throughout the interior, including a couple who patrol the ledges. Tag them as you explore to keep track of their movements.

Lost Caves

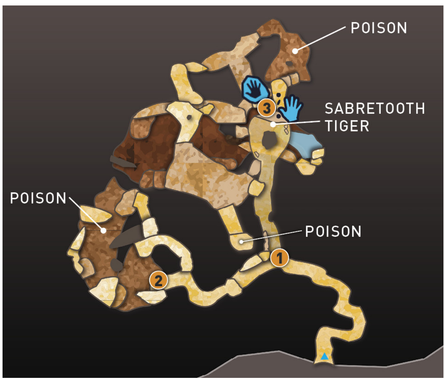
Yachawha Cave



TYPE: Navigation

REQUIRED: Grappling Claw, Antidote

THE CAVE

North of Big Darwa Fort, Yachawha Cave requires some climbing to reach the entrance, similar to Hagwi Drink Cave. It is accessible from the south or west across log bridges and grappling points. The southern route requires swinging between two points to reach a distant rock ledge. Watch out for the possible Udam who camp outside the cave entrance.

1 On your way to the starting point, look for a tunnel to the right. Enter to possibly find a Sabretooth Tiger. Tame it, get an easy kill and skin, or ignore the room altogether.

At the split, follow the left path across the rock platforms. Knock down the icicles and use the grappling point to swing to the other side.

3 After studying the painting, break the stalactites and swing on the other side of the waterfall. Use the grappling claw to return to the upper cave level. Climb the vines and break the ice to return to the main corridor.

DAYSHA HAND

After swinging across the gap, descend into the lower area with another grappling point. Continue down by following the clues and grapple again to descend to the lowest depths. Shatter the ice in the waterfall room and collect the Daysha Hand before continuing down the left corridor.

CAVE PAINTING

Burn the bushes that block the path and move through the poison ahead. Continue up the ledges and bust down the ice wall. Study the Cave Painting inside.

Locations

Campfires

Look for the white Campfire icons on your mini-map to find places to rest. A white icon means the Campfire has not been discovered yet, black means undiscovered. Each Campfire gives you the following perks:

- EARN XP: Gain 100 XP for discovery
- REST UNTIL DAWN OR NIGHTFALL: Use the sleeping fur and then select when you want to wake up.
- REWARD STASH: Access your Reward Stash in case you wish to move resources into your pack.
- SPAWN POINT: When you die, you respawn at the closest discovered Campfire, so it is well worth the effort to approach as many of these camps as possible.
- FAST TRAVEL: a few Campfires also offer Fast Travel. These are designated with an asterisk on our map.
- LIGHT A FIRE: The Campfire can be lit using a certain wood, which differs based on the region of Oros.

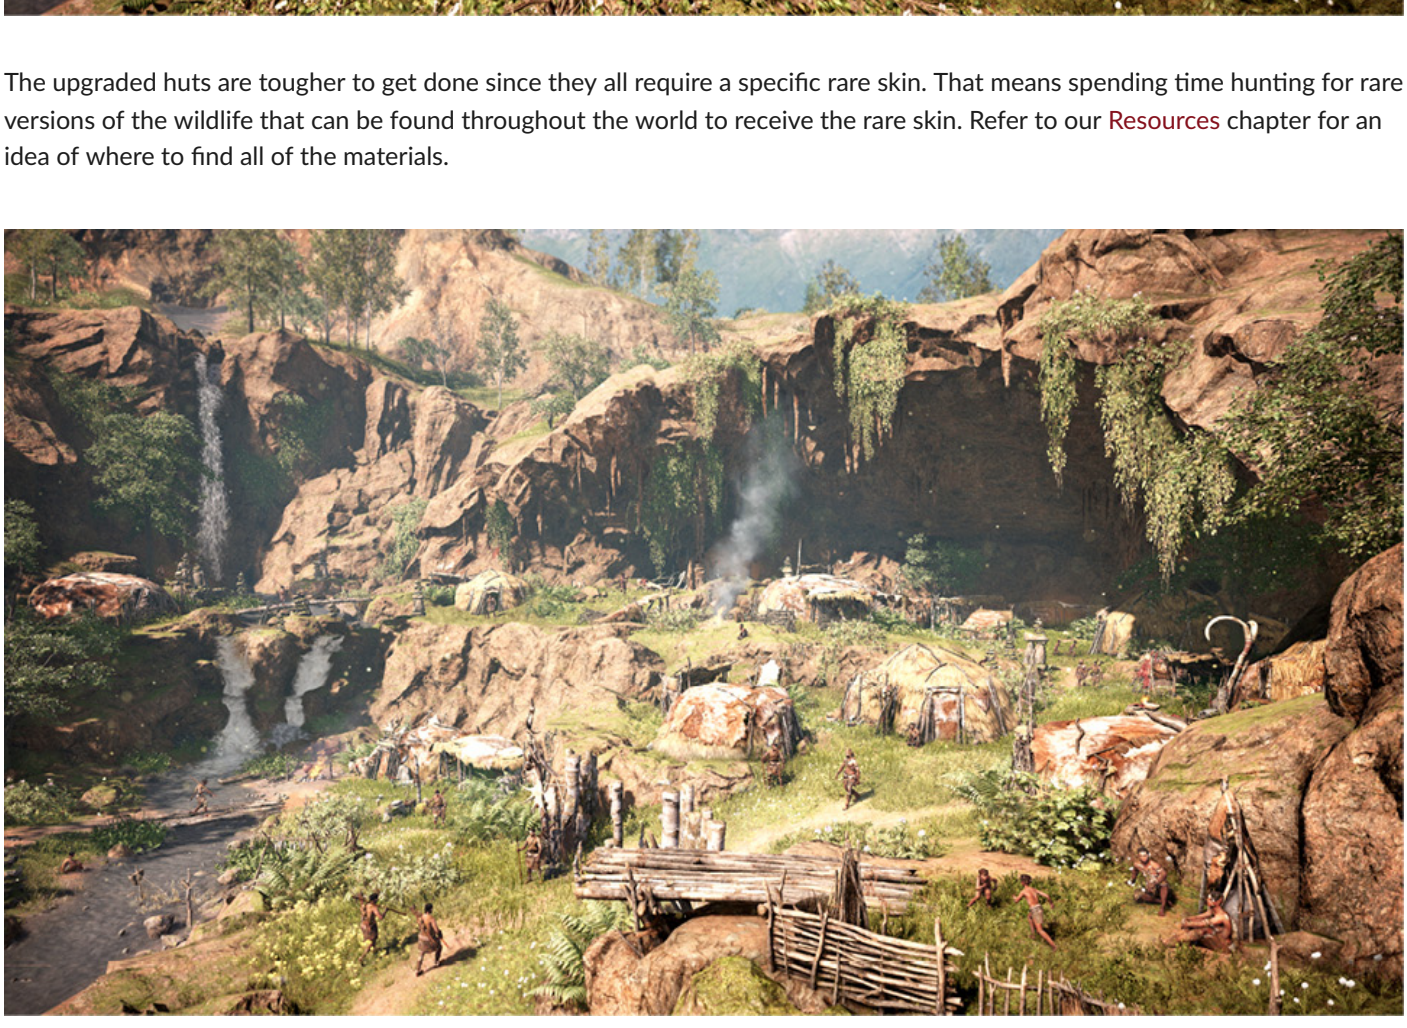
Village Construction

How It Works

Reaching the promised land that is Oros starts a process of rebuilding the long lost tribe of Wenja. This involves finding fellow tribespeople, bringing them back to the village, and building new huts for them—a cave for yourself and seven huts for the specialists. As you progress through the game, capture locations, and complete quests; more Wenja join the village. The specialists offer special skills and gear, while the other villagers give you an XP boost.

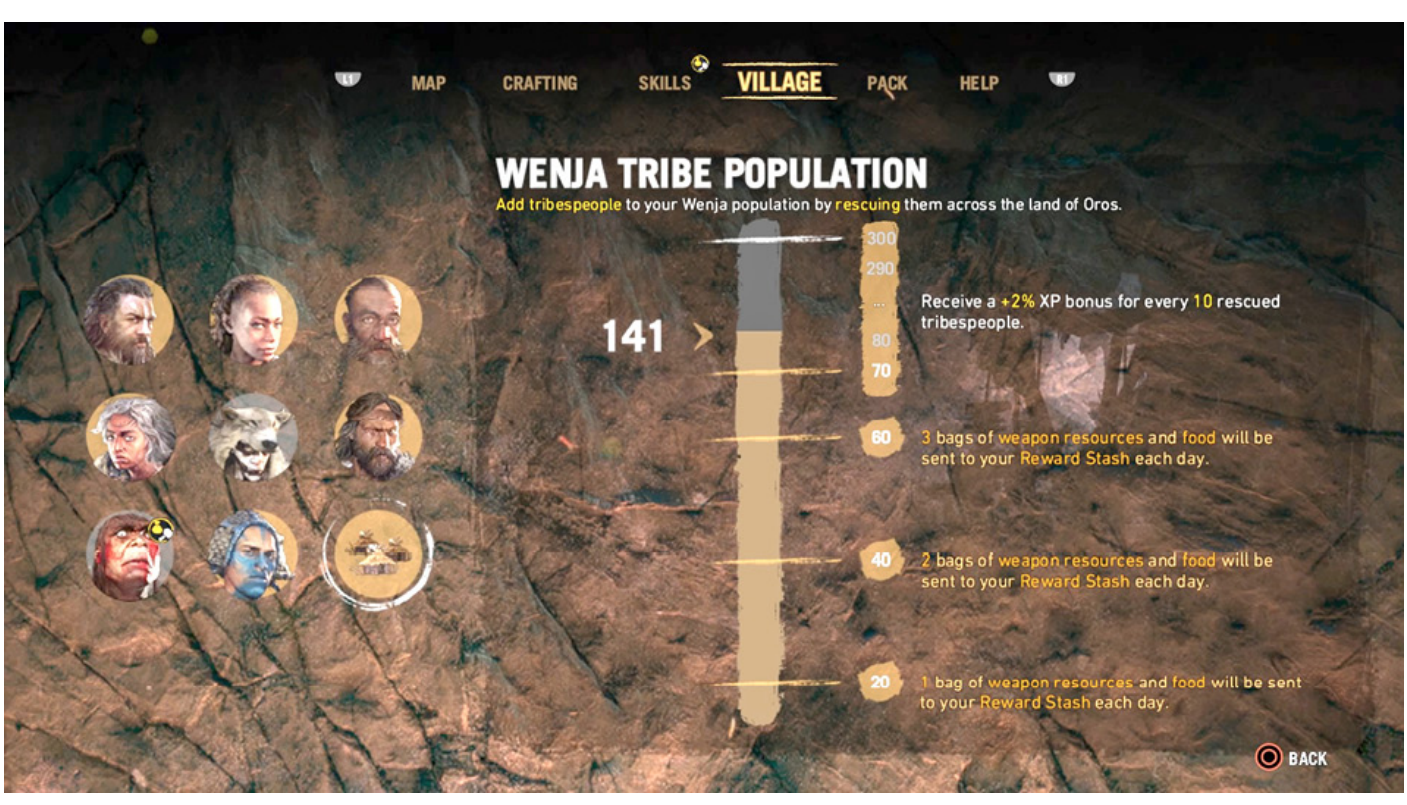
Complete Tensay's Beast Master mission to unlock the ability to build your village. Talk to Sayla and Tensay before constructing their huts. Next, stand in front of each stone marker to see the resource requirements and hold the Interact button to create the shelter. Their locations show up on the mini-map as an icon showing the specialist. XP, unlocked skills, and more are rewarded for each one. All eight structures that make up your village have two upgrades, the initial build and an improved version. Below we list what is required and awarded for each upgrade.

The upgraded huts are tougher to get done since they all require a specific rare skin. That means spending time hunting for rare versions of the wildlife that can be found throughout the world to receive the rare skin. Refer to our Resources chapter for an idea of where to find all of the materials.



TRIBE POPULATION REWARDS

As your village population grows, you earn extra bags of weapon resources and bonus XP. The added 2% XP for every 10 rescued tribespeople really adds up and maxes out at 48% bonus—allowing you to grab skills at a faster pace. Add Wenja to your village by completing missions, secondary quests, and major landmarks whenever possible. It is possible to lose population too. Accidently killing a Wenja or taking too long rescuing someone can result in a loss. Notifications of additions and subtractions are given on the left side of the HUD.



POPULATION REWARDS

Population	Reward
20	1 bag of weapon resources and food sent to Reward Stash each day
40	2 bags of weapon resources and food sent to Reward Stash each day
60	3 bags of weapon resources and food sent to Reward Stash each day
Each 10 above 60 (max 300)	Receive a +2% XP bonus for every 10 rescued tribespeople. Maxes out at 48%.

Take care of your village, and it will take care of you.

Enemy Tribes

About Enemy Tribes

Two hostile tribes call Oros their home, Udam and Izila, and they both cause their share of trouble for the Wenja. The Udam are proficient with poison while the Izila have mastered fire. They both possess the same types of enemies: Warriors, Archers, Hunters, Spearmen, Slingers, Scourges, and Chieftains. All but the Chieftains have two versions, regular and elite. Typically Elite troops are the same as their counterpart but with head armor that must be broken before you can get a headshot. Their attributes differ slightly between the two clans, but their roles basically remain the same.

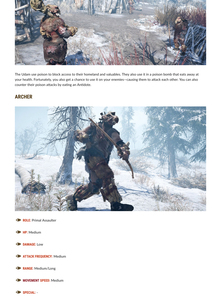
Udam Tribe

Making their base in the north snowy mountains, these Nuradeshiids have become fierce killers with a taste for human flesh. Their skin is thick and tough, and their bodies are covered in scars from battles with other tribes and from the harsh conditions on snowy hikes. UE their brutal leader, can't just sit back while his tribespeople perish. He declares war on those who encroach on his land and sets out to find a better future for his people.



The Udam use poison to block access to their homeland and valuables. They also use it in a poison bomb that eats away at the armor and flesh of anyone who gets too close. It's one of their main enemies—causing them to attack each other. You can also counter their poison attacks by soaking an Antidote.

The powerful Chieftain rules and dishes out a lot of damage. In order to perform a takedown on him, you must purchase the Heavy Takedown skill. Outside of the Commander and Leader, these guys are the strongest members of the tribe with the ability to knock you down. Take them out early with stealth or your Chief. They do have the easiest time against your beast, so if you're in a pinch, you can always send your beast to fight them. They're also the only ones who can use the Rage ability. The longer range while it draws the enemy's focus, Chieftains are melee fighters, but they do have the ability to use Grenades.

Archers are equipped with a bow, but their range is not that great. They shoot from cover, so getting a shot on them can be tough, but it's nothing a quick base or lobbed bomb can't take care of.

Hunters are much like Archers, but they are equipped with long-range bows and poison arrows—making them a much bigger threat. They tend to hide, so be a drag team is the surest first way to drive them out. With their low health, they go down fairly easy, but if left standing too long, they pick away at your health from afar. If you get close, the Hunter pulls out his knife and takes a swing.

The Scourge lobs poison bombs from a medium range. The explosive does not need to hit you, as it has an area of effect. Making contact with the ink fumes poisons you, causing your health to slowly drain. This can be a problem unless you have the Antidote Scout recipe, which negates the effects of these projectiles.

- SP Low
- DAMAGE Low
- ATTACK FREQUENCY Medium

Slingers are equipped with a sling that they use to great effect. Ringing projectiles your way from a long distance. They are often spotted in guard positions such as on top of huts or watchtowers. The damage they cause is minimal, but it does add up. The Elite version becomes a much bigger threat when given a blow horn that can be used to call in reinforcements once danger is detected. Those guys should be your first priority when taking on an outpost, bonfire, or hut. If there are multiple Slingers in an area, take them out as quietly as possible to prevent being spotted by the others. When close, the Slinger strikes with the sling.

- SP Medium

- ATTACK FREQUENCY Slow

- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS Breakable Helmet

The Spearman can be dangerous from a short distance and up close. They often sit back and throw their spear at you, but they can charge with their weapon for a melee attack. Watch out, as they have the ability to knock you down with this ability. The elite version only differs in that it wears breakable head armor. This must be destroyed before you can kill them with a headshot—unless, of course, you have the Precision Sling skill which allows the sling to pierce headgear.

- SP Medium
- DAMAGE Low

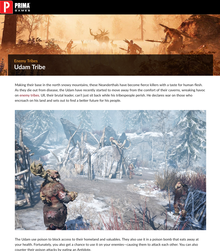
Warriors are the standard melee troops. They charge in with their clubs and start hacking away. They do throw a shard if they cannot get to you, but the cudgel is their weapon of choice. Pick them off as they approach or switch to your club and beat them down.

DAH - UDAM COMMANDER



Dah is a proud, ferocious, and sickly Udam war chief. One of the strongest fighters in the tribe, Dah commands the respect of all who follow him as he coordinates raiding parties and guards the gateway to the Udam homeland. Like all Udam, Dah fights with a thick skin that's covered in scars from battles with other tribes and from the harsh conditions on the snowy peaks. Members of the elite Udam to have survived a duel with the tribe leader, Dah, a fight that won him great power and respect among his tribe.

Dah's strength has waned in recent months as crippling "skull fire" fevers sap his strength. This disease is one of many that the Udam have developed immunities to over the years, but Dah's body is weakening under the strain. He's desperate for a cure to fight the contemptible Wesp infiltrators and the fire-wielding sun-walkers, two rival tribes that stand in the way of the Udam's survival.

ULL - UDAM LEADER

Ull is the leader of the Udam tribe. He commands the respect and fear of all Udam. He's a fierce brute with limbs of timber and sinew for bones across most of the body. His nose and ears have melted away, leaving him with a mottled mask. These hideous scars came from the deadly fire arrows of the Ishi tribe.

He bears a heavy heart over the future of his people. It's clear that the Udam are dying. They suffer constant sickness, many from "skull fire" fevers that leave them weak and frail. Ull's own son, Dah, is one of those who suffer from the fevers, and Ull fears for the worst. Dah is a proud warrior and a fierce fighter, and Ull knows that he will not survive the fevers for much longer. Anyone who encroaches on Udam land is an enemy who's taking advantage of Udam weakness.

The survival of the people is foremost in his mind as he marches through Oros, desperately fighting for more plentiful lands and to earn his people a chance to recover from their hard years deep in the frozen mountains.

> Ull is very primitive and really showcases the more primitive and animal aspect of human kind. Once you get to know him, you'll realize his motivations are deeper and more interesting than what you'll get from the beginning of the game. He is a strong antagonist

Faction Tribe

Izila Tribe

The more advanced Izila live in the southern marshlands of Cinco with fertile land ideal for farming. The Izila also has a firm grasp on everything fire. Their belief that they are superior to all other tribes fuels them to enslave members of the Mongu and Udam. It is up to the Mongu to take the fight to the Izila and remove their leader before more of their tribe is taken. Their fire bomb is a devastating weapon which you gain late in the game.

Izila troops tend to have higher HP and damage than the Udam, requiring better weapons. This should be the case though as the story takes you to Izila territory later in the game when you are more powerful.

ARCHER

- ROLE: Primal Assaulter
- HP: High.
- DAMAGE: Medium
- ATTACK FREQUENCY: Medium
- RANGE: Medium/Long
- MOVEMENT SPEED: Medium
- SPECIAL:
- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS: Breakable Helmet

Unlike the Udam, the Izila use women in their army, as the Archers and Hunters. Archers shoot from cover so bring them out of hiding by sending in your beast or tossing a bomb. Of course it is better to kill them quickly with a headshot or takedown before being detected. The Izila Archers have more HP than their Udam counterparts so they may take more to kill.

HUNTER

- ROLE: Stealth
- HP: Medium
- DAMAGE: Medium
- ATTACK FREQUENCY: Medium
- RANGE: Medium/Long
- MOVEMENT SPEED: Medium
- SPECIAL: Fire Arrows
- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS: Breakable Helmet

Hunters are similar to Archers except they shoot fire arrows and hide from their target. They are not as prevalent as Archers, appearing mostly in groups of 2 or 3. Their fire arrows can be used to your advantage by shooting explosive barrels nearby. Watch out for their deadly attacks, breaking line of sight whenever possible. When up close, Hunters swing with their knives.

CHEETAH

- ROLE: Anti-Beast Tank
- HP: Very High
- DAMAGE: Very High
- ATTACK FREQUENCY: Slow
- RANGE: Melee
- MOVEMENT SPEED: Slow/Charge
- SPECIAL: Elite only. Takedown requires Heavy Takedown skill
- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS: Indestructible Helmet, Roar Charge, Fire Ground Strike

An elite only troop, these guys are very similar to the Udam; they have a strong melee attack and are tough to kill. The Heavy Takedown skill is required to score a takedown. There is also a skill available for the Chief that allows it to eliminate a Cheetah. Make these guys an early priority, just after Elite Slingers and alarms. The stronger beasts, such as Bears or Tigers, are best against these foes; they beat down lesser animals with ease. This title carries a big fee to both but he does appear the ground for a devastating fire attack.

SCOURGE

- ROLE: Area of Effect Unit
- HP: High
- DAMAGE: High
- ATTACK FREQUENCY: Slow
- RANGE: Medium/Melee
- MOVEMENT SPEED: Medium
- SPECIAL: Fire Bomb
- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS: Breakable Helmet

The Izila Scourge kiss fire bombs. This makes them a much bigger threat than their Udam equivalent, since there is not an easy way to counter the attack like the Antidote. Their bomb sets an area on fire with the ability to spread quickly. Navigate away from the area when you notice one incoming. Scourge may not be as large a threat as the Chieftain or Stinger, but they do pose a danger.

SLINGER

- ROLE: Primal Sniper
- HP: Medium
- DAMAGE: Medium
- ATTACK FREQUENCY: Medium
- RANGE: Long
- MOVEMENT SPEED: Slow
- SPECIAL:
- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS: Breakable Helmet, Blow Horn (to call for reinforcements)

In its regular form, the Slinger poses a relatively minor danger. Their sling does cause decent damage from a long distance, but as long as you break line of sight, they cannot hurt you. Elite Slingers possess a blow horn though, giving them the ability to call for reinforcements whenever they see you. Take out these guys first on your Chief. Make these guys a high priority. Remember that alarms are just as dangerous and anyone can use them.

SPEARMAN

- ROLE: Melee/Range Hybrid
- HP: High
- DAMAGE: High
- ATTACK FREQUENCY: Slow
- RANGE: Melee/Medium
- MOVEMENT SPEED: Medium
- SPECIAL: Charge with Spear
- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS: Breakable Helmet

Izila Spearmen are fairly dangerous with high HP and damage, though their attacks are less frequent than others. They usually sit back and throw spears your way, but will charge in for a melee attack when given the chance. Elite Spearmen only differ in that they wear headgear that must be destroyed before you can get a headshot.

WARRIOR

- ROLE: Melee Unit
- HP: High.
- DAMAGE: Medium
- ATTACK FREQUENCY: Fast
- RANGE: Melee
- MOVEMENT SPEED: Fast
- SPECIAL: Throw Shard
- ELITE CHARACTERISTICS: Breakable Helmet, Ambush, Dodge

The Izila Warriors fight primarily at close range with their club, but they do throw a shard if you are not reachable. Their high HP makes them tough to pick off as they charge, so be ready to switch to your melee weapon. Elite Warriors are more advanced. Besides their breakable headgear, they attempt to ambush their target and dodge your attacks.

> The Monolithic Age was a period of great change. Humans were settling and farming tribes, language was becoming more advanced, and wars emerged between tribes. We wanted our tribes to reflect these changing times. The Udam reflect the past, the Mongu live in the present, at war with Nature, while the Izila consider themselves the future – a dark, unforgiving future.

ROSHANI - IZILA COMMANDER

Roshani is a proud but perverted Izila Commander. He leads an impressive Izila fortress that has never suffered any threats from rival tribes. Like many Izila, Roshani has prideful faith in the Izila's place in the world. He's led a sedentary life and has limited combat experience. He earned his command through charm and manipulation. He can easily talk his way out of troubles or into new opportunities.

Roshani has made enemies among the Izila over the years. He's known as a man who puts himself before all else, including his own people. It's a reputation that could catch up with him one day—and he knows it.

BATARI - IZILA LEADER

Batari is the divine matriarch of the Izila tribe. Zealous, vindictive, and arrogant, she has ushered her people into a new age of agrarian prosperity with the harsh but benevolent hand of a spiritual leader. Batari has enjoyed the reverence of the Izila ever since she was born during a solar eclipse and deemed a descendant of the sun goddess, Sunh. The Izila people now venerate her as the "sun daughter," a divine savior who will protect them from danger.

Like the Izila sun goddess, Batari presents herself as an icon of warmth, nourishment, and fertility. But beneath her warm exterior burns the heart of a prideful tyrant consumed by cattle and paranoia. She is obsessed with superstitions—first over her fellow Ishwampede, and second over the inhuman Mongu and Udam pests that populate other tribes.

Only one name haunts the Izila matriarch: Kudi, the name of her beloved son. He betrayed Batari's trust many years ago and sparked a revolt, forcing Batari to burn him alive for his crimes. She uses the myth of Kudi the Destroyer to keep the Izila under her thumb, but deep down she fears her son will one day return to kill her.

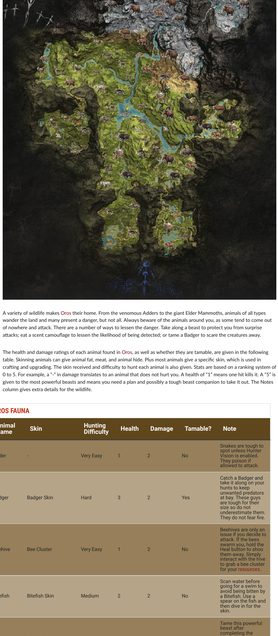
Volume 1

About Wildlife in Oros



A variety of wildlife makes Oros their home. From the venomous Adders to the giant Elder Mammoths, animals of all types wander the land and many present a danger, but not all. Always beware of the animals around you, as some tend to come out of nowhere and attack. There are a number of ways to lessen the danger. Take along a beast to protect you from surprise attacks, eat a scent camouflage to lessen the likelihood of being detected, or tame a Badger to scare the creatures away.

The health and damage ratings of each animal found in Oros, as well as whether they are tameable, are given in the following table. Skinning animals can give animal fat, meat, and animal hide. Plus most animals give a specific skin, which is used in crafting and upgrading. The skin received and difficulty to hunt each animal is also given. Stats are based on a ranking system of 0 to 5. For example, a "-" in damage translates to an animal that does not hurt you. A health of "1" means one hit kills it. A "5" is given to the most powerful beasts and means you need a plan and possibly a tough beast companion to take it out. The Notes column gives extra details for the wildlife.

Wildlife

A Beast by Your Side

Beasts that have a “Yes” in the tamable column above can be added to your beast roster with a piece of bait. Toss the bait nearby and wait for the animal to show interest. Hold the interact button to tame it. If a beast is killed, you can heal it with a piece of meat before the timer runs out. Beyond that, you must revive it from the Beast menu with a certain number of Red Leaves.

- Call Beast: Press Right on the D-Pad to open the Beasts Menu, highlight a beast, and then confirm to call the selected animal. Stats and special abilities are listed when highlighting a beast.
- Revive: When your beast dies, press Right on the D-Pad to open the Beasts Menu, highlight the beast and then confirm on its picture to revive it. There is a cost for this action, so pay attention to your supplies.
- Command: Hold the Aim button and press the Throwable button to send the beast to a destination or after an enemy.
- Recall Beast: Hold Right on the D-Pad and the beast returns to your side.

Beasts are a powerful addition to your attacks, plus they have unique abilities that can help out in other aspects of play. Some are better at stealth, while others excel at damage. Dholes skin their kills. Bears collect resources when idle. Select the beast that best assists in your current endeavor.

This beast is ridable (requires the Beast Rider skill).

My favorite beast? The Sabretooth Tiger, he is the king of the jungle!

- PASSIVE ABILITY 1: A fearless beast that can revive itself from death once.

The Badger, found between the western and southern forests of Oros, is extremely handy as a companion. It is not very fast and is only moderately strong, but its ability to ward off wildlife is huge when hunting. It goes down fairly quickly, but it does revive itself once. The Badger is immune to poison.

My favorite beast companion is the Honey Badger; he is the most vicious animal. It's very funny that one of the smallest animals in the food chain survived among bigger beasts. Each player should try to pet one a few times.
— Fabien Govini, Level Design Director

- SPEED: 5
- STEALTH: 3
- REVIVE COST: Red Leaf x5
- PASSIVE ABILITY 1: Very fast predator.

To get the Bloodfang Sabretooth, you must hunt it down in the Beast Master Hunt quest. It is a good choice for almost any situation. It isn't the strongest or stealthiest, it isn't even the fastest, but it still does a great job in all three areas. It can take down the biggest and strongest foes, chase down most wildlife, and still fight by your side against an enemy tribe—remaining undetected.

GREAT SCAR BEAR

- STRENGTH: 5
- SPEED: 3
- STEALTH: 2
- REVIVE COST: Red Leaf x5
- PASSIVE ABILITY 1: Draws enemy attacks in battle.

The Great Scar Bear must be defeated as part of the Beast Master Hunts before gaining access to the beast. The Bear is very powerful and relatively fast for its size, though leave this one at home if you wish to remain undetected. It does a good job as the tank, drawing the focus of the enemy while you pick them off from afar. It can go longer between feedings than other beasts, but still keep an eye on its health.

Gear

About Gear

As you progress through the story and bring back specialists, weapons, bags, and tools become available in the Crafting menu. Weapon upgrades make you more effective in combat. Bags allow you to carry more resources and weapons. A few tools are required to take advantage of what Oros has to offer. Note resources needed for later upgrades and seek them out in Oros.

This is the first Far Cry to move away from guns, but it retains its FPS feel. What challenges did this create for the team?

We knew that going back to the Stone Age meant reinventing our core gameplay loop. Without access to guns or vehicles, we had tons of work to do! We created new mechanics as part of this, first and foremost; the ability to tame all the predators in the world and use them as weapons. This alone will add new ways to engage with your enemy; this is what we like to call "The Beast Master". We also looked at the life of people in the Stone Age and translated that into our new core mechanics. This includes everything from the ability to track animal blood trails, to new combat styles with, among many other things, clubs, spears, and bows while having the option of combining those with fire if you are up for it.

Skills

About Skills

Eight sets of skills become available as you bring specialists back to the village and build their huts. As you earn XP by completing objectives, skill points are earned which in turn can be spent on these skills. There are a variety of skills to choose from, some better than others for your play style. Some speed up resource collection and crafting, several boost your combat abilities, while many improve healing.

Access the Skills menu to see all 79 skills, how much they cost, and unlock prerequisite. The icon shows whether an ability is available for purchase.

Lines between the skill icons note paths you must take. The middle skill in the first column is always first and then it goes from left to right. Take a look at upcoming skills to see which paths you wish to take. Consider your playstyle and trouble areas. A health boost is usually a good skill for anyone to pick up. Beast Master Skills are good if you like to leave fighting up to your companion. Fighting Skills offer up some great takedowns for those who like to fight more tactically. Crafting Skills are great for getting the most out of your resources.

SKILL PATHS

	A lock icon signifies the skill is unavailable, typically requiring a hut to be built.
	A gray icon means the skill is available for purchase once Skill Points are earned, but it does not mean it can be purchased next since there could be prerequisite skills ahead of it.
	White with the crafting icon shows that the skill can be purchased with the skill points you have.
	A tan icon means the skill has already been learned.

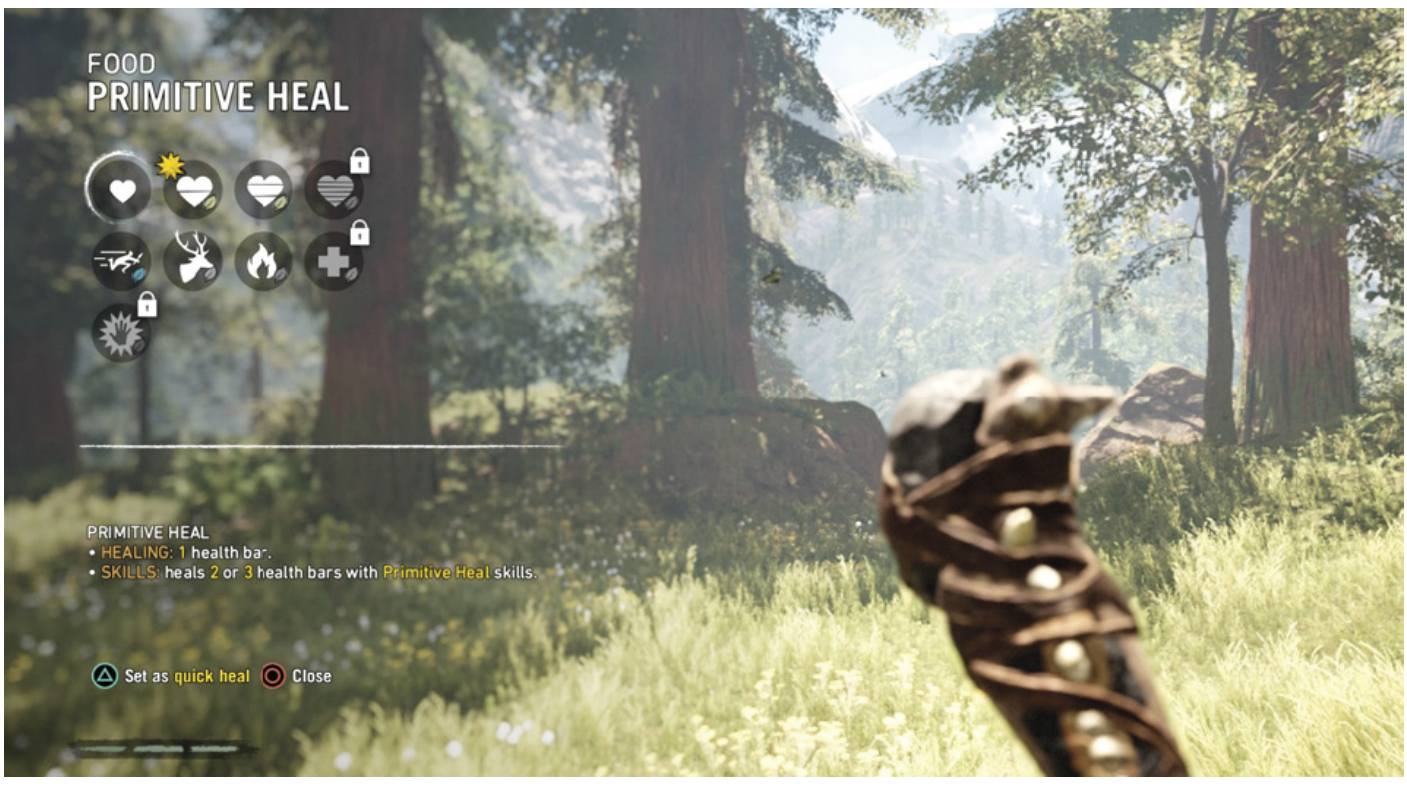
Food Recipes

Basic Healing is available from the start of the game, but once you meet Sayla and build her Hut, more healing recipes become available. Besides Primitive Heal, which doesn't require any ingredients, they all need meat and a plant.



Your health starts out at two bars, but is expandable to six by purchasing skills. Hold the Heal button to use the default recipe. Press left on the D-Pad to bring up the available recipes. Select Confirm to eat the selected recipe while the Heal button sets a default for quicker use. Take into account your current location and set an appropriate recipe as the default.

- Later recipes have added effects beyond healing.
- Speed Boost makes you sprint and swim faster, plus it lengthens how long you can hold your breath. Have this one ready in some of the cave water tunnels, in case you get lost and need that little bit of extra time.
- Scent Camouflage is great when hunting animals. Beast Kill quests are much easier since you can get much closer without the animals detecting you.
- Fireproof reduces fire damage, making it great for Izila territories. Use this food recipe as much as possible in the tougher Izila fights, such as when facing Batari.
- Antidote is required to get into Udam Homeland and allows you to enter poisonous gas areas without taking damage. Many rot fume clouds are small enough that you can sprint through with minimal damage, but this recipe allows you to dawdle inside the rooms. Antidote also eliminates the poison damage from Udam poison bombs and from animal attacks, such as snake bites.
- Ultimate Boost combines the effects of Speed Boost, Scent Camouflage, and Fireproof, while also restoring full health. As the name implies, this one is the ultimate recipe.

Resources

About Gathering Resources

Resources gathered throughout Oros are essential in building your village, crafting gear, and upgrading items. Look for trees, plants, rocks, and other materials. Approach and hold the Interact button to gain resources—adding them to your pack. Killing and skinning animals also produce valuable supplies. Occasionally, you also find bonus and rare resources. Hardwood from trees and flint from rocks are examples of bonus materials. Rare versions, available with several resources, are found at a much lower rate. Enable Hunter Vision to highlight resources in yellow for easier recognition.

You are limited in the amount of each resource you can carry. Upgrade your bags to hold more. Inside your cave and at various locations in Oros, such as campfires, you can access your Reward Stash. As you progress in the game, random resources are added to this stash each day. Access it to transfer items to your pack. The following tables list the resources found in Oros along with where they are found, how they are used, and how many can be carried before upgrading your gear.

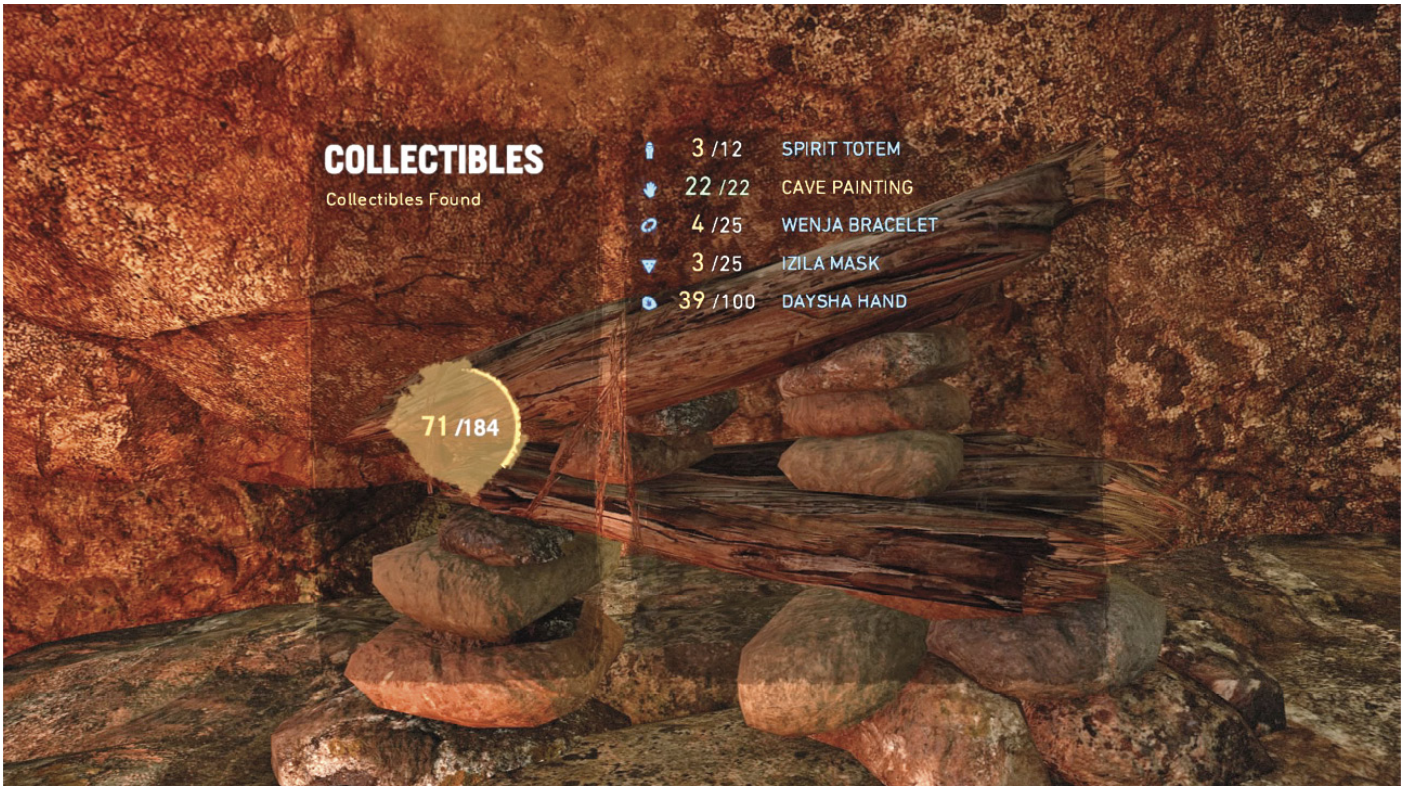
Collectibles

About Collectibles



Five types of collectibles are hidden throughout Oros, resting on high cliffs, deep inside caves, underwater, or behind weak walls. Keep an eye out for these items as you explore the environment. When you get within range of a collectible, the blue icon appears on the mini-map. A small triangle above or below means the item is higher or lower respectively. These pieces give you various XP when collected, except for Spirit Totems that add a +2% XP bonus for each one. Check the Collectible Cave Wall on the left side of the cavern just behind Takkar's bed to see how many of each you have found.

Alex Ichim

Artwork

Hello! I'm Alex Ichim from Romania.

I'm a concept artist and I've been working in the video game industry for the past 5 years.

Here is a concept I've made for Ubisoft Montreal's Assassin's Creed Origins.

Chapter 3
Spirit Totems

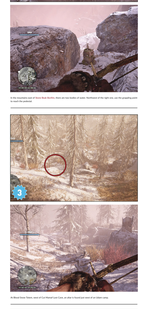
OBJECTIVE

ENEMIES Hill Giants

Totems are spirits for safe and successful travels.

Some of the ancient Fire Lore Totems that can be viewed after the quest has ended have a small story. They are in the northeast region of Hidden Valley and Ember Isles. Here is a guide to where you can find them and what they mean.



The Spirit Totem is placed between the Spirit Totem Village Warriors. What shelter do they?

As the descendants walk of these Wise Bird Men, there are clear markers of growth. Reminiscent of the right one, can also gradually perish in the Fire Lore Totem.

Wise Bird Totem Totem, more of a Fire Totem of Lore Totem, as well. Reminiscent of the right one, can also gradually perish in the Fire Lore Totem.

Wise Fire Totem Totem, more of a Fire Totem of Lore Totem, as well. Reminiscent of the right one, can also gradually perish in the Fire Lore Totem.

Legend of the Mammoth

Overview

With the Legend of the Mammoth Mission Pack installed, visit Tensay's hut to find another one of his concoctions sitting on a rock ledge. Ignoring the shaman's warning, interact with the brew to begin a series of three visions where you assume control of a mammoth.

MAMMOTH TIPS

- The mammoth may be big, but it is fairly agile for its size. Take advantage of its strafe ability to avoid incoming attacks from the likes of the charging rhino.
- Watch the mammoth's health, represented by the bars in the lower-left corner of the HUD. When it gets low, sprint away from trouble. The bars slowly regenerate when you're not being attacked.
- When leading other mammoths, use the Rally Call to get their attention. This causes them to follow your lead.
- When you're in between groups of enemies, look for the objective marker to lead the way.

Duel of Beasts

OBJECTIVE: Clear out the rhinos

AWARDS: 1580 XP, 1 Skill Point

For the first mammoth vision, take control of a mammoth as it searches for the killers of its fellow beasts. At the first opening, a rhino spirit appears and charges your way. Avoid the rushing beast and attack it. After landing a couple hits, the spirit flees out the far side as it leads you into a few groups of rhinos.

The spirit leads you to three areas where some rhinos attack. Defeat them in the same manner as the spirit by sidestepping and quickly attacking; avoid making contact with their horns, though. Sprint back up the hill if the mammoth's health gets too lo w. After killing the rhinos at each location, follow the rhino spirit to the objective marker.

At the second area, there are boulders along each side of the trail. Move into one to make it roll straight down the hill, taking out any animals that get in the way. Geysers periodically erupt at the third area, lifting any animal caught in its water discharge straight into the air.

Once the rhinos are out of the way, the spirit rhino materializes. Just as with the regular rhinos, wait for it to charge, step to the side, and sprint into the beast to knock a chunk off its health bar. After causing enough damage, the spirit becomes invisible, although a distorted trail is still visible as it moves around. Continue to attack it until defeated.

Legend of the Mammoth

Trapped Elder

OBJECTIVE: Find the Elder Mammoth and free it

AWARDS: 1580 XP

For the second quest, take control of a mammoth as it fights through Udam in search of a trapped Elder Mammoth. Sprint ahead until you find the first group of hunters. Charge into them or use the beast's attack to eliminate them all. Remember that the Udam can cause serious damage if allowed to surround their target.

Watch out for traps along the way. Spikes hurt the animal, but the mammoth can knock them down using an attack. Instead of charging through these sharpened obstacles, use a standing attack to eliminate them. Or, follow the side paths to avoid many of the traps. These trails also lead to hunters who attack from above and side.

Look for holes in the ground camouflaged by snow and sticks. Falling into one of these traps causes major damage and can be tough to exit. Find alternate routes around these deadly traps. Also, be alert for poisoned gas released by the Udam scourges, as it eats away at your health and is a deadly combination with a trap.

Follow the objective marker across the body of water to find an Udam camp. Sprint up the right path to reach the Elder Mammoth being held prisoner. Take out the guards and spikes to free it. Now move down the hill to lead it out of the camp. Take out any hunters along the way and use the Rally Call to keep the elder moving. At the water, turn right to lead it back to its pack.

Legend of the Mammoth

Hunt the Hunters

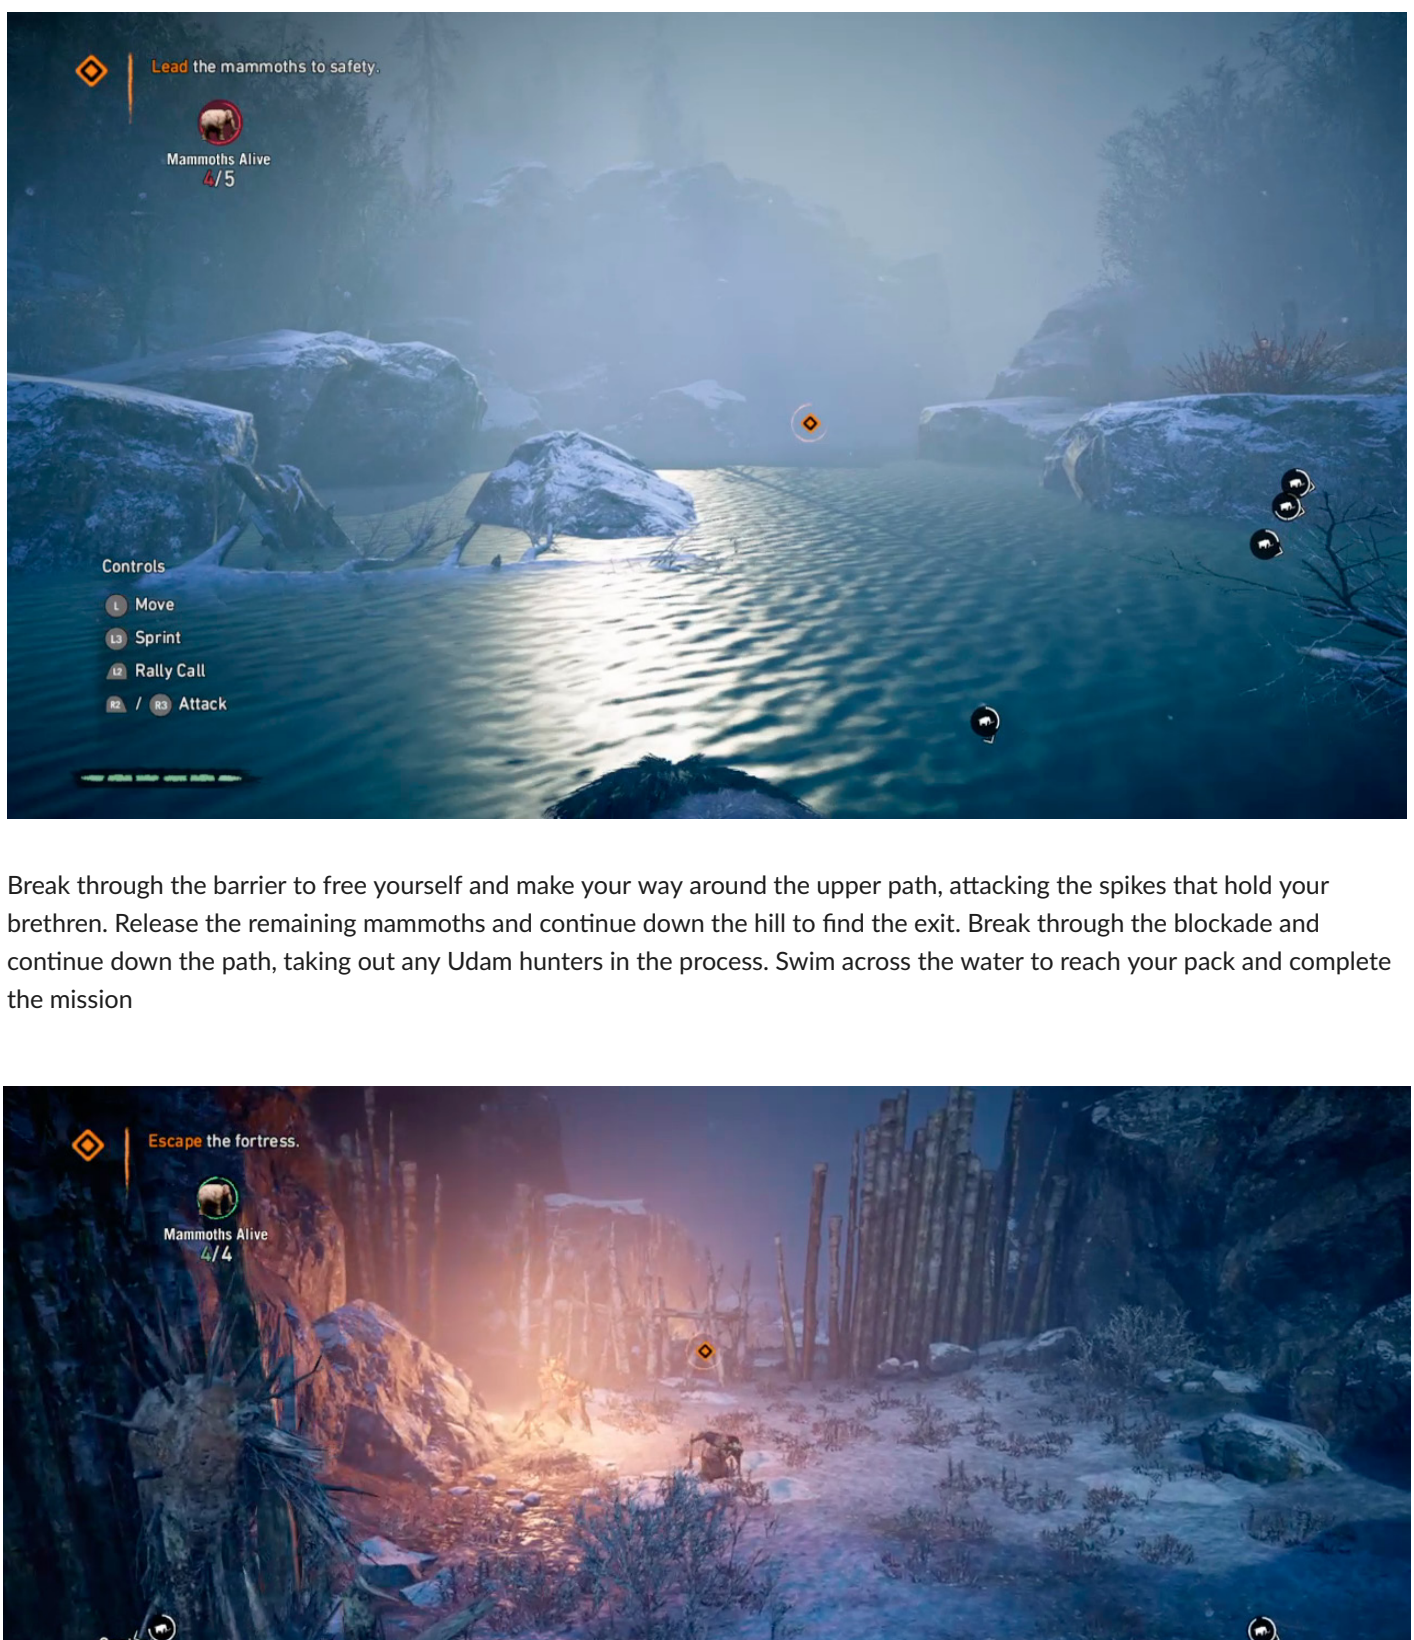
OBJECTIVE: Kill the hunters

AWARDS: 1580 XP, 1 Skill Point

In the third quest, five mammoths join the fray. They must be protected as the group treks through an icy canyon in search of safe land. The number of mammoths that remain alive is shown in the upper-left corner of the HUD, while circular icons above each one show their health. Keep an eye on these guys throughout this quest, as they tend to get into trouble. Use the Rally Call to keep them moving. If they all get eliminated, the mission ends in failure.

Udam hunters continually attack the group, so stay just ahead of the mammoths and take out the Neanderthals. Don't stray too far ahead of the group; a warning appears on-screen when you are about to lose them. Return to the herd to avoid failing the mission. Clear out each area before moving onward.

At the big body of water, ignore the Udam and stay on the move as the group wades toward the objective marker. The mammoths are captured and held captive at an Udam camp. One is held in the middle, while the rest are around the outside.



Break through the barrier to free yourself and make your way around the upper path, attacking the spikes that hold your brethren. Release the remaining mammoths and continue down the hill to find the exit. Break through the blockade and continue down the path, taking out any Udam hunters in the process. Swim across the water to reach your pack and complete the mission
